"Bessie," she said, "I want to tell you a story. It isn't exciting nor about riches, but it is a real life story.

"When I was twelve years old, my chum brought several books to school. They were somewhat like these you have. We read them on the sly so that our teacher would not scold us. We neglected our studies to read. Soon our grades dropped from 'good' to 'poor'. Mother did not know the cause. She worried about it and made me study more at home. One day she found some of Kate's books in my room. When I came home she told me that I must return the books to their owners, and that I must never again waste my time reading such books. She said she would get some books that would be worth reading, but that I could read only after I had learned my lessons. She got some books for me to read, and when she died the next year, I asked my teachers to select books for me. Pretty soon I was disgusted with myself because I had once read such trashy magazines and books. If I had gone on reading books like these you have I would never have finished high school. I would not now be in college if I had gone on neglecting my studies and loading my mind with such unreal, fanciful tales. I don't want you to cripple your mind with such reading. Will you let me dispose of these books and select others for you to read this summer?"

"Yes," Bessie answered slowly.

"Thank you, Little Sister, and Father and I will see that you have something interesting as well as worthwhile to read when you have time away from your school work next winter, too."

D. W. Haskew, Pastor

We are announcing our services next Sunday as follows, Sunday school at 9:45 and preaching at 11 A.M. The young people's organizations at 7.15 and preaching at 8 P.M.

We understand that Dr. Ezell will be out of town for several Sundays and we wish to extend to the Baptist people a special invitation to worship with us. While he is away if the Methodist pastor can be of any help or comfort to any one of his flock, our services are at your call.

We are sticking to our bush and we are going to work right on during the summer. Not many people go to church during the summer months, but we will be here to administer to those who seek for worship. Our plan is to have services every Sunday with the exception of the 5th. Sunday in July. There is room and a welcome for all.

Overcome Pains this better way

WOMEN who get into a weak, run-down condition can hardly expect to be free from troublesome "small symptoms."

Where the trouble is due to weakness, Cardui helps women to get stronger and thus makes it easier for nature to take its orderly course. Painful, nagging symptoms disappear as nourishment of the body is improved with the assistance of Cardui.

Instead of depending on temporary pain pills during the time of suffering, take Cardui to build up your resistance to womanly ailments.

Thousands of women have found relief by taking CARDUI.

Miss Scott Weds Mr. Smale At Church

—o—

The marriage of Miss Virginia Scott to John Smale, of Berkeley, and Fresno, Calif., took place on Thursday evening at the Methodist Church in Verbena, in the presence of a large and representative assemblage.

The Rev. P. H. Carmichael, of Montevallo, was officiant. Banked ferns, smilax and baskets of pink blossoms formed background and the altar was lighted by pink tapers, which also filled tall standards.

While guests were assembling, a musical program was rendered. Mr. S. L. Gibson, violinist, played Schubert's "Ave Marie," and "Estrellita," (Ponce), accompanied by Mrs. John Ward, of Selma.

Immediately preceding the ceremony, Ed McGraw, of Mitchell Dam, sang "Because." Mrs. Ward was costumed in blue lace and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin."

Groomsmen were Sidney Gibson, Frank Gulledge, John Ward, Joe Carr Gibson.

Miss Fanny Joe Scott was her sister's maid of honor, and wore a gown of blue net over blue taffeta, made Empress style, trimmed with pink velvet bows and French flowers.

She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and powder blue delphinium

Little Gertrude Gibson, as flower girl, wore a period frock of pink net over taffeta and carried a French bouquet of pink roses.

The ring bearer, Barnett Deramus, Jr., wore a white satin suit, and carried the ring on a satin pillow.

The bride entered with her father, Samuel Scott, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and Donald V. Spagnoli, of Glendale, Calif., who served as best man.

Her youthful beauty was emphasized by her wedding gown of ivory satin which was fashioned in form fitting lines, made with a short coat of angel skin lace, to which was attached the long satin train.

The veil of filmy tulle was attached to a cap of rose point lace, caught with orange blossoms. She wore long white gloves and the slippers which completed the costume were of corded moire.

The bride's only jewels were a watch, the wedding gift of the groom and an heirloom diamond bracelet. Her bouquet was of orchids and bride's roses, showered with valley lilies. Recessional was to the wedding march by Mendelssohn.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Scott, parents of the bride, entertained at an informal reception, when guests were the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Scott wore poudre blue chiffon, with trimming of lace. Her bouquet was a corsage of pink roses.

Assisting in receiving were Mrs. J. E. Joyal, of Berkley, Calif., wearing green chiffon; Mrs. Arnold Joyal, of Washington, D. C., sister of the bride, wearing heavy eggshell lace trimmed with green velvet. Her bouquet was a corsage of pink roses; Miss Mary Scott, wearing pink chiffon and corsage of butterfly roses and valley lilies; Miss Fanny Jo Scott, Mrs. John Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Smale, Miss Frances Gulledge, Miss Cordelia Gulledge, Miss Evelyn Burford, Mrs. J. B. Fort, assisted.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Smale left for a short wedding trip. The bride wore a going away gown of midnight blue georgette with a blouse of beige lace, the hat and accessories being of beige.

They will later be with the bride's parents for 10 days before leaving for the west. En route they will visit Dr. Joyal in Washington and their tour will include stops in interesting points in Canada. In California, they will visit Mr. Smale's parents in Berkeley, before taking up their residence in Fresno, where Mr. Smale is a member of the faculty of the high school.

The bride who is a graduate of Alabama College, class of 1931, was last year connected with the high school at Hayneville, where she taught economics. Her beauty and vivid personality have made her widely popular.

She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Gulledge, of Verbena. On her father's side she is of families long prominent, socially and politically, in Virginia.

Mr. Smale received his A. B. and A. M. degrees at the University of California, where he was a member of Kappa Delta Rho and Phi Delta Kappa fraternities. He is an educator and a successful writer.

Though vacations scatter the family the Telephone keeps them together

Vacation time is here and soon thousands of families will be scattering to various places to spend their vacations. Some will go to the seashore, others to the mountains or on week-end motor trips; yet large numbers of these vacationists will keep in close touch with relatives and friends back home by telephone.

People are fast learning that it adds much to the pleasure of their vacations and the happiness of those left at home when they call back at regular intervals.

The cost is small. To most places 25 miles away, the day station-to-station rate is about 25 cents; 75 miles, 60 cents; 100 miles, 65 cents; 150 miles, $1.00. During the evening and night periods, rates are much lower.

TO MY FATHER-IN-LAW

—o—

In loving memory of my dear father-in-law, Mr. W. W. Williams, who died July 1, 1932.

When we saw you in the casket, lying so still and quiet, you seemed to be an angel, Papa, with snowy wings of white.

We loved you, oh, so dearly; you were so kind and good, why you had to leave us, we have not understood.

The family circle has been broken, and time can never mend.

But we put our trust in Jesus and on Him we can depend.

The flowers we laid on your grave may wither and decay,

But the love we had for Papa will never fade away.

Winter Legume News

—o—

After one crop of hairy vetch J. D. Hilyer of Chilton County made an average of 58 bushels of corn per acre. Where nitrate of soda was used he averaged only 21 bushels per acre.

A corn crop of 44½ bushels per acre on 43 acres was made by Andrew Johnson of Headland, Henry County, after a crop of Austrian peas, to which he attributes 15 to 20 bushels of the total increase.

The production of 210 bushels of corn on 3 acres in 1931 was reported by W. J. Spinks of Thomasville, Clarke County. A crop of Austrian winter peas was plowed under before the corn was planted.

Fourteen farmers in Randolph County planted in the fall of 1930 a mixture of oats and either hairy vetch or Austrian peas for hay. On 18 acres they harvested 30 tons of hay in the spring of 1931.

On five acres of land following hairy vetch Earl Moody of Luverne, Crenshaw County, made 35 bushels of corn per acre. On 8 acres of the same kind of land fertilized with nitrate of soda when the crop was knee-high he averaged 15 bushels per acre.

In 1931 Sam O. Day of Five Points, Chambers County, made 34 bushels of cotton on 40 acres, following a crop of Austrian peas. Drouth cut his yield. He fertilized with superphosphate, muriate of potash and a small amount of nitrate of soda, at the time of planting.

In 1930 A. J. Lazenby of Eclectic, Elmore County, averaged 35 bushels of corn per acre after turning under a crop of Austrian winter peas. In 1931 he planted the same land to cotton. He said that the Austrian peas plowed under in the spring of 1930 increased the 1931 crop by 25 per cent.

Use This Laxative made from plants

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT is made from plants that come up from seeds and grow in the ground, like the garden vegetables you eat at every meal. NATURE has put into these plants an active medicine that stimulates the bowels to act — just as Nature put the materials that sustain your body into the vegetable foods you eat.

In Black-Draught you have a natural laxative, free from synthetic drugs. Its proper use does not make you have to depend on cathartic chemical drugs to get the bowels to act daily.

Pates Chapel News

Mrs. Vastine Hayes from South Ala., is visiting her mother and father, also her mother and father in law, Mr. and Mrs. Rube Williams and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Hayes and little daughter. Mary and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maddox are visiting in Loxley this week also Misses Mildred and Martha Hayes.

We wish to thank Messrs. Jim Mims, Lester Deason, Harry Ray, John Pate and Alvin Lewis for their work they did on our church ground. It really looks nice and was certainly nice of those who did it.

We want to announce that the cemetary will be cleaned off by those who take pleasure and interest in helping us and those who have relatives buried there, the 28th day of July, on Thursday before the fifth Sunday. The reason for that that time is that our revival services will begin the fifth Sunday and we want everything looking nice. Those who are interested may come and join us.

Among those that are sick in this community are Mrs. Blow, Miss Mose Pate and Mr. Archie Cleckler. We hope that they will soon be well again.

Mrs. Oather Maddox visited relatives in Pates Chapel Saturday.

Miss Maude Wallis spent Sunday with Misses Lucile and Lorena Cleckler.

Mrs. Dovie Childress and children are visiting her mother, Mrs. Lum Hayes, and relatives around Pates Chapel.

Mrs. Lum Hayes, Ms. Dovie Childress spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes, son of Mrs. Lum Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Hayes were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes Sunday.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness during the sickness and death of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. M. B. Bell. Especially do we thank Dr. N. S. Johnson and Mr. Martin. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.

GET ACQUAINTED

Last week, this paper published an account of the Democratic Convention held in Chicago, giving a summary of the much favored Democratic platform adopted at this convention. Press reports state that this platform, as it stands, is without a doubt, the choice of the people of the United States.

Get acquainted with these platforms. Following are some comments from various newspapers over the United States, regarding the Democratic and Republican platforms. It will be noticed that several of the newspapers quoted are Republican papers:

G. O. P. Prohibition Straddle

"Nicholas Murray Butler condemns it because it is dry; Senator Borah condemns it because it is wet; the American people will condemn it because it is a fraud."—Senator Alben W. Barkley's keynote speech at the Democratic National Convention.

Progressing Progressives

Senator Norris (Rep., Nebr.): "I won't support President Hoover on any platform."

Senator Frazier (Rep., N. D.): "I cannot support President Hoover on that platform. It provides nothing for agriculture or unemployment relief and straddles on prohibition."

The Country at Stake—Pity Mr. Hoover? Of course. He's pitiful. He's pathetic, but it is far more pathetic that our fortunes should be in his hands at this grave crisis which he says is worse than that of the war. Reelect him? I cannot imagine anything worse for the American electorate to do. . . . But the time has really passed for any consideration of the man. What is at stake is the country.— Oswald Garrison Villard in The Nation.

The Party of Clarity

It (the repeal plank) represents the first direct and unequivocal utterance on the subject of prohibition which any major party convention, has made since the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted. It stamps the Democratic party as the party of clarity and courage on this controversial issue and it bespeaks a quality of decision that ought to stand the party in good stead not only in connection with the prohibition issue but also with respect to every other issue arising during this year's campaign. —Baltimore Sun (Dem.).

Straight-Out and Honest

This Democratic plank, so simple and clear-cut and direct, would give a new aspect to the whole Presidential campaign. Great numbers of Republicans have expressed their disgust with the uncertain sound of their own party's trumpet on the question of prohibition. They have said that they long for a straight-out and honest utterance. President Butler went so far as to predict that if the Democrats would come out openly and courageously for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, they would attract 6,000,000 votes from the Republican camp. — New York Times (Ind. Dem.)

Model Political Plank

It (the repeal plank) is the longest plank and the clearest. Enough words are used to remove any possibility of doubt. It strikes the proper medium between brevity that causes ambiguity and such prolixity causing confusion as the Republican plank on prohibition displayed. It is, in our judgment, a model political plank.—New York Herald Tribune (Rep.).

"No Citizen Could Ask More"

The prohibition plank in the draft of the Democratic platform is a model of clarity and directness. Both qualities are welcome after the deliberate obfuscations of the Republican yes-no-and-maybe stand on the wet-dry issue. No citizen could ask more.—Philadelphia Record (Dem.).

Unique in Clarity and Courage

The platform (Democratic) is the shortest, the clearest and the best advanced by either of the two parties in recent times. On prohibition repeal and Volstead modification it goes all the way. On economic issues in the main it is boldly progressive. . . As a whole and as a major party platform it is unique in its clarity and its courage.—Washington News (Ind.)

A Noble Experiment

The Democratic party has gone far across the Rubicon on the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It not only commits itself and its candidates to repeal, but "pending Repeal," it demands immediate modification of the Volstead act. . . . It is a noble experiment. . . . The platform adopted by the Democratic national convention has the merit of clearness and brevity. It bears the marks of master hands.—Washington Post (Rep.).

"Best Thing of Its Kind"

The majority plank adopted by the Democrats . . . is the best thing of its kind we have ever seen.—New York Evening Post (Rep.)

Expresses Majority Sentiment of United States

We believe the Democratic platform expresses in its prohibition plank the majority sentiment of the country.—Cleveland Plain Dealer (Dem.).

Democrats Should Feel Proud

Democrats the country over should thrill with pride at the clean-cut manner in which their party has met the greatest issue in American politics today.—Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch (Dem.).

It is not necessary for this newspaper to continually remind its readers of the past four years of poverty and unfulfilled promises for farmers' relief. The people are crying "We want a change!" The time for consideration of which party shall be in power is secondary. Our country is at stake. "Our country" includes the State of Alabama, it includes this county, and each individual. The best and nearest aid is at the ballot boxes in the coming election.

The Democratic Party has stood aside, offering its aid at all times to assist the present administration in bringing the country out of this mess. Such aid has been fought. The Democratic Party now stands before the people with a platform that stands to reason it is above any question or doubt. It has in it all those things for the people, carrying out the statement of Franklin Roosevelt "* * * restore America to the people."

'Ladies of the Jury' Is Most Unusual Feature

Twenty players—more than three times the number of featured actors and actresses seen in the average picture—are cast in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Ladies of the Jury," opening at the Wadesonian Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, July 27 and 28.

With Edna May Oliver starred, the film establishes new records for the number and importance of players involved.

Each of the twenty players plays a leading role with important dialogue sequences having a vital bearing on the outcome of the story.

Among the better known character men and women cast are Rosco Ates, the stuttering comedian; Guinn "Big Boy" Williams, star of many serials and westerns; Jill Esmond, British stage star; Ken Murray, vaudeville and radio headliner; Kitty Kelly, former Zeigfield Follies featured dancer and comedienne; Kate Price, veteran screen actress; Robert McWade, famous stage star of yesteryear, and the following:

Lita Chevret, Morgan Galloway, Cora Witherspoon, Alan Roscoe, Charles Dow Clark, Andre Beranger, Tom Francis, William Scott, Susan Fleming and Florence Lake.

The film, which marks Miss Oliver's second appearance as a full fledged star, was directed by Lowell Sherman.

If, as a meteorologist predicts, we are to have a lack of rain this fall, it will be hard on the political mud-slingers.

Republicans will insist that changing presidents during a depression is like changing parachutes on the way down.

It seems that we have so far forgotten the war as to decorate Mr. Schemeling of Germany with the Double Cross.

Mt. Nebo News

The revival began here last Sunday and will probably run through Friday night. Large crowds are attending both day and night services. Bro. J. M. Metcalf, the pastor, is doing the preaching. He has delivered some mighty fine sermons. The morning services begin at 10:30 a.m. and evening services at 7:30 p.m. Everybody come and be with us at both services.

GEORGE W. EDWARDS

Democrats Are Stronger

Up to date the sum and substance of the Republican campaign for the re-election of President Hoover has been that inevitably the Democrats would make such a blunder as would turn the tide that has been flowing away from the administration for three years.

When the 1930 elections turned the House of Representatives over to the Democrats the administration spokesmen were quite sure—and were not diffident in announcing their assurance—that the party would split asunder in a quarrel between the veteran Congressmen of the South and the new Congressmen from the North and West over the committee chairmanships and other official prizes of organization. Instead the House of Representatives was organized absolutely without friction and proceeded to function at least with an average absence of confusion.

Immediately thereafter began the pre-convention campaigns among the proponents of the different candidates for the Presidency.

For a year and a half administration newspapers were crowded with accounts of the terrific rifts and bitter enmities in the Democratic party. It was frequently suggested that whichever of the candidates was selected would face a bolt by the partizans of the others. Moreover, it was set forth with great particularity that even if a candidate was agreed to the platform—and particularly the prohibition plank—would cause so much commotion as to bring into being a third party. The Republican prophets visualized a repetition of the Madison Square Garden convention of 1924.

And what was the outcome. The Chicago convention was one of the shortest on record. The platform was voted almost unanimously. Four ballots sufficed to accomplish the nomination of Roosevelt and Garner. There was no lack of rivalry and there were half a dozen more or less acute controversies, but on the fourth ballot more than the requisite two-thirds registered the will of the convention and that was all there was to it. The controversies did not assume any greater moment than the ordinary convention differences where there is a variety of earnest partizanship and a week had not expired before every one of the unsuccessful Presidential candidates had announced his allegiance to the Democratic ticket, and their managers and champions were just as prompt in announcing their support of Roosevelt and Garner. Former Governor Smith of New York, Governor White of Ohio, former Governor Byrd of Virginia, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, ex-Senator Reed of Missouri, Governor Murray of Oklahoma, all came forward with their pledges of loyalty. The less definite candidates who were mentioned, such as Newton Baker of Ohio and Melvin Traylor of Chicago, were swift in volunteering their services to the chosen standard bearer.

So much for the prophecies of Democratic disunion. Instead of the shattered ranks of the Republican vision, the Democratic party is more united today than at any period since Woodrow Wilson led it to victory.

More Power Means A Finer Civilization

Last year a new high record for domestic use of electricity was established. The average home used 578 kilowatt hours.

This, according to experts, is but a fraction of what will be used in the future. The average home will employ 2,000 kilowatt hours annually to good advantage.

The electric industry has made steady and pronounced progress in advancing home electrification. It has done this by improving and cheapening service, by developing electrical labor and time saving appliances, and by constant sales promotion through continuous local advertising and otherwise, which intelligently points out the benefits of increased use of power. As a result, the average American home exists on the highest standard of comfort, convenience and efficiency in the world.

Every time a new appliace is put in use another step forward in domestic evolution has been made. No more striking achievement has resulted from the electrical age than its breaking of the bonds of drudgery that once held the housewife. It is safe to predict that the electrical home of tomorrow will be more efficient and economical than anything we now imagine.

Thorsby is to be the scene of some Log Rolling, so I see by the front page of C. G. N. These fellows who are choppers seem to have a mighty good time.

Speaking of Thorsby. I understand that Nels (Pete) Peterson is to be no longer at the depot there. Now if you ask me, I'd say that the railroad has no business moving him to another place. The depot just won't look right without him there.

Did they get all wrought up Saturday at the courthouse about this road paving business. You're asking me. I was up there for awhile, but the atmosphere and other things started to getting hot, so I left. The booes and laughs given certain fellows in favor of the paving were right funny.

Personally, I'd like to hear some more about this charge that there was graft in the road working business in Chilton County. Something happened and it was quieted down, sudden like. Don't ask me why, 'cause I don't know. But by using the process of elimination or something, you might come to some conclusion why it was quieted down, and maybe how it was done. At least it was, apparently so. Oh, well. Why should I worry my head over a matter like that when I've got all I can do to keep cool these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lande are up yonder in St. Louis, and I wouldn't care if I was with them. But I'll bet it is plenty hot up there.

And here comes John Ponder Lawrence, Jr., and Miss Imogene Simms, and got all hitched up with the help of a marriage license and a probate judge. One criticism I have. John Ponder should have oughta got married in Chilton County at least. Well, anyway, I guess they'll live here. Congratulations to them both.

Speaking of Chilton County, which I usually do. Did you hear the broadcast over Station WAPI last Monday night about Chilton County? They sure gave this old county of ours a good send-off. The ed was invited up there to tell the folks over the air a thing or two about Chilton. Now, I ain't got no criticism on what the ed said, but they should have had me up there. I know about Chilton County plenty, and anyhow, ain't I Chilton County's Certified Critter-Sizer. Looks like they don't want to recognize me in that capacity, or something.

I see by the papers that the famous and looked for Brookings Institute report and survey on the State of Alabama's condition in Montgomery is out. Notice that the News received the books, five in all. Now, if they think that I, as Chilton County's Certified Critter-Sizer am going to read all that dry stuff in those five books, they have just got another thought coming, or something. But it's been done, and it cost the state something over twenty-five thousand dollars to get it done. Now, what I want done is something done. If they can't take these five books about the state's business and do something, then they just better do something sho 'nuff. Ain't I right?

To you people who have just recently started reading this paper, I'll try to tell you why I'm here, who I am, and something. I'm the fellow that gets the blame for spreading a lot of gossip through this column. I make people mad, I make 'em glad. I get cussed, and cuss the editor when I please, provided not too often. I'm the official Chilton County Certified Critter-Sizer, meaning I have full authority, or something, to say what I please, when I please and where I please. I am the forerunner of columns in other papers, but I ain't bragging about that, and if you got any gossip, I'd like to hear it.

Tomorrow I'm going to try to get down to the big picnic that Stapp has all arranged for my benefit, at Popwell's woods. Now I understand that everybody is invited. Well, that's nice, but I'm telling you that there'd better be plenty room for me down there, because I'll be there in a big way. They wouldn't ask me to be one of the speakers, but I'll get around that. I'll just tell them what I think of them in this column some of these days.

* * *

B. L. Jones has sure got a nice new location over on the highway, just north of The Fair Store. Mr. Jones is getting all fixed up now, and I'm glad to see it. I've been wondering a long time, why he didn't do something. Jack Jones is there too, and he says they are going to increase the size of the stock in the store right way, and do some advertising. Now they're talking. Advertising never hurt anybody or anything, if it was the right kind, and B. L. Jones will do that kind, all right I believe.

Have you fellows who write checks, got used to that extra two cents tax? Well, that what you get for putting that cross-mark in the wrong place on the ballot about four years ago. I'm speaking to those who put it in the wrong place, not you fellows who knew that the best place is "under the rooster," if you know what I mean.

See you at the picnic at Popwell's Woods.

500,000 Tax Spending Bodies

The statement was recently made from an authoritative source that there are upwards of 500,000 tax spending bodies in the United States.

It is estimated that during the fiscal year to end June 30, these bodies will have spent the sum of $14,000,000,000—one-fifth of the national income. Where, in 1903, the per capita annual cost of government was $19.39, it is now about $125—an increase well in excess of 600 per cent!

The present predicament of the country is largely the result of these tax increases, made necessary by political waste, inefficiency and selfishness, and by the creation of new bureaus and boards, each with its list of employees, and by unwarranted extension of government activities into fields which should properly be left to private initiative. Unless a start is made toward genuine government economy, which will lop off unnecessary commissions and eliminate waste and duplication of effort, the wealth and earning power of our citizens will be confiscated by taxation.

MY PERSONAL COLUMN

The writing of serious editorials and matter-of-fact news stories gets somewhat irritating at times—the reason you see this column in print from time to time. Just to get a few of my personal opinions off my mind and on paper.

If you have ever written a letter to someone and then destroyed it, feeling better afterwards, then you can see what I mean when I say putting my personal opinions on paper. However, it is not that I do not like to write editorials on matters of interest to the people, in fact, I enjoy it because I feel that the people should be given whatever light this newspaper is able to give, on affairs of their government, and other matters of their interest.

The News received some pleasing comments on recent editorials carried and the manner used in dealing with subjects of general interest, and timely. It is the wish of the News that anyone agreeing or not agreeing with our editorial policy, tell us about it.

There is a discussion of the County Commissioners doing some permanent road building in the county in the near future. Personally, I do not know whether it would be the best thing to do at this time or not, as there is a thought in my mind the money used for this might be used elsewhere to better advantage. However, I'm sure the commissioners will not act hastily on this matter.

The News extends an invitation to those persons who recently had their names added to our subscription list to visit the News plant when next in Clanton. Perhaps we don't know you, so come in, give us your name and let's get acquainted.

Personally, I want to direct your attention to the ads in the News each week. Watch them because you never can tell when some merchant is offering something of real value and saving.

It is pleasing to note that so much interest is being shown regarding the county-wide picnic here tomorrow. Unfortunately for me, I will not be able to attend the morning session, but am looking forward to attending the afternoon part of the program. I was delighted to receive a letter yesterday morning from our Congressman, W. B. Oliver, who is on his way here, to arrive, Friday.

Bought some peaches in Thorsby last Sunday, and they were certainly delicious. I certainly hope, as everyone does, that the next peach crop will be far better than this year's. I want Thorsby to continue to hold its reputation as a peach and strawberry growing center.

If anyone was more glad to see that fine rain Tuesday night than I was, I'd like to know. The crops in Chilton were in sore need of water, and while I haven't heard how general that rain was, I hope it gave this county a good wetting all over.

Notice of the Filing of Bill of Complaint by State of Alabama, Complainant, vs. One Whippet Roadster, 1928 Model, Respondent.

State of Alabama, Complainant, vs. One Whippet Roadster, 1928 Model, Respondent.

In the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, In Equity.

The Bill of Complaint of the State of Alabama, on the relation of G. C. Walker, as Deputy Solicitor of Chilton County, against one Whippet Roadster, 1928 Model, being exhibited to me, and it appearing therefrom that on the 10th day of July, 1932, one Cecil Collins did transport in one Whippet Roadster, 1928 Model, certain prohibited liquors and beverages, from one point to another in the State of Alabama, and that said automobile was on said day seized by the Sheriff of said County and said Bill of Complaint praying that said automobile be declared forfeited to the State of Alabama, and for an order of condemnation and sale thereof.

It is therefore ordered and decreed that notice of the filing of said Bill of Complaint be given for two successive weeks in Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and that all persons claiming or asserting any right, title or interest in said automobile be required to appear and assert such claim by the 1st day of August, 1932, and that failing so to do, the said right, title or interest will be forever barred.

Given under my hand, this the 18th day of July, 1932.

F. LOYD TATE,
Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit.

Court were present and were given the floor to express their opinions. Jim Mims and B. L. Cobb, commissioners stated their disapproval in plain spoken words. They were the only commissioners who voted against the project, while Commissioners Vinson and Burnett and Judge Reynolds voted in favor, when the order was passed.

Someone suggested a poll of the house be taken. This was done and practically the entire gathering stood up, voicing their disapproval of the county spending this money on the one road. There were none in the audience who rose, voting in favor of the project.

Different ones in the audience were given an opportunity to express their opinion of the project, the majority of whom were opposed to it. It was suggested several times that instead of this money being spent on one road, have it distributed over the county. Each time this was mentioned, a loud applause was heard.

Resolutions were read and adopted by the gathering opposing the paving These resolutions follow:

To The Honorable Judge of Probate and the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama:

Gentlemen:

We, the citizens and tax payers of Chilton County in a mass meeting assembled on this the 16th day of July 1932, do hereby petition your honorable body to rescind the recent action of your body in which it was decided to pave two miles or more of the Lay Dam road beginning at the city limits of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, for the following reasons:

Apparently the general road fund levied and collected for road purposes for the year 1932, is already over-drawn $2,284.79, and there is only $10,347.10 in the gas tax fund or a net balance of all road funds of $8,062.31; and,

Furthermore, there is apparently $38,566.52 in the General fund which amount, if the Court see fit, might be transferred to the road fund; and,

Furthermore, the record of road work in the County for the past 10 years show that on an average we have spent $8,333.33 per month, and,

Furthermore, we feel that if the Court has money it can spend on the roads, that it should be spent in every beat in the County in order to serve the greatest number and in so doing will also benefit the greatest number of the people who travel the roads of the county, and

Furthermore, since the Alabama Power Co., has reduced its assessed valuations and there is a great agitation in favor of reducing other property values, our taxes of necessary will be less in the future than has been in the past and since we have not been able to erect permanent roads in the past, we do not feel that we will be able to do so now in view of the above name reductions and the present conditions of our treasury, and,

Furthermore, since we have an indebtedness of one-hundred and five thousand dollars and the interest to pay on said indebtedness we feel that we should begin to accumulate a sufficient amount of money to pay off said indebtedness in order that the county may be operated on a cash basis.

Be It Therefore Resolved: That we earnestly request that the Court of County Commissioners and Probate Judge do not undertake at this time, any permanent road construction in the county, however, we wish it understood that we believe in good roads and we appreciate the splendid work which has been done on the roads in the past and the fact that we feel that we have above the average roads in the counties of the State of Alabama.

J. Z. MIMS,
Chairman.

GROVER BICE, Secretary.

One Of Clanton's Oldest Residents Dies

Saddening the community, death called Mrs. Kate Anderson last Tuesday morning, following a lingering illness. She was one of the oldest residents of Clanton and known over the county as a very kind lady. She was 74 years old.

Before her marriage to Frank Anderson she was Miss Kate Thornton, a member of a prominent family of Clanton in years past. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the Clanton cemetery, conducted in a most impressive manner by the Rev. D. W. Haskew, pastor of the Clanton Methodist church. Interment followed, with Martin & Sons in charge.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Henry Martin, and Mrs. Daly Miller. One son, Frank Anderson and one brother, St. Clair Thornton.

TAXED BUT CAN'T VOTE

Citizens of Washington D. C. are again complaining because they are not permitted to vote, and inasmuch as they pay taxes as other citizens do, there appears to be justice in their complaint.

When the District of Columbia was organized in 1800 as the seat of government, it was placed directly under control of Congress and no provision was made for the exercise of the franchise by its inhabitants, a situation which has since continued. The city of Washington is governed by Congress solely and the people have no voice in the selection of officials placed over them.

Many persons employed in Washington have their residences in near-by states and these may vote in their respective states, but those who have their homes in the city do not have this privelege.

Thus nearly 300,00 persons of voting age will have no part in the forthcoming presidential election, in spite of the fact that they are keenly interested in the result.

If, as our forefathers declared, "taxation withour representation is tyranny," the people of the nation's capital are well within their rights in asking to be enfranchised.

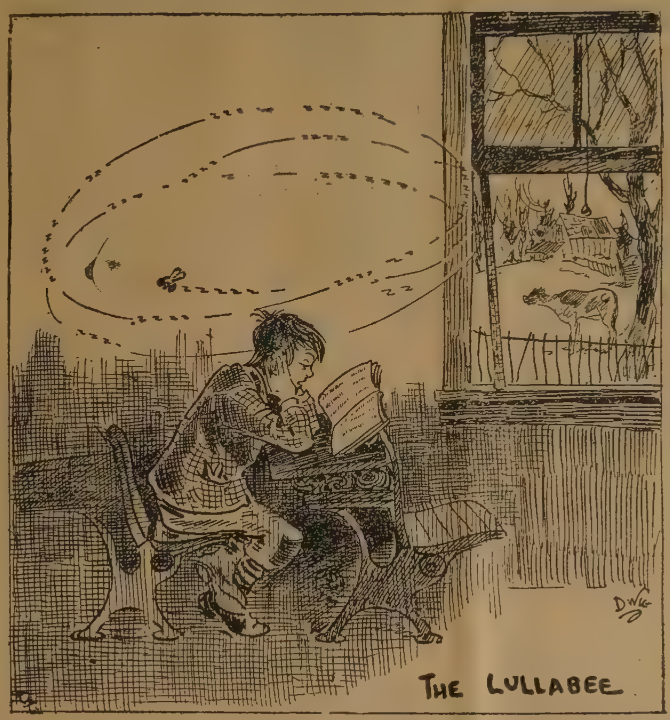
SCHOOL DAYS —— By DWIG



More Acres Planted To Foods And Feeds

Alabama farmers have 442,000 more acres planted to food and feed crops this year than they harvested of the same crops last year, reports F.W. Gist, state and federal statistician for the Department of Agriculture. The total acreage planted to food and feed crops amounts to 4,928,000 acres compared with 4,496,000 acres harvested last year.

Despite the 10 per cent reduction in cotton acreage farmers have 100,000 acres more in all crops this year than harvested last year, the report shows. This year's acreage in all crops amounts to 8,017,000 compared with 7,917,000 last year, 7,582,000 in 1930 and 7,322,000 in 1929.

Mr. Gist reports the following acreage planted to the various crops this year the percentage of increase or decrease compared with last year: cotton 3,079,000 acres, a 10 per cent decrease; corn, 3,318,000, a 7 per cent increase; hay, 711,000, an 8 per cent increase; peanuts, 329,000, a 26 per cent increase; oats, 130,000, a 15 per cent decrease; soybeans, 108,000, a 30 per cent decrease; cowpeas, 112,000, a 25 per cent increase; sweet potatoes, 98,000, a 13 per cent increase; Irish potatoes, 36,000, an 8 per cent decrease; sorghum for syrup, 55,000, a 2 per cent increase; sugar cane, 22,000, a 10 per cent increase; and truck crops, 21,000, a 29 per cent increase.

Farmers have also planted 261,000 acres more of legumes in corn middles than they planted last year. They have 933,000 acres of corn planted to soybeans, cowpeas, peanuts and velvet beans compared with 692,000 acres in 1931.

Commenting upon the 100,000 acre increase in crops Mr. Gist said:

"This increase was due to the effort toward producing acre food and feed crops and to the additional new farms operating this year. The latter is estimated to amount to about 6,000 and comprises persons who have gone to the farm from industrial pursuits in an effort to make a living over the current depression."

MULBERRY

I am writing this article to give emphasis to our revival which begins at Mulberry next Sunday. Brother Wallace Cook of Stanton will do the preaching. He is a splendid Christian gentleman, who loves the souls of men and who is willing to do his best to win them for Christ. Bro. Cook is well fitted in every way and I am sure we will have a gracious revival if we commit ourselves to the Lord's service.

I feel sure that the good people of Mulberry will do everything in their power to have things in preparedness. There is a good deal more in getting ready for tasks than there is in doing the task in many instances. We fail to receive blessings because we are not ready for them.

If you have not prayed for the revival do it without fail. Also pray for the lost of the community now. Come and invite your friends and everyone.

G. G. WILLIAMS.

THIS IS REVIVAL SEASON

During the months of July and August Chilton county lets go the plow lines and finds its way toward the house of God. Many revivals have been held, others are in progress and there will yet be many to follow. Dr. Ezell assisted in a meeting last week at Stanton, resulting in an addition to the church of 49 members. Dr. Haskew was engaged in a meeting at Sayton, Ala., returning to Clanton Saturday morning.

This week Rev. J. M. Metcalf of Verbena is conducting a revival at Mt. Nebo. Dr. Haskew is engaged in a meeting at Isabella and Rev. Homer Carroll is assisting in a meeting near Cooper.

BEN MARGOLIS RETURNED TO CLANTON TUESDAY

Ben Margolis, proprietor of the Sample Shoe Store of Clanton, rolled back into town late Tuesday afternoon, after a very interesting motor trip of two weeks, which took him to several points north and east.

A news item in a paper in Archbold, O., led to the reunion of Peter Stouff and his brother, Theodore, who had not seen or heard from each other for 55 years.

When a committee of citizens called at the home of 6- year-old Robert Alkie in Kern county, Cal., to commend him for saving a companion from drowning, they found him hiding in a haystack.

Mrs. D. W. Mohler of Hanford, Cal., testified in her divorce suit that her husband bullied her into promising never to play or sing in his presence.

Paul Traham of Central Falls, R. I., walked into the district court at Waltham, Mass., and paid a fine of $100 which has been due seven years.

Eight two-day-old rabbits, their eyes not yet open, were fed with a nursing bottle after they were found in a woods near New Castle, Pa., by Alex I. Donnan.

ELMORE BOY IS ELECTED STATE PRES. OF F.F.A.

Ernest Thornhill of Holtville Selected To Head State Organization

Eighteen boys in vocational agriculture from Elmore county attended the State F. F. A. Convention at Auburn the past Friday and Saturday, July 15 and 16. Seven of the number were from the Eclectic Chapter, seven from the Wetumpka Chapter and four from the Holtville Chapter.

The group made the trip to Auburn in a body on one large bus which started at Holtville and picked up the rest at Wetumpka and Eclectic. Accompanied by the teachers of vocational agriculture at the three schools, the party arrived in Auburn at 8:30 Friday morning. Going straight to the convention hall, the group participated in the seating of delegates from the various schools of the state. The rest of the morning was taken up in addresses by the president of the state organization and by Dr. A. F. Harman, State Superintendent of Education, and the appointment of committees to take care of the major business of the convention.

Friday afternoon was featured by baseball games. Northwest Alabama boys beat Northeast Alabama boys. Then the Northwest boys beat the South Alabama boys. Free swimming was provided in the college gym for the boys during the afternoon. Friday night, different chapters gave reports of their activities during the past year. This feature gave some interesting things regarding the possibilities of F. F. A. work. After the reports, a picture show was given for the F. F. A. boys at the Tiger Theatre.

On Saturday morning, a program of work for the state organization was set up for the next year. In that program are listed some objectives worthy of the interest and work being given to the organization an dits functions by its members.

The degree of "Alabama Farmer" was conferred upon ten boys scattered over the state for their accomplishments and their work in the organization. The three state supervisors of vocational agriculture, the teacher trainer at Auburn, the State Supt. of Education and three teachers of vocational agriculture in the state had the honor to be nominated and elected to become honorary members of the Future Farmer organization.

Officers for the coming year were elected and Elmore county was fortunate in having Ernest Thornhill of the Holtville Chapter elected president of the State organization.

The Elmore county group arrived back Saturday afternoon after what had been a big time and a grand experience by those boys making the trip. No doubt the F. F. A. work in Elmore county will be greatly strengthened by these members having attended the state convention.

Government Flour August 1st

Iformation from County Agent Stapp yesterday morning stated that it would be somewhere around August 1st before a shipment of government flour will be received here.

Committees in the various Beats of the county are having numerous requests for this flour, which is to be distributed to needy families. Those wanting and who are entitled to receive this flour are asked to see their Beat committeemen.

THREE IN TOP PAY CATEGORY

Railroad Trio Gets $100,000 Salary; Others Range Up To $90,000

Washington, July 8.—Three of the approximately 1,200 executives of Class 1 railroads of the country were shown today in a report compiled by the interstate commerce commission to receive more than $100,000 yearly.

Salaries of a number of others ranged between $60,000 and $90,000, the commission said in its report which was made public by Chairman Couzens, republican, Michigan, of the senate interstate commerce committee.

The figures were as of March of this year. The top salary was $135,000 received by the chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific system, while the president of the system gets $90,000.

The president of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, receiving $121,500 got the second highest salary, followed by the president of the Baltimore and Ohio who is paid $120,000.

The figures prepared by the commission disclosed there had been cuts in the salaries of railroad executives since 1929, the average running around 10 per cent.

Salaries paid the major officials of some of the larger Class 1 roads were as follows:

Atchison, Topeka and Sante Fe railroad system, president, $67,500

COTTON EXPORTS INCREASED

Cotton exports during June showed a gain over the same month last year.

The Department of Commerce announced this week that cotton exports during June were 360,000 bales as compared with 255,000 bales in June last year.

Shipment for the 11 months of the cotton season from August to June, inclusive, aggregated 8,258,000 bales, an increase of 1,757,000 over the shipments for the corresponding period of 1930-31 season.

Found guilty last September of operating a still, Homer Dott of Dover, O., was given time by the court to paint several houses under contract to provide funds for his wife and three children.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

With hoe in hand I started to cutting some sweet gum bushes that were growing by the side of a dead gum tree. At the first lick I saw a green lizard leap from the bushes and land on the tree. Boy like I followed the chameleon around the tree and to my astonishment this species of the lizard had changed his color and was now the identical color of the trunk of the tree. Being hot in pursuit of him, he leaped back into the green gum bushes and when I located him the next time he was as green as a gum leaf. The lizard had the capacity to change his color. He did this for purposes of deception. He had in mind the purpose of hiding from his enemies and deceiving its expected food. He changed himself to be the color of the thing over which he crawled. Since that day I have been beating the bushes with the gospel and I have located and upset many a human chameleon. This type of mankind seems to have the faculty of changing their colors to suit their associations. On Sunday in the choir, or in the pew they look as white as angels, but on Thursday night at the dance hall they are as black as mud. I often wonder what God is going to do with this type of the human chameleon family.

I was sitting in the photographer's office waiting to see him about testing out my defects in the world of beauty. In came a previous customer. She had fire on her checks and ever and anon she would blow some smoke from her nostrils. While we waited together I was tempted to get a bucket of water and dash it over her, for it seemed that she was going to catch on fire. When the proprietor of the establishment stepped from behind the curtains she dashed at him with a fury that frightened two men. "Look at this picture. Do you think that I look like that? Do you call that a good likeness " snapped the woman as she shoved a photo under the nose of the photographer. "Why that thing is an outrage. In it I have an awful squint of the eyes and my face looks like a prize-fighting bully," she continued. Without saying a word the photographer ran back and brought out the negative. Glancing over the picture and the negative, he quietly replied, "Why, my good woman, they are just alike." A lot of folks are filled with wrath when they see themselves as they really are. If you want to fire up the furnace in the bosom of folks, just put them into print as they really are. O that we had the power to see ourselves as other people see us.

In one of the county courts in East Georgia a few weeks ago a negro man was put into the witness chair to tell why and how he came into the possession of a sack full of chickens found in his possession. He related to the court this interesting story: "Judge, it was dis way about dem fowls. I went out wid me dogs after a possum for me dinner. No possoms was stirring and late at night I started home wid the sack on me back. I sartenly passed de accuser's house but I did not stop to get his chickens. Dey just flew off de roost and flew into my sack as I walked along and I did not know dat dey was in da until I reached my shanty. No sar, judge, I sho didn't catch dem fowls, dey just took and flew into my sack I knowed the very minute I saw dem dat dey belonged to Mars John and I was going to carry dem back to him just as soon as I planted me crop." Have you ever seen a member of the White race who had a lot of things that "Just flew into his sack?" Some folks would not steal for the world, but somehow things just take up with them. In other words, they borrow and never pay back.

I left the train at a Florida depot and was waiting around for a friend who was to meet me and carry me out into the country to help in a meeting. About ten minutes after the train had passed a big car dashed up and a nicely dressed man leaped to the ground and dashed into the depot and asked for a ticket to Pensacola. The agent replied, "I'm sorry my friend, but your train has been gone about ten minutes." The man showed every sign of disgust at every thing but himself. He cursed the train, he cursed the railroads, he cursed his car and then let fly a few more vulgar oaths for full measure. I looked at this bundle of curses and wondered why he did not waste his curses on himself alone. I knew that on the big L. & N. division that trains did not run ahead of time. Some folks have such an exalted opinion of themselves that they think that God and creation should wait on them.

Meeting a red-nosed Demijohn at the street crossing he accosted me with the query, "And now, parson, what do you think of the prohibition question since Mr. Rockefeller has come out for repeal." Not wishing an argument with a man who had no reason and one who had no eyes to see a moral question, I ventured to say, "I think that Mr. Rockefeller has made the mistake of his life." Then my man blew himself up like a balloon fish and replied, "There you go again, too narrow to see that there are two sides to every question." At that moment the red light came on, but I paused long enough to say, "Yes, my friend, there are two sides to every question, just like there are two sides to a sheet of fly paper. Do you not agree with me that it makes much difference to the fly as to which side he lights on?" I guess he cursed, but I did not hear it, for I was on the other side of the street. There are two sides to the whiskey question, one side has life and liberty, the other side has the germ of death.

Lordy, Lordy; let me git my George Washington special an fill my Cob pipe 'cause my mine is jest wanderen way back- bless my North Alabama, I Jest laff sum time dat it is merraculous jest have to take another hook in my belt before my gallasses buss off a button. Way back, fore de mancepatin, we had er nigger parson on de plantashun what preached evry 4th Sunday evenin' in de white foxes meetin' house. It wuz one hot day an ole Jim wuz postilatin on his summon, an er sweatin' and smellin' loud, an' when he got to runnin' in high with his summon, I thinks to meself, now is my time. So dare wuz a not hole in de wall jest back of Jim where he was standin' an' I had give er nigger 50 sents to ketch me a bottle full uv hornets, so I took de stopper uv the bottle, an' I did, an' stuck de neck uv the bottle thru the not hole an' dem scutters made war on Jim. Hese head wuz shave an' dem hornits perceded to have er cuncenturn on de top uv Jim's head. The chairman of the cunventurn rapped fur order, an' day perceded to business, an' JIM, he had business down de big rode, he wuz in er hurry an' forgot to sing the doxselergy. — Ernother time, Jim wuz to preach at 3 aftur dinner in the church, an' my uncle wuz ridin' over the plantation an' pass by Jim howing Cotton, an' he say, Mars Lock, tell me a good tex to preach on nex Sunday. He told Jim, an' he did, the best tex he knowed wuz erbout Gabrel blowin' his trumpet on that great day, so Jim he say, & he did, that wuz a show good tex. So Sunday after dinner my uncle he ride his hoss over to the church about two miles an' took him way down in the woods & tie him to er tree an' goes back to the church an' gits way up in what day call de bacooney an' hide he self before all the niggers cum & he had a big ole Texas cow horn. So Jim & the conjugation sembled, an' day did, an' by an' by Jim he got up in high wid de summun & axin the brudders an' sistern what day goin' to do when Gabril blow his trumpet on dat great day, an' when Jim got up in HIGH good an' strong, uncle he give a long toot wid his horn an' Jim, he stop short off an' look up, an' he did, an' reach back an' got his hat an' left demediately, an' he want walkin', an' he want, an' the conjugation went out, an want walkin', an' day want. The meetin', it close itself, an' it did.

MAPLESVILLE BILL.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. EMMA VANCE

On Friday afternoon July 8, our home was much saddened by the death of Mother Vance. It came after a stroke of paralysis which lasted about ten days, although she has been in an invalid state about two years.

Although an invalid there was never a complaint from Mother against the cruelness of fate. She knew her time was of the past. Her past is a thing of beauty and perseverance, over 55 years as a member of church, not as one who sits back and watches, but as one who worked for the glorifying of God. Only a true Christian spirit could have endured so much pain and trouble without complaining against God.

She was ready to go as she realized her work on earth was completed. Many who stay behind now realize how great a work she accomplished.

Her greatest accomplishment was making this world a better place to live in. She has gone, but her memory is here and sweet it is. Her Christian life and work will keep her in many minds and hearts for many years. Doesn't that fulfill the aim of life? As given in "Psalm of Life."

"And departing leave behind us, Footprints on the sands of time."

We loved her, but Jesus loved her more and called her to come home on that shining shore. There's a vacant place in our home that never can be filled, but why should we lament and wish her back again, since she has gone to her long home with Christ to live and reign.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, two sons, six daughters, twenty-five grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. In this family of forty-one there has been only two deaths, a grandson and mother.

Funeral services were held at Liberty Hill church, of which she was a member. Revs. Holland and Homer Carroll officiated with grandsons of deceased as pallbearers. Spigener of Clanton was in charge.

—Mrs. A. C. Patterson.

May Plant More Winter Legumes

Montgomery, Ala., July 20.—Reports received here from county Farm Bureaus indicate that there will be very little, if any, decrease in the planting of winter legumes on Alabama farms this fall and that there is a great possibility of a decided increase in plantings, says John E. Ivey, general manager of the Alabama Farm Bureau Mutual Supply Association, through which organization most of Alabama's winter legume seed are purchased.

Crops of cotton and corn now growing in Alabama bear eloquent witness of the value of hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas as soil builders, Mr. Ivey said. Statistics compiled by J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist of Auburn, show that last fall 2,809,025 pounds of winter legume seed were planted in Alabama. This is by far the largest amount ever planted and Mr. Ivey is hoping there will be an increase this fall.

"This fall grow your own nitrogen," is a slogan being used by county farm agents in urging farmers to plant legumes. They say that the reduced income from farming is one reason why there should be more winter legume seed planted, since they furnish by far the cheapest source of nitrogen known. Experimental results show that a good crop of winter legumes will add nitrogen equivalent to that in 300 pounds of nitrate of soda and that planting legumes means on the average an increase in the first crop following of 20 bushels of corn or 350 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

Alabama plants more winter legume seed than any other state in the nation. Most of the seed are purchased direct from growers on the West coast and are shipped by boat or rail to Alabama points.

"Strictly Dishonorable" In Film Form Soon

"Strictly Dishonorable," the most piquant and provocative comedy yet to reach the talking screen, is to be shown in Clanton in the near future.

This presentation was assured yesterday, when the Wadesonian Theatre completed arrangements for playing Universal's brilliant screenplay adapted from one of the most successful plays seen in New York within the past decade. The cast of the picture is headed by Paul Lukas, whom Universal borrowed from Paramount, Sidney Fox and Lewis Stone, will be shown Monday and Tuesday July 25 and 26.

The story concerns an innocent Southern girl and her pugnacious fiance, who leaves in jealous anger when she casts admiring glances at an Italian opera singer whom she meets in a speakeasy. The sudden romance that blossoms between this great lover and the deserted Southern beauty is told with daring and yet with utmost delicacy. Laughter, tears and tingling suspense tumble over each other in delicious abandon.

The original play was written by Preston Sturges, and the screen version is the work of Gladys Lehman, who recently wrote the story for Universal's domestic drama, "Seed." In addition to Lukas, Stone and Miss Fox, the cast of "Strictly Dishonorable" includes George Meeker and William Ricciardi, who appeared in the New York stage production of the play. John M. Stahl directed the picture.

BOARD REFUSES TO CHANGE REGULATION

Approximately $300,000 were saved Wednesday for Alabama farmers by the State Board of Agriculture refusing to change its regulation requiring a minimum of 18 pounds and a maximum of 21 pounds of bagging and ties to be placed on every bale of cotton ginned in the state.

It was proposed to the Board that the bagging standard be reduced from 18 to 15 pounds per bale, which, according to Seth P. Storrs, commissioner, would have resulted in a loss of $300,000 to farmers because of reductions in total weights of bales of cotton.

The Board also refused to permit the registration of mixed feed with more than 16 per cent of fiber material.

George Clark of Little Rock, Ark., who saw the advertisement of the Clark Lumber Company in Shaeldon, Ia., visited the office and found his brother, whom he had not seen for 28 years.

Some minds are so open that they appear unable to hold anything.

Paul Traham of Central Falls, R walked into the district court at Waltham, Mass., and paid a fine of $1 which has been due seven years.

ELECTRIC POWER
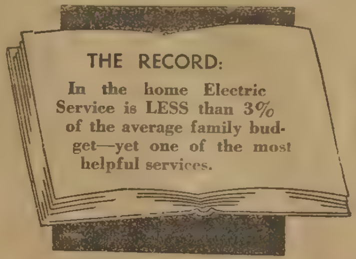
CHEAPEST
items in the cost of
MANUFACTURING

ELECTRIC Power is one of the most important "Tools" in industry. Many a factory could not operate without it. One of the most important—yet one of the cheapest.

The cost of electric power is so low that if it were free the average manufacturer could not make more than a 3% reduction in the price of his commodities. Figures from the last United States Census giving the cost for both fuel and electric power for such industries as food manufacture, lumber, paper, machinery, iron and steel, transportation, rubber, textiles, wood products and the like show that the cost of electric power represents an average of only 3% of the total cost of making these products.

In the home, too, Electricity is one of the most important "tools"—yet one of the cheapest. Each year it serves in more ways, does more work, at rates averaging steadily lower. Average home rates in 1926 were 35% higher than for 1930.



THE RECORD:
In the home Electric Service is LESS than 3% of the average family budget—yet one of the most helpful services.

J. H. Jackson Writes Regarding Platform

Following is a letter from J. H. Jackson, Democratic candidate for Commissioner of Chilton County, to the voters of this county, in which he gives his platform in behalf of his candidacy:

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please permit me to say a few words through your valuable paper? As I have been invited to visit different parts of the county, I wish to thank those for same. I also want to say that we aim to make a speaking tour over the county before November. I will re-submit my platform to the people for their consideration.

1st. I favor a reduction in valuation on real estate.

2nd. I favor more permanent road building such as graveling in winter and less raking.

3rd. I also favor letting the alms house out on a salary basis, for the reason: What is the employee's gain is the inmate's loss. I believe that a way should be provided for them to go to church of their choice at least once a month. If not too inconvenient, I also believe this plan to be cheaper and more satisfactory than the present one.

If the people see fit to elect me to the office of Commissioner to the 4th District, I will serve them to the best of my ability, regardless of creed or party.

If elected your servant,
J. H. JACKSON.

HILYER FAMILY REUNION TO BE HELD ON JULY 31

Following is a letter received by the News, regarding a Hilyer family reunion to be held at Mims Ferry:

Jemison, Ala., July 18, 1932.

To the Editor, Chilton County News:

Please allow me space to say in your paper that on Sunday July 31st, at Mims Ferry, just below Lay Dam, there will be a Hilyer family reunion held for the celebration of Stephen H. Hilyer's 87th birthday. The entire Hilyer family is asked to be present and anyone else who wishes to come. Stephen H. Hilyer was once a resident of Coosa county, but is now living in Chilton county.

Hoping to meet as many friends as will come.

J. D. HILYER.

There were many sighs of relief last Sunday at noon when the extreme heat released its grip on the people of Chilton county. It was almost a record breaker for this section.

Hospital Expresses Thanks To Pilots

Following is a letter from the Central Alabama Hospital to the Pilot Club of Clanton, expressing thanks for the attractive room in the hospital:

To the Clanton Pilot Club:

For the interest shown by you in renovating, repainting, furnishing linens and other equipment for a room in the Central Alabama Hospital, the officials of the institution desire to express their most profound appreciation and heartfelt thanks.

If we can in any way serve you, call on us.—Yours truly, V. J. Gragg, President; Grace Robinson, Superintendent.

Chilton Co. Given Fine Tribute Over WAPI

State and for turning the wheels of industry in many towns and cities. Much of the story of Chilton County is the story of Coosa River. Much of the lore and the legends speak of the Coosa.

"Flowing River" has been placed second on this program. This is a folk song with a Spanish sort of rhythm which echoes the sorrows of the people and reverberates their joys.

Music: "Flowing River"

3. Chilton County, we salute you as the center of hydro-electric production in Alabama. Within your borders opportunity is beckoning. You are on the verge of a great economical awakening and your dreams are about to be realized. Your soil has increased in the production of commodities more than 300 per cent. It is producing billions of dollars in steel, coal, lumber and many other products, yet its vast resources have scarcely been disturbed. Your agriculture is imbued with new life. Diversification is beginning to bear fruit. Your people will use wisely the blessings that come to them from the hands of a generous providence.

Chilton County, we salute you!

May your people take the instruments at their command, your minerals, your dairy supplies, your hydro-electric power, and fashion in stately architecture such a county as will make their descendantts look back to them with stirring pride.

Here is a group of songs of the River and the Sea—such a river as the Coosa. First the quartette will sing, "A Capital Ship."

Music: "A Capital Ship"
"By The Bend of the River"

4. Another group of songs is made up of two by Stephen Foster, "Hard Times Come Again No More" and "Some Folks Do."

Music: "Hard Times Come Again No More" — "Some Folks Do"

5. This is the Protective Life's Salute to Chilton County, in Alabama. It is our pleasure to have in the studios this evening one whose home is in this county. We have asked him to come here to be interviewed. This is Mr. Billy Smith, editor of the Chilton County News. He will answer the questions asked by Ormond O. Black of the staff of the Protective Life.

At this point, Billy Smith, editor of the News, was interviewed by Ormond Black, of the Protective Life Insurance Co., regarding Chilton County.

Protective Life Quartette is going to sing now, "California, Here Come".

Music: "California, Here I Come"

6. Back to childhood days, winding trails and wildwood ways. This is "Barefoot Trails".

Music: "Barefoot Trails"

7. The Salute to Chilton County, in Alabama, is concluded with an old favorite which should leave a sweet impression of this broadcast. This is "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me".

Music: "Last Night the Nightingale Woke Me"

8. Each Monday evening the Protective Life Insurance Company broadcasts a salute to one of the counties in Alabama. Tonight they have saluted Chilton County, the center of hydro-electric production in Alabama. Mr. Billy Smith, editor of the Chilton County News, was heard in an interview. Additional information regarding this county may be secured from the Protective Life Insurance Company, from this radio station, or from the Chilton County News at Clanton, Alabama.

Music: "Alabama, Alabama"

Deep Sea Rodeo Will Be Held Aug. 8, 9, 10

B. Hawes, author of "My Friend the Black Bass", Missouri; Col. Charles Dawes, with a party of fifty from Chicago, Illinois; and Irvin S. Cobb, of New York City.

"The Annual Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo was designed to make it possible for the every day variety of fishermen who have little opportunity on account of the cost usually found necessary in deep sea fishing to participate in this wonderful sport. The Committee in its preparations for Alabama's Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo has arranged for free lodging in comfortable quarters, meals at popular prices, and boat hire has been reduced to a minimum. Nothing will be left undone for the comfort and happiness of all participants.

"Many valuable prizes will be awarded to successful contestants, and the rankest amateur is just as likely to win a grand prize as any old timer at the art of deep sea fishing.

"Reports from the fishing grounds convey the good news that tarpon, the gamest fish that swims the seven seas, ling, King Mackerel, cavalla, black fish, bonito, blue fish, speckled trout, channel bass, Spanish Mackerel and many other valuable and game species are now appearing in unusual numbers.

"If you have visited Dauphin Island and Fort Gaines on its eastern point, overlooking the Gulf of Mexico, you will want to go back again. If you have never availed yourself of an opportunity to visit Alabama's sub-tropical area where the cooling breezes from the Gulf are wafted upon beautiful Dauphin Island and the sandy beaches of Mobile and Baldwin Counties, you should arrange your vacation so as to include three days fishing with a host of brother Waltonians at Alabama's Fourth Annual Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo."

Plowing a field that had been untilled for about half a century, Walter Robinson of Stoughton, Mass., recently uncovered a big U. S. Penny dated 1840.

strength into the work at Auburn. I love the institution and have only the very best and highest wishes for it and for the people of Alabama. I want it to succeed.

"I have appreciated the loyal support of the board of trustees, of the faculty and of the student body of the institution. I have also appreciated the very loyal support of the people of Auburn.

"Under the most trying conditions during the past year the people here have held together and done an outstanding piece of work, deserving the praise of the people of the state.

"I do not think it wise for me to comment at this time on the great progress that Auburn has made in these four years. I have given the institution my best efforts and have exhausted my own time and strength in its behalf to the full limit.

Importance Stressed

"The institution is exceedingly important to the people of the state and I sincerely and earnestly bespeak for it the consideration the quality of its work deserves at the hands of the people of Alabama. I shall put in full time and strength from now until Sept. 1 to prepare for the opening of the school at Auburn on Sept. 6."

Dr. Knapp, who came to Alabama Polytechnic Institute from Oklahoma A. & M. of which he was president, not only is widely known as an educator, but also as an author, public speaker and economist.

His various past connections include chief of the Office of Extension Work in the South, United States Department of Agriculture, dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Arkansas, and a member of the advisory committee on cotton, Federal Farm Board.

In 1913 he traveled in Europe for the United States Department of Agriculture, investigating rural finance organizations and cooperative marketing.

FARMERS WANT L. N. DUNCAN SAYS R. J. GOODE

Endorses Duncan For Head Of Alabama Polytechnic Institute

The appointment of Dr. L. N. Duncan as temporary president of Auburn would meet "with the practically unanimous and enthusiastic approval of the farmers of the state," declares Representative R. J. Goode, farmer and member of the State Board of Agriculture, in a letter addressed to the Board of Trustess of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Speaking as a farmer and legislator, Mr. Goode declared that the primary purpose for which the institution was established is for the service which it may render to the farm people of the state and for that reason the farmer is more interested than any one else in the kind of man who is named president.

Mr. Goode had released the following statement:

"I have just had an interview with Governor B. M. Miller in reference to the general situation at Auburn and the selection of a temporary president for the college. I have also mailed to

Log Cabin Beach Picnic On July 31

Announcement has been made that on Sunday, July 31st, there will be a picnic at Log Cabin Beach, on the Coosa River, on the Rockford-Clanton road. Everybody is invited to come and spend the day, bringing a well-filled basket.

There will be music, speaking and other entertainments, it was stated. People from Coosa and Chilton counties are especially intited. Swimming and boating can also be enjoyed. Remember the date, Sunday, July 31st, and everybody is invited.

R.A. CAMP WILL BE HELD NEAR VERBENA SOON

Three Days Outing Of Fine Program Is Planned For August 9, 10, 11

Some of the plans and requirements of the R. A. Camp to be held August 9, 10, and 11:

Place: 6 miles east of Verbena.

Each R. A. Chapter that sends boys must have a leader to accompany them. The camp will begin each morning with prayer meeting led by the boys. Breakfast will follow. Each day there will be swimming and games under supervision of able leaders. No swimmer will be allowed to get out of easy reach of a life saver. No one will be allowed to go out in a boat. Swimming lessons will be taught, also First Aid.

Each person is required to bring: 1 loaf of bread, 8 ears of corn, 1 dozen green apples or 1 lb. of dried, 1 dime in money, 1 old plate, 1 cup, 1 spoon, 1 fork (tin preferred), 1 dozen eggs, 1 glass of jelly or preserves, 2 quilts or blankets, 3-4 lb. of bacon, 1-4 lb. of butter, 1 live chicken to two persons, 1 towel, and any vegetables that can be brought.

Wear old clothes and bring bathing suit or a pair of overalls as substitute.

Following is the MENU for camp:

Tuesday: Each boy is required to bring his lunch and enough sandwiches and cake for supper to be spread and eaten together.

Wednesday: Breakfast, fresh toast and syrup. Dinner, camp stew with boiled eggs, corn bread, apple sauce. Supper, omelet, baked potatoes.

Thursday: breakfast, eggs and peanut butter, jelly. Dinner, barbecue chicken, hunter's stew.

Each night we will have an inspirational address by some good speaker.

We would be glad if each W.M.S. or as many as will send some man to be trained as R. A. leader. If such a one is sent send the above supplies.

We are asking that each W.M.U. see that the above requirements are met.

—Reported by Chairman.

Anyone interested in camp will communicate with G. T. Dickinson, Billingsley, Ala.

MR. AND MRS. LANDE AND PARTY LEAVE FOR CHICAGO SUN.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lande, and son, Irvin, Miss Bertha Margolis, Mrs. S. Lande and Miss Naeima Turnquist, will leave Sunday morning for a motor trip to Chicago.

Mrs. S. Lande will stop off in Nashville, her home. The remainder of this party will go on to Chicago and other points. Mr. and Mrs. Lande will visit several of the large clothes markets while in Chicago, to purchase fall goods for their store here, The Leader. Mr. Lande stated that when he returned and secured this new stock of goods, he would have a very important announcement to make. They expect to be away for about two weeks.

CLANTON MADE BREAD IS NOW ON THE MARKET

Opening Announcement Of Bakery Appears In News This Week

Bread that is baked right in Clanton is now being sold over the counters of grocery stores, markets and other places. This is the "Sunlite" bread, baked by the Sunlite Baking Company of Clanton.

The bakery, located next door to the postoffice, is now operating and bread is being turned out fresh daily. Wrapped in clean, attractive wrappers, sliced or unsliced, in small or large loaves, this bread is already getting a fine reputation.

Residents of Clanton and Chilton County are being urged to buy "Clanton baked bread," and judging from comments from those already using it, it is good bread.

Find the announcement of the opening of the Sunlite Bakery in this issue of the News. They invite the public to visit their shop and inspect it.

Large Rattler Killed Near Refuge Church

The News office received a visit from a very bad looking snake Wednesday of last week, but fortunately the snake's head was missing, and he was perfectly harmless. This snake was a rattler, with seventeen rattles bringing up the rear of the five feet and five inches. It had been killed Tuesday afternoon of last week by C. L. Baker of Route 2, well known farmer of this county, near Refuge church.

Mr. Baker stated that he and his young son were in a buggy and saw the snake in the road. It was necessary to stop the buggy, to prevent the horse from walking on the snake as it stretched its full length in the road. Mr. Baker secured a large stick and after striking the snake several times, killed it. It was the largest rattler seen by the staff of the News.

MR. AND MRS. WARE AND FAMILY RETURNED FROM DETROIT

Mr. and Mrs. Matt L. Ware and children returned last Friday night from an extended motor trip, that carried them into parts of Michigan and other places, their destination having been Detroit.

Mr. Ware stated that this was certainly one fine trip. In all the many miles they traveled in their car, they had no tire nor motor trouble, and he and Mrs. Ware relate some pleasant visits and experiences.

Miss Poyner of Brewton, is the attractive guest of Mrs. Homer Carroll.

Four arrests were reported from the sheriff's office this week. Three for violating the prohibition law and one for public drunkenness.

Rev. Homer Carroll started out Monday morning to fill a two month's engagement with a publishing company to sell, "The Stories of the Bible." Mr. Carroll is a young man and is trying to make it possible to attend Howard College next fall.

NEGRO SINGERS ARE SLATED TO APPEAR HERE

"Heaven Bound" To Make Its Second Appearance In Clanton Soon

It was learned this week that the negro singers, composing the cast of "Heaven Bound" are slated to appear in Clanton in the near future to present that pageant of negro spirituals.

It was also stated that it will be presented in Thorsby, following its showing here. The tentative date is set as Monday, August 8th, at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton, and on Tuesday night, August 9th in Thorsby. These dates are not definite and further announcements will be made next week, it was stated.

"Heaven Bound" was presented here some time ago, and met with hearty approval. It will be sponsored again by the Methodist Missionary Society of Clanton, and the Parent-Teachers Association of Thorsby.

THORSBY HOST TO LOG ROLLERS ASSOCIATION

Program Begins at Three this Afternoon, Running Into Fine Night Session

The Central Alabama Log Rollers Association, Woodmen of The World, will gather in Thorsby this afternoon, with a fine program beginning at three o'clock, with a band concert by the Thorsby Band.

The meeting will be called to order by J. N. Cochran, former head consul. The program includes addresses by Judge Leon McCord, of Montgomery, and Hon. J. B. Atkinson, of Clanton, both of whom are widely known over the state.

There will be a singing program in the afternoon and refreshments will be served by the W. M. U. ladies. The night session begins at eight o'clock and will be in charge of Col. L. A. Ellington. The night session is for members only, and the public is invited to attend the afternoon session.

Highlights Of History Of Chilton Towns Given Recently By Peter A. Brannon

Appearing in last Sunday's Montgomery Advertiser, under the heading, "Through The Years", was an article dealing with high points on the history of Jemison, Thorsby, Clanton and Maplesville. The article was written by Peter A. Brannon, historian of note, of Montgomery, Ala. Following are some of the comments relative to Chilton County:

Recent Little Cities to the South

Now, south down the pavement are Jemison, Thorsby and Clanton and they were not influenced by those inevitable, before mentioned Tennessee soldiers. Robert Jemison, late of Tuscaloosa, was honored when they chose a name for that village. Mr. Jemison, mentally, was "like Saul among the children of Kish, a head and shoulders above his brethren." He was born in Lincoln County, Ga., in 1802 and was a pupil with Dixon H. Lewis, W. T. Colquit, Absolom H. Chappell, Grigsby E. Thomas and T. A. Watkins, names high in the annals of fame, under Rev. N. N. S. Beman, the step-father of William Lowndes Yancey. Though a railroad station bears his name, Mr. Jemison's early business enterprises were mail coach lines. His competitor, James Powell, could not "freeze" him out, so he took him into partnership.

Thorsby is a recent town, though old maps show "Strasburg" at about this point. Thirty years ago there was a business college at "Thorsby."

Clanton in Chilton

Clanton bears the name of Gen. James H. Clanton, who served in the war with Mexico and who distinguished himself in the cause of the Confederacy. When the county was created in 1868, they called it for Alfred Baker, of Autauga, but on Dec. 17, 1874, its name was changed to that of Judge William P. Chilton, born in Kentucky but long a distinguished citizen of this state. Judge Chilton was a staunch Democrat and Gen. Clanton, the leader, and one of the party's most vigorous fighters, but strange as it may seem, this section has long been the stronghold of Republicanism in Alabama. Gen. Clanton lost his life Sept. 26, 1871 in Knoxville, while representing the State of Alabama, in the Federal Court, in the matter of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad Bonds. He was shot by the drunken son of a former Federal Army officer. This controversy left an irreparable loss, for Gen. Clanton was one of Alabama's outstanding citizens.

Maplesville on the M. & O.

West and South over State Road No. 22, you will reach old Maplesville, then the present village of the name. When they ran the railroad from Columbus. Miss., to Montgomery, through that section in 1899, the people moved west to be on the railway. The drive is thru a rough country formerly heavily timbered. The progress of time is positively evident, for whereas the auto has replaced those big ox-drawn trucks dragging their logs underneath, today the M. and O. Railroad at Maplesville is using electrically driven locomotives. In the short space of less than 30 years that rural section of Western Chilton County with no railroad, now has improved highways and electric trains.

IT IS GOOD TO SEE IT

It was certainly a treat to anyone to see such a large gathering of people of one county at one time, with such a splendid spirit of optimism and signs of happiness, as was seen at the county-wide picnic held near here last Friday.

There has been no reports of anything other than something pleasing coming from that gathering of fine people from all over Chilton County, estimated to be between 2,000 and 2,500. That affair can be claimed, without hesitation, a success. The program as arranged by County Agent Stapp was entertaining and very instructive, and much credit is due Mr. Stapp for this fine day.

Throughout the day, everyone present appeared to have a smile that was contagious. It was evidence that the statement made many times by this newspaper, is true — "Chilton County people are optimistic, industrious and progressive."

CLANTON'S NEW BAKERY

For a number of years in the past, Clanton has had several bakeries to open for business, the proprietors investing several hundred of dollars in equipment, and making efforts to do business here.

The announcement is being made this week of the Sunlite Bakery opening in Clanton. These men who have come to Clanton and opened this bakery, come with good recommendations. The bread they are turning out has all indications of being good. Their bakery is clean and sanitary, operated by experienced men. The bread is already on the market.

This newspaper feels that the people of Chilton County should support this new business, and especially should the people of Clanton give their cooperation, and buy Clanton baked bread. Of course, provided, these men keep their products up to a standard worthy of support, which we are sure they will.

TIFFIN-SUMNER MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE

"R. J. Sumner, of Clanton, announces the marriage of his daughter, Jeanette, to Thomas Edward Tiffin, of Clanton, on April 24th, in Selma, Alabama."

This announcement is of wide interest in Clanton and Tuscaloosa, where these young people are well known and have many friends. Mrs. Tiffin is a popular member of the young social set of Clanton and Tuscaloosa, where she formerly lived, and is a graduate of the Tuscaloosa Junior High School.

Mr. Tiffin is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tiffin of Clanton, a graduate of the Chilton County High School and listed as one of the popular young men of this city. They will make their home in Clanton.

TEN ESCAPE FROM PRISON AT WETUMPKA

Bloodhounds Set On Trail Of Fugitives Shortly After Escape

Ten white prisoners overpowered their guards and escaped from a truck of the state prison at Wetumpka shortly after 5 a.m. Tuesday.

The prisoners, a part of two squads of 35 convicts being transported from the Wetumpka prison to a nearby place of work, rushed Guards J. L. Palmer and Roy Reynolds, overpowered them and took two pistols and two shotguns.

Overawe Companions

Covering the other 25 prisoners and the guards, the four convicts who were armed ordered them to board the truck and drive toward Goodwater, Ala. A short time later the 10 convicts halted Ben Williams, driving toward Wetumpka, and took his automobile.

Prison officials immediately reported the escape to William F. Feagin, director of the state board of adminis-

O. O. Roper Opens Up For Business Here

One of Clanton's old-time merchants is back in business again. This is O.O. Roper, widely known citizen of Clanton, and he has opened his place of business in the store formerly occupied by B. L. Jones, near the railroad.

Mr. Roper has a very neat and attractive place of business, carrying a full stock of groceries, feed stuffs and other items for the home, and he says his prices will always be as low as possible.

Mr. Roper stated that he wishes to invite all his friends to see him in his new place, where they will find a fresh stock always.

J. H. JACKSON BRINGS FINE GRAPES TO OFFICE OF NEWS

Early Monday morning of this week, the News office was visited by J. H. Jackson, of near Lomax, who is known over the county for the extra fine grapes that he raises in his large vineyard. Mr. Jackson was accompanied to the News office by two large baskets of these fine grapes, making a present of them to the editor.

We might also mention that Mr. Jackson is the Democratic candidate for Member of the Commissioner's Court of Chilton County and is becoming widely known for his straightforward campaign. If you want some extra fine grapes, we say get in touch with Mr. Jackson, because he has them, and they are right now in splendid shape.

LITTLE-WILLIS MARRIAGE TAKES PLACE IN CLANTON

The marriage of Miss Velma Willis to Mr. Arthur Little took place in Clanton last Friday night. The ceremony was performed by T. W. Bryan, justice of the peace, at his office.

The three circles of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met Monday afternoon and each group studied the leaflet, "China Travels Forward." Circle One met with Mrs. Omar Reynolds, circle two with Mrs. Bob Jones and circle three with Mrs. Macey Jones.

Owing to the absence of the pastors from the city, next Sunday will be one Sabbath in Clanton without a preaching service. The Sunday schools and the young people's organizations will meet as usual.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS BIG PICNIC HERE

Program Carried Out Showing Splendid Cooperation From Everyone

As was predicted, possibly the largest gathering of Chilton County people took place last Friday at the county-wide picnic in Popwell's Grove

Early in the morning people began to come to the grove from all parts of the county, parking their trucks or cars, or hitching their mules in nearby spots. The place soon became a regular little village, minus buildings.

Cars, trucks and wagons were lined up all along the highway, bordering the grove, while many were seen spotted in all available spaces in the grove. Benches were provided throughout the grove, with lumber arranged in regular picnic seating style.

Odors of deliciously barbecued meat added to the spirit of the day, whetting the appetites of the hundreds of men, women and children present.

Lunch and drink stands were spotted over the grove with the attendants busy making preparations to serve the thirsty and hungry people throughout the day. Two of these stands were in charge of the Pilot Club of Clanton.

Large barrels were placed at inter-

The Billingsley P.-T. A. is sponsoring a School Picnic July 30th, at the Billingsley High School. Barbecue and refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the school. An interesting educational program will be rendered during the morning, speakers to be announced. Ball games will be played during the afternoon. Everyone make plans to attend, enjoy the day and help the school.

PLANS GOING FORWARD FOR ROAD PAVING

Over 800 Register To Apply For Jobs On Road In Paving Project

Plans on the proposed paving of two miles of the Lay Dam road, beginning at the city limits of Clanton, are going forward, according to information from the office of the judge of probate Monday, despite a loud opposition from taxpayers over the county.

The right-of-way for the road has been obtained, it was stated, and graveling is to start right away.

At the courthouse last Saturday, there were over 800 men who applied for application blanks, filled them out, asking for jobs on roads in this county, according to this information. It was estimated that fifty per cent of these stated they have no crop this year, and apparently will have no means of support for themselves nor their families during the winter.

Following is a list of questions appearing on the application blank used last Saturday to register these men:

Application For Road Work

I hereby make application for work on the Lay Dam road and unless I get some kind of work right away, my family will suffer for the necessities of life.

My name is

My address is

Have you a truck you want to work with?

Have you a two-horse team you want to work with?

Do you want to work as a laborer?

Are you married?

How many dependent children have you?

State any others depending on you for a living

Are you making a crop this year?

What means of support have you?

How do you expect to support your family this winter?

State what supplies you have on hand?

J. H. Jackson For Commissioner

Grady Jones, of Lomax, bursts forth again this week with a well-worded poem, endorsing J. H. Jackson, for county commissioner, on the Democratic ticket.

J. H. Jackson For Commissioner

I see for commissioner, Mr. J. H. Jackson has asked for a term.
As to good principles and honesty you will certainly find him firm.
For Commissioner I believe he would be fine;
For when he tells you anything a little soft talk will not change his mind.
To buy his honor I do not believe money would make a start.
By good reasons I think he is a Christian man at heart.
In misfortune he is always ready to help and give.
This can be proved at Lomax where he lives.
To us who were in the storm,
His duty he certainly did perform.
He would take his truck and haul and would not accept any pay.
He showed that he was in sympathy with the people that were blown away.
Mr. Jackson certainly is for the man that has to labor.
And in his community you cannot find a better neighbor.
So, dear people, when you meet at the polls this fall
Please remember Mr. Jackson, the man that really believes in equal rights to all.

By GRADY JONES.

ALABAMA FARMERS HAVE MORE PIGS

Alabama has 6 per cent more pigs than last year, but farmers of the Nation have 7 per cent less, reports F. W. Gist, statistician for the Department of Agriculture.

"The total number of pigs in the state this year is 414,000 against 391,000 last year and 411,000 in 1930," he said.

"It is estimated that the number of sows to be farrowed this fall will be 66,000, which is the same as were farrowed last fall."

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

The pastor knocked upon the door and a little girl of five opened it and seeing the preacher standing there she said, "Come right in, doctor, Mama will be down in a minute." The minister stepped into the parlor and near him the little girl and her smaller sister resumed their play on the floor. Soon there was a heated argument between the little girls and the preacher thought it time to get in one of his moral lectures. He bent over the little girls and began, "Daughters, you should not fuss and snarl at each other that way. Little girls should not get mad and have a fuss with their sisters." At this point both children broke out in a laugh, saying, "Why pastor, you do not understand. We are only playing Papa and Mama. We are not mad, we are just doing like we see them do." The pastor pulled the crook out of his back and quietly walked back to his seat. He knew something he did not know before. How many of us would like to have our children play Papa and Mama out where everybody can see and hear?

The preacher was out looking after his flock and passing two little girls playing in a shady garden by the side of the home, he stopped and inquired, "Daughters, what are you doing?" "We are playing Sunday school," replied the children. The pastor inquired again, "And where are your pupils?" The children pointed to the doll, the cat, the two puppies, a little biddy and a little calf and said, "These are our pupils." Soon the pastor was on his way with a happy spot in his heart as he thought of the happy children. A few weeks after this he was passing the same home and found the two little girls out under the shade playing again. "What are you doing this time?" asked the preacher, remembering the conversation they had when last he saw them. "We are still playing Sunday school," replied the girls. "But do you know, pastor, one of our pupils has deserted us." Looking over the group the preacher inquired, "I do not miss any one. Tell me of the absent member of your school." Then one of the girls replied, "It is that stinking old calf. Buddie calls him Buck and Buck thinks that he is too big now to go to Sunday school." The experience of those girls is the experience of those who really conduct Sunday schools. Many of our "Bucks" grow a bit older and they think themselves much larger, and they decide that they are too old to go to Sunday school. What a pity.

The preacher was passing through the park. Quite a gathering of children were seated about the stand. A little boy stood on a cracker box in the midst of the gathering. The minister stopped and looked on. He discovered that the game had something to do with church, and so he ventured to ask, "What are you children playing?" A girl of eight summers became spokes-lady, said she, "Reverend, we are playing church. Tom there on the box is the preacher, Sam and Will are the ushers, these kids are the pew members, our dolls are the babies in the service." At that moment the preacher noticed two little girls and a boy sitting off to one side laughing, whispering and giggling and he inquired "And who are the children over there who are misbehaving so badly?" "Why preacher, don't you know? That is the choir," replied the child. The preacher remembering a few things smiled and said, "Is that so?"

Well, I have had my first dose of driving a bargain. It reminded me of the live wire salesman who rushed up to a doctor's office and asked him to come at once to another village ten miles away. The doctor cranked up his flivver and together they drove like fury to the distant location. Upon their arrival the salesman asked the doctor, "Doctor, how much do you get for making a trip over to this place?" "Three dollars," replied the physician, still in the dark as to why he had been called. "Here you are," said the salesman handing over the money. "The garage man wanted eight dollars to drive me over after I had missed my train." I have often wondered why people think that a preacher's car and gas and time are cheaper than other people's cars, gas and time. If I had all the money that I have spent to help folks because they presumed that with me it did not matter, I could build a smoke stack big enough and high enough to accommodate Al Capone's biggest distillery.

In a country community a man drifted off into a comatise state and for three days it seemed that he was dead. After the doctors revived the sick man and he became conscious his friends gathered about him to inquire how it really felt to be dead? The sick man replied that he knew that he was not dead. On being asked why he knew that he was not dead he replied, "Well, sah, I knew that I was hungry and I knew that if I had been in heaven I would not be hungry. Then too, I knew that my feet were cold and I knew that if I had been in hell I would not have been suffering from cold feet." That man's comatose state did not stop him from exercising good logic. As long as you are hungry or suffer from cold feet, you may be certain that you are a part of this world.

Bravely Fight On

By Mrs. Newton Cooper

Though we travel through this dark world in dispair,
Alone and forsaken by all,
We have nothing to fear, for Jesus is near,
And bids us bravely fight on.

Though persecuted, hungry and cold,
Jesus bids us bravely fight on.
When our life's work is done, and the victory is won,
We can rest at the foot of His throne.

Though the way seems dark, and the cross hard to bear,
Jesus bids us faint not nor despair.
He will carry us through the dark valley of death
To a home He has prepared for us there.

Though destitute, lonely and sad
Jesus bids us to never give up, only trust in His love,
He will bear us above
To a mansion he has prepared for us there through His love.

Though afflicted and heavy laden with sin, Jesus bids us to come unto Him
Saying for sinners he died,
And at the Cross was crucified
That from sin, we might be redeemed.

Hairy Vetch Makes Poole's Land Rich

Eutaw, Ala.,—The title of "champion soil builder of Alabama" is claimed for J. C. Poole, living near here, by H. C. Appleton, Greene County farm agent. "Mr. Poole began with hairy vetch in the fall of 1928," said Mr. Appleton. "His results have caused him to plant since then legumes on every acre of his cotton land, or 200 acres each year. He produces his corn and other feed crops on bottom land."

In his report of his work Mr. Poole said: "I grow legumes to make my land rich for I can't make anything farming poor land. I have found that no matter how much fertilizer I use I can't get as good yields as from legumes. Another thing, it takes less work to cultivate a crop on rich land than on poor. I expect this saving would pay for my legume seed. If this doesn't the grazing I get in winter does, so it seems to me that I just get the increase in crops free and then some. There is one thing sure unless legumes fail me I never intend to farm poor land again."

In 1931 Mr. Poole produced 12 bales of cotton on 7 acres. Another field of 20 acres made 26 bales. On his entire crop of 200 acres he made 165 bales.

In addition 100 head of cattle were grazed about two months. In the spring many of these were fat enough to market at the end of the grazing period. This grazing was worth more than the total cost of the legumes.

Other farmers in the county have obtained splendid results from vetch and Austrian peas, said Mr. Appleton. Ten of them planted oats and vetch together for hay and the yield varied from 1½ to 3 tons per acre, the average being 2½ tons. Several of these farmers made enough hay this way to last them two years.

CIVIL LEGION TO MEET

—o—

Among the patriotic societies of the country the Civil Legion, composed of men and women who rendered service to the nation in civilian capacities during the World War, takes high rank It will hold its 1932 national convention in Buffalo on August 15 and 16.

This organization includes in its membership the war governors of the several states, those who served on selective boards, councils of national defense, in welfare and Liberty loan campaigns, in official capacities in connection with industry, transportation and in other ways vital to but not directly connected with the fighting forces.

It is the purpose of the Civil Legion to keep in touch with these citizens in time of peace, so that their abilities might be again mobilized for the national defense in the event that another war should unhappily threaten. As was recently stated from headquarters: "Our plans require no appropriations; involve no cost to the public—a mobilization of intelligence is all that is required."

It is expected that a large gathering will mark the August convention, and that its proceedings will be of importance in contributing to the defense plans of the nation.

Ways To Control Poultry Insects

—o—

A big reason why hens do not lay as many eggs as the owners expect is because they are annoyed by mites and lice. These pests also reduce their vitality and, consequently, their ability to produce eggs. Lice are active thruout the year while mites are more active during the warm weather.

Two insecticides for controlling lice are recommended by H. R. Bailey, extension poultryman at Auburn. One is to paint the perches just before night with nicotine sulphate, the fumes of which will kill lice. The other is to use sodium fluoride which requires catching each bird and applying it by the "pinch method," or by placing a little sodium fluoride here and there over the body of each bird.

Mites live on the roost poles and their connections. They are in hiding during the day, and getting ready to attack birds at night. To eradicate them Mr. Bailey recommends using either of two sprays. One is old crank-case oil mixed with an equal part of kerosene. Spray thoroughly roost poles and connections with this, giving particular attention to any cracks or crevices. The other is to spray with carbolineum, as recommended in Farmers Bulletin No. 801 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. County agents or home demonstration agents will furnish it on request.

Mr. Bailey said that roost poles should not be nailed fast to the supports in order that they may be removed when necessary to kill mites. If nailed, knock them loose.

If one treatment does not complete the job another should be applied within a week. Usually one thorough spraying will get rid of them for some time.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for July 31
Lesson Text: Exodus 16:1-5, 14, 35
Golden Text: James 1:17

When God wrought the deliverance at the Red Sea bringing Israel over on dry ground and destroying the Egyptians in the sea, there was great jubilation. They sang a song of victory and praise. How ashamed of their complainings and fears they must have been in the presence of such a wonderful display of divine compassion and power!

Would it not be supposed that this experience would inspire a new trust in Jehovah and that when the next trouble appeared they would humbly wait upon Him to show the way? In a few days, however, the spirit of complaint again appeared and, shortly, the whole congregation was murmuring against Moses and Aaron and crying for the flesh pots of Egypt.

Human nature is always the same, rebelling against the discipline and hardship which is essential to the making of character, and forgetful of the mercies of God.

In reading the story of Israel's wanderings, it is easy to discover that tho God bore patiently with their complaints, bestowing constant mercy and care, nevertheless unbelief was continually robbing them of highest blessing. God knew their physical need and a trustful faith would have assured a full supply.

It is clear that God had something higher in view than they received for we read in the record of the same events in the Psalms, "He gave them their request but sent leanness into their soul." (Ps. 106:15.)

How often do God's children by their importunate crying for some present selfish need sacrifice or delay some greater blessing! It is to be observed, also, that God's provision was one day at a time and the attempt to hoard the manna brought only disappointment and sorrow. Likewise we should rise early and receive each day our spiritual food. Spiritual life is sustained one day at a time.

Take a Pinch of BLACK-DRAUGHT
For Distress After Meals

He had suffered distress after meals, but by taking Thedford's Black-Draught he was relieved of this trouble, writes Mr. Jess Higgins, of Dawsonville, Ga.

"I had sour stomach and gas," Mr. Higgins explains, "and often I would have bilious spells. I read about Thedford's Black-Draught and began to take it. It relieved me of this trouble. I keep it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order."

Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

Reformed Republican Who Has Had Enough Indicates Why He Will Vote Democratic Ticket

Many Republican voters who intend to vote the Democratic ticket this year are expressing their intention thru the columns of their local papers. The following letter to the editor of the New York Sun (Ind.) from one such voter sets forth his reasons by implication in such a dramatic way that it is worthy of reproduction:

"To the Editor of the Sun—Sir: In Philadelphia a couple of days ago, while walking back to the Broad Street station on my way home, this is what I saw: A two-story building set back a little from the street on top of which was a huge electric sign including the American flag in red, white and blue lights. Emblazoned in big letters was the following: 'Hoover and Curtis 1932—Love of Country Will Prevail.' It seemed to me that the building must be the Philadelphia Republican Club, for sitting on the raised front porch were several opulent-looking gentlemen in shirtsleeves smoking nice, fat cigars.

"Anyway, the point of the whole story is that when I looked ahead again my gaze fell on Philadelphia's City Hall, on which stands a likeness of Benjamin Franklin, and it occurred to me that it was a good thing the statue faced away from that electric sign, else the shock of seeing it might send old Ben toppling and in his fall he might land on a good Democrat and thus spoil one of the votes which is going to put the present Administration where it belongs. I and my people for generations have been affiliated with the Republican party and it is not exactly to my liking to break away from old traditions. However, I have had enough! And the ticket nominated in Chicago by the Democrats will have my vote, and I have no doubt there are tens of thousands who feel the same way.

A Good Community Hobby

A good community hobby is the fire department. And it is a hobby that pays every citizen dividends.

The days when second-rate "assembled" apparatus and untrained or partly trained volunteer personnel, were adequate, have definitely gone. Fire hazards grow greater every year. Increased use of power, petroleum products and machinery of all kinds in homes and in business, means that a fire has a better chance to start.

Good fire departments are the community's insurance against disaster—and, from the standpoint of value, are as essential as a fire policy. Tremendous strides have been made in the development of standard apparatus—apparatus capable of operating for hour after hour, under the most difficult conditions, without loss in efficiency.

The fire department is worth any citizen's time. It should be cultivated, trained and equipped in accordance with the highest standards. It should be publicized in the local press. It should be given every opportunity to perfect itself to the greatest possible degree.

A dollar spent for standard apparatus is money in every citizen's pocket. The number of towns that have been saved from absolute destruction by first-class fire departments would make a long list.

Where Will "Relief" Lead

The national budget, according to late reports, has not been balanced, in spite of the highest taxes in our history. It is expected that "relief" measures, involving hundreds of millions or billions of dollars, will shortly be passed.

If the present trend keeps up, the working, tax-paying citizen will be in need of relief. It will be cheaper to do nothing than to produce, cheaper to give property away than to own it. And political waste and extravagance continue undiminished.

And did I have a big time at the picnic Friday? You're asking me. I've never seen so many people gathered at one place in Chilton County in a long, long time. And not a happier gathering, I know, I ate so much and drank (water and lemonade) so much that I was just about sick, or something that night.

My hat is off to County Agent C. E. Stapp. Did you know that man undertook that big picnic by himself, planned it, carried out the plans and everything went off in a fine shape. Now, is there another man in Chilton County would have undertook all that by himself? And another thing. Maybe I shouldn't tell this, but I think others should know it. Did you know that Stapp went into his own pocket to get money to pay for this picnic?

Now we have been face to face with the work of a county home demonstration agent again, and have faced the facts about what other counties say, and these statements were not from agents, but from those farm women who know. Chilton County does not have a home demonstration agent. Chilton County needs one, and it depends on the Commissioners Court.

If you could make a pair of good trousers out of a feed sack for 23c, or a dress from some flour sacks for about 14 cents, that's something worth knowing how to do, ain't it? Home demonstration agents know how to teach people to do those things.

* * *

Walked in the News office Monday and saw a basket of grapes, several cantaloupes and a watermelon. Inquiring about all this I found that J. H. Jackson had brought the grapes, T. L. McKee and J. S. Castleberry brought the cantaloupes. The boys in the shop BOUGHT the watermelon. Now, some of you watermelon raisers who are not getting over 75 cents a piece for your melons, bring the boys in the News shop one now and then.

I hear in a round about way that there are several young boys going about over the town, pilfering through old barns, out-houses, churches and anything else they can find. I also understand that these boys come from very good families, too. Now, I'm not calling any names, but some parents should keep a little better eye open about this.

Well, it looks like the fated two miles of the Lay Dam road are going to receive that asphalt coating in spite of the devil, or something. I hear that the work is going on as planned, but I also understand that the purpose of the meeting at the courthouse Saturday, a week ago, realized its work, and the county will probably do what the people wish—except Lay Dam road will get its asphalt just the same.

And so, we find that one of our old friends has entered business again in Clanton. This is O. O. Roper, and he has opened a grocery store in the stand formerly used by B. L. Jones, near the picture show. Mr. Roper was in business in Clanton many years ago, and is not out of place in it again. He has a fine stock of goods, a clean store and says business is good.

The editor tells me that the Chilton County News is no longer one of the famous "All-Alabama Eleven Weeklies." Now ain't that just too bad? But, on the other hand it has been elevated to the place as one of the coaches of this famous eleven, occupying a place with only three others in the state. Now, ain't that something.

T. W. Bryan, justice of the peace, says he don't know what he is going to do with these preachers over the county about marrying people. He says the preachers have cut the price and he has been forced to do the same. I suggested to Mr. Bryan that he put on a sale. Say marry two couples for the price of one, or something.

Notice that Dr. S. A. Barson, eye man, filled his regular appointment at the Exchange Hotel Monday. And it looked like Dr. Barson is holding a nice bit of trade here. He comes to Clanton the last Monday in each month.

* * *

J. L. Davis, of Stanton, and the Democratic candidate for member of the Commissioners Court of this county, was in town Saturday and he tells me that his prospects are exceptionally good. Well, to tell the truth, the whole Democratic ticket this time is above any question of doubt. Of course there's the President's office with Roosevelt, then we will mention Louie Smith, county treasurer; Reuben Foss and Geo. Edwards for Board of Education members; J. H. Jackson and J. L. Davis for Commissioners. A mark under the Democratic Rooster in November will effect that change you have been wanting so long.

Did you know that the amount of money spent on roads in Chilton County for the past ten years will average over $400 per working day? Get the treasurer's figures on that and figure it out for yourself.

I didn't know there were so many pretty girls in Chilton County until I went to the picnic last Friday. I've never seen so many fine looking, and pretty girls before in my life. When I say pretty, I mean pretty without the help of a lot of paint and rouge and powder.

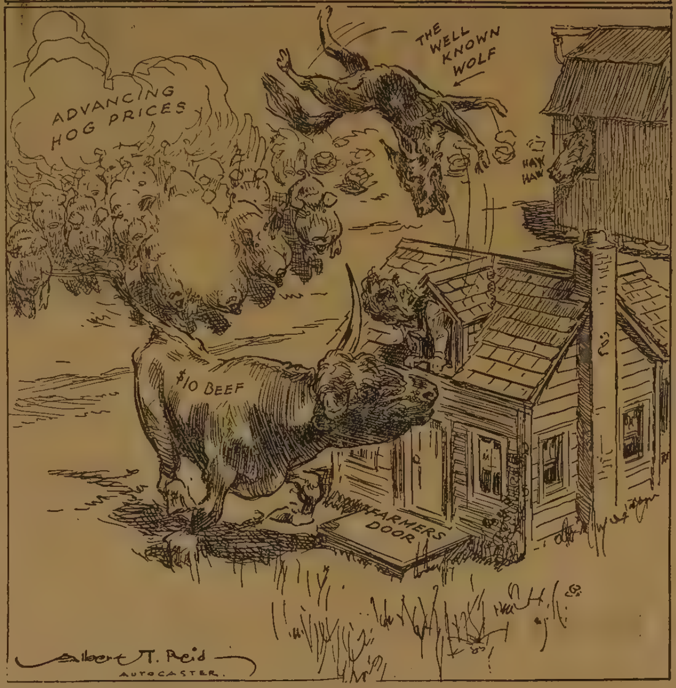
Speaking of the picnic again, makes me think of the need in Chilton County of a home demonstration agent, and of what Judge McDonald of Coosa County said about home demonstration work in his county. Now, it seems to me that the people of this county should insist on the Commissioners Court to employ a home demonstration agent here. Judging from reports, Chilton County is plenty able financially to do this, and it is certainly an investment in years to come, by training young girls.

TO THE RESCUE

By Albert T. Reid



MY PERSONAL COLUMN

Billy Smith

The boys at the News have certainly been well treated this week with grapes and cantaloupes. Some of our subscribers brought in these items to the boys. It's a queer thing, but I've never known it to fail. Whenever anyone brings something to a newspaper office, presenting it to the editor or some of the employees, there is a certain feeling of warm friendliness that goes out to the person bringing the present.

It is possibly needless for me to say that I am thoroughly convinced everyone enjoyed the picnic last Friday. I have not heard of one thing occuring that would show anything wrong at that fine gathering of Chilton County people. The speeches made were certainly instructive to young and old. I hope Mr. Stapp can arrange another just like it for next year.

After attending the annual meeting of the Alabama Press Association in Montgomery last week at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, I can certainly say that Montgomery has a hotel equal to any in the south. The Jefferson Davis Hotel seems to go out of the way to see that its guests are well taken care of. I had heard of Mr. W. H. Moore, the manager, and I found him to be just the pleasant type of fellow I heard he was, and the clerks are very accommodating.

The Covington News, at Andalusia, was awarded the Victor Hanson Cup in state weekly journalism this year, and is well deserving of the award. I remember when that paper was apparently on its last legs, and now the present publisher and his staff of efficient workers have brought it to the top.

There is no doubt in my mind that there are several business men in Clanton and elsewhere who are glad to see this month of July come to a close, and August appearing just ahead. It seems that when August and September loom ahead, business in Clanton starts taking on a new and brighter outlook. Merchants in Clanton and surrounding are looking for a good increase in business this Fall and Winter.

The News office has a quantity of old newspapers that get accumulated now and then, and unless someone comes and asks for them, they are hauled off in the trash truck. I've been wondering if people over the county could not use these newspapers to a very good advantage. If they can, they are certainly welcome to them, if they will come by and get them.

I have been hearing so much lately about the fine attendance seen at the Baptist church and Sunday school in Thorsby, I am going to go up there and attend both services right away. The pastor, the Rev. J. W. Jones is pleased with this splendid attendance at this fine little church.

Speaking of churches, now and then the News devotes considerable space, urging people to attend church. There is a good thought in the space devoted to this this week. However, I understand pastors of the Methodist and Baptist churches here will be out of town this Sunday, and there will be no church services at these places. Now is a good time for church goers to visit a nearby church.

THE BURGLAR AND THE EDITOR

A burglar climbed into a reporter's room;
Needy and poor was he,
And he saw in the dim uncertain gloom,
With legs as long as the stem of a broom,
A pair of trousers, "I'll just freeze to 'em,"
He chuckled with fiendish glee.

He lifted them up from the back of the chair,
Lightly they hung on his arm,
They were the editor's only pair,
Thinner than gossamer everywhere;
Oh, but the knees were worn and bare
Good clothes—When the weather is warm
All over the room he searched in vain
There was no more to find;
There was no sign of sordid gain,
No passing dross from a golden rain,
Only the wealth of a sleeper's brain,
The peace of an editor's mind.

He turned his back on that happy home
Thoughtfully hefting those pants;
Out of the window he cautiously clomb;
He emptied the pockets, a broken comb,
A stub of a pencil, a manuscript poem,
Answered his searching glance.

He started, the tear flashed into his eyes
He leaned up against the fence;
A look of pity, mute surprise
Softened his face; he stifled his cries,
He looked at his swag, and measured its size.
Value—about nine cents.

Into his pockets, his own, he went,
And he dragged out a ten dollar bill;
And he hastily crammed it, every cent,
Into the editor's pocket and bent
The trousers into a wad and sent Them over the window sill.

Then on to a wealthier house he sped.
"'Twas a charity well bestowed,"
He said to himself, and when night had fled
And the editor rose from his virtuous bed,
And found the money, he whistled and said,
"Well, I am essentially blowed!"

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By
Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

Theodore Bodenwein, publisher of the New London (Conn.) Day, says:

That if every person subject to the recently enacted tax laws passed by congress to increase the nation's revenue in order to balance the budget succeeds in one way or another in evading payment of a portion of those taxes, be it small or large, the income calculated upon will not be realized and the nation's expenses will not be met. What is then going to happen? A greater deficit in the Treasury department and more taxation. That is what will come about if members of congress are not elected who will put a stop to unnecessary governmental expenditures and stop passing measures of various kinds whereby the Federal government is used as an inexhaustible milch cow that can be milked constantly for the benefit of the states of the Union, who should be able and are able to pay the expenses of their own government.

We are not going to have much of a financial business recovery if our representatives in congress do not make economy and efficiency in national and state governments a paramount issue. If the taxpayers want to be relieved of their excessive burdens, let them elect men to Congress who will think of something beside building up a personal following at the expense of the United States Treasury.

News from Thorsby

Miss EDITH JOHNSON, Correspondent

Last week Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan took their four nieces, Dorothy Peterson of Birmingham, Christine Bosworth, Kathryn Foss and Edith Foss on a trip to points in South Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. They made their longest stops at Pascagoula, Miss., Gulf Port, Miss., and Biloxi, Miss. They rented two small cottages at Pascagoula where they spent the nights. The girls enjoyed swimming at the Municipal Pier in Gulf Port.

There were many things of interest on the trip, but one of the most interesting things was the drive across the Pontchartrain Bridge about thirty-four miles on this side of New Orleans. This bridge is five miles long and when about half way out on the bridge, one can barely see land in any direction.

This party returned last Monday afternoon. The trip will be remembered a long time by the four girls because they had so many new experiences.

Log House Comes Back To Aabama

Hundreds of log houses are being built in Alabama as a partial solution of the shelter problem of families whom the depression has driven from the cities back to the land, according to investigations made by Colonel Page S Bunker, State Forester. These houses are encountered frequently along the back roads and large numbers are visible from the air In the northern and western parts of the state they are especially numerous.

The basic needs of all mankind are food, clothing and shelter. With agricultural and pastoral peoples, close contact with the sources of supply usually renders these needs easily satisfied. An industrial people, however, living in towns and cities must buy its living materials and facilities with the cash derived from wages and salaries. In times of economic depression, with cessation of cash incomes, the most obvious recourse is a change of vocation permitting a return to the soil. Back on the land, while there may be very little money income, there exist the facilities for satisfying the fundamental physical needs.

The log house avoids considerable expenditure for manufactured building material. In general it is a reversion to certain features of the simple life of the pioneers. Dependence upon the primitive arts does not mean a lowered scale of civilization, since skill in their practice and application involves fully as high a mental effort as that involved in the more complex system of society.

WHO ARE THESE CHURCH FOLKS---?

The valuable citizens of this community—without exception—are church members. The conspicuous successes of our present world are church members. Leaders in thought and education are church members. People whose personalities and accomplishments offer the character from which long and strong friendships are made, are church members. Surely there is food for thought in an attachment so universal! . . . The modern church promotes the idea that the business of living is the business of religion. Its contention that material, spiritual and moral success in life is the result of practical piety is borne out by the lives of its members. . . . . . .

Align yourself with those who early discovered that religion is a practical and happy way of living.

THE EARTH'S SHAPE

If asked who first conceived the idea that the world is round, many persons would instantly think of Columbus, as it was through his belief in the spherical shape of the earth that he undertook the voyage which led to the discovery of America.

But the true figure of the earth was known centuries before the birth of Christ, although it appears that the spherical theory never gained wide acceptance among the ancients.

Eratosthenes, a Greek geometer and astronomer who flourished in the second century before Christ, is credited with being the first to discover the correct principles whereby the figure of the earth might be determined. Although his results were not accurate, his method was the same as that followed at the present day.

Centuries before Eratosthenes astronomers regarded the earth as a sphere, but generally considered it as the center of the universe. It is said that Pythagoras, born in 582 B. C., was the first to declare that the earth revolved around the sun, but he only taught this secretly to a few chosen disciples.

Many people today do not believe that the world is round. Among these may be mentioned Overseer Voliva and his community at Zion, Ill., although Rev. Voliva is a college graduate, uses all modern scientific appliances, and is an ardent radio "fan".

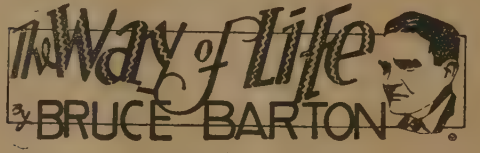
Side Quit Hurting, Got Stronger, Well; CARDUI Helped Her

WOMEN! Get rid of the handicaps of a weak, debilitated condition with the assistance of Cardui.

Mrs. R. L. West, of Huntsville, Ala., writes: "I was weak and run-down. I had a pain in my side, and I kept losing weight. I grew nervous over my condition—this was unusual for me, for I am very cheerful when I am well and don't easily get nervous. I knew I ought to take something. My aunt told me I ought to try Cardui, which I did. I began to feel better. I kept it up until I had taken three or four bottles. My side quit hurting and I was soon feeling strong and well."

Cardui is sold at drug stores here.



The Way of Life
By BRUCE BARTON

Something Simple

I wish to ask that no more Plans for solving the economic situation be sent to me. My quota is completed: my files are full. My mental decision to retire from Plan Reading was reached some time ago.

An earnest gentleman with a gleam in his eye got in anyhow the other day. He asked me to read a book in which a new prophet sets forth a new religion. The gentleman assured me that if only all men and women could be led to think the thoughts of this prophet every difficulty would fold up.

While we talked I turned the pages of the book, and after about a minute I assured him that I should not need to read it in order to know that it would have no influence.

He was aggrieved. "You have a closed mind," he charged.

"Not at all," I said. "I happen to know what kind of words move the world. I'll give you an example:

"'The Lord is my shepherd,' etc.

"'Four score and seven years ago our fathers founded on this continent,' etc.

"Contrast these simple words with a couple of phrases from your book," I said:

"'The definitely "anticipatory" value of the self-protecting mechanism of covenant obligations. . .'

"'Expanding consciousness obtainable through the direct application of the method of cyclic evolution . . .'

"Nobody is going to overturn the world," I concluded, "unless he is able to make his ideas understandable even to a little child. Second-raters are always obscure. But the head man in any department of life, I care not whether it be medicine, theology, science, or what, he can make a talk that will fascinate a kindergarten."

John Bunyan explained to his readers that he might have adopted a "stile" much more fancy but he wanted his book to be read by common people everywhere. He has his wish: "Pilgrim's Progress" will live as long as anything in our language.

Lincoln's style grew steadily clearer and simpler as he grew in years and wisdom.

"What harm can a book do that costs a hundred crowns?" Voltaire exclaimed. "Twenty volumes folio will never make a revolution: it is the little pocket pamphlets that are to be feared."

I do not know what Plan will lead us to new heights of prosperity or whether, indeed, there will be any one Plan. But if there be, it will consist of things that everybody can understand, such as "the less you hamper trade the more trade can expand."

WHAT IS EVIDENCE?

Every once in a while something occurs to upset our ideas concerning the kind of evidence that is worthy of credence. Such an occurrence is seen in the case of Conda Dabney, once convicted in Kentucky and given life imprisonment for the murder of a young woman.

At the trial another woman swore that she was an eye-witness to the crime, and a considerable array of circumstantial evidence was presented to corroborate her testimony. At the time of Dabney's conviction, practically everyone felt that the verdict was just.

Yet, a few weeks later the woman who was supposed to have been murdered showed up alive and well. Dabney was released, but think of what he and his family suffered through the diabolical attempt to swear his life away. Suppose he had been executed for the alleged crime?

Many cases are of record in which it was proved later that innocent persons have actually been put to death through perjured testimony. In some instances in which condemned men have confessed murder the supposed victims have turned up alive.

All this illustrates how unreliable the most convincing evidence may be, and while it is doubtless true that for every innocent person punished a dozen guilty ones escape, it shows that a great responsibility rests upon a jury, particularly when a human life is at stake.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

The Day of Rest

I feel sure our editor will pardon me, if I seem at times a little old-fashioned; there are so many flimsy, new theories now—and so much untried stuff advanced, that it is refreshing to go back to the old trundle-bed for a bit of old-fashioned comfort once in awhile.

Isn't the family doctor a sort of guardian in his community? I think so—a trusted mentor and friend. He, above all others must conclude God's laws are always right.

So, there's a seventh day for rest. It has been so for centuries. That assumes that we work six days. He set the example for us, in this matter of first importance. Well, how many of us observe the law—or follow the Divine example? How many of us pay the penalty which is sure, after many, flagrant violations?

I am afraid that the church, ambitious to succeed in a holy cause, approaches very close to transgression when it fills the Sabbath with exacting ceremonies. Sunday is the day of all days when I keep my eye on the clock, to see that I shall not be late at any of my denomination's ordinances. I have somehow acquired the feeling that if I am late, or neglectful of formal statutes on Sunday, I am not living up to my duty as a God-fearing man—a would-be setter of good example in my community. So Sunday has become almost a day of exacting requirement, with but little REST. I wonder if God wants it that way?

Of course, BUSINESS desecrates, gallops over, takes no notice of the Sabbath. It's the day when soft drink trade is best, and when grease and gasoline are most in demand. Even drug stores remain open on account of emergency (?) prescriptions! Would God have it so—I wonder?

ABOUT THE WEATHER

Recent hot spells in various sections of the country naturally have revived comparisons of heat with conditions of former years. In the United States the hottest spot on an average is a place in Death Valley, California, named oddly enough Greenland Ranch, where on July 10, 1910, the temperature rose to 134 degrees.

The record for cold in this country is held by Miles City, Mont., where the mercury sank to 65 below zero in 1888.

Higher and lower temperatures have been recorded in Africa and Siberia, respectively, although Death Valley's high mark is within two degrees of the world's record. 136 degrees at Azizia, Tripoli, in 1924.

Some interesting cases of excessive rainfall and snowfall have been noted by the United States Weather Bureau. The hardest rain ever recorded was at Ophid's Camp, in California, where an inch of rain, equivalent to 115 tons of water per acre, fell in one minute on April 5, 1926. At Porto Bello, Panama, 2.47 inches of rain fell in three minutes on May 1, 1908. The heaviest snowfall ever to occur at a place equipped for accurate observation was 25 inches in 24 hours at Washington, D. C., in January, 1922.

The most equable and pleasant climate in the United States, and perhaps in the world, is enjoyed by Key West, Fla., wheer the temperature has never gone above 100, nor below 41 above zero. Its average for January is 70 and for July 84. Even in the heat of summer this island city is relatively cool, being fanned by breezes from the Gulf of Mexico, which seldom fail when they are needed.

Brief News Notes

The wheat crop prospects are for the shortest crop since 1917, according to Paul Carpenter, extension economist at Montana State College. Carpenter believes it is entirely possible for the total wheat crop of the country to be the lowest in 29 years.

Farmers throughout Alabama are preparing now for planting the seeds of hairy vetch and Austrian peas in the early fall—late September and early October—according to J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn. In doing so they intend to enrich their land at a low cost.

Four counties of Massachusetts are developing plans for opening an egg auction, believing that they can obtain better prices than they now get selling on the open market in Boston. They will offer more than 350 cases each week.

During 1930 the United States government had an income of $4,000,000,000, of which three and one-half billion dollars came from taxes of various kinds. The income tax brought that year 60 per cent of the total, or two and one-half billion dollats. About half of this income tax was from individuals and half from corporations.

Doings At The County-Wide Picnic Here On Last Friday

Largest Family Here

Another interesting contest was to determine the largest family attending the picnic. This award fell to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mullins, who reside on Clanton Route 3, and who are well known over the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullins and their fifteen fine, healthy children came up to the speakers stand, amid cheers and received a $2.50 gold piece. There were five boys and ten girls in this family. The youngest, a girl, was two years old, and the oldest, a young lady, was 24 years old.

Oldest Married Couple

The contest to determine the couple having been married the longest, attending the picnic was very interesting. Winners of this contest were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chambers, who reside on Maplesville Route 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers were married in 1808, exactly 64 years ago, and are still listed among the happily married couples of Chilton County. They received loud cheers from the throng, as they were awarded a $2.50 gold piece by County Agent Stapp.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS DRESS REVUES

One of the most interesting features at the picnic was the dress revue, staged by home demonstration agents and club women from other counties.

Miss Ruth Dobyne, district home demonstration agent from Auburn, spoke most interestingly on home demonstration work and its value to farm women and girls. Following is a synopsis of what Miss Dobyne said:

"Though money making opportunities have been extremely limited, 29,288 Alabama home demonstration club women and 4-H club girls managed during 1931 to add to their family income by sales or conservation a total of $2,724,662.56.

"Sales at 18 curb markets throughout the state have amount to $347,652.65. Wayside markets added $354.91.

"The biggest money maker was poultry and eggs which brought a total of $491,046.80. Poultry products consumed at home were valued at $449,881.20, making a grand total of $940,928 realized on poultry products alone.

"Vegetables from home gardens rank next to poultry as a money maker. Sales amounted to $184,426 and vegetables consumed at home were valued at $308,098.

"Dairy products sales amounted to $65,392. An additional $339,192 worth of milk, butter and cheese were consumed at home.

"With an abundant harvest and intensive conservation program, 1,903,637 quarts of fruits, vegetables, and meats were canned for winter use. Valued at the extremely low price of 20c per quart, Alabama homes are supplied with $380,727.40 worth of food stuffs which otherwise would have gone to waste or would have been sacrificed at a market price too low to justify sales.

"Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Dean, extension clothing specialist, club women and girls learned the practicability of new garments from old, of renovating old clothes and of utilizing all available materials for practical purposes.

"Women and girls report that 19,919 garments were dry cleaned at home at an estimated saving of $10,000; 29,333 garments and household articles were made from feed sacks and fertilizer sacks at a saving of $17,599.80.

"Garments made at home saved 6865 women and girls $57,517.80 and 785 girls and women earned $65,073 by sewing for other people. Sales of handicraft articles amounted to $5,000. Prizes won on exhibits at fairs and contests brought $4,701.

"A total of $99,698.25 was saved or earned in clothing alone."

Miss Dobyne, then introduced Miss Mignon Mallette, efficient and loved home demonstration agent from Coosa County, who is becoming widely known for her fine work. Miss Mallette introduced several club women from other counties who took part in this sack dress revue, as follows:

We have tried to encourage the thrift idea in all Home Demonstration Club work in Coosa this year. At our Home Management Rally in June we had 96 club women entering the Sack Dress Revue. The total cost of the 96 dresses was $5.34.

Clothing is our minor project this year, so you can imagine how we have developed the thrift idea in Home Management.

Miss Ruth Dobyne, 25c, Dairy feed sack.

Miss Meta Grace, sack dress, Talladega county.

Mrs. W. G. Livingston, Coosa county, cost 5c for thread and Jim Dandy chicken feed sack.

Mrs. Joe Rodgers, Coosa county, cost 2½c for thread, Jim Dandy sack.

Mrs. J. H. Hanna, Hanover club, cost 15c thread and trimming, Farm Bureau feed sack.

Mrs. W. A. Salter, Ray club, Jim Dandy feed sack, cost 12½c for sacks and thread.

Mrs. J. E. Spivey, Ray club, cost 7c, dye and thread, Jazz feed sack.

Mrs. Bell Johnson, Ray club, Jazz feed sack, cost 12c, braid and thread.

Mrs. E. T. Martin, Ray club, cost nothing, Sawyer flour sack.

Mrs. H. E. Adamson, Ray club, cost 7½c, trimming and thread, Sawyer flour sack.

Mrs. O. B. Hardy, Ray club, cost nothing, flour sack.

Mrs. E. L. Towns, Ray club, cost 2½c dyed with tea leaves.

Mrs. J. R. Waldrip, Hanover, cost 7½c, sugar sack.

Miss Marie Boyett, Rockford, cost nothing, Farm Bureau feed sack.

Mrs. Geo. B. McDonald, Rockford, cost nothing, Dairy feed sack.

Miss Julia Catherine McDonald, cost 49c, Dairy feed sack.

Mrs. John Boyett, Rockford, cost 35c, sack, rit, Farm Bureau feed sack.

Shelby County Women

Jane Fowler, cost 2½c, feed sack.

Doris Barberdon, cost 20c, feed sack.

Janette Nivens, made out of man's suit.

Eleanor Atchison, cost 5c, feed sack.

Mrs. R. W. Darby, cost 15c, poultry feed sack.

Mrs. Dean Holcombe, cost 20c, feed sack.

Miss Blossom Lee, cost 15c, corn sack.

Mrs. Frank Wyatt, cost 15c, feed sack.

Mrs. Leonard Wyatt, cost 20c.

Mrs. Leon C. Baker, cost 15c, poultry sack.

Chilton County Women

Mrs. Frank Mastin, cost — feed sack.

A tent was erected on the grounds and clothing, rugs and other articles made from flour sacks, fertilizer sacks and feed sacks were displayed in a novel manner, showing the work being done on farms through the aid of a home demonstration agent. Miss Dobyne, Miss Mallette and Miss Meeta Grace, home demonstration agent of Tallapoosa county had charge of this display, which attracted wide attention among the men, women and children at the picnic.

Counties represented in the sack dress revue were Shelby, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Talladega, Pike, Elmore, Houston.

Miss Dobyne stated that there were 547 girls clubs in the state with a total enrollment of 15,746 members; 537 womens clubs with enrollment totaling 13,482, making a total enrollment in home demonstration clubs in the state of 29,228.

Coosa Countians Here

Hundreds of residents of Chilton County were delighted to see that our neighboring county, Coosa, was well represented at the picnic. Judge Geo. B. McDonald, judge of probate, was kept busy for some time shaking hands with acquaintances in this county, while former residents of Coosa, who now live in Chilton, were looking up old acquaintances from across the river.

"B & M REMEDY" IS FRAUD SAYS FEDERAL COURT JURY

Following a trial which lasted more than three weeks, the U. S. District Court at Baltimore, July 19, upheld the Federal Food and Drug Administration's allegations of the falsity and fraudulency in the labeling of "B & M External Remedy," a product of the F E. Rollins Company, Boston, Mass. The action involved the seizure, in August, 1931, of bottles of the patent medicine. Continued enforcement of the Sherley Amendment to the Federal food and drugs act largely depended on the decision in this case, according to W. G. Campbell, Director of Regulatory Work, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The amendment defines as misbranded any drug preparation bearing both false and fraudulent claims for the cure, prevention or mitigation of disease, if the article is shipped in interstate or import trade.

"B & M External Remedy," a liniment composed essentially of water, turpentine, ammonia, and eggs, was labeled with remedial claims for such serious diseases as tuberculosis, rheumatism, influenza, bronchitis, and pneumonia. Stocks of the remedy had been seized on three previous occasions and the company was, in these cases, involved in legal proceedings.

The claimant, the F. E. Rollins Company, was represented in counsel by Melvin M. Johnson, president of the company, and by Attorney George S. Yost, Baltimore, Md. Samuel E. Sobeloff, district attorney, was counsel for the Government. The case was tried before Judge W. Calvin Chesnut.

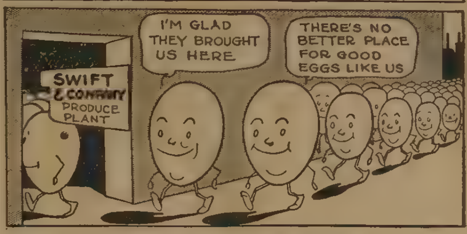
63,000 GALLONS GASOLINE SUSPENDED FROM SALE

The Alabama Department of Agriculture has 63,000 gallons of gasoline suspended from sale and has several Inspectors busy taking samples to ascertain that gasoline and kerosene sold in the state comes up to the State standard. The suspended gasoline belongs to sixteen different dealers located in various parts of the State.

When gasoline or kerosene is found below standard it is suspended from sale and is not allowed to be sold until it meets the State standard, declares Seth P. Storrs, Commissioner of Agriculture.

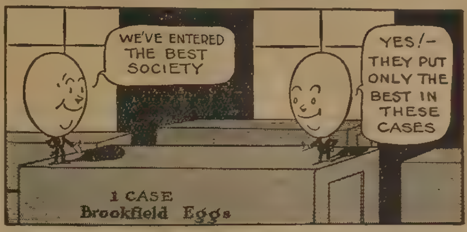
H. S. Holloway, Chief of the Weights & Measures Division, of the Department of Agriculture, reports that during the past nine months about 4,000 samples of gasoline and 2,00 samples of kerosene have been collected and analyzed. Last year over 8,000 samples of both were tested. In most cases each sample represented a tank car.

WHERE GOOD EGGS GET WHAT THEY DESERVE



SWIFT & COMPANY PRODUCE PLANT
I'M GLAD THEY BROUGHT US HERE
THERE'S NO BETTER PLACE FOR GOOD EGGS LIKE US

Every day hundreds of thousands of eggs are delivered by farm patrons to more than 100 Swift & Company produce plants over the United States. Producers are paid cash for all they offer.



WE'VE ENTERED THE BEST SOCIETY
YES!— THEY PUT ONLY THE BEST IN THESE CASES
1 CASE Brookfield Eggs

In these plants all eggs are carefully graded and packed in cases. Only the best, in size and quality, are destined eventually to go into cartons and be sold under the Brookfield label. Others, perhaps not so large or so even in color, are sorted to get the highest price for their grades.

I ALWAYS WANTED TO TAKE A RIDE IN A FAST COOL CAR
I HEARD THEM SAY WE ARE TRAVELING 900 MILES TO THE BEST MARKET
SWIFT Brookfield
Brook

Under refrigeration and in carload lots Swift & Company ships the eggs to more than 400 branch houses, each the distributing center for a great population. Every retailer customer of every branch house is a possible customer for any eggs that arrive at a produce plant.

IT LOOKS LIKE WE ARE THROUGH! -IT'S A SHORT LIFE AND A MERRY ONE ANYHOW WE MADE THE BEST OF OURSELVES
Brookfield Eggs
Swifts Premium Quality

In these branch houses the best eggs are packed in cartons with the Brookfield label. Thousands of salesmen daily make their rounds, selling eggs, poultry and butter as they sell meat. That means economy in sales cost. Deliveries are so frequent the eggs reach the consumer in perfect condition just as they were when Swift & Company selected them.

With Swift & Company as a guide, every egg has the chance to make the most of itself. Demand is dug up by the sales force and fostered by product advertising. Costs of service are as low as long experience and great volume can make them. Profits are low—over a period of years our profits from all sources have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound.

vals over the grounds where ice water was supplied all day, a truck kept busy refilling the barrels with water and ice. Hundreds of gallons and thousands of pounds were use.

The program was opened by County Agent C. E. Stapp, who deserves credit for this splendid gathering of Chilton county people. Mr. Stapp spoke from the large speakers stand through a microphone, his address of welcome being carried to all parts of the grove by large speakers.

Following the address by Mr. Stapp, a solo was rendered by Percy M. Pitts, with Miss Jane Roberts as pianist. The number was, "River Stay Way From My Door." Invocation was led by the Rev. D. W. Haskew, pastor of the Clanton Methodist church. Following invocation, the entire gathering sang two songs, "America" and "The More We Get Together."

EDITOR'S NOTE

A more detailed account of various features at the picnic can be found on another page in this issue. Each feature is taken up and given more in detail than is given in this article.

Members of the Commissioners Court of Chilton county were introduced, being J. F. Burnett and A. P. Vinson, only members present. Following this, Judge L. H. Reynolds addressed the crowd of 2,500 people, praising County Agent Stapp for his work and efforts in getting up this big picnic.

Judge McDonald Speaks

A cheer rose from the crowd as Judge Geo. B. McDonald, Judge of Probate of Coosa County came to the speakers stand. Judge McDonald spoke in clear and easily understood words, praising the work done by home demonstration agents in the county where he is judge of probate. He stated that he did not see how a county could get along without a home demonstration agent, and that the county officers owed it to their county to give the people all possible aid. One way, he stated to do this is to inaugurate a home demonstration service for the farm women.

Due to the large number of former Coosa county people now residing in Chilton, Judge McDonald received a hearty welcome here.

Following this address, the crowd sang, "Smiles" led by Percy M. Pitts, with Miss Jane Roberts at the piano.

This was followed by the contest to determine the largest family present. The prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mullins, who, with their fifteen children, came up to the speakers stand.

W. C. Lasseter, editor of The Progressive Farmer spoke to the gathering, giving some splendid information and advice on livestock raising, dealing with the subject relative to its fine possibilities in Chilton County.

Bringing a little more fun into the program, Sgt. F. S. Salter, of the Birmingham Police Department, was placed before the microphone and kept the crowd laughing with his jokes and humorous stories. He also proved very entertaining with several numbers on the harmonica. Sgt. Salter appeared several times on the program.

The announcement was made that the contest to determine the couple present, having been married the largest number of years. This was won by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chambers, of Route 2, who have been happily married for 64 years.

Miss Ruth Dobyne, district home demonstration agent from Auburn, was introduced from the speakers stand, and addressed the crowd on the importance of home demonstration agent work in the county, stressing the many points of advantage that could be had in this county, through home demonstration work. Miss Dobyne's address appears elsewhere in this issue.

The contest to find the newest married couple attending the picnic was won by Mr. and Mrs. John Ponder Lawrence, Jr., of Clanton, who were married Friday, July 15th.

Julian Brown of the Extension Department, Auburn, was introduced by Mr. Stapp as a speaker. His address was full of fine ideas for the farmers, and he touched especially on poultry raising.

An outstanding feature on the program was the dress revue, staged by home demonstration club women from Coosa and Shelby counties. They showed dresses and other wearing apparel, made at exceptionally low cost from feed, fertilizer and flour sacks. This was under the direction of Miss Mignon Mallette, home demonstration agent of Coosa county, Miss Ruth Dobyne, district home demonstration agent from Auburn and Miss Meeta Grace, home demonstration agent from Tallapoosa county.

Fiddlers Contest

This was followed by the fiddlers' contest. A list of the contestants appears on another page in this issue, also the winners and judges' names.

Officers and directors of the Chilton County Farm Bureau were called up to the stand and introduced by County Agent Stapp. These were Fate Popwell, president; Frank Patterson, vice-president; J. L. Smith and J. N. Dennis, directors.

Congressman Oliver Speaks

The outstanding speaker of the day was Congressman W. B. Oliver, from this district. Congressman Oliver made a special trip from his duties at Washington to come to Chilton County and take part in this picnic. His presence was cheered as he was introduced from the speakers stand.

Congressman Oliver's address held the crowd on the alert throughout its duration, all listeners eager to catch each word from this forceful and outstanding speaker. He spoke of and lauded the work of the home demonstration agent work in the counties, stressing the advantages to be had if Chilton County has this work going here.

He also touched on the importance of the training of young people, showing the connection of the home demonstration worker with the younger generation, those who are to become citizens of this county.

His address then touched on the condition of the country and the tremendous high taxes being imposed upon the people, and urged them to give this more thought in the future. He stated and impressed on his listeners the importance of the time-worn advice—follow the words and wisdom of our forefathers.

The crowd long applauded Congressman Oliver's address and when he stepped from the speakers stand, he was surrounded by a large number of people.

Quartette Sings

Following Mr. Oliver's address, a quartette composed of Renfro Jones, Jesse Jones, Akin Collins and Floyd Devaughn with W. G. Culp at the piano, rendered several selections, and received loud applause from their admirers and listeners.

Auburn Speaker

J. C. Lowery, of Auburn, and well known over the state for his keen interest in farming, spoke to the people regarding car of the land, fertilizer, etc. He impressed the importance of the planting of winter legumes, and better farm and home buildings, stressed the live-at-home idea.

At the close of the picnic program, about five o'clock, County Agent Stapp took the speakers stand and thanked the people for their attendance, splendid order, and asked if they wanted another one next year. At this question a loud cheer arose from the crowd, indicating their wishes for another picnic like this next year.

Hospital News

Next Year's Auto Tags To Be White and Blue

White and blue is the color scheme selected for Alabama automobile license tags for 1933, white letters and numerals on a blue background.

A sufficient number of these tags to meet all needs, will be manufactured at the State tag factory at Kilby Brison, for distribution to probate judges for issuance at the proper time.

Automobile license is due in this State on Oct. 1, and becomes delinquent on Nov. 15, following.

Miss Tommie Parrish of Birmingham was here Thursday visiting relatives.

Mrs. Tom Ellis of Mobile is visiting her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Armstrong.

Cemetery Ceaning In Clanton Now

The Pilot Club of Clanton is now busily engaged in seeing that the city cemetery is being well cleaned off. All those who are interested in the cemetery at Clanton are urged to come, or send someone to clean off lots where relatives are buried.

This work is being done this week, and the Pilot Club urges the people to help in this matter, which is being done at a good time.

Opportunity Schools Are Showing Up Well

The first week of the opportunity schools brings a very good report, according to Prof. H. A. Harris, organizer of the schools in Chilton County. The schools opened Monday, July 28th.

Following are places where schools are located and the number enrolled at each school for the first week:

White Schools
Mineral Springs	20
Pilgrim's Rest	28
Free Springs	15
Refuge	16
Mullins	20
Chestnut Grove	11
Coopers	12

Closing Out At Public Sale

After four years of failure in an attempt to operate a nation's business, we, the undersigned receivers of the G. O. P. will by authority of the American voters, offer for sale in Washington, District of Columbia, on March 4th, 1932, to the highest and best bidder, for cash in hand, tre following worthless equipment, ruined in a great engineering experiment:

One Wild Jack-ass, not broken to work in harness.

One large G. O. P. political machine, 1921 model, in bad repair and operated the last four years by remote control.

Several thousand brass and copper stills in good working order, made available through failure of the "noble experiment."

Thirteen thousand stool pigeons, just about feathered out.

Thirteen million dinner pails, all empty.

Four million soup bowls and other bread line equipment.

One Federal Farm Board with several broken and warped planks. This was used in 1928 for "farm relief" but it has relieved many of their farms and homes.

Eight thousand closed banks with an abundance of frozen assets.

All of these articles are the property of the Republican Party and are the direct product of the Smoot-Hawley tariff law.

Lunch will be served on the grounds by members of the Farm Board with members of the Wickersham Commission as honor guests.

All articles purchased at the sale will be neatly wrapped in a worthless bond of a foreign government.

All checks presented by purchases must bear a charge of two cents.

Right to reject any and all bids reserved, and bids by cabinet members will not be received.

Please do not forget place and date, as parking space will be at a premium. It is suggested that American workmen who desire to attend the sale leave one car in the garage.

You need not bring drinks, as "grape concentrate" will be available on the grounds.

SIMON D. CONFESS,
Chairman Receivers Board.

Correct Attest:
ROBERT M. LUCKLESS,
Secretary to Board.

Farmers Want Dr. L. N. Duncan Says R.J. Goode

each member of the Board of Trustees of Auburn a letter, setting out at length the attitude of the farmer toward the institution and as to the kind of man whom the farmer believes would properly direct the affairs of the institution to serve the purpose of the State's Agricultural College, for which the institution was intended.

"While it is realized and desired that the college should function as a well-rounded institution, we cannot escape the conclusion that the primary purpose for which the institution was established is for the services which it may render to the farm people of the state and, for that reason, the farmer is more interested than any one else in the kind of man who is in charge of its direction.

"By reason of his long association with the institution and his complete knowledge of all the intricacies and details of its administration, as well as his demonstrated ability and sympathetic interests in the problems of agriculture, no other man could come so nearly meeting all of the requirements as temporary head of the college as Dr. L. N. Duncan. His appointment as temporary head of the college would not only meet with the practically unanimous and enthusiastic approval of the farmers of the state, but would insure to the college the development of a well-rounded institution in all of its departments."

WILL MINOR INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT MONDAY

Will Minor, of Clanton Route Two, was painfully injured last Monday when the wagon he was riding in, was struck by an automobile, on the Montgomery highway, just south of Clanton. A Martin's ambulance brought him to the hospital in Clanton. The driver of the automobile, stopped and returned to Clanton.

T. L. McKEE PRESENTS FINE CANTALOUPES TO THE NEWS

The News received a very pleasant visit last Monday from one of our friends, T. L. McKee, who has a fine farm near Clanton. Mr. McKee came in smiling as if he had not a care in the world and presented the boys at the News with several fine cantaloupes. The boys have enjoyed some of these, and there is a warm thought for Mr. McKee.

Sidney Nelson, of Clanton, was in Montgomery last week visiting his brother, Douglas Nelson.

Mrs. Martin of Birmingham is visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. C. Warr, and will spend several days in our midst.

County Agent Stapp Expresses Appreciation For Cooperation Given To County-Wide Picnic

Mr. Stapp asked us to express thru the paper his appreciation for the splendid cooperation on the part of organizations and individuals in helping make the county-wide picnic last Friday a success.

It was estimated that more than twenty-five hundred people attended the picnic. Many people say that the county-wide picnic was the best meeting of this nature they have ever attended. It was voted to make it an annual affair. Mr. Stapp states that the Kiwanis Club, the Pilot Club and numerous individuals cooperated in every way to make the day a success, especially does he wish to call attention to the cooperation of the new bakery in Clanton for their donation of the bread used at the barbecue stand.

LORETTA YOUNG PLAYS MOTHER ROLE FOR FIRST TIME IN SCREEN CAREER

Loretta Young, who will be seen at the Wadesonian Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, August 3 and 4 next in "Play Girl," a Warner Bros. and Vitaphone production, has for four years worked steadily, going from one play to another, and portraying a variety of characters which ranged from the pampered daughter of the rich to gangster's moll and Chinese flapper.

But in "Play Girl" she portrays the mother of a baby for the first time. It might not have seemed strange if Loretta had rebelled at the part, but she loves it. "I have always been unusually fond of babies," she says. "When I was a child playing with dolls, they were always baby dolls. When I cut paper dolls, those, too, were small children, and they were usually from the colored advetrisement of some popular magazine. Cute babies. Fat babies, crying babies and gurgly, laughing babies. I loved them all, and pasted their pictures into a large, looseleaf scrap book. I still cherish it and even today, when I see some extraordinarily appealing baby picture in a magazine, I cut it out and ad dit to my collection.

The baby in "Play Girl" for which Loretta Young and Norman Foster act as parents is a tiny one, but gives every evidence of becoming a bouncing child. Loretta, so the baby's mother said, handled it expertly.

Others in the cast of "Play Girl" are Winnie Lightner, Guy Kibbee, Noel Madison, Dorothy Burgess, Mae Madison, Nadine Dore, Aileen Carlisle, and James Ellison. The direction is by Ray Enright.

BOYS ENJOY FINE OUTING LAST WEEK

4-H Club Camp Well Attended With Fine Boys From All Over County

A group of fine club boys of Chilton County were given their annual outing last Thursday, Friday and Friday night, by County Agent Stapp, on the regular 4-H Club Camp

The camp was pitched just above Lay Dam on the Coosa River, with 8 large tents housing the boys, from all over the county. Those attending this camp ranged from 12 years old up. Visitors from towns in the county were invited out.

Each boy attending this camp was required to bring certain articles of food, and this was prepared by the boys, as cooks, each day. Swimming, boating, boxing and other sports were carried out.

Among those who were invited out and who spoke to the club boys were the Rev. D. W. Haskew, pastor of the Clanton Methodist church, W. I. Mullins of Clanton, Mrs. Mamie Smith and Billy Smith. Misses Sara and Dean Hollis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis of Mitchell Dam, gave a very interesting and helpful life-saving demonstration to the club boys.

The boys attending this camp, and the clubs they are members of, are as follows:

Concord: Judson Easterling, Maurice Johnson, Maurice Mims, Frank Cleckler, James Brown.

Jemison: Curtis Glasscock, Wallace Glasscock, Stanley Campbell, J. L.

HIGH VALUES OF LEGUMES FOR CHILTON

County Agent Urges Farmers To Plant Winter Legumes Here

During the last 5 years farmers of Chilton county have made winter legumes (hairy vetch and Austrian peas) increase their production of corn by 105,600 bushels, or an average of 21,120 bushels per year. It is now esimated that the 1932 increase due to winter legumes will be 35,200 bushels. These figures were furnished by County Agent C.E. Stapp. In presenting them he said that this increase in total production has been worth about $1 per bushel, or a total of $105,600 to date. He figured the 1932 increase at 40 cents per bushel or $14,080 for the county.

Mr. Stapp explained that, as an average, a good crop of either hairy vetch or Austrian peas has increased the yield of corn by 20 bushels per acre. He says that it is the best way he knows r Chilton county farmers to enrich

Revival To Start At Collins Chapel

The much anticipated revival meeting at Collins Chapel church will start the first Sunday in August, which is August 7th, according to the Rev. Zac Appleton, who will do the preaching. The meeting will continue for one week, and everyone is invited.

This will probably be the last services conducted in this county by Rev. Appleton for sometime, due to his going to Nashville to enter the Seminary for study. Rev. Appleton will be greatly missed, as he has made hundreds of friends in this county by his excellent school and church work.

HOHENBERG & CO. OPEN OFFICE IN CLANTON 1ST

Joe Venable Selected As Mgr. Of New Cotton Office To Be Ready Soon

Wetumpka, Alabama, August 1. — Of interest to the business world and to Wetumpka and Clanton in particular is the announcement of M. Hohenberg & Co., that they will enter the cotton business in Clanton September 1st and Joe Venable, one of the company's most competent graders, will have charge of this new office.

M. Hohenberg & Co. are among the largest cotton buyers in the South and have offices in most of the principal cities in the Southern States as well as a large number of small towns, and the farmers and business men of Clanton and Chilton County are indeed fortunate in having this large firm come to Clanton. They have direct connections with all the cotton markets and brokers of the world and are always in position to pay the farmer the top price for his cotton. They have the respect and confidence of the business world generally for their fair dealings and honesty in all their business transactions.

The many, many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Venable are indeed sorry to lose them, but of course glad that this is a promotion, which is well deserved, and that they are not going any further than Clanton.

UNIT OF ECONOMY LEAGUE OF ALABAMA IS NOW BEING ORGANIZED IN THIS COUNTY

Meeting Will Be Held At The Court House In Clanton On August 15th To Form Permanent Unit Here

Preliminary plans have been effected for the organization of a Chilton County Unit of the Economy League of Alabama. Similar units are being organized in every county in the State. The movement has for its purpose the reduction of government expenses by carrying the appeal of the common people of Alabama to the legislature when that body is in session.

C. Fenn Jones has been chosen as temporary chairman of the Chilton County Unit, with G. C. Walker as temporary secretary. With these gentlemen the following have been designated as members of the executive committee: F. J. Callen, W. M. Wyatt, Grady Reynolds, J. R. Mullins, and M. L. White.

At a meeting Tuesday the president, secretary and members of the executive committee considered plans for effecting the permanent organization of the Chilton County Unit.

To this end it was considered advisable to call a meeting at the courthouse for Monday, August 15, at two o'clock p.m., at which the following representative citizens from each beat in the county are urged to attend and join in the permanent organization:

Beat 1, O. R. Mullins, Matt Vines; Beat 2, S. P. Shaw and R. B. McNeill; Beat 3, C. B. Lenoir and D. O. Manning; Beat 4, W. A. Reynolds and N. S. Johnson; Beat 5, H. B. Oliver and Lee Robinson; Beat 6, Bob Owens and C. D. Foshee; Beat 7, Hill Foshee and H. M. Nix; Beat 8, Lee Ousley and Charley Mitchell; Beat 9, C. R. Foss and Perry Gore; Beat 10, D. S. Robinson and Harley Calloway; Beat 11, D. C. Giles and J. R. Robinson; Beat 12, John Bean and Richard Robinson; Beat 13, B. M. Killingsworth and Willie Shaw; Beat 14, H. H. Armstrong and Hoyt Freeman; Beat 15, J. L. Abbott and E. G. Caldwell; Beat 16, J. M. Parrish and R. M. Robinson.

A personal letter will be sent to each of these Beat representatives urging them to attend the meeting on the 15th, and take part in forming the permanent organization, which it is believed will result in much good toward effecting economy in our State Government.

Ball Game Scheduled For This Afternoon

Clanton baseball fans will see a good ball game here this afternoon when the Clanton team will play Randolph. Clanton's team has taken on some new life lately with V. J. Heard showing them "How" and with their already well trained men the future looks bright.

Three games with the fine Coopers team are scheduled for the next two weeks, on August 11 16 and 18. Coopers has been doing some excellent playing lately, and a lot of it. They have some excellent cooperation among their players and these games are eagerly looked forward to.

LARGE WATERMELON IS BEING SHOWN BY EVAN PARRISH

One of the largest watermelons seen in Clanton in sometime is being shown at the store of Evan Parrish in Clanton, the Southern Seed and Plant Co. This melon is of the Schochler variety and was grown by Walter C. Jones of Thorsby, Route 1.

The melon tips the scales at 77 lbs. and is one of the finest seen here this season. It is on display at the Southern Seed & Plant Co., where the seed were purchased by Mr. Jones.

Appleton Plans To Enter Seminary Soon

The revival meeting at New Salem closed Saturday night. This word came from many of the older members, "We have had the best meeting that we have ever had. Rev. B. F. Dykes preached and I must say preached some of the most forceful sermons I have ever heard. The results of the meeting was seventeen by baptism and nine by letter. The church will be greatly helped by this great meeting."

Sunday night, July 31, ended a most successful pastorate of three years with this dear church. A large crowd attended this service and heard the Rev. Zac Appleton, pastor, preach his farewell sermon, the subject being, "Move Forward." The reason of the pastor leaving is that he plans to enter the Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky in September. During the three years at this church there has been over a hundred members added to the church. The greatest number coming into the church by Baptism.

DR. JOHNSON AND CHAS. MOORE EXPECTED TO RETURN TODAY

Dr. N. S. Johnson and Charles Moore of Clanton, who have been spending two weeks in Saluda, N. C., are expected to return to Clanton this afternoon.

Dr. Johnson has been studying for two weeks in Saluda, on a special course in diseases of children, the care and prevention of these diseases. He will be in his office after this afternoon.

School Opening Dates Set By County Board

Members of the Chilton County Board of Education met in regular session here last Friday. Among the matters attended to was the setting of opening dates for schools in the county.

High schools will open the third Monday in September, which is September 19th, and other schools will open October 17th. These dates will stand, it was stated, unless something unforeseen occurs soon, causing the board to determine on a full length term this year. The dates as set, are for a short term, it was stated.

IRBY POPWELL APPOINTED CONSTABLE IN THIS BEAT

News was received in Clanton last week of the appointment by the Governor, of Irby Popwell as constable of Beat Four in this county. Mr. Popwell will fill the unexpired term of J. A. Nivens, who recently resigned this place.

Mr. Popwell is widely known and well liked, and this appointment will meet with the approval of scores of people of this section. He is the son of R. J. Popwell of Clanton, and will no doubt be a candidate to succeed himself.

Log Rollers Met In Thorsby Recently

The Central Alabama Log Rollers Association had a splendid program last Thursday at their meeting in Thorsby. The auditorium of the public school was crowded and singing, speaking, and music composed the program.

Hon. J. B. Atkinson of Clanton, president of the association, delivered a very instructive address to the large gathering. Music was furnished by the splendid Thorsby Band, and by Herman Lowery and Lloyd Howard. The singing class of Prof. Devaughn rendered several enjoyable numbers, and little Miss Joan Atkinson received applause for a reading.

Refreshments were served at a late hour by ladies of the Thorsby W. M. U. The night session was under the direction of Col. L. A. Ellington and several new members were received.

REEDIE TAYLOR PAYS VISIT TO CLOTHING MARKETS RECENTLY

Reedie Taylor, manager of the Chicago Sales Company, one of Clanton's large dry goods stores, will return this week from St. Louis and other points where he has been visiting clothing markets, purchasing late styles and quality goods for his store.

Mr. Taylor was accompanied on this motor trip by Mrs. Taylor and child, and Miss Etta Baker, one of the popular salesladies of the Chicago Sales Company, who assisted in purchasing women's and misses wearing apparel.

Announcement Made By Local Theatre

The management of the Wadesonian Theatre here, announces this week that during the month of August, they will discontinue showing on Wednesday and Thursday nights each week.

Theatre goers are asked to keep this in mind, and to watch the program in the papers each week of the pictures coming to Clanton.

The program as published elsewhere in this issue, shows some fine entertainment coming to the Wadesonian. These pictures include "Beauty and the Boss" and Joe E. Brown, comedian, in "The Tenderfoot," both pictures are highly recommended.

'HEAVEN BOUND' WILL BE STAGED MONDAY NIGHT

Religious Pageant Will Also Be Staged In Thorsby On Tuesday Night

Coming to Clanton for its second presentation in one season, "Heaven Bound" a pageant of negro and religious spirituals will be staged at the Wadesonian Theatre next Monday night, August 8th, according to an announcement from the Clanton Methodist Missionary Society, the organization which this is being played under the auspices of.

"Heaven Bound" was staged in Clanton not long ago, and met with splendid approval. Its characters are composed of Negroes from the Tuggle Institute.

On next Tuesday night, it will also be presented in Thorsby, at the public school auditorium, under the auspices of the Thorsby Parent-Teachers Association, at eight o'clock.

Considerable advertising is being done for this showing of this popular religious pageant, and large crowds are expected to witness its second showing in this county.

Following its presentation at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton, on Monday night, the theatre announces their regular show, which will be "Beauty and the Boss," a picture that has been acclaimed one of the best of the season. This picture will start about eleven o'clock Monday night, as an additional attraction and is not connected with "Heaven Bound."

Bakery Enjoys Fine Opening Day Here

The Sunlite Bakery, Clanton's new business concern and the only bakery in town, enjoyed a very fine opening day last week, when the management served Clanton baked refreshments to the hundreds of visitors to the bakery.

Indications are that Clanton's new bakery is well on the road to success, having gotten off to a good start and the bakers are kept busy supplying demands of particular housewives of the county. Clanton baked bread is now being sold over the county, and comments state it is good bread.

REESE AND BRALEY OPERATING FORMER WILLIS STATION HERE

Chilton County has acquired some new residents in the persons of Messrs. W. A. Braley and W. A. Reese, who took over the Willis Service Station, just north of Clanton, last Monday. These young men come here from Itasca, Texas, and show signs of boosting up business in North Clanton a bit.

Messrs. Braley and Reese state they will continue to handle Good Gulf products at this popular station, and the tourist camp will operate as usual in connection. They invite the people of Clanton and surroundings to visit them, whether to buy something or not. They are anxious to become acquainted with the people of this section, where they have come to make their home.

2400 SACKS OF FLOUR GIVEN TO FAMILIES

Another Shipment Of Flour From Red Cross Expected Here Soon

The first carload of government flour for needy families of Chilton County arrived last Friday in Clanton. This car consisted of 2400 sacks of 24 pounds each.

The car was opened Monday and flour distributed. Committeemen in each beat of the county were responsible for the distribution of the flour in their respective beats. Application blanks had to be filled out by each one asking for this flour, and one sack was allowed to every three persons in a family.

At the car Monday, there was a scene never before seen in Clanton, when men began carrying off this flour, which is being issued through the Red Cross.

Another shipment of this government flour is expected within the next two weeks, according to C. E. Stapp, chairman of the distribution

HEADLEY-FOSHEE MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED IN BIRMINGHAM

Coming as a surprise to hosts of friends in the county and elsewhere, the marriage of Miss U. L. Foshee to Mr. O'Dell Headley took place in Birmingham last Sunday morning, following a short courtship.

Immediately after the ceremony, which was performed in the presence of a few intimate friends, this popular young couple of Clanton motored on to Nashville, where Mr. Headley has been attending barber college, and where he will complete his studies this week. They are expected to return to Clanton Friday or Saturday.

The bride is the attractive and youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Foshee, of near Clanton. She is a graduate of the Chilton County High School, and listed as one of the popular young ladies of Clanton. She has been employed for sometime at the Chicago Sales Co., one of Clanton's large dry goods stores, where she made many friends

Mr. Headley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Headley of Clanton A graduate of the Chilton County High School, attended the University of Alabama and a graduate of Massey Business College, completing his work at a large Nashville barber college this week, and is a promising and popular young business man of Clanton. They will return to Clanton to make their home, and Mr. Headley will be connected with the Sanitary Barber Shop.

FARM AGENT TRADING IS ATTACKED

Promises Made But Not Fulfilled Speaker Declares To Group

Birmingham, Ala., July 29.—A plea for the aid of the Association of County Commissioners to take the extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute out of business and out of competition with local merchants, was made before the commissioners organization at its Thursday meeting by Jeff F. Beeland, vice president of the Alabama Independent Merchants Association.

Mr Beeland referred to the activities of county agents and to the "promises" made by Dr. L. N. Duncan, director of the extension service, to confine the work of his department to educational and scientific instruction. This has not been done, he said, and characterizing the activities of the agents as grossly unfair, he said, "We appeal to you today as fair minded officers to put an

"Count Your Change"

From Collier's Weekly

There's no argument in this editorial. It's merely a collection of facts, incontrovertible, eloquent facts that confound those who profess to see America slipping down into a state of effortless despair.

America's mutual savings bank deposits are $1,233,000,000 higher than they were at the peak of the boom three years ago

Total bank savings today exceed $29,000,000,000, equal to more than $1,000 for every family in the land.

Savings depositors number 52,000,000, nearly two per family

The number of Americans owning stock has increased alomst 40 per cent since 1929

A group of 102 companies which had 5,539,036 stockholders at the end of the boom year had 7,675,143 stockholders at the beginning of this year.

One company alone has over 665,000 stockholders, a gain of more than 195,000 since the boom. This company (American Telephone and Telegraph) has assets exceeding $3,200,000,000.

No other nation on the face of the earth can show such widespread ownership of money and stocks.

Our total stock of gold is $4,000,000,000. No other country ever possessed so much. Britain for example, has only $588,000,000.

Currency in circulation aggregates $5,464,000,000, or 700,000,000 more than in the boom.

A recent offering of $450,000,000 of U. S. Treasury securities elicited subscriptions totaling $4,196,296,700—more than nine times the amount offered.

Last year $16,500,000,000 worth of new life insurance was written.

Total insurance now carried is estimated at $109,000,000,000, or not far short of $1,000 for every man woman and child in the United States. Policies in force total 127,800,000.

One company alone (Metropolitan) has in force many more policies (44,520,810) than there are families in America.

Such safeguard, such security is enjoyed by the people of no other nation in the world.

Our total national wealth, estimated at $329,700,000,000, is greater than that of a dozen Continental European countries combined.

The income of the American people comfortably exceeds $1,000,000,000 a week.

The per capita income here is far greater than in any other land.

There are still six or seven persons gainfully employed for every person idle.

Foreigners owe American investors approximately $18,000,000,000. In addition, foreign countries owe our government $7,000,000,000, and we are still selling abroad more than we are buying.

No fewer than 25,800,000 automobiles are owned by Americans—almost one for every family.

This total is almost three times the number owned by all the rest of the world.

Americans possess far more telephones (19,500,000) than all other countries put together.

Radios continue to muitipiy. The latest authoritative computation puts the total at over 16,000,000, representing an investment of more than $1,600,000,000, also a record unapproachable by any other people.

How many new domestic mechanical refrigerators have been bought? Would you guess? A grand total of fully 3,750,000, at an estimated expenditure approaching $2,000,000,000. And most of these have been installed in the last three years. In no other part of the globe do half as many homes enjoy such luxury — Americans are rapidly coming to regard it as a necessity.

America has more home owners than any other nation.

A recent survey of 29 typical small towns revealed that 71 per cent of the inhabitants owned their homes, that 88 per cent had electric lights, 72 per cent had baths, 51 per cent had electric washers, 55 per cent had radios, 41 per cent had vacuum cleaners.

There are more families in America than in any other land that can afford to and do send children to high school and college.

In no other land do so many average families have the means to enjoy foreign travel.

Expansion in airplane travel — the most costly of all common forms of overland transportation — has been greater here than abroad during recent times.

The theatre of the masses, the movie, still attracts a weekly average attendance of 75,000,000.

Our so-called luxury bill is still away up in the billions a year.

It took a billion and a quarter pounds of candy to satisfy our sweet tooth in 1931—no decrease from the 1929 total

The percentage of our agricultural population who, despite deflation, are acquiring domestic comforts, conveniences, labor-saving devices, improved machinery, the use of better roads, is constantly increasing.

Today more than 700,000 farms are electrified, representing an increase of 400 per cent in eight years, and the total is being swelled rapidly.

In industrial communities hard manual toil is being steadily abolished by the introduction of machinery. Each American worker now has at his command five horsepower, a record not even remotely approached outside our boundaries.

The average working-day a generation ago was ten to twelve hours. The standard in this generation is eight hours, with the trend running towards a still shorter working-day.

The work-week used to consist of six (even seven) days. Now it is five-and one-half days, with the five-day week coming into vogue.

America has recovered from the periods of depression and pressed forward to new heights of prosperity.

Never in the past was America so well equipped as it is today to resume an epochal forward march. Not only have we changed from a debtor nation to the greatest creditor nation on earth, not only have we vaster national wealth, not only have we an unprecedented supply of gold, but we are richer in experience, richer in inventive brains, richer in scientific knowledge, richer in machinery, richer in productive facilities, richer in managerial skill, richer in discovered mineral oil resources, richer in transportation facilities by land and air and water, richer in every material wealth-creating product and process, richer in craftsmanship, richer in everything.—Collier's Weekly.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

CHILTON COUNTY

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Alabama at the Court House, Clanton, Alabama, until 12:00 o'clock noon September 5, 1932, and at that time publicly opened for constructing a bituminous surface on approximately two miles of road beginning at Clanton and extending toward the Lay Dam.

The principal items of work are approximately as follows:

2113 Square Yards of Bituminous Surface.

Alternate bids may be submitted on the following types of Surfac.

Kentucky Rock Asphalt 1½" Compacted Thickness.

Limerock Asphalt, Hot Mix 1½" Compacted Thickness.

Bituminous Mixed in place 2" Compacted Thickness.

Bituminous Macadam 2½" Compacted Thickness.

Durolithic 1½" Compacted Thickness.

Amisite 1½" Compacted Thickness.

Alabama Asphaltic Limestone, Cold Mix 1½" Compacted Thickness.

The unit price bid on the surface item shall include the cost of applying a tar prime coat using from one third (1-3) to one half (½) gallon per square yard.

The County will construct the base and shape same to the crown required so that the contractor will be required to do only minor finishing.

Bids may be submitted with the bituminous mixed in place type including a seal coat of Alabama Asphaltic Limestone, using twelve (12) pounds of this material per square yard.

The Specifications of the Alabama State Highway Department will govern the construction of all types except Durolithic, Amisite, and Alabama Asphaltic Limestone, cold mix. For these types the specifications of the company in control of the type will be used.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the Probate Judge at Clanton, Alabama.

The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.

Certified check for five hundred ($500.00) dollars made payable to the Probate Judge of Chilton County must accompany each bid as evidence of good faith and as a guarantee that if awarded contract the bidder will execute the contract and give bond as required.

The Court of County Commissioners further reserve the right to extend said contract and construction to include an additional four miles toward Lay Dam, or any part thereof on the same contract.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

COPELAN IS PUTTING PEOPLES TELEPHONE CO. ON ITS FEET

—o—

To those many people over the county who are interested in the operation and success of the Peoples Telephone Company, it should be welcome news that the people generally who have phones are taking more interest in the system than they have in some time. There have been several lines gone over and put in better shape, and movements are on foot for others to do the same.

The Board of Directors have placed the operation of the central and the care of the lines in the hands of people who mean business and will make the thing go. Mr. and Mrs. Copelan know how to run the business and they do not mind work.

Now, the Board appeals to the people to get their lines in shape so that service can be given. If there is something wrong with your box, get it fixed. If you need batteries, you can surely raise a few dimes and buy a set. The main thing to do right now is to get your phoneholders on your line organized. All lines should call meetings and select somebody as your directors who will get in behind the lukewarm ones and get them awake to their duty, and everybody get into action with the matter. Don't everyone depend on somebody else; and just because all will not fall in and help, don't let those who are interested quit. Keep punching until you do get action, or else just count the drones out and go ahead with the work. Somebody will have to take hold of the work and push it if anything is ever done.

You have an excellent chance to bring the Peoples Telephone Company back into useful service, if you will only do your part. It can't be done, however, unless folks will wake up and get in after the proposition. If this opportunity is let pass, we feel sure that there will not be another one.—T. E. Wyatt, for the Board of Directors.

Practical Hay Plan For Chilton County

A practical plan for increasing hay production in Chilton county by 18,700 tons each year is being recommended by County Agent C. E. Stapp. The plan is feasible and well worth consideration by every farmer because it is inexpensive as well as practical.

"This amount of hay can be produced annually," said Mr. Stapp, "if every farmer in the county will plant, between September 15 and October 15, one acre of a mixture of oats and either hairy vetch or Austrian peas for each mule, horse, and cow he owns. After harvesting this hay crop next spring plant either cowpeas or soybeans or a mixture of cowpeas and sorghum. By producing enough hay we would keep within the county thousands and thousands of dollars now sent away annually to buy hay produced elsewhere."

Mr. Stapp said that this would be an increase of 15,000 tons over the 1931 hay crop in Chilton county. It would be worth more than $18,700 at current prices. It would add much to the value and to the net incomes of livestock, in addition to keeping money for other purposes. This county has been producing only about 20 per cent of the hay needed for the livestock on farms. "This is a serious mistake and it is expensive to the entire county," added Mr. Stapp.

"We are foolish to continue buying hay when we could produce it right here in the county at a very low cost. It is hoped, therefore, that every farmer will begin immediately making plans for producing enough hay for his needs in addition to planting hairy vetch and Austrian peas for soil improvement.

"These two winter legumes are very effective in enriching land as well as making feed. One good crop should increase the corn yield around 20 bushels per acre and cotton around 350 lbs. of seed cotton per acre. Enriching land and increasing per acre yields in this way is a lot better than trying to buy fertilizer. It is also less expensive."

W. L. Sanders Discusses Apparent View of Schools, Roads, Convicts

Member Of Board Of Education Gives Figures On Expenditures For Roads And Convict Departments Compared With Schools

To the Patrons and Tax Payers of Chilton County.

Dear Patrons and Tax Payers:

I, as a Member of your School Board feel it my duty to say a few words about the school situation in Chilton County and the State of Alabama.

Several have asked the question, "Are we going to have any school this coming scholastic year?" This question, I am sure, can be answered in the affirmative, but as to the length we do not know due to the fact that we can not tell to what extent the State is going to meet her obligations.

If the State were to pay Chilton County all monies past due and the appropriateds due her for the scholastic year 1932-1933, we could give you something definite, but as it is, the length is uncertain.

There is no school Board in the State that knows how to estimate a budget under the existing conditions. Some have asked if we are to have schools, when will they open. The County Board in session last Friday set an opening date, but this is also uncertain for more than one reason. First, there is no money in the school treasury with which to pay the October payroll. This is due to the fact that we used all money available to pay off the State's obligations for the January payroll of this year. Now if the State doesn't pay sufficient money into the treasury to meet the October payroll, the schools cannot open in that month unless it is upon the sacrifice of the teachers.

It seems that all who work on roads and highways have been paid up to date and that there is still money in the State and County treasuries to continue this work, but no money can be found with which to pay the teachers of the County and State for service rendered during the past scholastic year.

This being true, I, as a Member of the Board, cannot ask the teachers to open the school doors this Fall on merely a promise. I do not know whether the teachers are going to be willing to teach without pay or not; so this will, to some extent, make the opening date of the schools uncertain.

Here is some figures given out by a research committee. I wish you would take them into your consideration, get them into your system, and digest them, and then you will not wonder at the school situation in Alabama.

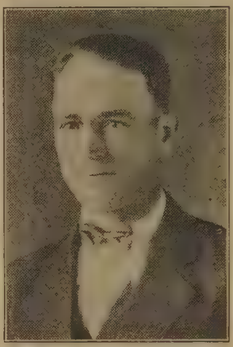
Disbursements from State funds in 1930-1931 in the following departments were as follows: Highways, $19,321,967; Education, $4,118,687; Convict Department, $3,040,142.

There is between four and five times as much spent for highways as there is for education and almost as much spent for the Convict department as there is for education.

It is very clear that in the sight of the State Authorities, the roads are of far more value than that of any other department of state. It seems that they think the construction of highways must continue if the children drown in the Sea of Ignorance.

Let us next consider the cost of the Convict Department as compared with that of education. Out of the State Treasury went $7,158,829 for the support of education and the Convict Department. While the children of free, law-abiding, tax paying citizens of the State of Alabama drew $4,118,687; the lawbreakers, thiefs, robbers, and murderers drew $3,040,142. This is all happening in what we call a civilized country!

Do you taxpayers of Chilton County think that any criminal of the State should draw almost as much of the State's taxes as one of your children? Any sound person would answer no to this question. This looks like civilization!



W. L. SANDERS

While we criticize the State officials for their attitude toward the schools, let us not forget to take a side view of the officials of Chilton County and see just where they stand as to schools, roads and other county affairs.

First, go to the record of the Board of Education and see if you can find where your money has been thrown away. See if you can find where we are responsible for the shortage in school funds. After you have examined the records to your own satisfaction, you are welcome to make any criticism the Board deserves. I am willing to take all criticism that justly belongs to me. When you have examined the records closely you will find that the Board is not responsible for the shortage in school funds, but it is on the account of the state not meeting her obligations.

If we could get the money due us from the State we could pay all of our debts and have a balance of $10,000 in round numbers. This would mean that our schools would open at their regular opening date.

Now since the Board of Education cannot give a full term of school on account of the above causes, I feel that since the Commissioners Court has money with which to build permanent roads, money lying in the treasury, as they said "Doing no one any good," that they should help us as much as possible put over a full program.

I believe the Commissioners Court would receive more stars in their crown for any appropriation they would make to the children of Chilton County than they would for any appropriation to a small piece of permanent road.

I do not want any appropriation paid over to the Board of Education that I might have honor in helping spend it. I'm not a member of the Board for honor, but for service. That is the reason I'm writing this article. I feel it a duty of mine to do all I can to open the schools at their regular opening date and keeping them open a full term.

Since the Commissioners Court and the Board of Education are the two bodies that spend the taxes of Chilton County, they should cooperate in times like these and give the greatest needed service first, which, I believe the majority will say is education.

We commend the Commissioners Court for the splendid roads they have built and hope we will continue to have good roads. No one is opposed to good roads. Good roads came after civilization, civilization came by the way of education. Let us educate our people and good roads will spring up as if by magic; but if the people grow up in ignorance the roads will crumble.

I would like to hear the voice of the people on this question. The roads, schools and money belong to you.

I hope no one will try to carry this into politics for I do not intend it that way. All I want is a reasonable term of school.

W. L. SANDERS.

The United States And Foreign Trade

Although Republican orators continue to picture the Smoot-Hawley tariff act as a beneficent piece of legislation, they will have difficulty in convincing the American producers who are keeping a sharp eye on the Imperial Conference at Ottawa. It is clear to all but the most partisan worshippers at the high tariff shrine that England and her dominions are engaged in agreeing on measures of self-protection made necessary by the high tariff wall which has been erected around the United States.

The conference is dealing in such terms as "imperial preference," but the result will be to discriminate against many essential raw materials and manufactured products, which have in the past formed the backbone of the foreign trade of the United States.

What for instance can the coal producers of the United States do to meet the shrinkage in business which they will have to face if Welsh coal is so favored within the British empire so as to force out the output of the American mines?

The steel industry in this country cannot help but be affected if Canadian and English plants are given the protection which has been proposed at Ottawa.

The tobacco producers of the East and South will not relish the further restriction of their market which is possible if the English dominions erect the proposed trade barrier against the United States.

The agricultural sections of the Middle West can look forward with little satisfaction to the proposal that "preference" be extended to Canadian and Australian meats.

The threat against the foreign trade of the United States by no means ends there. The conference is considering restrictions on many other articles. The greater their number the more severe the blow to industry in this country.

Under the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill the exports of the United States have already suffered tremendously. The volume of foreign commerce has never been as low in recent times as it is today. Our Canadian markets, the most logical that we possess, have suffered greatly since the Smoot-Hawley schedules were adopted. If only a part of the suggestions which have been made at Ottawa are adopted, it will mean a further shrinkage in this business and that all hope of any increase in future years has been lost.

Defenders of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act can point to nothing concrete within the limits of the United States to justify that piece of legislation. They can cite no figures to show that it has done anything but strangle foreign trade. Unless control of the government is taken from the Republican party, which enacted this ruinous law, a completely vanished foreign trade is likely to be the only monument that the Smoot-Hawley rates will have.

Two Months' Work For Nothing

How would the average citizen like to work 61 days without any pay whatever?

The answer is that he wouldn't like it at all. But that, in effect, is what he is doing. Sixty-one days' work out of each year is required to pay the cost of government. In 1924 it was 46 days, and in 1913 about 25 days.

The ratio is constantly rising. Carried to the inevitable conclusion, it means that in the not-too-distant future, the taxpayers will be working for the taxeaters all the time, and for themselves not at all. Every time a new bureau is created, every time a new department comes into existence, a little more of the money we earn finds its way into the Treasury.

As President Hoover has said, to continue on the tax road we are traveling is to impoverish the nation. In the last 16 years the cost of government has increased nearly 150 per cent. The results are found in hoarding of capital, industrial retrenchment, unemployment. The tax issue, in all its phases, is one of the most important problems the American people have ever faced.

Ho, hum, and a couple bottles of rum. This summer weather is just about to get the best of me. I'll bet I've lost eight pounds of weight during the past three months. I've been told that the best way to keep cool in hot weather is to just say that it is cool and comfortable. Keep that in mind, and you won't notice the heat so much. Might be something to that.

The domino games that are staged round on the street where the News office is, are beginning to be real popular. It has now become a matter of system, and when the sun moves its rays during the day, the players move the table in the shade. That goes on at times, until they have moved the table across the street in the shade. I suggest a domino marathon, or a contest of some kind. Maybe we could get up a game with some other street in Clanton.

Was thinking the other day about the unemployed young gentlemen round town. Have you noticed the way most of them keep up their appearance? Clothes clean and pressed, and shoes shined. Nope, you are wrong, I'm not going to criticise them for that, because I believe it is the right thing to do. Just because a fellow is out of work, is no reason why he should ignore his personal appearance. Keep it up fellows, it is one of your best assets, now and always.

The ed was telling a tale the other day about seeing balls of fire rise out of the ground—red balls of fire, and some of them rising two or three feet off the ground, and in a cemetery, at that. Now I know that the ed is not a habitual drinker, nor does he partake of such beverages that would cause him to see such things. I don't think he will just straight out tell a lie about such a thing, and there was no cause for him to tell such a thing as a joke. He declares he saw it with his own eyes. He says he and a friend drove out to this particular cemetery one night to see these balls of fire rise out of the ground and disappear. What do you think of a fellow that would tell such things as that, and say it is the truth?

Work on the Lay Dam road is going right along. The big road machines of the county have been out there, digging great ditches and widening the road, as if they are really going to put down that asphalt that is supposed to cost $4,000, while the road fund of the county is short $2,000 or more according to the treasurer's report. This is being done, so they say, to give employment to the unemployed in the county. I estimate it will take not over sixty days to complete this work and as far as the number to be employed, I don't believe it will be many. Not to asphalt two miles of road, when the road-bed is practically prepared already.

Heard the Thorsby Band playing the other day, and believe you me, they are certainly good. There is some real musical talent in that organization, and their instructor, Mr. J. O. Johnson, of Thorsby, knows his notes when it comes to music. Although it is comparatively young, that band has splendid possibilities. I might even suggest now that some of these candidates in Chilton County, hire the band to aid in their campaigns.

Clanton seems to have an over amount of bill collectors these days, and especially around the first of the month. Monday of this week, I'll bet that every fourth person on the street was a bill collector. Now whether they are doing any collecting, I don't know, but speaking from what happened to me, they were certainly trying to collect.

Standing on the corner of main street and the highway the other day, I still see that some people don't know what that traffic light is all about, yet. I saw three persons stand and wait until the light turned red on their side of the street, and then crossed. No wonder the world is all wrong. Folks don't even know when to start and stop, even when they have a signal right in front of them.

I see by the papers that the last Al Smith man, who refused his support to Roosevelt, has decided to come over and help the boys elect Roosevelt. And not only that, but he stated he was going to put all his effort toward that. The papers are sure carrying a lot of stories similar to that one, and it looks like that by November, everybody will have pledged their support to Roosevelt for President of the United States.

Was talking to J. H. Jackson, Democratic candidate for Commissioner, the other day, and he states he is certainly pleased with the outlook for his office. And why shouldn't he be. Folks all over the county are sending him word to visit them and tell of his campaign. And he states that the people are equally as favorable toward the other Democratic candidates here. They are Louie Smith for treasurer, J. L. Davis for Commissioner C. R. Foss of Thorsby and Geo. Edwards for members of the school board.

Of course it is perfectly natural for me to say things good about these men, because they are Democratic candidates. But in this particular case, it is not only because they are Democratic candidates, it is because they are all worthy of the votes of the people of Chilton County. Neither of them is a politician, and all are just straight, honest, hard-working fellows, who are seeking the vote of the people, so that if elected, they can serve the people of Chilton County in a fair, free-minded manner.

"What are they going to make out of that filling station up next to Jones' Place?" Yeh, ask me another one. I've never been able to find anyone who could tell me what it is going to be when they get it all together. I've ventured to say that maybe it was going to be a barber shop.

A certain lady asked the ed the other day where I got those quotations that head this column each week. I just dig them up and out, read them, like them, and so pass them on to my readers.

Oh, well, it's hot as the ———, and I'm perspiring or something, with pictures of a cool pond of water, me garbed in nature's own bathing suit, or something.

Time well spent last Friday night, was when I went out to the river to visit the 4-H Club boys camp. This is the first club camp I had attended, and certainly regret that I did not go to the one last year. One might say that the boys at this camp were of the finest in Chilton County. I had never seen so much fried chicken at one time before. A large wash tub was used to hold it, and its flavor was extremely delicious. If nothing prevents, the club boys and Mr. Stapp might get ready for me next year.

While watching the eighty-odd boys at the camp, it occurred to me how fine it would be if all the boys in the county could have been there. The outing, a change, and the association with other boys is certainly worth the time spent.

When in Thorsby at the Woodmen affair last week, frankly I was amazed at the splendid progress made by the Thorsby Band. Listening to the band playing, it brought back memories of when Clanton had a band and I played the drum, and the man who is directing the Thorsby Band, Mr. J. O. Johnson, was also our instructor, and we all liked him. I hope the band at Thorsby will continue to grow.

In looking over the News this week, I want you to notice carefully the advertisements. Nowadays, things are getting cheap, manufacturers and merchants are offering inducements on many items. The grocery ads this week especially have some attractive prices. Groceries are something we all must have, and in my opinion it will pay the buyer well, to shop via the ads in the papers.

I was glad to see the people give our new bakery such a glad hand on its opening day, and each day since then. Basing my opinion on comments from those who have patronized the bakery, it is going to enjoy some good business. Merchants over the county are showing a splendid spirit of cooperation and are selling this bread that is baked in Clanton. If the bakery continues to hold up the quality of its product, then the people should not hesitate to buy their products.

* * *

Now, just a few more words about People in Clanton were no doubt a bit lost last Sunday with no services at the Methodist and Baptist churches, with the pastors out of town. But the pastors will be back here Sunday so let's all give them a big hand of welcome, and attend church Sunday.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By

—o—

That the time for action has arrived. The progressive spirit must be preserved. Citizens should be proud of their home city and be prepared to fight for its betterment.

Pessimists and others whose propaganda indicates a desire to hold back progress for the home city should be shown that they are out of step.

Pessimists are prone to create dull business conditions through their idle talk and lack of optimism.

Every city has set-backs once in a while—nothing serious, but things that can be easily overcome. Whenever these things happen the pessimists see only the dark side and try their best to make conditions worse.

The foundation of the success of a city is accomplished through the cooperative genius of its optimistic citizens.

Every citizen should point to the advantages of the home city and tell of its enterprises and resources.

Every city should recognize opportunity and never have to look back regretfully at things that should have been done.

The ability to see and grasp opportunities often marks the difference in the success or failure of a city.

The business of a city is far more complex than any individual business. Therefore, even greater consideration should be given its plan for future development.

—o-o-o—

TAKE A HOLIDAY

—o—

They say that vacations are for city folks, but holidays are for everybody. Everybody needs them too. The human machine is not built in such a way that it can grind on unceasingly without wear and tear. The human brain becomes fagged by incessantly following a dead routine. If city folks have their vacations, country folks should certainly have their holidays.

There are many ways of resting even when a real genuine vacation is impossible. Let the tired housewife steal an hour every afternoon for lying down in a cool quiet place. Let the busy worker take whatever spare days may offer to go away from his toil and enjoy some foolish, non-taxing occupation, such as fishing. If no opportunity offers, make one. Take the family bus and the family and slip away for week ends, but don't try to make all the miles in a day, take your time.

The Alabama Tuberculosis Association is not offering this advice to lazy persons. It is given to workers, in the hope that their busy fruitful days may be prolonged until they are ready to drop quietly away at a ripe old age, instead of being taken prematurely, years before their time, from nervous exhaustion. Take it easy these hot days, that's why a vacation or holiday helps, it takes us out of our daily routine, changes our pace, gives us a chance to rest this human machine of ours.

Sunday School Lesson

—o—

By Rev. Charles E. Dunn, D.D.

Lesson for August 7
The Ten Commandments. I Exoduse 20.1-11

The Ten Commandments, hammered by Moses into tables of stone at Mt Sinai, according to the familiar narrative of Exodus, comprise the basic moral law of the Hebrew people, and of Christian civilization.

Our lesson deals with the first four of these pithy laws, which outline man's fundamental obligations to God. The remaining six laws in the Decalogue treat of man's duty to his fellows.

Note that the first Commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," does not deny the existence of many deities. It was a long time before the Hebrews arrived at that sublime conviction of the unknown prophet of the exile that there is one God only, "the God of the whole earth." What the Commandment means is that the God of Israel must be given the preference over rival gods. Today it might be paraphrased to read, "Thou shalt have at least one God." For our danger is not that we are tempted to worship many gods, but to repudiate God and worship altogether.

The Second Commandment, a sweeping prohibition of the carving of idols was necessary in Moses' day, when the making of images was carried to excess. For our own time, however, it is far too drastic. We are lovers of art, and appreciate its immense contribution to the religious impulse. For us the Commandment means a protest not against artistic symbols of God, but against gods purely man-made, constructed after our own pattern. Our God is pure Spirit, mightier and grander than any picture, mental or material, we may draw of Him.

The Third Commandment protects the sanctity of oaths. In this day of slipshod talk, falsehood and perjury, we need to take it much to heart. As Jesus insisted, our Yea should be precisely Yea, and our Nay exactly Nay. It is also a protest against profanity, an inevitable sign of feeble vocabulary and impoverished thinking.

The Fourth Commandment was never more needed. The trend of our day is to make Sunday a holiday rather than a holy day. Now Sunday presents a splendid opportunity for rest, worship, the home life, and the personal life. Are we not in danger of losing these values through our lust for pleasure and speed on the Lord's Day?

THE WORLD' GREATEST

Picking the world's greatest men, like selecting an all-star football team, is a difficult proposition—one in which no two persons would likely reach the same result independently.

The feat was attempted, however, by the University of Washington, with a view to placing statues of the world's eighteen greatest on the facade of a new public library, the following being selected:

Adam Smith, social science; Beethoven, music; Dante, poetry; Darwin, biological science; Leonardo da Vinci, art; Benjamin Franklin, public service; Goethe, poetry; Grotius, international law; Galileo, physical science; Gutenberg, printing; Herodotus, history; Homer, poetry; Justinian, law and administration; Moses, religion; Newton, mathematics and physics; Pasteur, medical science; Plato, philosophy; Shakespeare, drama.

One of the striking aspects of this list is that it includes three poets, besides Shakepeare, indicating that poetry presents the most likely path to immortal fame, however undesirable it may be as a practical career during one's lifetime.

Franklin is the only American in the list, which may not be so poor a showing as it first appears, considering that the entire historical period from Moses onward is covered in the search for celebrities.

A chicken owned by Miles Willis of Richmond, Va., had five toes on each claw.

News In Brief Form

Official announcement has been made that about five millions of dollars of federal money will be spent on Alabama highways within less than a year, starting immediately. Much unemployed labor will be used.

In 1900 southern cotton mills consumed 1,563,841 bales of the 3,873,000 bales of cotton consumed that year by mills in the United States. In 1931 southern mills consumed 4,437,880 bales of 5,977,091.

Dr. S. L. Thetford of Noligeen, Greene County, has found Austrian peas to make a splendid pasture for early spring. They saved him a lot on his dairy cows in the spring of 1931. While being grazed the peas made a good growth.

An egg yolk has vitamins A, B, C, D, and G, and a large amount of phosphorous, iron, and some copper, needed for building blood. It is a highly desirable food.

The Pennsylvania Farmer for July 31 says that Idaho and North Dakota have been added to the list of states which have tested all their cattle for tuberculosis. This makes eight states tentatively free from bovine tuberculosis, the others being North Carolina, Maine, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Ohio, named in the order of their achievement.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I was in a community as pastor when the patrons of the school located near my church decided that a new school building was needed. No sooner had the project been launched than a covey of objectors came forward howling down the proposition. They objected because the location was not correct, because the plan was too elaborate, because the building faced the west, because "John Smith" was in favor of it, because it would increase taxes and then because and because. Every community has its objectors, who are always against every movement for the betterment of the community. There is only one place where there is no objection to what is being done and that is in the cemetery. Everywhere there are folks who object to taxes, the building of good roads, stock law, prohibition, a progressive school system—to them it seems to be a dreadful waste of the people's money This bunch was born in the objective case and in the kickative gender. Let it be remembered that this attitude is not a mark of greatness.

My grandfather was the proud owner of about 150 hives of bees. His bees would sail out in every direction in search of wax and honey, and every spring they would store it up in rich abundance. All during the fall and winter they would stay by their wealth and no thieving hand dared to reach for their treasure. It took special precaution to take the honey from them. There was much honey in every gum, but it was guarded by a thousand bees with sharpened stings to protect it. It took courage to secure the honey that was thus protected. To make it our own we had to run the risk of a sting. That is true in everything that is worth having. To hold the rose as your own you must run the risk of being pricked by the thorns. Gold is to be found beneath tons of dirt and rocks. Pearls are found in deep waters. Oil is found in deep wells. The priceless things are the hardest to procure. Just anybody can live in a hovel, be poor and ignorant. It takes the fighting spirit to obtain an education, wealth and culture. The honey of life can not be dipped up from flowing streams. Diamonds are not picked up by the roadside. We must risk the sting to obtain the honey.

Darkness had settled about the country home and we were sitting on the front porch in sweet fellowship when a car drove up in front. The horn was sounded and the oldest boy in the family arose and reached for his hat. The mother lifted her voice in protest, but the young man was deaf to her appeals. When he started down the steps the mother put her arms about his shoulder and walked toward the gate with him. I could not hear what she was saying, but I knew that she was begging her boy not to go away into sin that night. On reaching the gate she stopped, the boy pushed her aside, slammed the gate behind him, leaped into the car and went away with a crowd of rowdies. The mother stood there for a moment, wiping the tears from her eyes, and then slowly found her way back to her seat on the porch. Seeing that I thought to myself how like God was that mother. No one ever starts out over the prodigal's path without God entering his protest. He walks by the side of the one who is leaving the ways of righteousness, he follows them down to the very gate, uttering his appeals. When the door of the soul is slammed shut in his face, like a devoted mother, he stands there weeping his sad bosom empty because His child has determined to go wrong.

The other night my clock started to striking and I counted up to fifty. By that time I was wide awake and I was wondering if there was something wrong with me or with the clock. The thing kept up its striking and it dawned into my sleepy brain that the clock was not striking to tell the time of the night, but to tell the household that there was something wrong on the inside of the clock. When one of these "Gossips" come around to your home and start disturbing you with the endless stream of community filth, do not become overly alarmed, that one is striking, not to tell you the real condition in your community, but to tell you that there is something wrong on the inside of the one doing the talking. Like a good clock, we should only let our tongues announce correct time.

I was talking to the lady of the house and the phone rang. She lifted the receiver. At our end of the line I heard her say, "Yes. No. I am not raising my girl that way. Good bye." The lady then told me that a certain young lady in the town was trying to make up a dancing school, and that she wanted her to send her daughter. With that bit of informtion I felt, almost like shouting as I thought of her statement, "I am not raising my daughter that way." That was a real mother. A mother who knows human nature and who loves the soul life of her daughter, should answer every call coming to her for her daughters to be trained to dance, "I am not raising my daughter that way." Mothers should not forget that the way she raises her daughters, that is the way they are going to live. God pity a mother when she raises her daughters for the ball room. May heaven have mercy on young womanhood when they are trained that way.

Perry Farmer Says Austrian Peas Pay

-o-

Marion, Ala.—Dr. R. C. Hanna, owner and operator of a large plantation near here, has found that it is unwise for farmers to buy nitrogen in commercial form when Austrian peas, if given an opportunity, will take from the air all that is needed. He has found that gathering nitrogen this way is much cheaper and better than buying it in commercial form and, in addition, Austrian peas add a lot of humus to the soil, which is another important need.

Dr. Hanna began a few years ago with Austrian peas. His farm was washed and much of the plant food in the soil had disappeared. It had been operated by tenants with little thought given to care of the soil itself. Cotton was the main crop and the yields were very low.

In 1931 the cotton yield was doubled on 500 acres; and, for the first time in many years, the farm made all the feed that was needed.

At the end of the year Dr. Hanna made a comparison of two tenants, one of whom used Austrian peas and the other did not. The one who didn't use peas made 7 bales of cotton and four loads of corn with two plows. The other, who used Austrian peas and cultivated the same amount of land, made 16 bales of cotton and 10 loads of corn. Seeing the advantages of Austrian peas Dr. Hanna planted 28,000 pounds in the fall of 1931. Both cotton and corn following the Austrian peas are now very promising, unless boll weevils destroy a lot of the cotton.

Similar results have been obtained by many other Marion County farmers, according to J. P. Robinson, county agent. They have used it for enriching land for producing corn, cotton, and other crops, and also as an early spring pasture crop as well as a hay crop in combination with oats.

Hog Outlook For Fall Is Brighter

-o-

Auburn, Ala.—Recent developments have given the hog outlook a brighter picture. Prices turned upward in June and are expected to continue until late August or early September, according to James D. Pope, head of the department of agricultural economics at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Several factors are named by Mr Pope as contributing to this development. A pig survey of June 1 revealed a 7 per cent reduction in the 1932 spring crop from that of 1931. In Alabama, however, there was an increase of 6 per cent, the increased production having been advised by county agents and extension livestock men of Auburn.

It was found also that pork in cold storage from June 1 to July 1 of this year decreased 54,656,000 pounds. This amount was 43,461,000 pounds less than on July 1 a year ago. The third factor is that fewer hogs have arrived at markets this summer.

With indications that peak prices for the next few months will be reached around the first of September, Mr. Pope advises farmers to prepare to sell top grades about that time. While the immediate outlook is set for considerable expansion in hog production in the United States next year. Indications are that a large amount of feed will be available and other factors will contribute to increase.

Foreseeing this, county agents and livestock specialists are pressing forward with hog development work in view of the fact that Alabama farmers can produce them at a very low cost.

POPULAR FALLACIES

-o-

After an erroneous statement has been repeated often enough it is next to impossible to eradicate it from the popular mind.

For many years the question was asked why the addition of a fish to a pail of water would not add to the weight of the bucket and its contents. Several ingenious explanations were offered, but the real reason could not be agreed upon. Finally some inquisitive skeptic weighed a bucket of water and after adding a five-pound fish weighed it again. It weighed just five pounds more than it did before adding the fish. The question, therefore, was shown to be based upon a false assumption.

A similar situation is pointed out by the Christian Science Monitor in answer to the question of why the younger generation is so much inclined to crime. Thirteen cities reporting to the United States Children's Bureau showed that in nine of them juvenile delinquency decreased last year, while an increase was noted in only four.

Likewise, it is popularly supposed that crime in Chicago is more prevalent than ever before. Yet actual statistics show that crime since 1915 in that city has not increased in proportion to the increase in population.

It is unwise to jump at conclusions or take to much for granted.

Youths Stake In 1932 Election Told By Democratic Club Pres. At Mock Convention

A mock National Convention was held recently by young Democrats of Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, at which Tyre Taylor, President of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, with headquarters at Raleigh, N. C., spoke on "Youth's Stake in the National Election." Mr. Taylor said, "It is not only fitting and proper; it is in the highest degree necessary that young men and women, who comprise more than half of the nation's electorate, should discuss and ponder, and through serious study seek intelligently to understand the issues of the approaching campaign and election. It is proper that they should organize for this purpose . . . and to translate their views and some of their unselfish and unwearied idealism into the settled policies of party and government."

In speaking of the present depression, which he called "unprecedented," he said:

"As we look back over the past three years, it is difficult to reconcile the course of our Government with reality. It is a horrible dream or nightmare, we want to say. Such madness, not to speak of the bland indifference of this Government to the welfare of its people, does not belong in the realm of sanity and broad daylight. And yet let us observe the great Engineer as he sets about building a bridge over chaos."

In the face of a solemn warning, he declared that Mr. Hoover had signed a tariff bill "which made America a hermit nation," and resulted in a migration of American industry abroad.

"In considering the stake of young men and young women in the election of 1932," he continued, "let us ask this question: Does the erection of an automobile or tractor factory in Ireland by American capital help or hurt your chances of obtaining employment and making a living?"

He pictured the "blind indifference" of the Republican Administration to many aspects of the situation, and recited the misleading statements of Administration officials. He told of the growth and development of crime and the breakdown of law enforcement. While he did not seek to place sole blame upon any single individual, he said:

"On the other hand, there does fairly attach, I think, to the chief positions of leadership in a democratic country such as ours, some obligation to lead. And this grave responsibility may not be adequately discharged through the appointment of a commission, or the prosecution and conviction of a gang leader for income tax evasion."

Discussing remedies, Mr. Taylor said:

"You ask, what can the Government of the United States do to remedy these conditions?

"It can call an international conference for tariff disarmament and write the treaties which will end the present economic trench warfare. Commerce is a mutual process of buying and selling and it cannot surmount tariff barriers which make the cost to the ultimate consumer prohibitive.

"The Democratic Party, if returned to power in both branches of the Government, will restore sanity in tariff-legislation. The Republican Party has demonstrated that it can not or will not do this.

"The Government can—and if the Democratic Party is given this mandate from the people it will reduce the total cost of operations.

"Are you aware that out of a total national income of $70,000,000,000 from all sources in 1930, $14,000,000,000 (or approximately twenty cents out of each dollar) were required to defray the expenses of the various Federal, State and local governing bodies?

"The Government can, as was demonstrated under Woodrow Wilson, become a fundamental and far-reaching affirmative force in the life of the people making for respect for law, liberal humanitarianism in our economic and social relationships and sanity and perspective in our world outlook. In considering the stake young men and young women have in the approaching national election, this factor, while intangible and difficult of reduction to concrete terms, is perhaps of permanent importance. We face in this country today not only the problem of restoring prosperity, but of reconciling the consequences of a mechanistic civilization with human liberty."

MARIAN MARSH AND WILLIAM ARE "DOUBLES" FOR BARRYMORE AND DOLORES COSTELLO

It would be a slight exaggeration to say that John Barrymore and Dolores Costello, otherwise Mr. and Mrs. Barrymore both have doubles at the Warner Bros. studio in Hollywood. But certainly at that production tenter there is a young actor and a girl whose resemblances to the famous married couple played a decisive part in securing their first screen opportunities.

They are Warren William and Marian Marsh, co-featured in "Beauty and The Boss," at the Wadesonian Theatre Monday and Tuesday, August 8 and 9. Miss Marsh, who is Miss Costello's prototype, got her first big chance when she was cast as Trilby in John Barrymore's "Svengali." And that was because Barrymore, after observing the screen tests of numerous applicants for the role, was forcibly impressed by Marian's pronounced likeness to his wife.

As for Warren William, who looks extremely like Barrymore, he was chosen to be Miss Costello's leading man in "Expensive Women."

The accident of resemblance, however, has been in both cases the beginning of a series of roles which clearly demonstrate that neither Miss Marsh nor William have to rely on their physical resemblance to carve out their own screen success. In their last appearance together in "Under Eighteen" both scored heavily.

"Beauty and the Boss" includes in its large cast many prominent players of stage and screen. Among them are Charles Butterworth, David Manners Frederick Kerr, Lilian Bond, Mary Doran and Yola D'Avril.

Roy ("Blonde Crazy" and "Taxi") Del Ruth directed.

A TONIC Laxative

CONSTIPATION, with the annoying symptoms that usually come with it, cuts down organic force and disturbs normal health and well-being. A thorough cleansing of the digestive tract is of great assistance in the removal of sickening constipation symptoms.

When excessive accumulated waste matter disturbs and strains the muscles of the large intestines, rendering them temporarily unable to perform their wave-like evacuating movements, Thedford's Black-Draught is useful in stimulating them to activity, which, again started, should continue regularly until some future disturbance interferes. In this way, Thedford's Black-Draught is one of the TONIC laxatives, tending, as it does, to establish a regular habit of evacuation.

end to this practice."

Friday night the association held its annual banquet with Charles R. West as toastmaster. After the introduction of visitors, addresses were made by Edmund Pettus, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee; Lange Smith, state highway engineer; W. B. Oliver, congressman from the Sixth District, and Luther Patrick.

Mr. Oliver explained the relief bill just passed by Congress and explained how the provisions for direct aid would work and the method to be used in obtaining funds by the states.

County Departments Seen

The fourth annual convention of the association was opened at the Tutwiler Hotel Wednesday afternoon. The concluding session will be held Friday morning, when officers will be elected and the 1933 meeting place selected.

Thursday afternoon, members of the association were shown various departments of the Jefferson County organization. They first attended Judge H.B. Abernethy's court, and then, after an inspection of the courthouse, visited the almshouse, machine shops and convict camps, and studied some of the roads of the county.

The morning session of the convention was featured by the address of Mr. Beeland.

"All of you recall efforts of merchants of Alabama to take this force of 125 men and women out of the mercantile business," Mr. Beeland said. For the past two and a half years, promises have been received to put an end to this unfair practice.

Statement Recalled

Two and a half years ago, he said, statements were made by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, and Dr. Duncan, that the county agents were not hired "for peddlers and they were going to take them out of this work as they felt it was unfair competition."

Mr. Beeland referred to a statement made by Dr. Duncan this Spring, in which he was quoted as saying, "Hereafter, extension workers will confine their activities to educational work. They will give farm people and business men scientific information about agriculture and related subjects. That having been done, their responsibility will have been fulfilled."

Continuing, Mr. Beeland said: "The mercantile interests of this state felt that after this statement of Dr. Duncan, this practice would stop, but observation over the state shows that these men are still carrying on business at the old stand."

Volume Of Business

Mr. Beeland said the Alabama Farm Bureau did a business of $17,000,000 at the cost of 1.3 per cent in 1929 and 1930. He quoted correspondence from L. S. Bissett, feed service department, which the speaker showed "that the county agents, through their director, Dr. Duncan, are sponsoring the sales and mercantile business of the Allied Mills, Inc., of Chicago, a foreign corporation which we understand is doing business in Alabama tax free, with the aid of extension workers, in competition with the tax-paying merchants of Alabama."

Rucker Agee, addressing the morning session also, urged the officials to take every step to make their bonds and warrants desirable in financial markets. Half of the counties of Alabama owe less today than five years ago, he said, and only about one-fifth of them owe more today than five years ago.

Junior Team To Play Bessemer Here Tues.

Clanton's American Legion Junior baseball team is in the race for state championship. They play Bessemer's team here Tuesday, August 9th at 3:30 p.m. on the local diamond. Admission is: Over 12 years of age, 15 cents; under 12 years of age 10 cents. The winner of this game will either be declared the champions of the state, or will have to play the Legion team of Mobile for the championship.

Montgomery's Legion team, before it was declared ineligible, was champion having defeated Bessemer. Bessemer's team then challenged the eligibility of Montgomery's team, and it was found that several of the players were over age.

Now, Bessemer, Clanton and Mobile are left to play off the State Championship. Clanton was second to Montgomery in this loop, and after their players were declared ineligible, Clanton becomes champion of this loop.

High Values of Legumes

their land to the extent of making profitable yields of corn and also cotton which responds well to winter legumes.

Yields are increased by winter legumes because they add nitrogen and humus. Where a good crop is plowed it is not necessary to buy any nitrogen for either corn or cotton, thus eliminating this expense. In addition much valuable humus is added.

"Without winter legumes," said Mr. Stapp, "the average farmer in Chilton county will plant corn on 23 to 25 acres if he produces enough for his farm needs. By planting winter legume seed in the fall and plowing the crop under in the spring he can make enough corn on half this acreage. Advantages here are apparent."

With these objectives in view, Mr. Stapp is urging farmers to get ready for planting hairy vetch and Austrian peas this fall, the time to plant being from September 15 to October 15. Seed should be ordered and arrangements made for fertilizer. Basic slag, a byproduct of the steel industry in Birmingham, is the best fertilizer for winter legumes.

THIS WEEK IN POLITICS

STOCKS AND REPUBLICAN HOPES SOAR

The steady rise of stocks on the New York Exchange for the last week has brought much joy to Republican politicians and nominees. Nothing could do more for the Hoover-Curtis ticket than a trend toward prosperity, and no one recognizes this better than Mr. Hoover.

The American voter is a fickle person at best and in times of prosperity he is incined to credit the party in power for the prosperity and blame the party in power for any business depression. There is no logic back of this point of view but every politician knows that the tendency is there.

The proof of the above statement, if proof is needed, may be found in a very cursory glance at American political history. During the eight years of Andrew Jackson's administrations (1829-1837) America saw an unprecedented era of prosperity.

In 1837 with Martin Van Buren in the White House, there came the famous Panic of 1837 and as a result Van Buren and his Democratic Party were made the goats at the election of 1840 when the Whigs elected the incompetent William Henry Harrison and the uncertain John Tyler. The Whigs had no platform. They needed none. Only the panic was necessary to defeat Van Buren and it was a panic caused by speculation, over-expansion, and wildcat banking which Van Buren had nothing to do with.

In 1892 Grover Cleveland was elected to a second term after a lapse of four

Barbecue Is Set For Alabama Democrats

Selma—Democrats of Central Alabama are being invited to a rally and barbecue to be held at Houston's Grove near here August 18, announces E. W. Pettus, chairman, State Democratic Executive Committee.

Senator Kenneth McKellar, of Tennessee, a native of this section, and Congressman Lister Hill, of Montgomery, are slated to speak on campaign issues. Thad Holt, director, Alabama Industrial Board, and Alabama representative of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will speak on measures undertaken for economic relief.

The purpose of the meeting, Mr. Pettus said, is to arouse all Democrats to the support of the campaign fund quota expected of this section.

VICTORY FUND BEING RAISED BY DEMOCRATS

Alabama Democrats Called On To Raise $15,000 For This Fund

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 10, 1932.
To The Democrats of Alabama:

The Democratic National Committee has called upon the Democrats of Alabama to contribute the sum of fifteen thousand dollars to be used by our party in the contest to further the cause of democracy.

In this election, Mr. Hoover and the republican leaders are backed by the selfish interests. Those who have grown rich from the tariff wall built around our nation, and those favored few who have been the recipients of special favors will gladly contribute financially to keep Mr. Hoover and his appointees in office. These false and fraudulent leaders are desperate. They seek to keep a strangle-hold on the nation at any cost. In this campaign they will pay anything to hold and keep their offices.

We seek to throw these extravagant, wasteful, false and fraudulent leaders from our temples of justice; we seek to elect Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, president, and Honorable John Nance Garner, vice-president; we seek to restore the republic to the people.

Therefore, we appeal to you to contribute to this fund—The Victory Campaign Fund of the Democratic Party.

Very sincerely yours,
EDMUND W. PETTUS,
Chm. State Democratic Committee.
LEON McCORD,
National Democratic Committeeman.

Mrs. Elizabeth Posey Claughton, age 87, died at her home in Verbena, Ala., Sunday morning, July 31. She was one of the oldest residents of the Verbena vicinity and held in high esteem.

Funeral services were held the same afternoon at the Verbena Baptist church with Dr. Duggar officiating. Interment followed in the Verbena cemetery, with Martin & Sons of Clanton in charge.

She is survived by two sons, Dr. W. P. Claughton of Gadsden, and W. M. Claughton, of Verbena, and other relatives. Pallbearers were S. L. Gibson, J. R. Robinson, G. H. Caffey, J. H. Johnson, Watson Jones, Wilber Jones and Irby Deramus.

Clanton Is Winner In I. G. A. Contest

The Clanton Missionary Society was a happy recipient last week of $100 in gold, at the conclusion of a contest put on by I. G. A. Stores in Alabama.

This happiness was added to by the fact that Clanton won first place in this contest over the state. The money was divided in half, going to the Baptist church and the Methodist church here. The ladies put forth quite a bit of effort to win this contest, where the award was based on the number of I. G. A. labels collected by any organization.

Stores in Clanton playing a great part in aiding in this contest were the Clanton Cash Store and Culver & Jones, both popular I. G. A. Stores here. The contest closed Thursday with a big barbecue and picnic at Prattville for I. G. A. merchants of the state.

Representative Rayburn, Of Texas, Jubilant at Certainty of Hoover Defeat

New York, Aug. 3.—A new brand of Democratic national ticket will be victorious in November by 10,000,000 votes was expressed Saturday by Representative Sam Rayburn, of Texas, after a series of conferences in New York with James A. Farley, chairman of the party's national committee.

Rayburn has been selected by Farley to manage the vice presidential campaign of Speaker John N. Garner, his life long friend and political associate. He was extremely optimistic about the possibility of a Democratic victory over President Hoover.

"The Democratic ticket is elected now overwhelmingly, I believe," Rayburn said. "The people of the country want leadership especially at a time like this. Mr. Hoover and those acting with him have failed utterly.

"I believe this country is big enough to take care of itself and all that it needs is correct direction. The energies that have been put forth seemingly to put the country back to normalcy have been misdirected under the Republican administration."

Rayburn will accompany Garner to Albany for a conference Aug. 15 with Gov. Roosevelt.

After the Albany discussions, Garner will confer for several days with Chairman Farley in New York City on plans for his speaking tour.

Although Rayburn has not been given any title, he is to be the liaison officer between national headquarters and the speakers, with headquarters in New York. He was selected because of his 20 years association with Garner in the House.

Lightning Kills Two Animals Damages Barn

Lightning, during a heavy rainfall Wednesday afternoon of last week, did considerable damage at the home of Henry Patterson, who resides on Clanton, Route 3.

The bolt struck the Patterson barn, setting it on fire, and killed one of the fine mules and a hog, belonging to Mr. Patterson. The blaze was quickly extinguished, and little damage was done by fire. This occurred about five o'clock that afternoon, Mr. Patterson stated.

At that time, a very heavy rainfall occurred in many parts of the county. At Thorsby, the water was so heavy that damage was done to the railroad fill, causing train No. 3 to be held up there until repairs could be made. Clanton also had a heavy rain then.

J. B. ATKINSON TO ENTER RACE FOR MAYORSHIP

Statement To People Shows Competent Administration Of Affairs

Meeting with requests that he announce as a candidate for mayor of Clanton, Hon. J. B. Atkinson makes his formal announcement and issues a statement to the voters and citizens of Clanton regarding his candidacy for this important office.

Mr Atkinson has served Clanton as mayor, during the years of 1927 and 1928, and it is upon his record then that many friends urged him to make this announcement. Following is a statement from Mr Atkinson:

To The Citizens of the Town of Clanton, Alabama

I am a candidate for the [illegible] Mayor of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and will [illegible] your vote and influence, in my [illegible]. The people of Clanton honored me [illegible] the office of Mayor [illegible] term, beginning October 1st [illegible] ending October 1st, 1928 [illegible] time the indebtedness of the town was reduced and all operating expenses and the interest on the town's Bonds [illegible] paid promptly. The town [illegible] and paid for the warehouse and [illegible] near the Methodist Church. An additional well was dug and equipped with pumps, besides the purchases of [illegible] truck and other street equipment [illegible] total additions and gain of the town during the two years—when I was Mayor—amounted to $14,912.08, besides reducing the indebtedness as stated. [illegible] initial payment of $765.00 was made on the fire truck and there was no paving done, or any attempt to burden any taxpayer with any assessments, due to the fact that our economic conditions would not then permit any program in the paving of streets and side-walks. The water rates during the time I was Mayor were not raised and if elected Mayor, I will use my influence and vote to reduce the water rates, licenses, and taxes. The expenses of the town will be reduced wherever practicable and no paving program will be had at the expense of the tax payers or property owners. The records of the town disclose that during my term as Mayor, the town supplemented the teachers' salaries and liberal donations were made to our grammar and high schools. The Council fixes the salary of the Mayor and if I am elected. I shall [illegible] Council to fix a minimum [illegible] [illegible] the School [illegible] get and aid the School authorities [illegible] best we can to obtain a nine months term for our Schools. If the people elect me as their mayor I will conduct myself, at all times, in such a way that they shall not have cause to regret placing their confidence in and again honoring me with the office. Thanking each citizen, for their vote and influence, I am

Yours very truly,
J. B. ATKINSON.

WHAT ELECTRICITY HAS DONE FOR ALABAMA

Low Cost ELECTRICITY Has Done Away With Drudgery In Many Alabama Homes

Low cost, statewide electric power service has revolutionized housekeeping here in Alabama. It has placed at the command of Alabama women scores of tireless servants such as those pictured here . . . electric ranges that cook without attention . . . electric refrigerators that keep food fresh and safe . . . vacuum cleaners that whisk away dirt . . . automatic water service that is always instantly available. These and other labor saving appliances have made housekeeping a joy instead of burden. They have made homemakers out of housekeepers.

KEEPING THE SABBATH

I was up early last Sunday morning, dressed and then fed the hogs, cows and chickens, made a fire in the stove, filled kettles with water, then filled water buckets with fresh water, then got a book and read, "The Lord is night unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit. Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all," Ps. 34:18-19.

I then ate breakfast. Then the churn dasher was in the churn and I was busy for 30 minutes, and then the hogs were ready for the slop and the cow was wanting to get in the pasture, so I thought of the many passages of scripture that speakes of the Sabbath. "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." The journey of a Sabbath day being only about 2 miles of the Jews working 6 years and resting the seventh year and that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. Jesus healing the afflicted on Sabbath day of pulling the ox out of the ditch on the Sabbath day, and of doing good on the Sabbath, of Sunday being the first day of the week and that Jesus did not come to destroy the Law, but to fulfill the Law, and one of the writers said, "By grace you are saved and through faith and not of yourselves, for it is the gift of God." So all Christians should keep the Sabbath of faith 7 days in a week to be lovely for God only one day in the week is only keeping the Sabbath day of Faith one-seventh of the time. If we expect to gain eternal life we should be obedient to God seven days in a week. A lot of things we say and do is not pleasing to the Lord. We hope that churning and doing the general chores around the home Sunday is not displeasing Him, for we read in Ga. that Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the Law and he that has loved another has fulfilled the Law. Every day we should shun doing anything that would be displeasing to the Lord. Remember that there is a sin that will not be forgiven in this world or in the world to come.

CAN'T YOU HELP MR. COPELAN A LITTLE?

If you haven't a peoples telephone you should not read this, but if you do have one and are connected up with central and are getting service and have not paid your fee this year, you should read it every bit.

We all know these times are hard and money is hard to get hold of; but Mr. Copelan and his wife, formerly Miss Nettie Culp, are operating the central of the Peoples Telephone Company, and they have to have some money to live on. Mr. Copelan is doing lots of work, and his wife is a very efficient and accommodating operator. The fee is 25 cents per month for the rest of this telephone year—up to November 1st. So, you see 75 cents will put you there and then some. And if a hundred people would drop in and pay up for these three months, my, my, how it would help out.

If you can't possibly get up as much as a quarter, bring Mr. Copelan a pullet, a mess of potatoes or something, and show him that your heart is in the right place.

INSURING PUBLIC TAKE NOTICE

The Department of Insurance has been reliably informed that the following companies, societies and associations are selling contracts of insurance to citizens of this state, without authority of Alabama law:

Louisiana Mutual Benevolent Assn., New Orleans, La.

National Union Indemnity Assn., Shreveport, La.

Reliance Mutual Benefit Association, Tampa, Fla.

National Aid Society, Springfield, Ill.

Postal Life & Casualty Insurance Co., Kansas City, Mo.

Physicians Health & Accident Insurance Co., Dallas, Texas.

Iowa State Traveling Men's Assn., Des Moines, Iowa.

National Protective Association, Kansas City, Mo.

Merchants & Bankers Mutual Benefit Corp., Jacksonville, Fla.

American Benefit Corporation, Springfield, Illinois.

American Protective Association, Shreveport, La.

Allstates Insurance Co., Chicago, Ill.

Alabama citizens can not afford to buy insurance from these unauthorized companies for the following reasons:

1. They are not qualified. If you have a contract with one of them, have a claim, and the company disputed the claim, you will have to litigate in the State of Domicile, Alabama Courts having no jurisdiction. And the Federal Courts will seldom have jurisdiction.

2. There are hundreds of splendid companies authorized to do business here, writing the same form of insurance these unauthorized companies write. The qualified companies are paying the state substantial privilege and license taxes for the purpose of being subject to the laws of this state. Citizens should, therefore, buy insurance from these authorized companies.

3. If citizens buy insurance from unqualified fire insurance companies, they are required by law to report this fact to the Superintendent of Insurance and pay 4% interest on the gross premium within thirty days from date of purchase. After thirty days, they are required to pay 8%. Moreover, if they have a fire loss, they must pay the Adjuster ½ of 1% of the amount representing the loss before the Adjuster is authorized to complete his report.

4. Proper insurance protection is too important for citizen to take chances with unqualified companies, which are not subject to our laws. Please do not deal with unauthorized companies.

5. Agents representing unqualified companies are subject to criminal indictment. If convicted, it is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $100.00, nor more than $500.00, or imprisonment in the County Jail for thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the Court.

Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the heavy-burdened who will find every human trial paralleled in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

—IN THE LATE AFTERNOON—

It was very late in the afternoon in Galilee. The dozen men who had walked all day over the dusty roads were hot and tired. The sight of a village was very cheering, as they looked down on it from the top of a little hill. Their leader sent two members of the party ahead to arrange for accommodations, while he and the others sat down by the roadside to wait.

After a bit the messengers were seen returning, and even at a distance it was apparent that something unpleasant had occurred. Their cheeks were flushed and their voices angry. Breathlessly they told it—the people in the village had refused to receive them, had given them blunt notice to seek shelter somewhere else.

The indignation of the messengers communicated itself to the others. This back-woods village refuse to entertain their master—it was unthinkable. He was a famous public character. He had healed sick people and given freely to the poor. In the capital city crowds had followed him.

"Lord, these people are insufferable," one of them cried. "Let us call down fire from Heaven and consume them." The others joined in with enthusiasm. Fire from Heaven—that was the idea! Make them smart for their boorishness! Show them that they can't affront us with impunity! Come, Lord, the fire—

There are times when nothing a man can say is nearly so powerful as saying nothing. Every executive knows that instinctively. To argue brings him down to the level of those with whom he argues; silence convicts them of their folly; they wish they had not spoken so quickly; they wonder what he thinks. The lips of Jesus tightened; his fine features showed the strain of the preceding weeks. He needed that night's rest, but he said not a word. Quietly he gathered up his garments and started on, his outraged companions following. It is easy to imagine his keen disappointment. . . . Would they never catch a true vision of what he was about?

Down the hot road they trailed after him, awed by his silence vaguely conscious that they had failed again to measure up. In the mind of Jesus the thing was too small for comment.

"And they went to another village."

Eighteen hundred years later an important man left the White House in Washington for the War Office, with a letter from the President to the Secretary of War. In a very few minutes he was back in the White House again bursting with indignation. The President looked up in mild surprise. "Did you give the message to Stanton?" he asked.

"Yes and he tore it up," exclaimed the outraged citizen, "and what's more sir, he said you are a fool."

"Did Stanton call me that?" he asked. . . . "He did, sir, and repeated it." "Well," said the President with a dry laugh, "I reckon it must be true then, because Stanton is generally right."

The angry gentleman waited for the storm to break, but nothing happened. Abraham Lincoln turned quietly to his desk and went on with his work.

Two Accept Posts Guiding Auburn

Montgomery, Aug. 7.—Gov. Miller, as chairman of the Auburn board of trustees, received yesterday formal notice from Dr. L. N. Duncan that he would accept the position to which he was elected by the board Friday to serve with Dr. George Petrie and Dr. J. J. Willmore, as joint heads of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute temporarily until a permanent president could be chosen for the institution to succeed Dr. Bradford Knapp, resigned.

The Governor had received no formal notice of acceptance from Dr. Willmore at closing time yesterday, but when the latter was called at his home in Auburn he said he would write the Chief Executive a letter of acceptance Monday.

Whether Dr. Petrie would stand firm in his original decision that he was unwilling to serve as a member of the temporary board of regents of Auburn, was not known. Gov. Miller wrote him Friday afternoon urging and requesting him to reconsider. Friday evening before he had received the communication from the Chief Executive, Dr. Petrie when communicated with at his home said he had nothing to add to his original statement in the matter.

During the forenoon yesterday, however, the Governor got a telegram from Dr. Petrie in which he said he was writing him, Gov. Miller, a letter. The message gave no indication of the contents of the letter as to whether Dr. Petrie had reconsidered. The Governor, however, is very anxious to have Dr. Petrie serve on the board of regents and will take no action toward selecting another for the place for which he was chosen until he is convinced Dr. Petrie's original decision is final.

In the event he will not reconsider, then it will be necessary for the Governor to call the board of trustees together again to elect some one else to complete the triumvirate which for the present will direct Auburn's affairs.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

On Saturday night of July 30th, a white woman was shouting in a tent meeting being held near Thomasville, Ala. In the midst of the joyous occasion this woman decided to fling out into the night air a loud whoop that would indicate that shè was the happiest shouter under the tent. She opened her mouth wide and the welkins did ring. The trouble came when she tried to shut her mouth. She had put too much strength into the shout and had jerked her jaw off the hinges. Her jaw was securely locked, and for hours she suffered agony. Finally, when the doctor arrived and had jerked her jaw into position, she declared that the devil had locked her jaw, and she resumed her shouts of praise. If that was the work of the devil he must have a barrel full of such keys, for it seems that he has locked the jaws of many who are members of our churches. To say the least, not many church folks are talking for the Lord. Our churches are suffering from lock-jaw.

A mother told me of her sportly son this last week. She was going to church and left the boy at home to take his bath and retire. The lad of twelve summers had learned to like the things that made him comfortable, and after filling the bath tub with cool water he undressed and let himself down into the cool water. It made him feel mighty comfortable. He braced his head against the side of the tub, and on his mother's return, there he was in the tub fast asleep. It suited his feelings and regardless of the danger he meant to enjoy it. It seems to me that going to sleep in a bath tub is rather risky business. That is no more silly and no more dangerous than for church members to find a good comfortable place on Sunday and remain there to enjoy it when they should be in the house of God. I am sorry, but I am very much afraid that some church members are going to drop under the current and go down while they sleep and snooze in a comfortable place.

I heard about this funny funeral. A negro man died after having been a long sufferer from rheumatism. The disease had drawn his head and feet together. After he had died the undertaker had quite a job to make the body stretch out in the casket. When the feet would be forced down the head would sit up, and when the head would be forced down the feet would sit up. Finally the undertaker tied both ends down. The casket was before the altar in the church that was crowded with friends of the dead. The preacher was in a reeling way with the funeral oration when the twine broke that held the negro's head down, and the corpse sat up in the casket. The congregation and the preacher not knowing that the corpse was tied in the casket, decided that it was time to leave the church vacant. They went in every direction. Two of the sisters who were rather bulky in body had run for a mile and were able to run no more. They dropped down to a fast walk, when one of them remarked to the other, "Mandy, we have the out cussingest pastor anybody ever saw." Mandy was surprised and said, "Why, Malinda, has you heard our pastor using profane words?" "Yes," replied Malinda, "I knows dat you must have seen and heard dat man who passed us down de road wid de window frame on his neck. Why sister, dat man was our pastor and he was saying every time his foot hit the ground, 'Dam a church that has only one door.' "

The pastor of a congregation was entertained in a country home where roasting ears were served for supper. The visiting preacher was suddenly taken ill and could not preach that night. The pastor was forced into the stand. For supper he had eaten ten ears of corn, and now that he had to preach he saw what he was up against. Before entering the pulpit he went aside to have a little understanding with the Lord, and here is the prayer he prayed, "Lord, I never ask you for many things, and when I do ask you for something I do not ask for much. Lord, I am in the bad tonight with these ten roasting ears and if you will take care of nine of them, I will take care of the other one." That is the way that most of us approach God. We say to Him that if he will take care of nine-tenths of our foolishness, we will be able to handle the other tenth.

In Clanton last week a visiting colored preacher was conducting a revival. The meeting was drawing to a close. The one doing the preaching had announced that he had to have a certain sum for his services and on the last night the committees were asked to report. All the cash had been turned in but ninety cents. The service started but when it came time to preach the visiting minister refused to deliver his message until the cash was in full. The congregation seemingly had no more cash. The preacher said, "Now, my brethren, if you is dead broke and can't pay me dat 90 cts., hold up your hand." Every hand in the audience went up. Then the preacher said in his most solemn way, "We will rise and receive the benediction." The local pastor called for silence and several of the heads of the church went together and the 90 cts. was paid. That was putting the gospel on a cash basis.

Roosevelt vs. Hoover

It is easy for a man to say he is a Democrat or a Republican because his father was a Democrat or a Republican before him. Every man and woman have a mind of their own and should always use it on matters of state or national importance. With the coming of November another presidential race will be won and lost. There will be millions of lines of type set throughout the world on why you should vote for Roosevelt or why you should vote for Hoover. Ye editor has carefully studied both sides of the question and given consideration to both men. Both have been placed in the scales of life and our findings are these:

HOOVER: President for the past four years has led the United States into a depression which could have been averted. He has made no move until recent weeks to do anything to relieve the unemployment situation, the individual, or the small man. He has purposely pussy-footed out of every question of vital importance to our nation. He has straddled the fence on every occasion when he thought leaning too far to one side would cause him to lose a vote in November. He has fought and threatened to veto every bill introduced by Democrats in Congress or Senate. He has used his office and his power of veto, to shape all bills to his own liking, even down to the last two billion dollar relief bill which he threatened to veto if the clause offering loans to individuals was not struck out. These are only a few of the many things we have found in our careful analysis of Mr. Hoover. Is this the man to turn over our government to for another four years?

Let us take MR. ROOSEVELT: A man acclaimed by the people of his own state as a fair, high-minded business man and governor. A man who could be elected again the governor of the largest populated state in the union by an overwhelming majority. A man who has given his opinion on every question of vital importance since he started his political career. Maybe you do not agree with all of his opinions, but you must admit that you glory in any man or woman who will speak up and give his or her views on any subject. It not only shows a clear mind but an open one that can be changed if it be wrong. Roosevelt has given the world his opinion on every question that we are vitally interested in today. He has promised the good citizens of the United States a new deal. He has kept his promises in the past and we believe he will keep them in the future. America needs a new deal. America needs relief. America needs a return to normalcy.—The Hal County News.

The Clan of Roosevelt

One of the most curious illustrations of the fact that most people don't seem to know what is going on in the world is the receipt by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President, of several hundred letters and telegrams congratulating her upon the nomination of her husband for the Presidency! It seems incredible that there is still anyone in America who does not know that Theodore Roosevelt died in 1919.

There were also a good many thousands who wrote to Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee for President, under the impression that he is a son of the former President. As a matter of fact, his wife is much more closely related to the late Theodore Roosevelt than Franklin D. Roosevelt is. She was the daughter of Theodore Roosevelt's brother, Elliott, and that makes her a first cousin to the present Theodore Roosevelt, Governor-General of the Phillipines. One has to go back nearly two hundred years to trace the realtionship of Franklin D. Roosevelt to Theodore Roosevelt, but it is there.

The first of the name to settle in America was a Dutch merchant named Nicholas Roosevelt, who came to New York in 1649. In 1742, the old records show, there were two brothers Roosevelt, named Johannus and Josephus. They were great grandsons of the original Nicholas Roosevelt. One of them was the ancestor of Theodore Roosevelt, and the other of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Their descendants in both lines accumulated wealth and acquired high social position, but none of them was ever active in politics until Theodore Roosevelt, just out of college, was put up by the Republican organization in 1881 for member of the Legislature in what was supposed to be a safely Democratic district, and surprised everybody by getting himself elected. And Franklin Roosevelt, his distant cousin, made the same kind of a sensational entry into politics in 1910, when he was elected as a Democrat to the New York State Senate from a district which had been regarded as safely Republican.

"ROUND TOWN"

"He is happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home."
—Goethe.

And I herewith endorse, recommend Hon. J. B. Atkinson for Mayor of Clanton. No doubt you want to know why. He has not asked me, and in fact, has said nothing to me about the matter, not even asking me if it would be all right for him to enter the race. Even on top of all that, I did not get peeved because he did not ask my opinion about it.

At present, I do not know of any man who would accept the office who had higher ideals than one Mr. Atkinson, nor have higher standards of living,—happiness in his home. He is a God fearing man, and his actions throughout the years of his public life have shown that he always thinks of the other fellow, and not so much of J. B. Atkinson, when the interest of his fellowmen is at stake.

* * *

Mr. Atkinson has served Clanton as Mayor and has shown many accomplishments for the town. He has been cussed and discussed for things he has done for the welfare of the town, and yet the people would be lost without those things he secured for them.

Now that you know how I stand on the mayor's race here, and I hope I've made myself plain, I'll get on another subject about something I don't know anything about, or something.

I was plumb tickled at the editor the other day. He got all generous and offered old newspapers to people if they would come to the News office after them. Last week's paper had just gotten off the press when he had several calls for old newspapers, and before the week was out, he was going round town gathering up newspapers to fill the requests that he had after that little comment in last week's News. I think he decided there was quite a demand for old newspapers.

Hello, Friend Bill. Heard the other day that you were in town, and am sorry I missed you. I'm all time missing seeing the people I'd like to see. Glad to see your name on the list of the well informed people of Chilton county. Sometime when you are in Clanton again, I hope I get to see you. Why not drop me a line or two or three, or something, and don't take any wooden nickels. It'll make dandruff in your hair, maybe.

* * *

Well, you young fellows and young girls round town better get busy if you expect to take some Clantonian for a life partner. Derned if they ain't taking them up mighty fast round here. I'm not worried about myself, because I already have one tied to me for life, but I'm just tellin' you. Here O'Dell Headley just went on off and carried his bride with him, asking nobody about it, not even me. They're back in town now and you can take it from me, they're a handsome couple.

There might be a law passed in the extra session of the legislature, prohibiting Mayors from attending doctors picnics and eating so much they become disabled and have to be carried home. Speaking of the legislature, I suppose you know that the Governor has called them back for an extra session to start this month. Well, here's hoping that this bunch of Prohibitionists will get to work and do something this time, while they are drawing that several dollars a day of the people's money.

A public official that will violate a law, and then have the gall to pass sentence on another fellow for violating the same law, ought to be done something with. But, however, I have heard of them, returning some of the fine paid in, and then maybe get the offender to vote for the official next time. So that's the way the world wags, as Merle Thorpe would say. But in my opinion, it ain't according to Hoyle, and the people will see their governmental affairs carried on in a way that would benefit the people rather than the office holder.

I'm all wrought up, and bothered—hot under the collar about the way some officials are conducting their official duties. Now I ain't talking about Republicans alone. I'm talking about any official, be he Democrat or Republican, or tries to be both, like some people I've heard of.

I'd like to be one of these big men with plenty of power and influence, so that I could sway elections and make people do the things I wanted them to do. And draw money out of the treasury without asking anybody about it. A power, that's it and a big man-about-town, smoke big cigars and strut being monarch of all I survey. I'd live in a big house, have three or four automobiles, servants and give big parties, and when I said "Jump!" everybody would feel right froggish. Kind of the Mussolini type, or something. I wouldn't want to get married, because I'd have plenty of the opposite sex to keep me company, with all my power and things.

How's that for being a dreamer. Now, getting down to earth again. Here I am just an ordinary columnist for this paper. Prying round town into other people's business, not minding my own, and writing about things I don't kow aythig about. I got one of the opposite sex tied to me already, and couldn't buy one screw from any old automobile. I shine my own shoes, shave myself, and if I was a contortionist, I'd cut my own hair. The only influence I have is over my dog, and cast only one vote in an election. If I said jump, people would laugh at me, and tell their children to keep away from me, as a hopeless case. As far as the treasure is concerned, someone else gets my money, (the small bit) and I have to bum cigarettes from my friends, and press my own clothes, provided there is a fire in the stove, so I can heat the irons.

Like many other people in the county, I'm still wondering what became of those charges that there was graft in the road business of this county. One man makes the charges, publicly. The officials request him to appear and assert his grounds for such charges. Then there ain't no more to it. Somebody has certainly left a hole for plenty of criticism, or something.

This Week In Politics

years mainly because the high McKinley tariff under President Benjamin Harrison had not produced the happy results predicted by the Republicans in the campaign of 1888. Cleveland had hardly taken office before the country found itself in the midst of the Panic of 1893, the worst "depression" since '37.

Cleveland, by heroic efforts and admirable administration stopped the panic but even his own party refused to endorse his administration at the Chicago Convention which nominated William Jennings Bryan, so great was the panic complex among the voters.

The Republican administrations of Harding and Coolidge enjoyed a prosperity never before equaled in America and the Democrats might just as well have been barking up a tree in trying to call the voters' attention to the Teapot Dome scandals of the Harding administration. The country was prosperous and what could it matter, if public officials had stolen a few millions of the taxpayers' money for there was plenty left. All the Republicans had to do was to remind the voters of '37 and '93 and warn them to "Keep Cool with Coolidge."

Today the Republican Party finds itself in the embarrassing position of trying to dodge responsibility for the present "depression." After sitting in majestic inactivity for three years and more, President Hoover was suddenly galvanized into action by the approaching election and became remarkably solicitous regarding the welfare of the "Forgotten Man."

With the cooperation of the Democratic majority in the House a number of bills of a very constructive nature were passed and now the recent rise on the Stock Exchange is beginning to reflect the restoration of public confidence.

The rise may mean nothing or it may mean a great deal. It may even determine who shall occupy the White House after March 4, 1933. If the prices of stocks can be bolstered up until after the November election the Republican party should benefit greatly.

It is to be hoped that the healthy outlook of the market is a true index of the condition of the country. Americans are sick of hard times. They have learned to loathe the word "depression" and there is great hope that these increases in stock values represent the turning point.

Even a return of real prosperity might not save the Republican Party in November, but it would certainly give the party a talking point which it does not, at present, have. It would then be possible to point with pride to Mr. Hoover as the savior of the country, the great business man who turned depression into prosperity.

There would be careful avoidance of any mention of the part played by the Democratic House in passing these non-partisan measures, now claimed by Hoover as the children of his own brain. There might be no sense to the claim but it would have its effect on numbers of voters; possibly not enough to swing the election but certainly it would make the task of Republican spellbinders much easier.

At present the Elephant looks expectantly toward New York and hopes that the economic gods will be kind.

Picture Touches Secret Human Springs

A host of suppressed desires is satisfied in RKO Pathe's Constance Bennett starring production, "What Price Hollywood," to be shown at the Wadesonian Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, August 15th and 16th.

Miss Bennett rides down Hollywood Boulevard in a rickety tin car, without appearing before a lunacy commission afterward, and attends a world premiere without signing autographs.

Lowell Sherman is allowed to yodel long and lustily.

Neil Hamilton is given the opportunity to play his favorite sport, polo, during working hours.

Gregory Ratoff fires a director and hires a star.

Extras Participate in Breaks

All these idiosyncrasies are not confined to the sole enjoyment of the featured cast and star. An actor who is noted for being on the "water wagon" continually, plays a drunk and steps on a high executive's toes.

Three extras portray executives and discuss million dollar productions.

A minor actress rides in a Rolls Royce and has a maid address her as "madame."

Forty other extras eat in the celebrated Brown Derby restaurant and don't pay their checks.

These and other incongruities result from the nature of the picture which traces the career of a pretty blonde from a Hollywood waitress to a screen star.

Adela Rogers St. John is responsible for the story of "What Price Hollywood." It is a David O. Selznick production directed by George Cukor.

CLANTON BOWS TO THORSBY; TIES IN RANDOLPH GAME

The Clanton Baseball team, bowed in defeat last Friday afternoon to the Thorsby team, by a close score of 5 to 6.

Batteries for Clanton were Owens, pitcher, and Ray, catcher. Parrish was substituted during the game for Owens.

The same afternoon, the Clanton team played the Randolph team on the local diamond. The game went into ten innings, ended with a score of 7 to 7, and was called on account of darkness.

At the end of the first half of the 9th inning, the score was 6 for Clanton and 3 for Randolph, and by using three of Thorsby's best hitters, Randolph was able to bring the score to a tie.

Thorsby Fruit Growers Meeting Called

A meeting of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers is called for Saturday afternoon, August 20, at 2 p.m. at the Thorsby Public School for the purpose of reading and considering certain proposed changes in the Constitution and by-laws. One change to be proposed will be the changing of the time of annual meeting from the first Saturday in January to some time later this fall. This will give the new officers of the Association plenty of time to get everything ready for the coming year, and will leave the January meeting open for fertilizer or crop discussions which should be given more time than has been customary.

KIDDIES CAN GET A GAME AND STORY BOOK, OR A WHEEL OF KNOWLEDGE

Kiddies of Chilton county can get something for some real fun and entertainment, and for instruction, too, by buying Kellogg's Corn Flakes from dealers you see advertised in this issue of the News with Kellogg's corn flakes in their ads.

When you buy some corn flakes from any of these merchants, ask about the Wheels of Knowledge, and the game and story books. Kellogg's Corn Flakes are cheaper and better, say the stores advertising them in this issue of the News.

Read these ads and visit these stores in Clanton. The Kellogg Company has prepared a very novel and interesting geography chart in the Wheel of Knowledge. It is accurate in its information and interesting to operate.

Press Ads Hike Kellogg Sales

Newspaper advertising of the Kellogg Company, appearing in The Atlanta Georgian and other newspapers, sent Kellogg sales for July ahead of any other month in 26 years and found the factory 200 car loads behind in shipments August 1, it was disclosed Tuesday by M. E. Hopkins, district sales manager.

Mr. Hopkins stated that the factory at Battle Creek, Mich., is installing additional equipment to increase its output and keep up increasing volume of sales.

"You realize that our advertising with the newspapers now is at high pitch and is the greatest in the history of this business, and our co-operation from newspapers has been wonderful." Mr. Hopkins stated in reporting the situation to The Georgian. "We attribute our success to advertising," he concluded.

The report of factory conditions was contained in the following telegram to Mr. Hopkins from the Kellogg Sales Company at Battle Creek.

"Factory badly behind on orders and it is necessary to close July with nearly 200 cars unshipped. All orders will be subject to delay, so please plan accordingly and urge trade to keep plenty of stock ahead and place orders as far in advance as possible. Factory installing additional equipment to increase production, but we can not guarantee prompt shipments."—Atlanta Georgian.

DOINGS AT SARDIS CHURCH

The choir practice held its regular monthly meeting at Sardis Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday, Aug. 7th. In spite of the threatening weather, a good crowd ventured forth and a worthwhile singing was enjoyed by everyone. Since our regular organist, Prof. Anderson, was away, we are indebted to Mrs. Gladys Short for the wonderful service she rendered in Prof. Anderson's place. Those who took part in directing were: Miss Melda Sansom, Miss Mary Owens, Miss Annie Ratlif, and Mr. Carson Williams. The class was dismissed by Mr. Arthur Crane.

The B. Y. P. U. of Sardis Baptist church held its regular meeting on Sunday night, August 7, at 6:30, with Miss Loucinda Sansom, group captain, No. 1, in charge of the program. Those who took part on the program were: Mr. Charlie Sansom, Miss Emmie Coleson, Mrs. G. L. Adams, and Miss Minnie Coleson.

The contest between the groups is to close with next Sunday night, and we are all very anxious to get as many new members as we can, for the group that wins the contest is to be entertained in some way. Everybody come and enjoy a good program with us next Sunday night, with Mr. Carson Williams, group captiön, No. 2, jn charge of the program.

—Miss Minnie Coleson, Secretary.

KEEP COOL with

Kellogg's Corn Flakes and bananas!

WHAT could be more delicious and tempting, these warm summer days, than a bowl of Kellogg's with cool milk or cream and sliced, ripe bananas from the refrigerator. It's a wonderful combination for breakfast, lunch—for children's suppers or a bedtime snack. Helps you keep so much fitter than hot, heavy dishes.

Corn Flakes and bananas are such a nourishing dish. And so tempting to tired appetites. So easy to digest that your body doesn't get heated.

And look at the work and money you save with Kellogg's. No trouble to prepare. No cooking on a hot day. Many servings from a package costing but a few cents.

Always crisp and oven-fresh! Kellogg's Corn Flakes are protected by a special inside WAXTITE bag which is completely sealed. A patented Kellogg feature.

Any way you look at it, it pays to get genuine Kellogg's in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.

Pates Chapel News

Miss Gertie Mae Hayes of Loxley, Ala., is visiting her uncle in Tallassee this week.

The children of Mr. Mose Maddox are visiting relatives in Pates Chapel this week, Miss Frances, Doris and Virginia Maddox, from Tallassee.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maddox were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Maddox Sunday.

Miss Zemma Hayes took dinner with Miss Emily Pate.

The revival services ended at Pates Chapel Friday a.m. and we had a real good meeting. We wish to thank the pastors that brought us all those good messages. We got 25 members, 22 for baptism and 3 by letter. We feel that God blessed us and that He may be with us the remainder of our lives.

We are looking for a crowd next Sunday at Pates Chapel, August 14. We especially invite all the good singers. Everybody come and bring somebody with you. There will be cold drinks and lemonade sold for the good of our church.

Miss Hazel Maddox and father, Mr. Alex Maddox, returned from Tallassee Saturday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Mose Maddox. Miss Maddox and Miss Dadey were teaching Bible classes somewhere near Tallassee.

Misses Minnie Childress and Mildred and Martha Hayes took dinner with Misses Lucile and Lorene Cleckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Maddox of Thorsby visited his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maddox, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. M. Lockhart and Rev, E. A. Norris and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maddox, and Maude Wallis spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Herschell Maddox Thursday.

We want to say that we much enjoyed the visitors who attended the revival at Pates Chapel. We invite them, all back to the singing August 14th.

In a civil suit against her husband, Mrs. Margaret Morgan of Chicago forced her husband to return to her a watch, three rings and a piano which he had given her but had taken away, when they separated.

Sardis-Vermont News

Dear Editor:

As I have not seen anything from this place in some time, I will send in a few lines as people may think we have gone dead.

We have just closed a great revival at Sardis, with fifteen converted. We feel like we had a lot of good done in this and Antioch meeting.

There was an all-day singing at Antioch last Sunday, and some real good singing took place.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Klinner were visiting in this community last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Klinner, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Broadhead and daughters, Dorothy Elaine, Callie, Imogene, and little Peggy Joyce, Miss Alma Klinner and Mr. Wilton Dickerson, all of Birmingham, visited the home of W. W. Klinner Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Grooms of Mulberry have been pleasant visitors in this community the past week.

Misses Cecil Adams, Genevieve Milan of Selma have been visiting friends in this community the past week.

Mrs. Lynwood Klinner and little son, Lynn, Jr., have just returned from an extended trip to Los Angeles, Calif. and report a fine trip.

Mr. and Mrs. LaFayette Deason are visiting the former's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Deason.

Miss Delene Owen has been visiting Miss Mary Owen the past week.

We are glad to say people of Vermont school will begin on a new building next week. We hope it will be the beginning of a better school and community, as we know there is plenty of room for an improvement.

I will close and hope for this to escape the waste basket. If it does, I'll try again.

Professor H. Harris
Clanton, Ala.
Dear Mr. Harris:

I am enjoying school nicely. I am learning nicely, learning to read and write. I am glad we have a school. I like my teacher.

Truly,
Lucy Hopkins (Thorsby School)
70 years old.

Prof. Harris:-

I am sure gad of the adult school. I have learned to read, write and make figures very well since I have been in the school. I don't know of anything that has benefitted our own community more than the adult school.

From,
Elbert V. Roberts (Jemison School)

Growing Broilers In Chilton County

A Story of My Poultry Project

By Marvin Durbin
Clanton, Ala., Rt. 3

In my agriculture course at Isabella High School I became interested in poultry. With the help of Mr. Thomas, my agriculture teacher, I built four Auburn type brooder houses last winter. They were built in units of two rooms each with a 6' by 14' feed room between the rooms. These four rooms gave me a capacity of 2,000 chicks.

The houses were stocked the first time in February. By buying 2,000 chicks I got them cheaper than I would if I were buying only a few. The chicks were placed in the houses and were fed a ready mixed feed for two weeks.

I moved a cot in to one of the feed rooms so I could care for the chicks better. I used an alarm clock and got up every two hours to look after the fires and temperature.

Litter was used on the floor at first, but was replaced by wire as this is more sanitary and easier to keep clean. Wire does not require as much labor as does the littered floor.

The chicks were given sour skim milk from day old chicks all they could drink until they reached broilers. When they were two weeks old I changed them from the ready mixed feed to the 26% protein supplement with which I mixed two parts corn meal. The corn meal and milk were grown on the farm and there was no profitable sale for either.

Feed salesmen from various milling companies told me I could not grow broilers on the supplement feed, but I stuck to it and turned out broilers on the Supplement with a two pound average at ten weeks old.

The supplement is much cheaper than the ready prepared feed. Prepared feeds cost from two to three cents per lb. and the supplement cost only one and one half cents per lb., and this is allowing you $0.50 per bushel for corn used in the feed.

Due to lack of experience I raised only 85% of my first stock. On my second stock I raised more. I now have a batch of 1,000 chicks that are 6 weeks old and I have 95% of them yet. At this time the most danger is over.

When you have a bunch of chickens on the farm you can sell your home-grown products through them thereby creating a market for field crops. By the middle of July, 1932, I will have turned out 4,000 broilers. The chicks have drunk about 1,000 gallons of milk, and have eaten nine tons of corn meal. The milk was produced here on the farm and the corn was also grown here on the farm. For these products I have received a good price, far above the market and I doubt if I could have sold them at all at any price.

Out of my first year's experience I have learned some things about raising chicks.

1. Keep down feed cost.
2. Keep everything sanitary.
3. Keep down mortality.
4. Never buy low vitality chicks.

Mt. Pisgah School Is Outstanding

In the midst of two revivals, the people of Mt. Pisgah are taking advantage of the opportunity to go to school. Miss Nora Harris is teaching the school subjects, arithmetic, reading, etc., and Miss Bertha Dennis is teaching the women and girls better methods of doing the daily tasks of their household duties. A brief sketch of the work is here given:

I. CLOTHING—

1. Dresses: In the sewing class much stress has been put on cutting, design, color, school clothes for children, appropriateness of dress for travel, for church, and for home work.

2. Wash ties for men have been made in school at a very small cost.

3. Exchange of patterns: Dress patterns and quilt patterns have been exchanged in the school.

4. Home laundry: Can be made easier by raising the height of the washing bench, planting vines for a shade (if a shelter can not be built), and storing fuel at odd times so it will be on hand when wash day comes. Women are also learning to remove stains from garments.

5. Personal grooming: In addition to the above the class of girls are studying to develop desirable qualities of personality as: Friendliness, consideration for others, how to be well poised, avoid being loud and boisterous.

II. FOODS—

1. For the family: A balanced meal consists of 2 vegetables and potatoes, 1 raw vegetable, eggs in some form or meat, 1 quart of milk, bread, fruit (fresh, canned or dried).

2. For small children, milk, soft cooked eggs, whole grain cereals, fruits and vegetables, crisp dry breads.

3. For the sick: Easily digestible foods as poached eggs, milk shakes, fruit juices and fruit.

Growing year-around gardens, preservation and storage of foods are taking much of the attention of teacher and pupils.

1932 Farm Woman Has Wide Interest

No longer does the alert farm housewife confine her thoughts to household affairs. Her interest and her activities now extend to and include economic affairs and business, such as buying and selling, and taxation. These facts were revealed by Mrs. J. D. Giles, president of the Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Club Women, in her report at the annual meeting of this organization at Auburn, August 2, 3, and 4.

Mrs. Giles pictured the 1932 farm woman as a person who is active outside of her home in cooperation with her husband, while her husband cooperates with her in the affairs of the home. She called attention to the fact that farm women are now endeavoring to do all they can to supplement and enlarge the farm income because of the pressing need for more money if the farm family is to live as they want to live, including comfortable living, church, recreation, education, etc.

The speaker was happy over the fact that farm families who have stuck close to making a living at home plus as much income as they could are now in better economic position than any other group although farm incomes are very low due to very low prices for farm products.

Mrs. M. L. Batson of Homewood, Birmingham, was elected president of the Council to succeed Mrs. Giles. Other officers elected were Mrs. J. L. Wilbanks, Eastaboga, first vice president, Mrs. Foy Smith, Ozark, second vice-president, Mrs. Dan Robertson, Waverly, secretary, and Mrs. Gordon DeRamus, Booth, treasurer. New directors are Mrs. J. R. Thompson, Athens, Mrs. J. D. Giles, Selma, and Mrs. John S. Moriss, Alpine.

30 MINUTE SERVICE TO WONDERLANDS

The spirit of adventure pulses within the heart of every boy and no exception to this urge are Bud and Bub . . . those likable little chaps in Edmund Kressy's cartoon strip which appears every week in this newspaper . . . Bud and Bub have met up with a new friend . . . a famous inventor . . . Rex Roamer by name who has just completed construction of a new rocket-plane—which gets you there and back in thirty minutes . . . Rex was a boy himself—not many years ago—and he understands the thrill of air adventure for Bud and Bub.

Rex Roamer has a friend, Sam Sink . . . who has an equally marvelous craft—only it is a submarine to travel the depths of the oceans . . . Bud and Bub have been promised wonder cruises with Sam Sink too . . . and can you imagine the excitement?

We can't all ride with Bud and Bub and Rex Roamer or Sam Sink, but we will all be interested, entertained and—perhaps even educated—by following these adventures each week in Kressy's portrayal of the strange places they visit—to see the unusual places and people and animals that actually exist on this earth. . . "Home for supper each trip," that is Rex's and Sam's solemn promise to Bud and Bub.

Supt. Concludes Article on School Maintenance Here

Gives More Interesting Information Regarding Chilton's Schools

In this article dealing with the financial condition of the schools of the county, I think it proper and right to call attention to the fact that the County Board of Education is responsible for the financial set-up of the County School system. The Board is the governing body and the Superintendent is the Executive Officer to execute the orders of the Board of Education. He is Secretary of the Board to keep its minutes and all records. Hence credit is due them for any worthwhile thing that may be done. The Superintendent never has a vote on any matter and it would be illegal for him ever to [illegible] any question under consideration by the Board.

With the above statement of facts there is no r[illegible]erstand[illegible] anything [illegible] Twenty-Two Thou[illegible] of warrant [illegible] cumulated a [illegible] building program [illegible] derway. Today it the [illegible] of St[illegible] warrant [illegible] and [illegible] debted [illegible] think this is a splendid [illegible] they have done and I do [illegible] has been [illegible]elled anywh[illegible] Board in the State of [illegible]

When we [illegible] of the task of the County Board of Education we can appreciate their splendid work more [illegible] a few [illegible] ago there was but one accredited [illegible] school in the County and the [illegible] parent looked forward to getting his child through the seventh grade. Now there are five accredited high schools in the County; 4600 elementary children and 1297 high school children were enrolled in the schools of the county last year. We had 973 elementary negro children and 91 high school negro children enrolled. This gives a total enrollment of 5897 white children and 1064 negro children or a total of 6961. This is quite an army and to provide training for these is the task [illegible] the County Board of Education.

As for the financial accounting of the Board I quote from the Brookings Institute Report, page 184

'The most satisfactor[illegible] any[illegible] in the Co[illegible] the County Superint[illegible] tion * * * *" We make a[illegible] keep [illegible]ount in [illegible] to [illegible] all [illegible] an account of every fund. For the [illegible]pearance and splendid way in which our own bo[illegible] kept I would [illegible] not to [illegible] credit to Mrs. [illegible] Smith. The Board is to be co[illegible] for its ability and care in selecting assistants of her type.

Every parent in the County would like to know the length of the school term for the coming scholastic year. We do not know because the State of Alabama already owes us more than $42,000 and we can get no assurance from them as to when this or any other appropriations will be paid. We expect to open schools and go as far as our County funds will permit us. This will be about one half year. If the State will arrange to pay its obligations to education, then we will have a full term.

THE VERBENA 4-H CLUB DURING JULY

On July 11th Verbena 4-H boys, with Mr. Stapp, visited the boys project. After a fine swim at the graphite mine, we ate dinner. Mr. Stapp explained how to tell the percentage of boll weevil in the cotton. He explained to each boy how to better his project. Everyone enjoyed the day and went home that evening with high expectations and hopes of going to camp.

A few of the 4-H boys attended the picnic July 22, and reported a fine time. July 23 at 8:30 P.M. the Verbena 4-H Club debated against the Concord club at the courthouse in Clanton. Subject: Resolved: "The Farmers of Chilton County Should Follow a Live-at-Home Program Instead of Depending Upon Cash Crops for buying Necessities." Concord, affirmative, speakers were Mr. Driver and Mr. Baker. Verbena, negative, speakers were Herman DuBose and John A. Scott. The judges rendered their decision in favor of the Verbena club.

Ten Verbena boys attended the camp July 28-29-30. Each one enjoyed being there and left with the expectation of going next year.

A meeting will be held Friday night, August 12. Each member is urged to be present. This will be the fourth meeting held. If a member misses three meetings without a reasonable excuse he is automatically dropped from the club. Club members and visitors are urged to attend the meeting at the high school. An interesting program is to be rendered.

OUR COUNTY OPPORTUNITY SCHOOLS

The county opportunity schools are in their fourth week of the summer session. These schools are of untold value to those people in the county who are being benefitted by them. Many people who are really and truly the salt of the earth failed to have the opportunity of schooling when they were young. Now, since the state and county have seen fit to contribute money to run these schools, the fine folks referred to above are happily reading, writing and doing their arithmetic with a great deal of enthusiasm. Mr. H.A. Harris is the organizer of the adult schools of the county and is putting in many hours each day keeping up the interest among the students and inspiring and helping the teachers in this their noble task.

Much of the school page this week has been given over to news from the opportunity schools.

COOPER DEFEATS McDADE OF MONTGOMERY RECENTLY

Coopers resumed their good ball playing by defeating the fast McDade team from Montgomery. The score was 3 to 2 in favor of the local team. Dennis started the game for Coopers and retired in the third inning because of a sore arm. Logan relieved him and pitched two innings and received credit for the victory. Logan had pitched the previous day against Calera. Grant went in for Cooper and pitched the last four innings, and allowed only four hits.

Denison, pitching for McDade, pitched good ball the entire game. Denison struck out three men and hit one batter.

Dennis struck out 4 men in 3 innings and Logan retired 4 men by the strike out route, in two innings, while Grant struck out 6 in 4 innings.

Cooper starts a three-game series with Clanton Thursday, at Clanton. Everybody come, it will be worth your money and time.

ATHLETIC MEN GO ON STUMP FOR ROOSEVELT

National Idols Will Replace Old Political Speakers In Party Campaign

Following is an Associated Press report, written by Robert St. John, concerning the new speakers who will take the stump in the Democratic campaign:

New York, Aug. 3.—A ntw brand of political stumping, with national idols supplanting "the old frock-coated spell binders," was outlined tonight by Robert Jackson, after he had been named head of the Democratic speakers' bureau.

"Men like Gene Tunney, the ex-prize fighter," Jackson said, in describing one type of political orator he will send out to seek votes for Gov. Roosevelt and Speaker Garner. ,

Jackson, who also is national committeeman from New Hampshire and secretary of the national committee, said he hoped to sign up many more men of Tunney's type.

He declined to mention those he had in mind, but indicated he had several other "athletic heroes."

Meantime, in the Hoover - Curtis camp, it was disclosed that at yesterday's conference here of Republican kingpins the party prohibition plank was discussed at considerable length.

No conclusions were reached, but the conferees were reported to have discussed the demand of some Eastern leaders for an out-and-out repeal plank in the platform. What stress will be placed on the prohibition issue in Eastern States is one of the problems facing the Republican chiefs.

Jackson, who has taken part in 14 other State and national campaigns, was extremely active before and during the convention in Roosevelt's behalf and has been at Democratic headquarters almost constantly since he left Chicago.

"We're going to put on a speaking campaign that will put an end to the hackneyed outworn, old vote-appeal of the past," he said.

"Youth will play a big part in this campaign and youth isn't interested in the frock-coated old thunderer who rants in meaningless phrases and technical ambiguity."

The Democratic speakers' bureau will be small and compact, Jackson said; it will not spend "hundreds of thousands of dollars as they have done in past campaigns," and there will be fewer speakers than in other years.

Richard Dix Against The "Hung Hutzes"

All bandits are "hung" in Manchuria! But it is not the result of a super-system of police or judicial efficiency. It's merely because the word for bandits in the Manchurian dialect is "hung hutze."

The derivation of this name is of interest. Translated literally it means "red-beard" and was first applied to the bands of maurauding Russians who used to pillage the border towns in the Eighteenth Century. The term was later applied to all bandits.

Wesley Ruggles uncovered this bit of interesting etymology during the making of "Roar of the Dragon," in which RKO Radio Pictures is starring Richard Dix on the current bill at the Wadesonian Theatre, Friday and Saturday, August 12th and 13th. The film is a dramatic story of American and Russian refugees in outlaw-ridden Manchuria, with Richard Dix battling his way through hordes of "hung hutzes."

In one of his syndicated articles, Will Rogers, famous humorist, pays the following tribute to country and small town editors.

"We have a great bunch out here prowling around. It's the National Editorial Association composed of editors in smaller towns and weekly publications. They are just eating their way around the country, having a good time, and getting a lot of pleasure out of it, and giving every one that meets 'em a close-up of just about as representative gang of Americans as would be possible to band together—intelligent, well read, and no national advertising controls their pages.

"They are not concieted enough to think they "mold public opinion," they just go along serving their community with the most indispensable article that it has. And yet their real power is greater than all your metropolitan dailies combined. Any person that don't read at least one well-written country newspaper is not truly informed."

LOCAL ECONOMY LEAGUE HOLDS MEETING HERE

Hint Of Politics Brings Out Protest In Meeting At Courthouse Mon.

The recently organized Chilton County unit of the Economy League of Alabama, met at the courthouse in Clanton last Monday afternoon, for further discussion on economy of government.

A rumor that this league had been organized for the purpose of political gain in the state was brought up at this meeting, and the statement was reported made that if that be the case, the local organization was on to it. It is also reported that during this discussion a member of the league stated that Democrat and a Republican had been invited from each Beat in the county. A list of those invited, and named as committeemen will be found elsewhere in this article.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. C. Fenn Jones, temporary chairman. At which time Mr. Jones made a short talk and expressed his views in regard to economy in government. He brought out the thought that he did not think that a man's home should be sold for his taxes and that it was a very sad thing to him to see any man's home sold for his taxes.

After this talk by Mr. Jones he was selected as permanent chairman, this selection was made unanimous by those present.

There was a roll call by beats and every beat in the county was represented except three. There were three beats in the county that did not respond to the call.

At this time Mr. Mack Wyatt talked upon the purpose of the meeting and

3 CANDIDATES NOMINATED ON LOCAL TICKET

Bryan, Best And Popwell To Seek Offices In Beat Four This Time

The names of three more Democrats of Chilton County will appear on the general election ballot in November, according to an announcement by the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County. These are T. W. Bryan for Justice of the Peace, J. V. Best for Justice of the Peace and R. E. Popwell for Constable, all in Beat Four.

T. W. Bryan and R. E. (Erby) Popwell now hold the offices to which they are seeking by ballot in November. Mr. Bryan has handled the affairs of his office as Justice of the Peace in Beat Four in a most satisfactory manner, meeting with the approval of all who have come in contact with him in his official duties, keeping his records in good shape at all times.

Mr. Popwell, the son of Robert Popwell, is of one of the best known families in the county, and was recently appointed by the Governor to the office of Constable in Beat Four. He is a deserving young man, free from any political connections and capable of carrying out his official duties to the interest of the people he serves.

Mr. Best, known over the county for his fairness and reliability, resides just west of Clanton. The Democratic Executive Committee feels that they have made a good selection in Mr. Best and the others, and call on the voters of Chilton county to consider these men seriously before casting their ballots in November.

Liberty Hill Will Call Pastor, Clerk

Notice has been issued that the board of deacons and members of the Liberty Hill church will meet Sunday, August 21st, for the purpose of calling a pastor and selecting a clerk.

All members of the church are urged to be present on that date at the church and participate in this selection. This announcement was made by D. W. Ward, chairman of the board of deacons.

COUNTY PLANS TO GET ROAD RELIEF FUND

Will Apply For $50,000 Of Federal Relief Fund For Unemployed

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County will apply for a $50,000 loan from the government, under terms prescribed in a bill enacted recently by Congress for the purpose of aiding the unemployed, according to reports from a meeting held at the courthouse last week.

The Court requested citizens of the county to meet with them and discuss this, in order to determine if it be advisable for the county to make this application.

W. H. Conway, of Jemison made an appeal to the Court to apply for this amount and spend it on all roads of the county. Everyone present had an opportunity to express an opinion of the proposed borrow of the $50,000.

There were only a few who voiced disapproval of the idea, and W. W. Fox of Clanton introduced a motion to request the Commissioners Court to make the application. The motion was carried.

If secured, the $50,000 will be a loan made by the government to Chilton County.

Chilton County Farmers Would Have Been Richer If They Had Used Austrian Peas

A total of 1700 tons of fertilizer, valued at $37,400, were bought in Chilton County in 1931 for fertilizing corn.

In a large number of experiments and in demonstrations in practically every county in the state nitrogen has been shown to be essential for good corn yields with a return of about 6 bushels of corn for each hundred lbs. of nitrate of soda applied.

The $37,400 spent for corn fertilizer in Chilton County, if it had been spent for nitrate of soda at $40 per ton, was sufficient to fertilize 18,700 acres at the rate of 100 pounds per acre. On this acreage an increase of 112,200 bushels of corn might be expected.

The same $37,400 would have purchased sufficient Austrian pea seed, basic slag, and inoculation costing $3 per acre to have planted 12,466 acres.

On this acreage corn following the Austrian winter peas would have been increased around 249,320 bushels instead of 112,200 bushels based on experiences of farmers of Chilton County and nearly 10,000 farmers throughout the state.

Furthermore, the increase of 244,320 bushels is made on about two-thirds as

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW WILL BE HELD IN FALL

Several Counties Expected To Take Part In Huge Show In Clanton Soon

It has just been announced by County Agent C. E. Stapp that the district show of purebred Jersey cattle will be held in Clanton this Fall, with Talladega, Lee, Chilton and possible Elmore and Hale counties participating.

Mr. Stapp and the breeders of purebred Jerseys are working to make this the finest cattle show Chilton county has ever had. The exact date of the show will be announced later. Much interest and cooperation is being shown by the Commissioners Court. At their last meeting they agreed to aid in defraying the expenses of the show.

EDITORIAL

IS BUSINESS GETTING BETTER? WHY?

Seems that someone has started the report out that business is on the upturn. Stock reports are causing smiles, and everyone appears to have a better feeling. Perhaps business is getting better and now comes the question, "Why?"

Some seem to think that due to the oncoming presidential election, the Republicans, in order to enforce their campaign and attempting to prevent Mr. Hoover from being defeated by Gov. Roosevelt, have started trading among themselves, running the markets up. At any rate, the able editor of The Montgomery Advertiser expresses his opinion on this matter and there is room for questioning. See the editorial on the editorial page.

A WORD TO THE MERCHANTS

Just a word to the merchants now about this little upturn in business. Here we are in the month of August. First thing you know October and November will be here, bringing cooler weather. People are going to be out and about looking for necessities for the winter months, and the wise merchant is going to get the message over to the buyers that he has what they want.

The wiser merchant will get his message over first, and will use advertising space in newspapers to accomplish this. This little business revival may mean a lot, and may not mean very much. We are all skeptical about it, but at the same time, none of us want to be among those who are going to get left behind when the wheels start rolling, and get peeved at ourselves for not taking advantage of this opportunity. Get busy and get ready for the Fall and Winter business.

A FEW WHISPERS TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

We are about to touch on a touchy subject, a subject that some take seriously and some joke about. Something we all could use, and don't have much of. You're right, it's about money and your subscription, and maybe it is due.

You subscribers who are paid up, can joke about this, but the News hopes that those who are not paid up will take this a little seriously, and try to squeeze out a little to bring in and get your subscription in good shape. It looks better like that on the books and on that little red label on your paper.

NOW TO READERS OF THE NEWS

You've heard women talk about "going shopping," well, here's the idea. Sit right at home today with this issue of the News and do your shopping by carefully reading the advertisements, items, prices and all, and you won't have to do so much walking when you come to town to buy.

Merchants who advertise very seldom advertise now days unless they have something attractive for prospective buyers, so look at the ads in the News, big one and little ones. They are full of bargains and information.

TWO IN RACE FOR MAYORS OFFICE HERE

Atkinson Has New Group Of Candidates On Ticket As Councilmen

Confirming general opinion in Clanton, there are two candidates out for the office of Mayor, and so far it is believed there will be only two on the ticket for the city election next month. These two are J. B. Atkinson, attorney, and J. Lee Smith, present holder of the office.

New Councilmen

Of wide interest will be the announcement that those citizens whose names will appear on the ticket for councilmen, endorsed by Mr. Atkinson's candidacy, will cause a complete change in the offices if they are elected.

Those who are candidates for councilmen as referred to above are among the substantial business men of Clanton, being W. H. Sartor, G. C. Armstrong, W. J. Billingsley, Dr. T. J. Marcus and T. C. McSwain. It is also understood that the present members of the city council will seek re-election. These are J. D. Broadhead, [illegible] Tayler, H. S. Shaw, [illegible] and W. L. Popwell. Two of the above are holdover councilmen, J. D. Broadhead and H. S. Shaw, while the others are completing their term to which they were elected in the last city election. J. Lee Smith is completing his first term as Mayor, while J. B. Atkinson has served as a councilman and was Mayor during 1927 and 1928.

COUNTY AGENT FIELD MEETINGS INTERESTING

Tours Showing Fine Results Of Vetch And Austrian Peas In County

Meetings of farmers in different sections of the county and trips over fields where vetch and Austrian peas have been used, are being conducted by County Agent Stapp throughout this week. Several fine pastures are also being visited by groups of farmers under the direction of Mr. Stapp.

These trips are proving very interesting and doing much to show farmers of this county the splendid work that can be done on land usually not used, that is cleared off and made into pasture.

Last Saturday Mr. Stapp conducted a large crowd of business men and farmers to pastures owned by Mrs. P. M. Moore and J. N. Dennis, south of Clanton. These pastures were once wooded sections. Now, with Dallas grass and carpet grass, they are being used to a great advantage in the raising of livestock, in the most economical manner.

Fields of corn, where winter legumes, such as vetch or Austrian peas were used for soil building were also visited, and the sight of this alone would convince anyone of the high value of these winter crops.

SAYS BONNER FAILED TO CUT DOWN ENOUGH

Alex City Man Writes Of Changes In Cost Of Education

By A. P. Fuquay

Alexander City, Ala.—Any thoughtful person who pays taxes to support Alabama's government must read with much pleasure and enlightenment the Economy program from Senator J Miller Bonner of Wilcox in the press of the 8th instant. But it appears to me that Senator Bonner fails to strike out far enough and to carve deep enough.

For instance.—It is well known and agreed by business men that the present depression for nearly three years has destroyed the income and profits of business men to the general average of 42%. This figure is derived from an inquiry from 100 persons, firms and corporations in Alabama whose answers, individually, range from 25% to 70%. Then why should Senator Bonner in his proposal to cut salaries of state officers and employees recommend only 25%? Should not these salaried employees be required to step in line with the tax payers and bear, say, 40% burden in this economy program, in reduced salaries? We will let the Senator answer this question.

Now, it appears that Senator Bonner fails to strike out far enough in his educational program. In addition to his several suggestions on school economy. Let me tell you something. The

Lots Of Fun For The Children If They Get A News Bow, Arrow And Target Set

All you kids listen while somebody else reads this, or read it yourself. Down at the News office there is a whole window full of fine bows, arrows and targets, and they are going to be given away.

Of course you want to know when. Anytime suits the News. The bows are about two feet or more long with a strong rubber cord. The arrows are tipped with a rubber suction cup, and will stick on glass, wood or tin, when shot. The targets are made of tin, with numbers showing your score.

Just think, all this is free. All you have to do is to bring a subscription to the Chilton County News for one year at the regular price, and you will get one of these complete sets. Or, bring in two subscriptions at the reduced price of one dollar each. These target sets will be given with either a new subscription, or a renewal.

The News has only a few left, because just as soon as we put them in the window, the kids started after them. So get busy, bring in a new subscription or a renewal, and get one of these [illegible]

J. C. EDWARDS WRITES

Editor Chilton County News:

Omri, a captain in the army of Israel, seized the throne of Israel, making himself king and he reigned over the ten tribes of Israel (1 Kings 16 chapter). Ahab succeeded Omri as King of Israel. Afterwards Ahab was killed in battle and was succeeded by his son, Ahaziah (1 Kings 22 chapter). Elijah anointed Elisha in his stead or place. The daughter of Ahab married Jehoram, the heir to the throne over Judah. He began to reign about 913 B. C. at Jesusalem (2 Chronicles 21:1), and he was succeeded by a grandson of Jezebel (Ahab's wife). Later Jehn was the anointed king over Israel. Shortly thereafter Jehn slew Jehoram and later the entire house of Ahab.

I ask what was God's purpose in having the entire house of Ahab destroyed and what does it picture. Is it possible that Jehovah's purpose in having the house of Ahab destroyed to furnish a main key to the understanding of the work that Jehn performed and what it foreshadowed. Is it possible that Ahab pictured Satan that old serpent the Devil does Jezebel, his wife, picture Satan's woman or organization. What about their offspring picturing the seed of the serpent which must be destroyed. Because anti-God, anti-Christ and anti-kingdom. Is it possible that the work of Jehn pictures Jehovah's procedure in destroying that which has brought depravity upon the human race and dishonor upon Jehovah's name.

The chief development up to the slaughter work done by Jehn was Baal worship. Baal worship therefore appears to be the worship of the Devil by joining the organization of which the Devil is master and owner. Ahab did more to provoke the Lord God of Israel to anger than all the kings of Israel that were before him (1 Kings 16:30-33)

Grasshoppers Are Damaging Crops

Auburn, Ala.—A warning that grasshoppers now occur in Alabama in unusually large numbers and that they may be very destructive in teh fall to winter legumes and other crops has been sent to county demonstration agents by W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist at Auburn. Reports received by Mr. Ruffin reveal that infestation is generally heavy in Alabama and other states, due to favorable weather the last two or three years.

Some of these reports reveal considerable damage already to summer hay crops and less damage to cotton and corn. As the season advances there will be more grasshoppers and fewer crops for them to eat. Hence damage to these crops is expected to be more severe unless control measures are applied, Ruffin said.

For control he recommends the use of a poisoned bran mash consisting of the following:

Coarse wheat bran (or 50 lbs. bran and 50 lbs. sawdust)—100 pounds.

Paris green or white arsenic	5 lbs.
Mollasses	2 gals.
Water	10-12 gals.
Salt (except in Baldwin and Mobile Counties)	2 lbs.

Specific instructions were given to the county agents about mixing it and how to use it. This mash has been used many years and has been very effective. It is also inexpensive.

Mr. Ruffin urges that farmers watch carefully the grasshopper developments and be prepared to poison them, keeping in mind the facts that more grasshoppers will occur along with fewer feed crops as the season advances. Hence, the damage to these crops.

Something To Think About

Don't take too much interest in the private affairs of others,—six per cent is plenty.

Speak well of your enemies—you made them.

To make your dreams come true, wake up.

What is success? To do more for the world than the world does for you.

Spare no effort to educate the youth of the world, both morally and spiritually that you may have a better world.

Education can be helped wonderfully by both salary cutting and the levying of an income tax.

You better the world by bettering conditions and making brighter youth.

To better conditions, get the money where it is and spend it where it is needed. Do your bit to better conditions today. tomorrow may be too late.

Mother likes the mountains—sonny wants to go to camp and so does little sister—dad must work most of the summer—but they may go where they please and still keep together by telephone. Mother and the children may arrange to call dad regularly at a certain time, at office or home. It makes vacations more enjoyable and dispels anxiety to hear the voices of loved ones, telling of the day's happenings.

Calling at a prearranged time enables you to use the cheaper station-to-station service with no risk of missing the person wanted. If you call by number at night there is a still further reduction in cost. In using station-to-station service, ask for the distant telephone by number or location instead of asking for a particular person. When the distant telephone answers, you may ask for whomever you want.

Wherever each member of the family goes this summer, the local telephone office will gladly give the cost of calling back home. Just ask for "Long Distance."

LAUGH AND BE MERRY

Laugh and be merry, remember, better the world with a song,
Better the world with a blow in the teeth of a wrong.
Laugh, for the time is brief, a thread the length of a span.
Laugh and be proud to belong to the old proud pageant of man.

Laugh and be merry: remember, in olden time,
God made Heaven and Earth for joy He took in a rime,
Made them, and filled them full with the strong red wine of His mirth,
The splendid joy of the stars; the joy of the earth.

So we must laugh and drink from the deep blue cup of the sky,
Join the jubilant song of the great stars sweeping by,
Laugh, and battle, and work, and drink of the wine outpoured
In the dear green earth, the sign of the joy of the Lord.

Laugh and be merry, like brothers akin,
Guesting awhile in the rooms of a beautiful inn,
Glad till the dancing stops, and the lilt of the music ends,
Laugh till the game is played; and be you merry, my friends.

—John Masefield.

Former Chef to Royalty Discloses His Secret of Subtle Seasoning

Broadway's own George Rector, whose dishes delighted the palates of royalty, and whose eating place on the Great White Way was the rendezvous of New York's leaders of fashion and the stage.

By Mabel Love

"THE best foods in the world become flat and tasteless unless the proper amount of salt and pepper and sugar are added at the right moment." Thus George Rector, who cooked for kings and served the celebrities of the day in the famous Broadway dining place which bore his name, emphasizes the high importance of correct seasoning.

Though she may not have the time and ingredients to prepare the elaborate dishes which this genial master of the culinary art set before his guests, any housewife can attain that perfection of seasoning on which he insists—for it consists in adding a bit of sugar to dishes which are ordinarily considered sufficiently flavored by salt and pepper.

This is particularly true of vegetable cookery. The dash of sugar vastly improves the natural flavor of green vegetables, while it restores the freshness to canned vegetables, which are such a convenience to the modern cook.

According to Mr. Rector, the proper method of serving canned peas is to heat them in their own liquor and add a teaspoonful of sugar, as well as salt and pepper. A tablespoon of sugar, with salt, pepper and an onion, heated with a can of tomatoes, will result in a deliciously flavored dish.

What Is Back of the Revival?

There is a widespread skepticism about the stock market bulge, which on Monday bore all the appearances of a boom.

A great many people, including investors, suspect that there is something phony about it.

It is curious how earnestly many men will argue that it is all a mere Republican trick to give business a bright appearance for the duration of the Presidential campaign. Even so shrewd and canny a man as Will Rogers believes this and is saying it.

We wish we could know whether the "depraved and devilish Republican party," as the late George Bailey of The Houston Post was wont to characterize it, had thrown its pinch-hitting billionaires into the breach to city-slick the honest, hard-working, naive Democrats at this critical hour, and that this stroke accounted for the revival.

If we ever find out the truth about it and the truth should confirm the low suspicions of the man in the street, then we shall know how to blast the Republicans forever and a day. And we'll do it.

It will be simple. Tax them with the crime of the depression that threw eight or nine million workers out of employment, wrecked thousands of businesses, wrecked agriculture, wrecked thousands of private fortunes—Republican and Democratic—raised taxes, drove thousands of men to suicide, and in general swept over the face of the earth like a pestilence.

Mr. Hoover's own private fortune was vastly reduced—so were Mellon's, Ford's, Mill's, and the eloquent Hurley's. All of the regular contributors to the Republican campaign fund suffered, some of them were ruined.

Our theory is that if a few wily Republicans deliberately willed the recent upturn, they were wholly responsible for the crash of 1929 and all of the misery that has derived from the subsequent depression of three years. If they are wholly responsible for the upturn now, they could have brought it about a year ago, or two years ago—they could have prevented it in the first instance.

And since we have never thought that Republican leaders were fools, we believe they would have been smart enough to start a revival before now—indeed that they would have been smart enough to avoid a depression in the first instance.

If this apparent revival is to be attributed to campaign strategy, the Republicans are not saints. They were villains from the beginning—and dunces, too, since hard times have struck them with as much force as the Democrats were struck.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Electricity In Your Home

Since 1922 the number of homes wired for electricity has more than doubled, and now totals 20,300,000—70 per cent of all homes in the nation. Average domestic consumption of electricity in 1931 was 578 kilowatt hours, as compared with 347 in 1921.

The average consumption is expected to continue to rise at an accelerating rate largely because of increased use of labor-saving appliances. During 1931 appliance sales totaled $613,052,000. Particularly noteworthy gains were made in sale of electric refrigerators and clocks. Even so, only the surface of the field has been touched. At the end of 1931 but 45.5 per cent of wired homes had vacuum cleaners; 40.8 per cent had washing machines; 40.3 per cent had toasters; 5.3 per cent had ranges. As a consequence, the manufacturers of appliances, aided by the utilities, are making intelligent, well directed efforts to stimulate sales and bring to the average home more of the potential advantages of power.

So far as the customer is concerned, increased use of power does not mean a correspondingly larger bill. In past years the cost has continually gone down as consumption rose. In 1931 the rate was the lowest in history—averaging 5.82 cents per kilowatt hour as compared with 8.5 cents in 1914 and 20 cents half a century ago. Today we can light a home, cook, clean, refrigerate, wash and tell time by electricity for less than the cost of lighting alone in the not-so-distant past.

Increased use of domestice power means more comfort, a higher standard of living, greater economy. What the advent of steam power did to industrial processes in the eighteenth century, electrically power appliances are doing to home life today.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen, this is Dooker Pooker, the Wimmin's Friend, announcing a program sponsored at a staggerin' cost, by the makers of Pooker's Pretty Pills.

"No doubt lots of our wimmin persist in the contention that they can play good poker; and there are also many who, realizing that they cant, refuse to admit it. In order, therefore, to convince the former and convict the latter, I ask all such to come with me to-night to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller Bull, who are celebratin' the latter's alleged 29th birthday, although Fuller says that she was 25 when they married 15 years ago. At this very moment the Bulls and their guests are seated at the dining table. Let's tune in and see what's goin' on."

"We girls has often wondered why you men hasn't never ast us girls to play in your regular weekly poker games," said Ruby Yott, stabbin' her fourth biscuit with her fork.

"We girls know how to play all kinds of poker," added Dinah Mite who kept up a sweat tryin' to keep the green peas from rollin' offen her knife until she noticed that Jennie Rossity was successfully settin' hern in her mashed potatoes. "Won't you tell us just why we haven't been ast?" she continued.

"Well, ladies," responded Fuller Bull, "I ám unalterably of the opinion that, in the vice of playin' cards, our wimmin should confine theirself to authors and old maid."

"Why and a coupla how comes?" demanded Ruby Yott.

"Well," cut in Ben Zeen, "one good reason is that in playin' poker, you've gotter have silence and very little of that."

"Hmp," hmped Jennie Rossity, soppin gravy with her biscuit, "you think You're mighty smart dont you, Mr. Zeen?"

"And," added Mike Robe, "the minute wimmin get into a poker game, they want to play dooses wild, which Ring Lardner says blows the brains outen the game."

"Dooses wild is a perfectly legitimate game," said Mollie Cule, pushin' up her hair which wasn't comin' down.

"The chief objection to wimmin playin' poker," announced O. G. Whiz, "is that it is damnigh impossible to get the critters to ante. They hafter be told to do so each time and then watched to see that they do. For some unknown reason, they absolutely will not ante unless forced to do so."

"Mr. Whiz, I think you is hateful," whined Ruby Yott, after Dinah Mite had finished tappin' her on the back to unchoke her.

"Yes," said Mollie Cule, "I think you're a bad, mean old man and if I didn't know that what you've said is true, I'd bite your head off or maybe snatch your eyeball out or something. However, if you will apologize to us girls, we'll let you off this time."

"Ladies," replied O. G. Whiz, "I'm a man of considerable valor but considerabler discretion. Pray permit me to apologize to you ladies for tellin' you the truth."

"All right there Benny Fitts, get up and let's hear from you now," demanded Ruby Yott.

"The trouble with the wimmin," responded Benny, "is that they never seem to know just what to do in a poker game. Tehy're afraid not to play because they might win and they're afraid to play because they might lose."

"Mr. Fitts," thundered Dinah Mite (his sweetie), "you're a liar and the truth aint in you, and I hate you, so there! (stampin' her foot). Here's your ring; our engagement is broke."

"Our engagement hasn't got nothin' on me cause I'm broke too," joyfully replied Benny, as all the men silently rejoiced with him for havin' liberated hisself from Dinah's might.

"Mr. Bull," said Dinah Mite, "I hope you don't entertain no such warped ideas as have been expressed."

"Miss Mite," answered Fuller, "the real reason why wimmin cant play poker has not yet been stated. Good poker playin' consists of 90% brains and 10% luck; and while I hafter admit that you wimmin are luckier than our poor men at drawin' cards, I insist that it is more important to know what to do with 'em after you draw 'em."

"I resent that," hollered Mollie Cule. "Mr. Bull are you reflectin' against the intellectual capacity of our sex?"

"That's what I want to know," bellowed Jennie Rossity. "Everybody knows that wimmin have lots more common sense than men."

"God for you, Jennie," yelled Sallie Pattiker, "you have certainly spoke a mouthful." Turning towards Mr. Bull she continued: "Now, big boy, what have you got to say for yourself?"

"My dear young ladies," replied Mr. Bull, "I admit that wimmin are intellectually superior to our poor men, but it is also true that the wimmin are mentally inferior. That is to say in other words: although wimmin have more common sense than our poor men, they haven't got brains enough to use it."

"Fuller Bull," demanded his wife (who kilt her first husband) "my first husband's toe was turned by me to the daisy for lots less than what you've just said and unless you are ithin' to join him in the terry firmy, you'd better disassociate yourself from further such words as you have just spoke."

"Instead of listenin' to all this here male cow language, as soon as we has our ice cream or something, let's play some poker and show these birds that they don't know what they're talkin' about," said Ruby Yott.

Mrs. Bull rang the little bell in front of her and in come trottin' the maid with ice cream and lady fingers.

"I'm in favor of a little game too," added Jennie Rossity.

"I'm afraid you wimmin have got the advantage over us to-night," said Mike Robe, "because you all have got on your Eve-ning gown and look distractively attractive. We poor men could hardly keep our mind on the game."

"I certainly hope, Mr. Robe, that you aint insinuatin' that we girls are immodestly attired," yelled Dinah Mite.

"Ladies," responded Mike Robe (who didn't arrive until after the other guests had been seated at the table) "I aint insinuatin' nothin'; but I'm warnin' you wimmin right now that if you haven't got on no more clothes under the table than you have above it, this here party is likely to turn into a riot before the night is over."

Mrs. Bull arose and invited everybody to the livin' room for coffee, where the wimmin finally persuaded the men to play poker with them next week.

Do you folks want me to broadcast the details of the game next week? If so, mail to me the top from a box of Pooker's Pretty Pills; or, if your dealer can't supply you, send me his name. If results justify, I will be glad to broadcast the game, provided of course, I can get the consent of the column owner.

Confidentially, I have looked into my crystal ball, with the full moon over my left shoulder and I can promise you a thrillin' time, because I can plainly see that somebody is goin' to get shot dead.

Good night all.

Mayor J. Lee Smith Writes In Behalf of His Candidacy

To The Voters of The Town of Clanton, Alabama:

I am a candidate for reelection to the office of Mayor of the Town of Clanton in the City election to be held on September 19, 1932.

The following members of the Council, who are now the present members of the Council, are also running for reelection, H. S. Shaw, Grady Heflin, Fate Popwell, Reedie Taylor and Grady Broadhead.

At the time the present Mayor and Councilmen took over the affairs of the Town two years ago, the affairs of the Town were in a very bad financial condition and the indebtedness of the Town was very heavy and by the application of rigid economy and business methods during these two years, the present Mayor and Councilmen have paid approximately $25,000.00, including interest on this past due indebtedness, which was due when they took office and much of this indebtedness dates back as far as the year 1925. The present administration has also paid for all purchases made by them and by doing this were able to save substantial discounts for the taxpayers.

During a former administration there was purchased by the officials of the Town a filtering plant and the water rates were raised during that administration to meet the payments upon this filtering plant. However, on January 1, 1932, and after the present administration took office, the rates under which the Town had been operating for several years, was reduced by the present administration approximately one-third. The rates have been reduced lower than during the administration of Hon. J. B. Atkinson. For instance during the administration of Hon. J. B. Atkinson, the minimum rate was 1,000 gallons, for which the charge was $1.25 or 62½c per 500 gallons and during the present time the minimum is $1.50 for 1500 gallons or 50c for 500 gallons, that is, on the minimum charge, which affects most people, the rates are now 12½c cheaper for 500 gallons on minimum rate than during the administration of Hon. J. B. Atkinson. The present administration paid approximately $4200.00 on this filtering plant and paying the balance due on May 15, 1932.

A fire engine was purchased during the administration of the Hon. J. B. Atkinson at and for the sum of $7500.00, upon which a payment of approximately $750.00 was made during that administration and since that time no payments or interest payments have been made until the present administration took office and during the present administration, the sum of $2,000.00 on the principal has been paid and $731.17 interest.

During the two years that I have been Mayor there have been no paving or public improvements made assessing the property owner or taxpayer and if I am reelected, I will use my vote and influence wherever possible against any such public improvements or assessments.

During our administration the books of the Town have been audited twice and sworn to be certified public accountants and a financial statement was published in the county papers during the year 1931 and there will appear, within the next few weeks and before the expiration of our term of office, another statement showing the financial status of the Town, as we believe the business of the Town is the business of every citizen and each citizen should be fully apprised of the financial standing of the Town and we appreciate advice and assistance the citizens have given us in the operation of the Town of Clanton and if I am reelected, I will continue to apply business methods in the operation of our Town, decreasing the debts wherever possible and at all times operating the Town as economically as possible and always with the idea in view to reduce taxes, licenses and water rates whenever possible.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

News from Thorsby

Miss EDITH JOHNSON, Correspondent

Thorsby lost another of its old citizens in the passing of Asa M. Piper, who died at his home last Saturday, August 13. Mr. Piper was born near LaGrange, Ga., September 7, 1847. He moved with his parents to Alabama when about six years old and has lived in Alabama ever since. He served three years with Company C, 62nd Alabama Regiment of the Confederate Army and was a prisoner for three months on Ship Island, near Mobile. He united with the church just after the war and took a leading part in all its activities until barred by disability of old age. Mr. Piper was one among the oldest members of the Knights of Pythias, having joined in 1886. He held membership with the Steel City Lodge No. 190 Ensley. He also received a veterans Jewel in 1913. Mr. Piper married Mary Ann Abbott of Shelby, Ala. on April 20, 1870. Five children were born to this union, all dying in early life but one son, E. R. Piper, with whom he had made his home. Funeral services were held at the Congregational church, conducted by Rev. J. E. Each and Rev. J. W. Jones. He was buried at the Thorsby cemetery with Martin in charge. Mr. Piper was a courageous man with strong convictions and always loyal to his Church and friends with a glad smile and hearty hand shake for everyone. He will be greatly missed by his many friends and loved one.

NEW HYDROFINED MOTOR-OIL ANNOUNCED BY STANDARD OIL

Essolube is refined by famous hydrogenation process

Discovery of process won 1931 Nobel Prize

Motorists throughout the South will be interested in the announcement from W. E. Smith, President of the Standard Oil Company Incorporated in Kentucky, at Louisville, that "Essolube," the new hydrofined motor oil recently perfected by the Standard Oil Company, is now being sold by all Standard dealers and service stations.

This motor oil, perfected for use in high compression motors, will replace the well-known "Standard" motor oil, at no extra cost to the motorist.

"Essolube is not only a new oil, a better oil and a different oil, but it is made by an entirely new process of refining. This is the hydrogenation process, that won the 1931 Nobel Prize for Chemistry for the two chemists that perfected it. This new and exclusive process is expected to revolutionize the manufacture of motor oil," said Mr. Smith in discussing this new product.

Hydrofining ages the oil by rearranging its chemical structure. Briefly, the process of making hydrofined Essolube consists of mixing a high grade crude oil fraction with pure hydrogen gas compressed to 3500 pounds per square inch. This mixture is fed into a fired coil of pipes where it is heated to an extremely high temperature—800° F. It is then placed into a reaction chamber where, in the presence of a secret "catalyst" or transforming agent, the oil molecules are ripped apart, the hydrogen gas reacts and changes the basic chemical structure of the oil. The mixture is then cooled and whatever hydrogen or other gas is present is removed. The partly finished oil is run into stills where under vacuum the gas-oil and gasoline are removed, and the lubricating oil divided into several "cuts," each cut is dewaxed and treated to insure stability and remove any remaining impurities.

Since the oil is subjected to high temperatures and enormous pressure during the manufacture, only parts of the oil that can withstand these conditions—many times more severe than occur in any automobile engine—are left for Essolube.

Before being placed on the market for commercial use, Essolube has been given exhaustive tests in all forms of automobiles, trucks, tractors, etc., to prove its worth.

"The Rhyme Of The Times"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Our good friend, Mr. H. T. Pipes, handed this to the News the other day. He says he does not know who sent it to him, but he received it. Possibly some railroad man who has "had enough."

Hoover for President, The Devil for his vice
Some of the still crazed want's him back twice.
Tom Heflin, the great speaker, whom people thought was Christ,
Are now dead and buried so far as public life.
The preachers in the pulpit whom Tom doped to sleep,
They left off the Bible and preached All, the Catholic Priest.
So now we as common people, can see and realize that
Tom's biggest sheeches was all bull and lies.
Speaking of the President, Oh, don't we know him well,
He's looking out for Europe, America can go to hell.
Oh, how I remember back in twenty-eight, Al was a Catholic,
Hoover was a Quake, Hoover was elected by Tom big parades, we are now suffering from a panic he made.
So we, as a nation of our own free will, robbed our people with a high tariff bill.
Wake up, people, are we still in line, plenty of corn liquor in prohibition time,
So next November as time will tell, just change the conditions, or go to hell.

BIG AIRSHIP LAID UP

After covering some 140,000 miles in 250 separate flights without a serious accident during her eight years in service the U. S. Navy airship Los Angeles has been placed out of commission.

The Los Angeles was built at the Zeppelin works in Germany and brought to the United States in October, 1924, by Dr. Hugo Eckener, now captain of the Graf Zeppelin. The big craft was turned over to the United States under the terms of the peace treaty. It was christened by Mrs. Calvin Coolidge with water from the River Jordan.

Because of a scarcity of helium gas in her early days, the Los Angeles and her sister ship, the ill-fated Shenandoah, alternately used the same supply, one having to lie up while the other went on a cruise. When the Shenandoah was destroyed the supply was lost and the Los Angeles had to remain moored for several months until more gas was procured.

While the ship is capable of doing service for a few more years, placing her out of commission will save the government about $280,000 a year. Most of the Navy's aircraft personnel have been trained on the Los Angeles, and her recent crew will probably be assigned to the great new Macon, now under construction, sister ship of the Akron, largest aircraft ever built.

Owing to their great cost and expensive upkeep, as well as the danger of disaster, it is doubtful whether these mammoth dirigibles are worth while. Most of those already built have come to grief sooner or later through storms, explosions or other mishaps.

Sentenced for stealing a refrigerator and selling it for $3, William and Jesse Wynne, brothers, of Millersburg, O., were given 20 lashes each with a buggy whip by the sheriff.

New Cedron played Flacto last Saturday. New Cedron defeated them 1 to 9.

BIG RAILROADER OUT

An event in the railroad world was the recent resignation under fire of Sir Henry W. Thornton, for ten years president of the great government-owned Canadian National Railways. Expensive management with tremendous deficits in operation was given as the cause of dissatisfaction with his administration.

Sir Henry has had a rather remarkable career as a railroad man. Born in Indiana 60 years ago, he was a star football player at the University of Pennsylvania in 1893, later a coach at Vanderbilt, then began railroading with the Pennsylvania as a $50 a month draftsman.

After gaining experience and achieving a large measure of success in the United States, he was called to England in 1914 to be manager of the Great Eastern Railway. In this capacity he handled war-time transportation so well that he was knighted by King George and became a British subject in 1919. He was made president of the Canadian National, longest railroad in North America, with 22,000 miles of track, in 1922.

Friends attribute his downfall to politics, which is inevitably mixed up with a railroad under government ownership and operation. His own comment upon resigning was: "In my opinion, a publicly owned ailroad can be successful only if the management has the complete confidence of its owners."

The experience of most countries seems to be that a government railroad is seldom successful under any circumstances, so far as rendering efficient service at reasonable rates is concerned, unless it is heavily subsidized from the public treasury in one form or another.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Recently I had a meal in a home where a widowed mother had nine children under her care. I said to her, "Hattie, how on earth are you managing to train these children as you are doing?" She made a sensible reply, "I am doing the best I can. I sleep with one eye open and with one ear listening." This good woman was acting as Sunday school Superintendent in her community, and every Sunday she carried her own family to worship in the house of God. Children being trained in a home like that will become the men and women of leadership twenty-five years from today. I fear that the children being trained in the homes where the Sabbath is not respected and where Sunday school is not attended, will become the fodder to feed the courts and penitentiary less than twenty-five years from today. Parents had better sleep with one eye open and one ear listening when you have children in your home.

I was called to visit a young lady who had swallowed an overdose of poison. The doctor was called also. Before the doctor reached the patient I witnessed the intense suffering of the patient and viewed with alarm the increased domination of the poison in her system. When the doctor arrived the young lady's system was charged with the poison. After administering an antidote the doctor informed me that he could not hold much hope for the girl. Said he, "The poison has been absorbed and it will be a miracle if she lives." The doctor said, "If I had been here when she swallowed the poison the antidote would have saved her life." The girl died. To witness the agony of that poisoned patient broke my heart. Every day I am called upon to witness the agony of another patient that is under the domination of poison. The church has swallowed an over dose of the world and this form of poison is gradually gaining in domination over the life of our Zion. The Great Physician is injecting the antidote for the poison of formalism and modernism, but it seems that the patient is growing worse. It breaks my heart to witness the poison of the world as it is gradually gaining in the church of God. A thou Great Physician, heal us with a sweeping revival.

I sat in the court room and listened to the pleadings of a lawyer. His client was charged with murder and damaging evidence had been submitted against him. The lawyer really believed his client to be innocent. He put his very soul into his appeal for acquittal but the jurors came in with a decision of guilty and the man was sentenced for life. The lawyer could do nothing but bow to the decision of the court. He had lost his case. May I not tell you of a lawyer in heaven who has never yet lost a case. This lawyer is at the service of every one who will employ him to plead his case before the bar of God. He does not plead for money, but for the sake of love. This lawyer is Jesus. He has never lost a case.

I rode up to a country home one Saturday afternoon. A dozen or more of the men out the community stood about the lot fence. On inquiry I found that there was an unruly mustang on the inside and that the men had gathered to unite their strength in mastering this wild horse. For an hour these men matched their skill and strength against the wildness and the danger of the unruly animal. Finally they mastered the horse. Men could master a wild horse, but when it comes to mastering a wild man, this is a task that only God can do. No man can break his will, subdue his spirit, curb his passion, change his love, quiet his temper, or give to him a new nature. If he is ever to be saved from the vices and elements that unmake him and break him, he must come into contact with the Redeemer of man. To tame a wild, wicked man, is the task of God alone.

I saw a man out cutting wood. He was one of those negative farmers. He cut wood with which to cook his food, but he planted no garden and no crop. While in school I attended the class room of a teacher who spent his time denying all error, but this teacher never advanced a truth. I listened to a preacher who lambasted sin and sinners, but never offered a code of righteousness. Any man who can handle mud or paint can spoil the finest piece of art in the world, but it takes a genius to produce a work of art. Any fool can criticise and tear down, but it takes a real man to make something.

I saw some children at play. Among them was a little girl who moved about on crutches. One of the bad little boys decided that he would play a prank on the crippled child and so he ran up to her and jerked her crutch from under her. She fell to the ground. That was more than we could stand. It was bad enough for a boy to trip a well girl, but for him to knock the crutches from under a cripple, it went beyond the power of endurance. Yet that is what is being done by the infidel. At our best we are a bit lame in our attitude toward God, and when the infidel knocks our faith in Him from under us, we fall. No man does a creditable thing when he shatters the faith of anyone in God.

SUN ECLIPSE AUGUST 31

An eclipse of the sun, total over a portion of the New England states and partial throughout the rest of the country, will occur on the afternoon of August 31, affording millions of people the opportunity to witness this most striking celestial phenomenon.

The extent of the eclipse will vary from the total in portions of the East to only 10 to 30 per cent on the Pacific coast. In the middle West and in the Southeastern states from 50 to 75 per cent of the sun's face will be obscured as the moon passes across it.

The earth is the only planet in our solar system with a moon large enough to make a total eclipse of the sun possible. Mercury and Venus have no moons at all; Mars has two, but they are only about five to 10 miles in diameter, so would only show as small black spots when crossing the sun's face. The larger planets have several moons, but none are large enough to eclipse more than a slight fraction of the sun.

An endless source of wonder to the layman is the ability of astronomers to predict the occurence of eclipses with unerring accuracy years and even centuries in advance. It is known, for example, that a total eclipse of the sun will be visible along the southern border of the United States from California to Florida on August 12, 2045—or 113 years hence. The eclipse which will occur this month was predicted and described in great detail in a work published in Vienna nearly 50 years ago.

But if we can not understand how these wonderful spectacles of the skies are predicted, we may witness them as occasion offers and marvel at the mind of man which has discovered so many of nature's secrets.

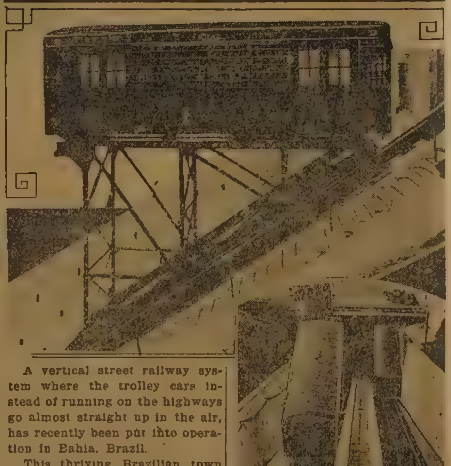
Street Cars That Go Straight Up



A view of Brazil's vertical street railway. (Above) a close-up of one of the "trolleys" which gives the effect of a street car on stilts.

A vertical street railway system where the trolley cars instead of running on the highways go almost straight up in the air, has recently been put into operation in Bahia, Brazil.

This thriving Brazilian town is built on two levels, the residential section being considerably above the commercial district. It is necessary daily to move the town's entire population from one level to another. Recently Bahia, opened the La Cerda tower connecting the two levels with high speed elevator service Before the tower was erected the town depended upon an incline railway known as the "steam chariot."

As the population grew, additional transportation facilities were required, and the engineers of the Otis Elevator Company last year converted the "chariot" into what is probably the only vertical trolley car system in existence.

This unique railway has two cars, each having a capacity of forty passengers. The travel of these cars is about 175 feet on an incline from the horizontal of about 35 degrees. The cars travel at a speed of 650 feet per minute, and each has two entrances and two exits protected by power operated doors.

The re-opening of this vertical street car system was made a public function, attended by the local authorities, representatives of the press, and many of the prominent citizens of the city. The ceremony was conducted by the acting Prefect of Bahia who stressed the marked improvement in communication between the two levels which will be provided by the new conditions.

Alabama Cotton Crop Much Less

Montgomery, Ala.—Alabama's cotton crop this year will be approximately 950,000 bales compared with 1,420,000 bales produced last year, according to a forecast by F. W. Gist, statistician for the department of agriculture.

The condition of the crop was found to be 59 per cent of normal on August 1, indicating an average yield per acre of 150 pounds, compared with 200 lbs last year and 187 pounds in 1930 Gist stated.

"The final outcome of the crop will depend upon the weather and the weevil from now to the end of the harvest and whether the fertilizer used will hold out to mature the crop in the conditions now showing," the report added.

"If this crop should not go lower than the present forecast it will be the smallest crop Alabama has made since 1923, when only 597,000 bales were produced."

How Black-Draught Holds its Popularity

A LAXATIVE made from highly approved, medicinal plants — yet about the least expensive laxative you can find: Thedford's Black-Draught.

There's no expensive container for you to buy when you ask your dealer for Black-Draught. And its light weight has saved freight bills in your favor. Black-Draught is right with you in economy. It brings prompt, refreshing relief to sufferers from constipation troubles.

Don't put up with sick headache, sluggishness, gas, dizziness, bad taste in the mouth, biliousness, coated tongue, bad breath, distress after meals, when due to constipation, but take Thedford's Black-Draught.

Selling Timber Now Is Declared Unwise

Auburn, Ala.—Timber is a crop which farmers can leave in production until the year or month they wish to harvest it. It will stand and increase in volume and quality until prices are favorable for its harvest and sale; and the farmer can consult his own convenience in making the harvest.

Present economic conditions make it desirable that farmers be able to turn into cash such crops as they can sell at anything like a reasonable price. Naturally, a great many are turning to their woodlands which usually serve to produce that last dollar so badly needed during pressing times.

Wood-using industries are now at the lowest ebb in many years. With a small demand for wood and no prospect for immediate marked improvement, timber prices are low. Fifty wood-using concerns in Alabama report the average price being paid for pine timber at one-third to one-half normal times. The same holds true for hardwood. Most mills taking these products prefer to have only the best grades. A great many are operating only to keep the wheels moving and furnish employment.

The demand for wood and wood products has fallen with the country's general inability to buy and will doubtless return with the reversal of this situation. Conditions and opinions in the industry point to improvement in demad and prices by late 1932 or early 1933, provided the market is not further demoralized by loading it with a supply above demand. Farmers unless pressed by absolute necessity should hold their timber products. By all means not sell now. This works a double advantage by giving the mill operators who own standing timber a chance to liquidate it to better advantage and save his own until prices advance.

Sunday School Pupils Of Thorsby Write

For the past six Sundays, the pupils of the Busy Bee Sunday School Class of the Thorsby Congregational Church have been studying briefly the life of Jesus. At the end of the six weeks period each of them wrote a story in their own words on the life of Jesus. These stories were judged. It was difficult for the judges to decide which story was thes best as all of the stories showed good workmanship. Miss Frances Wilson is teacher of this splendid class.

This class consists of five girls and one boy, ages 10 and 11 years, and in the 5th and 6th grades in school.

Little Miss Frances Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Conway, of Thorsby, Ala., Route 1, was judged as winner. She is eleven years old, and in the sixth grade. Here is her story:

THE STORY OF JESUS

And The Child Grew and Waxed Strong In Wisdom and in Favor with God And Man

Jesus must have lived in a very simple home. Joseph's family believed in early risers so they were up with the sun.

Every since Jesus could remember he had gone with Mary to the village well every morning and evening. There they met relatives and friends.

There were many interesting things for a boy to learn in a carpenter's shop and as Jesus grew older he saw that Joseph took great pride in doing good work. What ever he did he did it carefully.

Jesus returned to the house one day to see Joseph touch something on the door and touch his lips and offer a prayer. Jesus asked why he did this and Joseph showed him an olive wood case with Hebrew letters on paper which meant God. It was the custom Jesus was told to do this. As Jesus grew older he did this too and said, "The Lord Bless my going out and my coming in from this time forth and forevermore."

Joseph prayed often to God. Sometimes the family went up on the roof to sleep.

There was a school in Nazareth joined to the Synagogue. Jesus learned the laws and the Prophets and poems and stories of the Old Testament. A Rabbi or Scribe taught them.

When Jesus was twelve years old a wonderful thing happened. He was to go to Jerusalem. There were two ways to Jerusalem and Joseph took the shorter way. They started early and people joined them as they went. One night they camped halfway between Jordan and the Great Sea and saw Mt. Hermon in the distance. One night they camped in a place off the road protected on three sides by rough rocks and cliffs and near a spring where they could get water. Perhaps Jesus and others sang the Pilgrim song:

"I will lift up my eyes unto the mountains.
From whence shall my help come.
My help cometh from the Lord
Who made heaven and earth.
He will not suffer thy foot to be moved.
He that keepeth thee will not slumber.
Behold, he that keepeth Israel will neither slumber nor sleep.
The Lord is thy keeper.
They Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand."

Perhaps they sang the song of thanks:

"O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good.
For his loving kindness endureth forever."

The shepherds ahead shouted: "Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Jerusalem!" Joseph helped Jesus to a spot where he could see Jerusalem in a valley protected by hills except on the north which made one think of the poet's words:

"As the mountains are round about Jerusalem,
So the Lord is about his people."

All the pilgrims looked at Jerusalem for a minute and then prepared for night camp for they would go to the city tomorrow. That evening they sang:

"Open to me the gates of righteousness.
I will enter into them,
I will give thanks unto the Lord."

As the sun sank a thousand silver trumpets were blown by priests on the temple walls. All the pilgrims cast their faces to the ground and offered an evening prayer.

The boys awoke at dawn. The trumpets blew and everybody offered a hymn of praise. The voices sounded like waves on Lake Gallilee in a storm. The city gates were opened and the travelers hurried on. The shops were wonders for a country boy. Merchants sold figs, dates, pomegranates, fish from Gallilee, nuts and spices from the East, honey and flat barley cakes. But to Jesus the Temple was the most beautiful of all. He remembered the Psalm learned in the synagogue school:

"Who shall ascend into the hills of the Lord,
Or, who shall stand in his holy place?
He that hath clean hands and a pure heart—"

When they reached the inner court where only Jewish men might go, the boy could see, beyond the great altar the sun on the beautiful curtain. On the steps, white robed Levites, who were the temple singers took their places. The boy's heart beat fast as they began the thrilling chant:

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills"

Then three blasts were blown from the trumpets and the people bowed to pray.

As he came away he heard rude laughter and saw people selling things in the courts of the temples. He thought, "This is our Father's house. Do they not know it?" He thought he would get a chance to speak to the wise teachers tomorrow about it. He did and they were surprised with his questions and answers. He stayed so long that Mary and Joseph came back for him.

One day people brought children for Jesus to touch but the disciples interfered. Jesus seeing this said to them, "Let the little children come. Do not hinder them; for those who are childlike the kingdom of God belongs. In solemn truth I tell you that no one who does not receive the kingdom of God like a child will by no possibility enter it." Then he blessed them and laid his hand on each one.

Jesus as a boy must have been a shepherd once for he said, "Which of you men, if he has a hundred sheep and lost one do they not leave ninety and nine in their pasture and look for it? If he finds it he goes to his friends and says, 'Congratulate me, I have found the one that was lost.' "

He must have observed his mother sweeping for he said, "If a woman loses one of her coins, does she not sweep and search till she finds it and says to her friends, 'I have found my coin that was lost.' "

CHEVROLET ENJOYS NICE GAIN OVER RECENT PERIOD

A gain of 13.7 per cent in the first six months of this year over the same period of 1931 in the sale of fleets of cars and trucks for commercial use, was reported today by H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

The period was the largest in fleet business ever enjoyed by this company, and fleet sales for the first half of this year were greater than for the full year of 1929, Mr. Klingler said.

Prominent among the list of purchasers were the United States Government, states and municipalities, and large packing, tire, utility, taxi, and drive-yourself companies. Such organizations keep a strict record of cost of maintenance and operation of their equipment, and replace it as soon as the mileage expense of the old cars and trucks exceeds that of new vehicles.

Much of the equipment now being replaced was purchased in the boom years of 1928 and 1929, and because of the hard service it undergoes in commercial usage, it has now reached the age of obsolescence, according to Mr. Klingler. He also pointed out that Chevrolet, due to the operating economy and durability of its product, is constantly getting air increasing proportion of total available fleet business.

In the first six months of this year the Government purchased more than 1,000 Chevrolet sixes with an aggregate value of $750,000 for use in the postal, interior, agriculture, commerce, treasury an dother departments. More than 3,000 others were sold to, states and municipaities for use in police work, and for expanding highway maintenance and construction developments, Mr. Klingler said.

HORNSBY LOSES JOB

Surprising to baseball fans was the recent dismissal of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs, although that club stood in second place in the National League. President Veeck of the Cubs announced simply that "it was to the best interests of the club that Hornsby retire." Hornsby said, "It's all right with me."

Hornsby has had a brilliant though checkered career since he entered major league baseball with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1915 at the age of 19. As a member of that team he led the National League in batting for six straight years, 1920 to 1925 inclusive. In 1924 his batting average was .424, an all-time record that has never been equalled. Then as manager in 1926 he won the National pennant and the world's championship, defeating the New York Yankees four games to three.

In spite of this amazing record with the Cardinals, he was traded off to the New York Giants in 1927, and was shifted to Boston in 1928 to again lead the National batsmen that year with an average of .387. At the end of the 1928 season Hornsby was bought by the Cubs in baseball's biggest deal, whereby William Wrigley gave $125,000 and five players to obtain the Rajah's services and made him manager in 1930. In a game with Pittsburgh last year he hit three successive home runs and single, good for eight tallies.

Hornsby has gone to his home i Robertson, Mo., for a rest, but it is sa to say he won't stay in retirement lon In spite of his 36 years he is still t good to keep down.

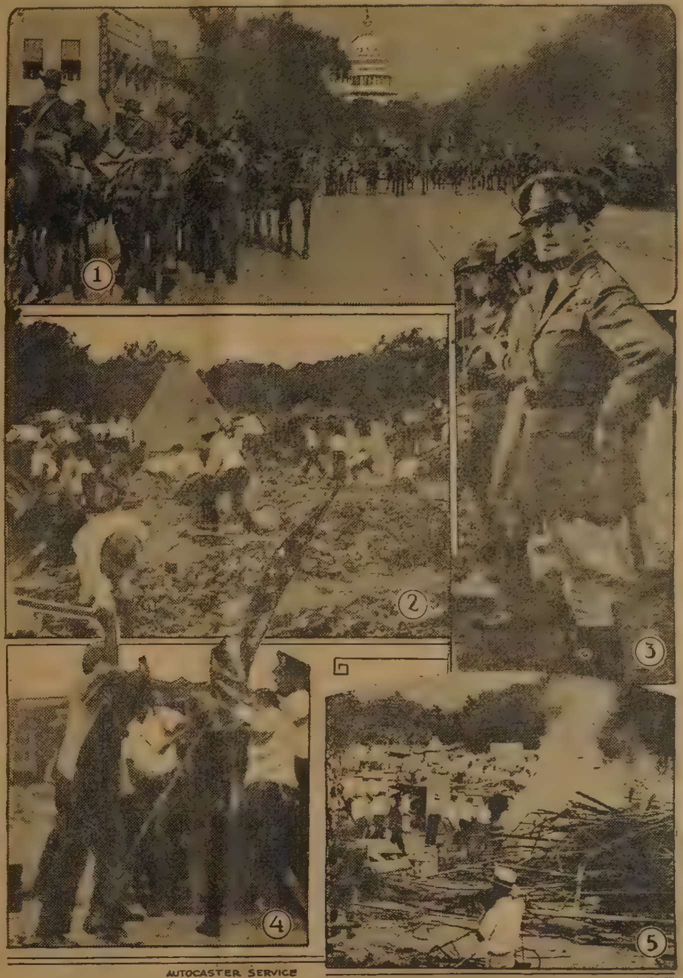
Scenes of Bonus Riot at Washington

U. S. Troops to Relief of D. C. Police



AUTOCASTER SERVICE

No. 1. United States troops swinging into action to clear Washington of Bonus rioters when the District of Columbia authorities confessed defeat and the situation out of control. The detachments of cavalry and tanks shown marching up Pennsylvania Avenue were in support of infantry and machine gun crews which staged the tear-gas offensive on the bonus camps. . . . No. 2. Scene in one of the Pennsylvania Avenue Bonus Camps when the battle with the District police was at its height. In the rioting 2 were killed and 44 injured, four of them seriously, many of them police. . . . No. 3. General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army, who was in personal charge of the Federal troops in both the afternoon and evening offensives. No. 4. Here was a battle over an American flag between Bonus Veterans and Washington police and in which one of the police shown in the picture was seriously injured. No. 5. U. S. Infantrymen with drawn bayonets and in gas masks clearing the Pennsylvania Bonus Camps, then set fire and burned the huts. After mopping up and clearing these camps, the troops advanced in an evening attack on Camp Marks on the Anacostia River to which 7,000 Bonus seekers had retreated. The tear-gas offensive was resumed, the veterans driven out and all structures destroyed and burned. These scenes mark the most extensive use of troops in the National Capitol since the Civil War. . . . In the foreground of picture No. 5, note the cameraman within the rioting zone . . . gathering these pictures for the reader's perusal. Three cameramen were injured.

THE CANAL PROJECT

Although few details of the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence canal project have been made available to the general public, it appears that most people who know about the proposal at all have jumped to the conclusion that it is a most desirable scheme.

Some questions that are highly pertinent have been raised, however, by Marlen E. Pew, editor, of the newspaper trade magazine Editor & Publisher. He asks what effect this canal will have on Chicago's drainage supply and on our internal water transportation plans. What of the diversion of freight from American railroads and American ports such as New York and Baltimore and the effect on the thousands of workers normally employed by these railroads and at these ports

Canada seems highly pleased with the prospect; too pleased perhaps for Uncle Sam's good. For it is estimated that this project will cost the United States treasury some $700,000,000—probably a billion before the job is finished—and that money must come from the pockets of American taxpayers who are already staggering under a burden that can not much longer be borne.

Maybe the canal would be a good thing for somebody. But it might be well to investigate who that somebody is before embracing the idea with too much enthusiasm.

Pates Chapel News

In spite of the rainy day we had a very nice time at the singing at Pates Chapel Sunday. The organists were Mr. Boswell, Mrs. Mattie Cobb, Miss Ruby Smith, Mrs. Tommie Zuber, Mrs. E. J. Hayes and Miss Hazel Maddox. We were pleased at the large number of people and invite them all back again.

A singing school will begin at Pates Chapel Monday, directed by Mr. Charlie Oden, August 25th. If there is anybody who would like to come, we will be glad to have you

Mr. Mose Maddox and children and some friends from Tallassee attended the singing at Pates Chapel Sunday.

Miss Gertie Mae Hayes has been visiting her uncle in Tallassee, Mr. M. Maddox, but has returned to Pates Chapel to the home of Miss Zemma Hayes, where she will spend awhile before going to her home in Loxley.

Miss Dorthula Dadev who has been teaching Bible Classes near Tallassee, has returned to Miss Hazel Maddox's.

FATHER OF E. R. PIPER DIED IN THORSBY SATURDAY

Asa M. Piper, age 84, father of E. R. Piper, prominent citizen of Thorsby, died at the latter's home last Saturday night.

Funeral services were held at the Congregational church in Thorsby Sunday, with the Rev. J. E. Each officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Jones.

The body clothed in a Confederate uniform, interment followed in Thorsby cemetery, with Martin & Sons in charge. The deceased was highly respected and a Christian man. The large crowd attending the last rites of this man attested to the esteem in which he was held. He is survived by his son, E. R. Piper.

Local Economy League Held Meeting Tuesday

read and introduced a resolution, which resolution is to be presented to the Representative in the Legislature from Chilton County for his consideration. Which resolution is as follows:

"We believe that the proposition of securing economy in government, national, state, county, and municipal, is the only hope of permanent relief from excessive taxation.

In accomplishing this we believe all officers and employees not essential to efficient service should be dropped and the compensation of those remaining should be fixed at such reasonable amount as may be consistent with existing conditions.

We hope the Legislature of Alabama will approach the problems of our State with an honest purpose of balancing the budget and placing our State upon a sound and equitable business basis. We urge the Legislature and all state officials to cut down public expenses as much as possible first, then to give consideration to other measures that may appear necessary.

We urge our lawmakers to add to the economy talk a proper amount of economy legislation, so as to make real and actual the measures that are obviously necessary for the security and continued proper functioning of our state government.

We do not favor so-called economy measures that are cut and dried and promulgated in the interest of politicians. We favor economy and retrenchment in expenses of the State because it is this principle that must save the people from burdens in the future and relieve them now.

We do not desire to be used as a cat's paw by politicians to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. We do not desire to be used as material for politicians to build up a camouflage with which to conceal their real political purposes.

We call upon the people of our State, the Legislature, the State officials, everybody, to embrace the proposition of securing economy in our government, regardless of politics or individual organization of any group of people. It is time our government was being placed on a basis considerate of the average citizen."

Mr. H. B. Oliver entered a motion to strike the last portion of the resolution, but after discussion and vote upon the motion to strike, it was determined by the body to allow the entire motion to stand and be voted upon by those present. The motion as read by Mr. Wyatt was placed before those present and it was carried by a substantial majority.

There was a talk by Mr. J. Renfro Mullins, there was also a talk by Prof. B. Lawrence as to his idea of economy in government. Prof. Lawrence was in favor of the entire motion as read by Mr. Mack Wyatt.

There was a discussion by Probate Judge, L. H. Reynolds, on the motion and he made the point that he would not vote for any increase in taxation until taxes were lowered and not then until he was convinced that such taxation was necessary to balance the budget of the State. There was a motion made by Mr. D. S. Robinson, Beat 10, to place all county officials on salary basis and that this committee go on record as favoring such action. This motion by Mr. Robinson was carried.

There were talks made by a good number of our leading citizens. Mr. J. N. Dennis made a very instructive and sensible talk and so did Rev. S. J. Ezell, Dr. H. M. Nix of Maplesville, Mr. Charlie Foshee and others.

It was thought by some that the League for Economy in Government should not go into the mode and manner of raising taxes, but it was pointed out that the only purpose of the League was to secure economy in government and not to devise ways and means of raising taxes and that this committee or body of men should not go on record as suggesting any mode of increasing taxes, but that the sole purpose was to take up and discuss the matters of economy in government.

All those present were asked and given opportunity to subscribe their names as members of the Chilton County Unit of the Economic League of Alabama.

Chilton Farmers Would Be Richer

much land as the 112,200 bushels. This means a big saving in labor.

The second crop of cotton or corn following the winter legumes will be increased more than enough to pay the cost of planting the Austrian winter peas.

What This Means to the Farmer

If the $22 spent by the farmer for a ton of fertilizer for corn had been invested in nitrate of soda at $40 per ton, eleven acres of corn could have been fertilized at the rate of 100 pounds per acre. An increase of about 66 bushels of corn on the eleven acres could reasonably be expected.

The same $22 would have bought sufficient Austrian winter pea seed, basic slag and inoculation fo rseven acres. An increase of 140 bushels would have been made on seven acres contrasted with an increase of 66 bushels. Twice as much corn on two-thirds of the land for the same money with a profit for the second year is the meaning of winter legumes to the farmer.

County Agent's Field Meetings Are Interesting

W. C. Robinson's place near Cooper was visited. On Wednesday another group visited the splendid farm of Howard Oden, in the Isabella community and Friday a group will visit fields and pastures in the northern part of the county and are asked to meet at the Jemison high school at two p.m.

Saturday, the 20th, at 9 a.m. the people in the south end of the county are asked to meet at Verbena and from there visit places of interest.

Thursday mornig (today) a meeting and trip will be held at the place of Leon Popwell and V. B. Baggett, on the old Carlson place near Thorsby.

Next Monday, August 22, farmers will gather at the John Dutton place, on the Lay Dam road, nar the Kilgore's Gap for another of these interesting trips.

Mr. Stapp asks that those who do not have transportation to come on to the meetings and some arrangements will be made to enable them to make the tour.

Says Sen. Bonner Failed To Cut Enough

University during the school year 1930-31 enrolled, at its peak, 4,104 students. The State employed 218 teachers. By cutting out duplications and under proper readjustment of class work I am sure 100 skilled teachers, being required to do good full time work like other business men, would be able to easily handle this enrollment. Appropriations received from the State $656,263.00.

At Auburn, during the same period, enrollment of students, at the peak was 1,927. The State employed 143 teachers at Auburn. Under a proper readjustment of class work, and cutting out duplications, 80 teachers putting in full time should easily take care of the enrollment. Appropriations received from the State $432,507.00.

As to the Normal Schools, the taxpayers will fully agree with Senator Bonner's proposal. During the same period 1930-31 all these white schools enrolled 2,488 students. Received from state appropriations $419,313.00, which as you see, is $168 per pupil, per year. Teachers employed 140. The taxpayers, I am sure, would welcome the elimination of all these Normal schools to one school. Suppose we appropriate $125,000 and employ 50 teachers of high standing and require them to do 8 hour's honest service per day like other business men have to do. You would get service then for your money.

As to the colored Normal schools, reduce them to one school; and instead of employing 60 teachers reduce the teachers to 30, and instead of appropriations of $120,274.00 let the State appropriate $60,000.00 and require these teachers to teach 8 hours per day.

All these Normal schools have been, for over 20 years, political cry-babies—parasites sapping the state's wealth and the taxpayers now demand relief from them.

The District Agricultural schools have long since been a political joker—another parasite on the taxpayers. The whole system should be discarded. In 1930-31 these Agricultural schools enrolled only 2,551 students at a cost of $82,500.00, operated by 102 teachers; teaching largely a duplication of our Common School work.

The County High Schools, last but not least, are doing practically a duplication of the higher class work of our Common Schools. In the year 1930-31 they cost the state $301,500.00. The taxpayers would welcome the day when that sum could be diverted into the Public School fund to pay off the splendid army of teachers, overworked and, may of which yet, not paid off. The taxpayers have at last awakened to a few facts and they demand correcfion.

To Enter Seminary In Louisville Soon

Chilton County is losing one of its valuable citizens in the person of the Rev. Z. Y. Appleton.

After spending four years in Chilton County, Z. Y. Appleton will enter the Seminary in Louisville, Ky., to further his ministerial work.

Mr. Appleton, with Mrs. Appleton, have made their home in the fine Collins Chapel Community, where he has served as pastor of the Collins Chapel church for three years, and where he and his charming wife have made countless friends. During this time he was also pastor of the New Salem church in this county, and has taught in the Collins Chapel school.

Last Sunday closed a very successful revival at the Collins Chapel church, conducted by this young preacher, and up to Sunday there had been fourteen additions to this fine church as the result of the revival. The services last Sunday also marked the last to be held for sometime there by Rev. Appleton.

Before leaving Alabama, Rev. and Mrs. Appleton will spend two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Appleton in Fort Payne, Ala. Chilton County will miss this fine couple and welcome them back at the first opportunity.

People Are Warned About Gov't. Flour

STAPP GIVES INFORMATION ON APPLYING

Says Reports State People Received Flour Being Able To Buy Same

A warning to the people of Chilton County in regard to making application for government flour, is issued by C. E. Stapp, chairman of this relief work in this county.

Following is Mr. Stapp's letter which should be read and passed on to your neighbor:

"In June I requested a few citizens from each Beat in the County to meet at the Courthouse and decide whether or not we should ask our Government for flour. A second meeting was held one week later at which time I was asked by Mr. S. L. Gibson, Chapter Chairman of Chilton County Red Cross, to order out some of the Government flour.

"A committee was named to distribute the flour. The present committees are as follows:

"Central Committee: S. L. Gibson, chairman. L. H. Reynolds, Chas. Foshee, Willie Shaw, Dr. H. M. Nix and Dr. A. A. Conway.

"Beat Committees: Beat 1, Chas. Cox and O. R. Mullins. Beat 2, C. W. Scott and W. N. Thomas. Beat 2. L. W. Allen and Dr. A. A. Conway. Beat 3, D. O. Manning and C. B. Lenior. Beat Four, J. H. Jackson and John Jones. Beat 4, John Smith and

Hohenberg Manager In Clanton Tuesday

The News office received a very pleasant visit Tuesday from Joe Venable, who is coming to Clanton as manager of the office of M. Hohenberg & Son, widely known cotton buyers of Wetumpka.

Mr. Venable and Mrs. Venable were in Clanton looking for a place to make their home, as they expect to move to Clanton the early part of next week. Just where the Hohenberg office will be located, was not learned by the News.

Mr. and Mrs. Venable and their three children, Sarah Elizabeth, Joe and Charles have resided in Wetumpka for a number of years, and the people of that town regret that they will lose this fine family, while Clanton rejoices. They are members of the Methodist church and will find a warm welcome awaiting them in Clanton.

MITCHELL DAM MENTIONED IN B'HAM. NEWS COLUMN

In his column, in The Birmingham News. "Men, Women and Things," Dr. Frank Willis Barnett had the following to say about Mitchell Dam:

"We believe in erecting monuments to geat soldiers and sailors, but we also believe in building them to our great builders. We have in mind such a one here in Alabama. It is the Mitchell Memorial at Mitchell Dam, to James Mitchell, who died in 1920. As far as is known it is unique in public utility annals. A granite boulder with an everlasting bronze tablet faces one of the great developments so dear to him in his lifetime. We will never forget the day of its dedication."

First Bale Ginned Here Tues. Morning

The first bale of cotton ginned in this section, it is believed, from this year's cotton crop, was ginned at the Farmers Gin & Whse. Co., in Clanton.

This bale was brought in by J. F Bullard, and the cotton was raised on the Alred Place near Clanton. Mr. Bullard came into town with a smile on his face, bringing the first bale to be ginned in the county this year.

We hope that with this first bale, the price of cotton will take a sudden leap and give us all a good little, pleasant surprise.

TYPHOID SERUM IS NEEDED IN THIS COUNTY

Kiwanians Urge Immediate Use Of Serum And An Investigation

At the weekly meeting of the Clanton Kiwanis Club last Thursday it was brought out that in certain sections in and near Clanton, typhoid fever is beginning to show up. It was urged by the Kiwanis Club that all persons residing in or near these affected places, take immediate steps to secure typhoid serum.

This cannot be done too soon, and it was also brought out that immediate action should be taken by officials to seek out the places where this germ is coming from and give proper treatment.

Mr. D. O. Manning, one of the prominent citizens of the county, was a guest at the Kiwanis luncheon last Thursday. Mr. Manning gave a little talk about existing conditions, and touched on the economic program that is apparently sweeping the state at present. He urged that this program should start at home.

VINCENT ASTOR LAUDS GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT

"I am wholehearted in favor of the election of Governor Roosevelt to the Presidency of the United States.

"The country . . . has been passing through the greatest and longest economic crisis in history.

"Certainly no one panacea or formula will suffice nor, for that matter, will any one man be found who single-handed can effect a cure. One man, however, at the head of our nation, can supply leadership which will inspire once more our people with the confidence they have lost and lead them effectively to happier days of deserved economic security. Such a man in these times must possess vision and imagination as well as the other qualities essetnial to successful leadership.

"I believe that he can and will be found in Franklin Roosevelt."—Vincent Astor.

WINTER LEGUME PLANTINGS ON INCREASE HERE

County Agent Stapp Points Out Reasons For Large Increase In County

Within six years plantings of winter legume seed in Chilton County have increased from 1,000 pounds to 40,000 pounds. The reason assigned by County Agent C. E. Stapp for this big increase is that hairy vetch and Austrian peas have demonstrated their outstanding value to farmers of this county. They have paid handsome returns. It is expected that 40,000 pounds will be planted in this county this fall.

To illustrate these advantages he said that farmers in this county who planted winter legume seed last fall and plowed the crop under last spring to enrich the land are making 18 bushels to 25 bushels more corn per acre as a result. Those who planted cotton following winter legumes expect to harvest an increase of 600 pounds to 1,00 pounds of seed cotton per acre.

The reason for these increases in yields is that these winter legumes enrich the land, adding all the nitrogen that cotton, corn, and other crops need. A large amount of humus is added in addition to the nitrogen. Winter legumes are good also for early spring grazing as well as a splendid hay crop when mixed with oats and other small grains, the county agent explained.

Mr. Stapp is enthusiastic over the prospects for planting winter legume seed in this county this fall. Farmers are ordering seed, preparatory to planting. They are also buying fertilizer, using basic slag, a by-product of the steel industry of Birmingham. It is preferred to superphosphate by the experiment station at Auburn

Among those who are now very active in their support of the winter legume movement in this county are: W. C. Robinson, J. N. Dennis, W. L. Popwell, W. L. Parrish, B. Lawrence, H. S. Shaw, W. I. Mullins, all of Clanton; and Dr. C. N. Parnell, Maplesville; W. A. Gulledge, Verbena; Cecil Baggett, Thorsby; Leon Popwell, Thorsby; L. W. Allen and S. C. Bean, Jemison; L. G. Posey and J. N. Childress, Jemison; Walter Popwell, R. M. Foshee, John Dutton, Louis Easterling, J. L. Smith, S. J. Ezell, W. R. Burke, J. W. Hamilton, Mrs. Ola Edwards and Tom Hilyer, Clanton. H. M. Nix, Maplesville, Chas. Mitchell, Stanton, J. R. Robinson and Lee Robinson of Verbena.

Five Years Ago

From Issue of August 25, 1927

Dr. S. J. Ezell celebrates his fifth year as the pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church. During the five years 377 new members were added.

Five persons were severely burned in a fire at Maplesville that destroyed the local hotel, Hardy Grocery Store and the Masonic Hall. Mr. F. A. Vaughn of Birmingham, guest at the hotel died the following Sunday night in Birmingham.

Johnnie Lewis, age 11 was killed at a Jemison filling station when a truck driven by Robert Anderson backed into Lewis as he was standing by a gasoline [illegible] crushing his skull.

Messrs Reedie and Tom Taylor open [illegible] thing store, one door south of Upchurch Drug Co. The new store will be called the "Clanton Model Shop."

The home of Gene Wyatt was damaged by fire early Tuesday morning. All furniture and household effects were saved. Only small damage was done

Clanton Methodist Church

D. W. Haskew, Pastor

The time has come when we must get away from the vacation spirit and every member should get back into his place in the church. We hope that you have had a pleasant summer. Surely you have been missed at church. We want Clanton to turn over a new leaf and make for yourself a reputation of church loyalty. We can if we will.

Service begins next Sunday with Sunday school at 9:45. Preaching by the pastor at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. We vary our form and plan of preaching and try each Sunday to give you something new to think about. Remember this, you are never needed anywhere else more than you are needed in your church at the appointed hours of worship. If you do not make God first, He refuses to be made second.

Alabama News

In his recent message to the legislature Governor B. M. Miller declared that the current debts of Alabama "have reached and passed $20,000,000," and that they have been accumulating for more than a century. He recommended an income tax to pay these debts and also to obtain revenue for operating the schools.

Governor B. M. Miller says that practically $15,000,000 of the $20,000,000 debt of Alabama is due to education and that nearly $5,000,000 is due teachers. He presented these facts to the legislature on convening recently in special session.

* * *

There is now in Washington an unmatched balance of Federal road money allotted to Alabama amouting to $4,048,881, according to Governor B.M. Miller. Between now and December there will be allotted to Alabama an additional $6,700,000.

* * *

Alabama State prisons are now holding 5,592 convicts and 4,848 convicts are out on temporary paroles. These figures were reported to the legislature by Governor B. M. Miller who said that 3,000 or more of these convicts should be on the public highways constructing and maintaining roads. He recommends 30 or 35 road camps established on farms in different localities throughout the State.

Governor B. M. Miller thinks that county and municipal governments can be operated efficiently at lower costs than they are now operating. In his mesage to the legislature he said: "I recommend that you make proper investigation and enact necessary laws to reduce the expenses of municipal and county government."

Some young boys were caught last Sunday pilfering in the Hayes store opposite the Wilson hotel. They had made their entry into the building from a door in the second story. This door was securely fastened from the inside, but the young thieves knew how to get it open, and they entered the store for the purpose of helping themselves. Mr. Hayes states that he has missed tobacco, chewing gum and other small articles. It will be remembered that the News called attention to these pilfering young thieves several weeks ago. The same parties have been caught in other crimes. It is just too bad when boys under the teen age resort to such methods.

o

Percy Pitts, Jr., is spending several days with friends in Atlanta. He will likely return to his home the latter part of this week.

o

Rev. D. W. Haskew closed a successful revival at Cain's Chapel on last Friday night. He states that he never saw a finer farming section and a more up-to-date, cultured community. They have a splendid country church and an $80,000.00 school plant. There are fourteen young ladies who are teachers in the schools of Alabama from that community.

o

Some of the local cafes were treated to a surprise last Sunday morning when the force of a traveling circus stopped over in Clanton for breakfast. Business picked up when sixty breakfasts were ordered at once.

W. A. Reynolds is pushing forward his new residence that is being built on the vacant lot just north of the Harber home. This structure is being built for rent or sale, and will be ready for use at an early date. Mr. Reynolds believes in Clanton and is showing his faith by his works.

o

The Homemakers Sunday School class of the Clanton Baptist church enjoyed a watermelon cutting and swimming party along with their regular monthly business meeting held at Reynolds Pool north of Clanton on the highway last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John Armstrong Entertains Bridge Club.

Another delightful social event of the past week was the lovely bridge party at which Mrs. John Armstrong was the charming hostess to the members of the Wednesday Card Club and several invited guests at her home last Wednesday afternoon. Beautiful garden flowers were used for the decorations. After several enjoyable games of bridge a tempting salad course was served to the following guests: Mesdames J. Watts Moore, John Browder, John Deramus, Napoleon Johnson, F. J. Callen, Hance Alred, Julius Burnett, Hugh Simpson, L. F. Gerald, Phillip Horn, J. C. Page, Grady Broadhead.

A contract will be let this week for a ten thousand dollar brick church to be erected in the Pine Level community. The church location will be about a half of a mile East of the Montgomery paved highway, about twenty miles north of Montgomery. The church is being built by Mrs. E. J. Roy as a memorial to her husband who died a short time ago. The Pine Level community is one of the best sections in Elmore county, and this new, up-to-date brick church will be an outstanding church for rural life and will be an everlasting monument to the one who lived and served so long in that community. The Methodist people of that locality are to be congratulated over the Memorial Institution that will crown their efforts in that community for years to come. Rev. B. E. Meigs, who serves the Deatsville charge, is the pastor in the Pine Level community.

Helped By Cardui

Here's the true story of how Cardui helped Mrs. H. E. Dunaway, of McComb, Miss., as written by herself:

"I was sick and rather discouraged. I was so weak and thin, I was not able to do my work as it should be done. This made me fret a good deal, and did not help my condition.

"I had pains across my back and lower part of my body. My nights were spent in rolling from one side of the bed to the other, hoping I would soon go to sleep. Then when morning would come, I would be just as tired as when I went to bed. A neighbor, seeing how badly I felt, told me to try Cardui. After I had taken one bottle, I was much better. I kept on taking Cardui, and I was stronger and slept much better at night."

MORAL ECHOES

I stood by the grave of a man who had left his record in the community. A friend read aloud the epitaph that was carved on his tombstone and then remarked, "That fellow who is four feet below that marble slab was not like that wording." In a cemetery a man was buried after having taken the life of twenty-six people. He was shot down while on his way to kill another man. His loved ones wrote on his marble slab, "Beneath the green turf here lies one whose stainless soul has gone to be forever with God." When Gabriel shall come and shall call that man to judgment he is not going to be judged by the epitaph that was found on his tomb. A loving mother may have had those words chiseled on his tombstone, but they will not hold at the judgment. A little boy was with his father as they walked through the cemetery and after reading the epitaphs on many stones the boy inquired, "Father, where do they bury all the bad people?" Guess it would not do to always carve in marble the kind of a guy who sleeps beneath.

In a church conference a pastor was asked, "What have you and your people done on the question of Missions?" The pastor hung his head and in an undertone replied, "Nothing." "Nothing done." is a record of which we should be ashamed when a task is assigned. At the judgement God is going to ask, "What have you done on the matter of salvation?" Will you answer, "Nothing." Only one thing can be worse than that and here it is, "I lived for thirty, forty, fifty years and I worked and lived against the ideals of God." Nothing can be more tragic in this world than for a man to spend his days not only neglecting salvation, but promoting wickedness. It is bad enough to do "Nothing," but it is worse to spend our years fighting against God.

Saturday had come on the farm and the father said to his two boys, "Now, boys, I am giving you this bucket of seed corn and when you have planted it, the rest of the day will be yours." One boy followed the plow, the other dropped the corn. The squirrels were playing about on the trees and the boys were anxious to go hunting and fishing. The corn in the bucket lasted and finally the youngster dropping the corn decided that he would dig a trench at the rows end and bury about half of the seed corn. He did this and was soon able to announce to his father that he had planted all the corn. Off to the woods the two boys went, being assured that no one would ever know. About ten days later the father was passing the spot where the corn had been buried and he saw the ground being lifted for some cause, and on investigation he discovered more than a gallon of sprouting seed corn. He understood why it was there. Those boys had agreed to deceive their father by making way with the corn, but they could not keep their deception hid. There is no truer statement made in the Bible than this one, "Be sure your sins will find you out."

The doctor came into the room where I was visiting a very sick man. He made a close examination and finally said to the man, "Every drop of blood in your body is charged full of malaria germs. Several weeks ago an infected mosquito punctured your skin and planted the germ in your blood, and since then those germs have multiplied and now you are charged full of malaria germs." The doctor and the patient had a desperate fight to win. A mosquito can carry the Yellow fever germ and plant it into the blood of a human and soon the patient is in for a fight to live. The Government is sparing no effort and no expense to stamp out the infected mosquito. However, I would like to say that an immoral person is more dangerous to society than an infected mosquito is to health Parents try ever so hard to keep the children of their home morally clean and healthy, but they come under the power and dominion of an immoral person, and before the parents know it, the mind and soul of their children are poisoned with the low ideals of the infected person. More effort should be put forth to restrict the morally unfit than is being put forth to crush out the germ carrying mosquito.

There was a fine community on the banks of a beautiful stream. The parents in that community were happy and prosperous, and their children were being educated and trained in Christian ideals. Along came a company with unlimited wealth and threw a dam across that stream. The water backed up in every section above the dam, and a large body of water was created. A large dance hall was built on that back water, motor boats filled the lake and hundreds of the baser sort crowded into that locality on Saturday and Sunday to fish, drink and carouse. I was in that community preaching and visiting from house to house. In every home I heard the sad story of disturbed Christian citizens as they related to me the 'awfulness of such a mass of corruption being thrust at their door. They owned their homes in that community, and were powerless to prevent them being swamped under the corruption of that gang who came there under the power of whiskey and pleasure. We wonder why the government fails to protect her best citizens.

Essolube

HYDROFINED

OIL REPLACES "STANDARD" MOTOR OIL

Hydrofining, developed by Standard Oil scientists, is an advanced process which makes the hydrogenation of motor oil commercially possible at the price of ordinary motor oils. Briefly, the process of making hydrofined ESSOLUBE consists of mixing a high grade crude oil fraction with pure hydrogen gas compressed to 3500 pounds per square inch.

This mixture is fed into a fired coil of pipes where it is heated to an extremely high temperature — 800 degrees Fahrenheit. It is then passed into a reaction chamber where, in the presence of a secret "catalyst" or "transforming agent," the oil molecules are ripped apart, the hydrogen reacts and changes the basic chemical structure of the oil. The mixture is then cooled, and whatever hydrogen or other gas is present is removed.

The partly finished oil is run into stills where, under vacuum, the gas-oil and gasoline are removed and the lubricating oil divided into several "cuts." Each cut is then de-waxed and treated to insure stability and remove any remaining impurities.

Since the oil is subjected to high temperatures and enormous pressure during the manufacture, only the parts of the oil that can withstand these conditions—many times more severe than occur in any automobile engine—are left for ESSOLUBE.

This insures an oil that will stand up under severe operation more perfectly than any motor oil ever before produced.

From A Country Printer

The manager of a country printing establishment in Ohio, publishing two fine weekly papers with a combined circulation of 3,000 copies, recently stated the problem he faced from the competition of the government printing return addresses on stamped envelopes. He said:

"This competition is keenly felt by printers. We use our newspapers to help the government in many ways. The public has been educated to the income tax and all other forms of taxation through the newspapers without cost to the government. Yet, in our two offices, we lose from $600 to $800 annually because the government prints return cards on stamped envelopes at prices that cannot be touched by any printer."

Here is a private industry which pays heavy taxes to maintain a government printing plant which is tax-free and which, in turn, does commercial printing that knocks a private printer and taxpayer out of his bread and butter.

There is constant agitation from political sources seeking to put city, state and federal government into business. That process expands the bureaucratic army, adds thousands of new tax-eaters to the public payrolls, reduces the amount of assessable property, because publicly owned property is tax exempt, and increases taxes on remaining taxable property which must try to exist in competition with tax-free public enterprises.

In the case of the printer, there is no reason why the government, which prints return addresses on envelopes, should not print letterheads, billheads and all kinds of stationery, to be sold in conjunction with envelopes. It is merely a matter of degree as to where government business in competition with private citizens, should end.

The people of this nation must consider the principle involved in this issue. It is not the politician against the printing business, the power industry, banking or insurance. It is the politician against the people. It is the attempt of the bureaucrat to take away the right of the individual to carry on an independent business.

Remember this when some plausible scheme is presented to put government into business—it will be at your cost in liberty and opportunity.

The Trend of Electric Rates

During the past 25 years, including the period when the cost of living was rapidly mounting, the cost of electricity has constantly decreased.

In 1931 domestic customers paid $330,000,000 LESS for power than they would have paid if rates had been at the 1913 level. If the general cost of living, in 1930, had gone down as far and as fast as the cost of electricity, it would have meant a saving of $36,500,000,00 a year to the nation—$100 per month per family.

Here is something worth considering when electric rate reductions are demanded now, on the score that the general cost of living has at last reversed its trend and is going down. Electric companies were not allowed to earn great profits in prosperous times with which to meet lowered profits in depressed times. In addition, their cost of operation has remained comparatively constant, inasmuch as they are required to provide the same quality of service now as in 1929, irrespective of their sales. Further, they have upheld employment and wage levels better than most other industries.

The natural trend of electric rates is down, but to artificially reduce them is a mistake. That would save the average family less than a cent a day, and would force retrenchment on the industry, t the expense of its service and employment, and its plan for future developments.

o-o-o-o

Wisdom From Edison

"When the government enters business, it simply mixes a lot of politics with a little business." The late Thomas Edison said that.

The experience of the past few years has demonstrated the truth of this. We have seen government in the farming business, the printing business, the paint business and a multitude of others. We have seen it regulate and restrict others. The result has been a tremendous extension of the Federal bureaucracy—at the taxpayers' expense.

"Keep government to the business of governing" would be a good motto.

o-o-o-o

Sapping The Nation

In a recent address, Harold McGugin, Representative from Kansas, held that taxes are draining the life blood of the nation.

In 1913 the total annual tax burden of the country was $2,900,000,000. At present, our ability to pay is less than it was then. Yet in 1930 the total burden reached $12,200,000,000, and it is appreciably higher now. Where, in 1913, the total public debt averaged $43.33 per capita, it now averages more than $255.00.

Congressman McGugin, like other qualified observers, lays the principal blame for exorbitant taxes on the continual widening of government activities. More and more billions are demanded for "relief"—for ventures into business, for subsidies for states. The great bulk of these appropriations can benefit but a small part of the country, and must be paid for by people who get little or nothing in return.

In concluding his address, Mr. McGugin quoted an editorial from the Galena Kansas, Times, which criticised the habit of many persons, who are opposed to increased governmental activity in general, to ask for it when they believe it to be in their interest, and said: "Let every weekly newspper in the United States express that thought and sooner or later the people in every nook and corner of this country will be awakened to the need of reducing these governmental activities. . . . ." That is true, and it should be remembered. The country papers of the nation are well fitted to lead in a campaign that will stem the rising tide of taxation and prepare the way for renewed industrial activity and stimulated employment.

o-o-o-o

Excessive Taxation

"We have demanded a lot of service from our Government, which we can no longer afford. We have allowed, and indeed encouraged, the politician to reward political services to himself personally, and to the party generally, by a place on the public payroll and we have done this largely because we have been told, and believed, that somebody else, and not ourself, is paying our tax bills for us. Don't let us 'kid' ourselves any longer with this delusion—the only people who don't pay taxes are dead ones."—Benjamin Rush, President, Insurance Company of North America.

KELLOGG CO. IS INCREASING DAILY OUTPUT

Very Optimistic Over Coming Months; Using New Hours of Working

Battle Creek, August 15.—Immediate construction of a major addition to the Kellogg plants here to provide new manufacturing and other facilities as an expression of confidence in the future and to give further immediate employment, was announced here today by W. K. Kellogg, founder and president of the Kellogg Company, world's largest manufacturers of ready-to-eat cerals.

The new plant will be designed by the well-known architect, Albert Kahn, of Detroit, who also planned the Ann J. Kellogg School here.

Including the new $250,000.00 plant, factory improvements and additions under way at the Kellogg Company represent an investment of more than half a million dollars.

"We have implicit confidence in the soundness of this country and the return to prosperity," said Mr. Kellogg. "Our business is good now and we expect it to get better steadily. Therefore, in order to help the present situation and to prepare for the brighter future that is sure to come, we are starting work right now on the additions to our plant.

"Our plans all through this period have been laid primarily to keep all of our people busy and to stimulate an active flow of our products through the trade by the expenditure of larger sums of money in newspaper advertising and sales promotion than ever before. The results have been very satisfactory and convince us that once the tide turns we will need a greater capacity than we have at present to take care of the business."

'Significantly, the Kellogg Company is operating under a six-hour day system, with four shifts working daily. Put into effect approximately twenty months ago, the Kellogg shorter-day system has proven satisfactory for both the company and its employees, despite the fact that wage scales were adjusted at the time so as to offset largely the reduction in the individual employees' working time."

Our company adopted the six hour day in December, 1930, as an immediate means of increasing employment," explained Mr. Kellogg. "The plan has proven satisfactory to everyone. We are able to maintain and subsequently increase the number of our employees and they, in turn, have found many advantages in their increased leisure. At the same time, our operations now are upon a more efficient basis than ever before."

A DESERVED MEDAL

Few Americans ever heard of Dr. Charles Guillaume, a French scientist awarded a special medal by the British Physical Society for the discovery of three important metal alloys. Yet one of these, called platinite, is said to save nearly $5,000,000 annually in the manufacture of electric light bulbs.

Another is elinvar, an improved alloy used in the manufacture of watch springs, while the third is invar, a nickel steel product which is practically free from expansion by changes in temperature, therefore of great value in the manufacture of metal surveyors' tapes, clock pendulums and other articles requiring stability of length.

Scientists like Dr. Guillaume are laboring constantly to adapt new forces and new materials to the service of mankind, and the advance of civilization is due largely to their skill and patience. They are entitled to all the rewards and honors which may be bestowed upon them.

THIS WEEK IN POLITICS

By E. BASKIN WRIGHT

WHAT A WHALE OF DIFFERENCE A FEW YEARS MAKE

"I do not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."—Acceptance speech of Herbert Hoover in 1928.

"It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary by which we resummon a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our government demands shall rest upon the states and local authorities. That change must avoid the return of the saloon."—Acceptance speech of Herbert Hoover in 1932.

President Hoover is now officially aware that he has been renominated for the presidency by the Republican Party. He has been officially informed by an official committee and has officially accepted. This is part of the usual procedure in a presidential year and is always anticipated with interest because in his speech of acceptance the candidate lays the groundwork for his campaign.

The American public has been anxiously awaiting President Hoover's speech to see what he would say respecting prohibition. It was known that the Hoover influence was thrown against a straightout wet plank at the Chicago Republican Convention and that the President was very much on the fence.

Even in 1928 when all the signs pointed dry, Mr. Hoover was very cautious respecting the question and never did commit himself other than to say that prohibition was "a noble experiment." This, according to Republican stump speakers in dry states, meant that Hoover was dry, while in wet states hope was held out to the wets that Mr. Hoover did not take the "noble experiment" any too seriously.

In 1928, however, Mr. Hoover did say that he did not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. He ran as a dry and was elected as a dry. Now Mr. Hoover is just as wet as Franklin D. Roosevelt but not as frank about it. Possibly a successful straddle in 1928 suggests the possibility of a successful straddle in 1932.

HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT

"It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary . . . That change must avoid the return of the saloon."—Herbert Hoover.

"This convention wants repeal. Your candidate wants repeal. And I am confident that the United States of America wants repeal . . . We must rightly and morally prevent the return of the saloon."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

If Mr. Hoover favors abolition of prohibition by the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment why does he not say so in as straightforward a manner as Mr. Roosevelt? Many will disagree with Roosevelt but none can question his honesty. He has come out for outright repeal while again Hoover attempts to straddle.

Hoover wants a "change" but what sort of a change? He wants to give the States their "proper share of initiative and responsibility," but what is their proper share? These are some of the questions the American voter has a right to expect Mr. Hoover to answer in a straightforward way. The voter asks the question, "Is Mr. Hoover wet or dry?" A simple answer would clear up the doubt, but a simple answer is not to be expected from Herbert Hoover.

TRANSITION

"I do not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."—Herbert Hoover (1928).

"The (Wickersham) commission by a large majority does not favor repeal of the eighteenth amendment as a cure for the inherent abuses of the liquor traffic. I am in accord with this view." —Herbert Hoover (1930).

"It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary . . . ."—Herbert Hoover (1932).

Undoubtedly when Mr. Hoover uttered the last statement quoted above he referred to a change being necessary in the handling of prohibition. It probably did not occur to him how the Democratic Party might use the statement. . . .

It might be a little unkind but not altogether inappropriate for the Democrats to say: "It is our belief that in order to remedy present evils a change from Herbert Hoover to Franklin D. Roosevelt is necessary."

Here's Smiling Relief...

Most of your suffering from common every-day aches and pains is unnecessary and unwise. Unnecessary, because Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve quickly and without unpleasant after effects; unwise, because pain makes your physical condition worse instead of better. One pill usually brings relief in a few minutes.

If you suffer from any of the disorders listed above, take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. If they do not give you greater relief in less time than anything else you have used, go to your druggist and get your money back.

A package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills in your medicine cabinet, pocket, or hand-bag means fewer aches and pains.

Sarah Pollard Weds John Wesley Spain

The following clipping was taken from the Tri-Cities Daily. Mrs. Spain is remembered by many friends in Clanton as Miss Sarah Pollard, a member of the faculty of the Clanton Grammar School for two years. She was the recipient of many social functions in her home town, prior to her wedding.

Marked by beauty and simplicity, the marriage of Miss Sarah Pollard, of Sheffield, and John Wesley Spain, of Florence, was impressively solemnized at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Judge J. L. Pollard, on Nashville avenue.

Rev. W. A. McKee, pastor of the Sheffield Methodist church, read the nuptial vows in the presence of relatives and intimate friends of the families.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Walden sang, "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Evelyn Clark, who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin. During the ceremony Miss Clark softly played Schubert's "Serenade."

The Pollard home was lovely with bowls of flowers in shades of yellow. In the living room an improvised altar was formed of palms and ferns, interspersed with tall standards of golden glow, while on either side were placed ivory cathedral tapers, forming an effective background for the wedding party.

Miss Pollard was attended by her sister, Miss Irene Pollard, as maid of honor, who was most attractive in a dainty frock of yellow organdie, made with tight bodice and long flared skirt, with which she wore a picture hat of brown maline and other accessories of the same shade. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

The bride, who was never prettier than on this occasion, entered with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She made a stunning picture in a fall model of brown triple sheer crepe with felt hat and shoes of brown, and carried an arm bouquet of Claudius Pernet roses and delphenium, tied with yellow ribbon.

William Spain served his brother as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Spain left in their car for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home at 520 N. Walnut street, Florence.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Miss Sara Gaines and James Pollard of Anniston, and Mrs. Barney Burnette, of Clanton.

THE CANDIDATES AS SEEN BY HEAD OF BIG FARM ORGANIZ'T'N

—o—

From a speech by John A. Simpson, President, National Farmer's Union, reprinted in Congressional Record, July 25, 1932.

ROOSEVELT

I found Governor Roosevelt thoroughly conversant on all agricultural subjects, including a knowledge of the various farm organizations of the past 50 years. He is a member of the Grange, and told me if there were a Farmers' Union near him he would be a member. He understands and believes in our National Farmers' Union legislative program. All this is a very good background for a presidential candidate—In his acceptance speech in Chicago given to the delegates who nominated him, he developed and elaborated on the agricultural and unemployment planks in a way that shows he will interpret them very liberally in behalf of the common people of the country.

HOOVER

Unconsciously, he (Hoover) has come to a conviction of judgement that all things small are uneconomic. He believes in big-unit farming as against small home-owning farmers. He believes in merchandising on a large scale as against the small-town merchant. He believes in big banking institutions as against the little home-owned bank in every town and hamlet.

* * *

If Secretary of Commerce Lamont, who is quitting the Hoover Cabinet, is remembered at all it will be for refusing to recognize conditions after the Hoover panic hit the country, and for making optimistic predictions, none of which were fulfilled.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

—o—

By Rev. Charles E. Dunn

Gifts for Building the Tabernacle Lesson for Aug. 28.—Exodus 35:21-29.

Golden Text: Proverbs 3:9.

In the passage chosen for our lesson we read of a hearty, liberal response on the part of the Hebrews to the needs of their tent meeting. "The children of Israel brought a willing offering unto the Lord," jewelry, precious metals and stones, clothing, skins, wood, spice and oil in abundance."

Such giving is a test of character. If you crave a sound understanding of the motives governing your neighbor's conduct, do not be greatly concerned over the amount he spends upon the necessities of life, but rather ask him how much of the remainder he gives to benevolent causes.

It is astonishing how vast are the sums expended in America for luxuries. We spend annually, as a people, $540,000,000 on soft drinks, more than $750,000,000 for candy, and a billion dollars for various types of amusement. Our yearly tobacco bill, in the neighborhood of two billions, is larger than the annual cost of our religious and educational institutions combined!

Now while we recognize that civilization must have its amenities, there is surely need, in the expenditure of our wealth, of a greater degree of sobriety and moderation. God is calling us, as stewards of His bounty, to live a simple life, and to return to Him, in the spirit of the Golden Text, a much larger proportion of the generous wealth He has bestowed upon us.

Personally I am a strong believer in the Old Testament practice of tithing. I watch my expense carefully through a budget plan, and aim to give to my Church and various philanthropic causes at least a tenth of my income. To do this demands a systematic method, with a "check-up." A tither does not give in a haphazard manner.

As Dr. Charles R. Brown has pointed out, the rich young ruler who came to Jesus was familiar with the phrases, "Sell and get," "Sell and hoard," "Sell and spend," but the Master's command, "Sell and give," was to him a new, and uncomfortable idea. In these present days of widespread and tragic want, "Sell and give," is a slogan that might well be proclaimed from the housetops.

—o-o-o—

Because her husband thought she was "too beautiful," Mrs. Virginia Rae of Los Angeles smeared strong caustic on her face and disfigured it for life.

When a mother silver fox owned by Ellis Phillips of Grant's Pass, Ore., was unable to care for her off-spring, an old mother house-cat took up the burden.

WELL BOYS- TODAY REX IS GOING TO ZOOM OVER SOME OF THE PAGES OF PAST HISTORY—MY FACTS HAVE TO DO WITH LEGENDS OF THE "GREAT FLOOD" — THERE'S REX OVER THERE- LETS GO!
MANY SAVAGE LEGENDS CONTAIN THE STORY OF THE FLOOD EVEN WHERE TRIBES DWELLED THOUSANDS OF MILES APART. HERE, FOR INSTANCE, THE ESKIMOS BELIEVED THAT THE WORLD HAD ONCE BEEN TIPPED OVER AND ALL PEOPLE DROWNED.
THE TRADITION OF THE SOCIETY ISLANDERS IS THAT A FISHERMAN CATCHING HIS HOOK IN THE HAIR OF THE GREAT SEA-GOD AS HE LAY ASLEEP GREATLY ANGERED THE GOD SO THAT HE FLOODED THE LAND. ONLY THE FISHERMAN AND HIS FAMILY SURVIVED.
A WELL AUTHENTICATED MYTH OF THE DELUGE HAS BEEN FOUND AMONG 28 NATIONS OF AMERICAN INDIANS.
IN FIJI, THERE IS A LEGEND THAT THE DELUGE WAS CAUSED BY TWO GRANDSONS OF A GOD KILLING HIS FAVORITE BIRD- AND SO IT IS REMARKABLE THAT THIS STORY HAS EXISTED MANY CENTURIES IN MANY PARTS OF THE WORLD

THE ETERNAL MIRACLE

—o—

We are quite unmindful of chronology in writing this story. We are not bound by the familiar outline which begins with the song of the angels at Bethlehem and ends with the weeping of the women at the cross.

We shall thread our way back and forth through the rich variety of Jesus' life, picking up this incident and that bit of conversation, this dramatic contact and that audacious decision, and bringing them together as best to illustrate our purpose. For that purpose is not to write a biography but to paint a portrait. We pass quickly over thirty years of Jesus' life, nothing only that somehow, somewhere there occurred in those years the eternal miracle—the awakening of the inner consciousness of power. The eternal miracle!

In New York one day a luncheon was tendered by a gathering of distinguished gentlemen to David Lloyd George. There were perhaps two hundred at the tables. The food was good and the speeches were impressive. But what stirred one's imagination was a study of the men at the speaker's table. There they were—some of the most influential citizens of the present-day world; and who were they?

At one end of the table an international financier—the son of a poor country parson. Beside him a great newspaper proprietor—he came from a tiny town in Maine and landed in New York with less than a hundred dollars. A little farther along the president of a world-wide press association—a copy boy in a country newspaper office. And, in the center, the boy who grew up in the poverty of an obscure Welsh village, and became the commanding statesman of the British Empire in the greatest crisis of history.

When and how and where did the eternal miracle occur in the lives of those men? At what hour, in the morning, in the afternoon, in the long quiet evenings, did the audacious thought enter the mind of each of them that he was larger than the limits of a country town, that his life might be bigger than his father's?

Likewise, when did the thought com to Jesus? Was it one morning wh he stood at the carpenter's bench, tl sun streaming in across the hills? W it late in the night, after the family ha retired, and he had slipped out to wa and wonder under the stars? Nobo knows. All we can be sure of is this that the consciousness of his divin must have come to him in a time of s tude, of awe in the presence of Nature.

The western hemisphere has bee fertile in material progress, but th great religions have all come out of the East. The deserts are a symbol of tl infinite; the vast spaces that divide m from the stars fill the human soul w wonder. Somewhere, at some unf gettable hour, the daring filled Jesu heart. He knew that he was big than Nazareth.

Next Week: Days of Doubts.

A SIX IS MORE ECONOMICAL

Thousands of tests have proved . . . engineers have established . . . owner experience has confirmed THIS FACT: For lowest, all-round motoring costs: SIX CYLINDERS. No more—No less!

With more, you sacrifice the economy for which Chevrolet is so famous. With less, you sacrifice the kind of maintenance cost that Chevrolet gives you—the lowest available in today's low-price market!

SAVE WITH SIX CYLINDERS

Why not strike a happy balance between "too many" and "too few"? Do as the majority of low-priced car buyers have done ever since January, 1931: SAVE—with SIX CYLINDERS. The Chevrolet six-cylinder engine gives you wonderful mileage on gasoline—and oil! Because its smoothness is built-in—the body, chassis and engine are spared the repair costs that result from constant, inherent vibration!

STILL GOOD AFTER 15,000 MILES

And the Chevrolet Six stays young for —10,000, 15,000, 20,000 miles and more —carries on—smoothly, dependably, economically.

Moreover it has every modern feature you're entitled to: Free Wheeling, no car is up-to-date without it. And genuine Syncro-Mesh as originated by General Motors. And big, luxurious Fisher bodies. And four parallel mounted springs.

Remember that you can switch to a 1932 Chevrolet for very little money. In fact, you'll probably find it more economical to buy a new Chevrolet Six than to worry along with the old car.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.
. Circuit Court in Equity. No. 997.
Elsie Marie Drum, Complainant, vs.
William Drum, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Victor J. Heard that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said William Drum, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 11th day of September, 1932, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

Done at office in Clanton, this 6th day of August, 1932.

How Modern Women Lose Pounds of Fat Swiftly — Safely

Gain Physical Vigor — Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast — cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lost fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS CHILTON COUNTY

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Alabama at the Court House, Clanton, Alabama, until 12:00 o'clock noon September 5, 1932, and at that time publicly opened for constructing a bituminous surface on approximately two miles of road beginning at Clanton and extending toward the Lay Dam.

The principal items of work are approximately as follows

21120 Square Yards of Bituminous Surface.

Alternate bids may be submitted on the following types of Surface:

Kentucky Rock Asphalt 1½" Compacted Thickness.

At West End

Feed Crusher Going Strong

Mr. Harris Hardy of West End, is now operating a first class feed crusher, and is ready to take care of your feed problems, in connection with his store and grist mill. No matter what your needs are in this line, he will serve you. Come out and look this outfit over whether you have anything to crush or not.

Booming

If you happen to pass through West End on Saturdays you will wonder if there is really a depression in existence. You will see many cars parked along the street and people buying and selling stuff from the several business houses you will wonder where the "panic" has gone. First you will see the "wheels of industry" in progress over at Mr. Harris Hardy's place of business, where you can buy your groceries, have your corn ground into meal or have it crushed into feed for your cattle, etc. Then just across the street you will find Mr. J. H. Broadhead's store where several people are employed to take care of his customers and serve them right. He also grinds corn into meal and has an up-to-date line of groceries and a modern sanitary meat market. Then back across the street, a little further up the street is Mr. Joe Grooms. Mr. Grooms has been in West End for several years and has made a host of friends, both in town and in the country, and is doing a nice grocery business here.

Mt. Nebo News

Last Sunday was our regular preaching day, and a large crowd attended. Bro. J. M. Metcalf was not able to be here, but Bro. F. A. Gibson delivered a very fine message in his place.

Ezells To Be Honored On 10th Anniversary

DR. S. J. EZELL

MRS. S. J. EZELL

Special Services At Church Next Sunday To Honor Local Pastor

MANY IMPROVEMENTS SHOWN IN PASTORATE

Ten years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Ezell came to Clanton, where Dr. Ezell was to become pastor of the Clanton Baptist church. Assuming his duties as such, Dr. Ezell was faced with a task, and took it admiringly, carrying on.

Next Sunday will mark the close of ten years as residents of Clanton, as foremost church workers of the county, and as among those loved by all the county.

The past ten years in Clanton have been very colorful for this popular and loved couple and their untiring work in behalf of church work of all kinds has made a lasting impression on the minds of the people of this section in all denominations. They are blessed with two fine children, John and Grace.

Some of the major items of work done in this county by the Ezells include the payment of about twenty thousand dollars on the church plant, the erection and full payment of a splendid Sunday School annex to the church.

They reorganized the Sunday School, the B. Y. P. U., and the W. M. S., with more than one hundred per-cent increase in attendance. During the ten years of Dr. Ezell's pastorate, there have been received into the fellowship of the church 633 new members. The pastor and his wife have both been very active in all associational work in the county.

Next Sunday there will be special services at the Clanton Baptist church, honoring Dr. and Mrs. Ezell, on the completion of a very active, worthwhile and commendable ten years spent in Clanton. Special effort is being made to have all members of the church present at the morning services.

The people all over Chilton County look with pride on the fact that two such Christian people have lived in their midst for these number of years. Dr. and Mrs. Ezell are known all over the county, and their names are like magic in creating new interest in church work of all kinds.

Evening School At Collins Chapel Soon

Prof. J. P. Montgomery, teacher of vocational agriculture at the Jemison High School, announces that he will conduct an evening school at Collins Chapel schoolhouse, beginning Monday, August 29, at seven o'clock P. M.

The control of insects and plant diseases of truck, garden and orchard crops will be featured. Among the lessons to be taught are demonstrations on:

(1) Treating fruit trees for borers; (2) spraying for scale and peach leaf curl; (3) summer spraying of fruit trees; (4) pruning an orchard. These demonstrations will be given some time during the course at the home of a farmer in the neighborhood.

Demonstrations at the schoolhouse will consist of: (1) Treating seed potatoes, both Irish and sweet, for diseases prior to bedding or planting; (2) selecting and mixing garden spray materials; (3) the use of spray pump and dust guns.

The main insects of the garden and truck crops will be discussed at the meetings. The farmers of Collins Chapel community are urged to attend. County Agent Stapp will co-operate in the work and is going to stress the soil-building program by planting vetch and peas.

There is no charge for a school of this kind. It is a part of the work of a teacher of vocational agriculture. Mr. Montgomery has just returned from Auburn with his M. S. degree. He has been ten years getting this degree, going to school a few weeks each summer, and taking extension courses and other field work at home. He received his B. S. degree from Mississippi A. & M. College in 1915.

HUGE BARBECUE HELD IN SELMA FOR DEMOCRATS

Optimism Is Rampant As Leaders Address Large Crowd At Meeting

Selma—The Democratic campaign in Alabama was riding the waves of optimism Friday following its formal launching Thursday afternoon in a Democratic rally at Houston's Grove near here.

With members of the Legislature in attendance, Democrats from over the state gathered to hear party leaders excoriate the Republican administration and sound the tocsin for an overwhelming majority in the state for the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

The slogan for the coming campaign, according to Judge Leon McCord, Montgomery, national committeeman from Alabama, is "100,000 majority for the Democrats in Alabama."

"The Democracy of Alabama is all back together again," Judge McCord said, "and there is no need for us to be saying how we voted or calling any of our fellow men 'pollywogs' or 'kluxers.' They are all united behind the party of Jefferson and the party of the masses."

The party leader in the state called upon all Democrats to get out and fight for the nominees. "Contribute to the party's campaign fund if you can," he said, "but most of all, give us your heart and your earnest effort in this campaign."

Congressman Hill told the rally that Hoover could not be blamed entirely for the depression. but since the Repub-

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT MAPLESVILLE

The 1932 session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the high school building in Maplesville on Sunday, September 18th. Singing will begin at ten o'clock. All singers of the county are invited to take notice and try and arrange to attend. This is a county-wide affair, and it is hoped that the singers from all over the county will feel that it is their own. We hope to make it the best ever held in the county. Quartets from this and adjoining counties are expected.

An invitation has been extended to all of the large publishing houses to have representatives and quartets present. A number of singers from the Birmingham district are expected, as well as those from Coosa, Autauga, Elmore and Shelby counties.

WILL VISIT FIELDS FRIDAY

County Agent Stapp advises the News that on next Friday afternoon at two o'clock, members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club will be in front of his office in Clanton with their automobiles prepared to carry farmers and merchants on a tour of several fine farms, pastures and other fields in the county.

Mr. Stapp stated that he hoped every merchant, farmer and business man who possibly can, will be on hand at his office Friday afternoon of this week at two o'clock to take this trip to these fields.

There will be plenty of automobiles handy, however, if anyone comes to Clanton in their car, it will be appreciated if they will use it and carry someone with them, to assure an uncrowded condition on the trip. Be on hand, and don't miss this tour.

OPENING DATE FOR SCHOOLS IS MOVED UP

County Board Of Education Grants Requests Made By School Patrons

A few weeks ago it was announced by the County Board of Education that high schools in this county would open on September 19th and all other schools would open on October 17th. These late dates being thought advisable on account of the possibility of a short term of school.

However, many patrons of schools, thinking it better to open schools earlier and more in line with former opening dates, requested the county board to move the opening dates up one week. This request was granted at the meeting of the board last Friday, and high schools will open September 12th, and others on October 10th.

The Clanton Grammar School will open on Monday, September 12th, according to Prof. I. J. Quinn, principal. Incidental fees for the grammar school have been reduced from $5.00 to $3.00.

Patrons of the school are asked to bear in mind that this fee of three dollars is due on the first day of school, and if not paid within a period of thirty days, then the patron should get in touch with some trustee and make proper arrangements to take care of the fee.

Prof. Quinn stated to the News that he expected an exceptionally good term of school this year. All teachers there are well known and with the exception of two the faculty this year, all have taught in the school at least two years.

Here is the faculty of the grammar school: Prof. I. J. Quinn, Miss Bessie Thomas, Mrs. Curry Thomas, Miss Juanita Campbell, Mrs. Barney Burnett, Miss Jewell Vessels, Miss Ruth Sessions, Miss Emma Sue Morris, and Mrs. C. E. Stapp.

Complete announcements regarding the Chilton County High School can be found elsewhere in this issue under the heading, "County High School Announcements" and are very interesting.

Get-Together Meet At Isabella Soon

A "Get-together" meeting of the parents and teachers of the Isabella High School will be held Saturday night, September 3, at the school, beginning at seven-thirty. We wish and urge every patron interested to be there as we have some important matters to put before you. Everyone who wishes will have opportunity to speak on any matter pertaining to the interest of the school. This is not a meeting to put on a drive for money, though the matter of finances might be mentioned. It is meant to be just what we say, a "Get-to-gether" meeting.

Since the first day of school is a very busy one, and we usually have a speaker, it crowds out the parents in what they might have to say, we feel this will be a fine opportunity for their benefit.

Beside you having an opportunity to speak, Mr. Thomas will have something interesting to say to you.

Be there and let us start together and pull together for the best interest of our children, for it is in their interest we are investing our lives.

J. Mell Martin Is A Candidate For Coroner

An announcement in political circles in Chilton County that is of wide interest is that J. Mell Martin of Clanton is a candidate for the office of Coroner.

To tell the people of Chilton county about Mr. Martin, the splendid ability of his to look after this office, and that he is the man for the place, would be repeating what every citizen of the county already knows.

Mr. Martin is a candidate on the Democratic ticket, and known over the county, in every nook, as an outstanding funeral director, being head of the firm of J. Mell Martin & Sons, Funeral Directors. He is fully qualified to fill this office, and it is understood that Mr. Martin will have no opposition on either ticket in the county for the office of Coroner, which he now holds, and handles efficiently.

Mack Broadhead Moves Store To Maplesville

Thursday found Maplesville with a new place of business, when M. C. Broadhead, pioneer merchant of Clanton, opened for business there.

Sometime ago Mr. Broadhead bought out the interest of his father, J. R. Broadhead in the firm known as J. R. Broadhead & Son, and this week was busy moving his store to Maplesville, where he opened in the building formerly occupied by the Maplesville Cash Store.

J. R. Broadhead & Son was the oldest established place of business in Clanton, widely known for their square dealing with everyone. The people of Maplesville and surroundings should feel pride in welcoming Mr. Broadhead to their midst. Mr. Broadhead, with his charming wife and young son, will make their home in Maplesville, and the people of Clanton regret losing them.

BALL GAME OF SEASON HERE TOMORROW

Ex-League Players Expected To Star In Game With Clanton Friday

Sponsored by the Pilot Club of Clanton, the ball game of the season (as "Shorty" Mullins would say) is scheduled to be played in Clanton tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at three-thirty, on the high school diamond.

The Clanton team which is rapidly growing famous for its devil-may-care spirit, unafraid of the biggest teams, will play the fine team of Happy John Bolas, of Birmingham.

On the Happy John Bolas team, there are such players as Yam Yaryan, ex-big leaguer and home run king of the South, and others who have attracted wide attention.

Monk DeBardelaben will be seen in the pitcher's box for Clanton. Monk is that pitcher who won fame at the University. And of course there are the other well known aces of the Clanton team. Don't miss this game. Tickets are on sale in Clanton now.

Polk Brothers 20th Anniversary

According to Geo. C. Polk, this cotton season represents their 20th Anniversary in the cotton business in Clanton, he moving here in the fall of 1912 to buy cotton for a Montgomery cotton firm.

Soon after the World War he and W. M. Polk formed a cotton partnership under the firm style of Polk Brothers, with offices in Clanton and Calumbiana. In 1923 they entered the automobile business, but continued their cotton business. About a year later they decided to close their Columbiana office, W. M. Polk moving to Clanton so that both partners could give their full time to the Clanton office.

We are glad to learn that Polk Brothers are now buying cotton direct from the farmers, and we see no need of any Chilton county farmer carrying his cotton to any other market, for we understand that Polk Brothers have local mill and export connections that will enable them to pay the farmer as much if not more for his cotton than he can get in other towns.

We extend our best wishes to the Polk Brothers and wish them much success on this their 20 Anniversary.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Charles and Durwood. Three sisters, Mrs. Herman Peach of Birmingham, Mrs. Ira Whitaker of Montgomery, and Miss Mary Frank Wells of Jemison. One brother, A. C. Wells of Jemison, her father and other relatives.

ABOUT YOUR COMMUNITY

Throughout the pages of the News each week, will be found interesting items of news from various communities over the county. The Chilton County News is proud of its corerspondents in these communities, and proud of the fact that these correspondents have pride in their respective communities, and are writing the happenings of their people.

But, the News realizes that there are several communities in the county that are not represented each week in the paper with a news letter.

With this in mind, we extend to those communities not represented in the News, an invitation and urge that someone write the news each week from these communities. Anyone wishing to do this, drop a line to the Editor.

BAPTISTS OF THORSBY HAVE A FINE MEETING

Forty-Nine Additions Made To Church During Revival Which Closed Sunday

The Baptist church of Thorsby brought to a close Sunday night, a most successful revival meeting of one week's running. The pastor, the Rev. J. W. Jones was assisted by the Rev. Theo Harris of Ensley, a most impressive preacher who won many friends during his stay in Thorsby.

There were forty-nine additions realized during this splendid revival, thirty-nine being for baptism.

The pastor reports that splendid attendance at each service was had, and the attendance at Sunday School the first Sunday of the revival was 251, while attendance last Sunday was 238. This is remarkable for this fine little church in Thorsby, and it is believed this is the largest congregation seen in the Baptist church in Thorsby in many years.

Revival Starts Sunday; 683 Attend Sunday School Last Sunday

With the beginning of the much anticipated revival at the Baptist church in Clanton next Sunday morning, Dr S. J. Ezell will enter his eleventh year as pastor of that church.

Last Sunday, on a special drive for Sunday School and church attendance, there were 683 men, women and children attending Sunday School at the Baptist church in Clanton, and the auditorium was overflowing at the church hour, honoring the beloved pastor on his tenth anniversary

In reaching the 500 mark of attendance for Sunday School, the Baptist church was given $125 as a reward Dewey Rockett offered fifty dollars, Renfroe Mullins fifty dollars and W. W. Wingard handed over $25

There were seventeen new additions in membership at the morning services and seven at the evening services last Sunday, following two most powerful and impressive sermons delivered by Dr. Ezell on this eventful day for the Baptist church. This brings the total additions to the church to 657 during Dr. Ezell's ten years,

On next Sunday morning, Dr. John R. Sampey will open the revival meeting at the church, assisting the pastor. Dr. Sampey is known over the United States as one of the most brilliant and outstanding preachers, and it is indeed a rare privilege to hear this man. He will remain here for one week conducting this revival.

Dr. Ezell states that he hopes there will be a repetition of the congregations of last Sunday. Plans are being made now to secure a good singer to conduct song services during the revival.

MISS NELL WELLS TO BECOME WELFARE SUPT., WALKER CO.

Miss Nell Wells, of Jemison, left yesterday for Jasper, Ala., where she will assume the office of superintendent of Child Welfare of Walker County, having resigned her position as a member of the local high school faculty last week, to accept this place.

This is quite a promotion for Miss Wells, but is no more than she is capable of handling Miss Wells has been a member of the faculty of the Chilton County High School for four years, as instructor in English, and was selected to serve again for the coming term.

Being a young lady of charming personality, together with a splendid education, she made scores of friends in Clanton while teaching in the high school Her friends here wish her much success in her new place, which she assumed this week.

GOV'T. OFFICERS STAGE CLEAN-UP IN LIQUOR RUNS

Between Fifty And Sixty Placed Under Arrest In 3 Counties

One of the largest and most complete raids ever staged in this section on violators of the Prohibition law, took place last week when Federal Prohibition officers visited Chilton, Coosa and Perry counties.

Reports given the News stated that between fifty and sixty men, of all ages, were arrested by the officers in these three counties on warrants.

The officers made the arrests after purchasing the prohibited liquor from the persons, some sales taking places several months ago, the information stated.

Many of the widely known, so-called "bootleggers" of Chilton county were given the surprise of their lives when men buying liquor from them, turned out to be Federal agents, and liquor and men were carried to jail. The report stated that the majority of arrests took place in Chilton county.

Reports from the sheriff's office here give eleven arrests made by local officers during the past week. Four for V. P. L., one for burglary, two for burglary and grand larceny, one for petty larceny, one for assault and battery, one for driving while intoxicated and one for bastardy.

Shiloh News

The people of this community are ready for cotton picking.

We are proud to say that our B. Y. P. U. and Sunday School is progressing nicely and we ask God to help us that we may grow stronger each day and make our church work more pleasing to our Father.

Miss Ethel Mullins was the Sunday dinner guest of Miss Mattie Lou Wilson.

Misses Geneva and Elaine Deason were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Popwell.

Mr. Homer Ray and family of Sylacauga were the week end guests of the former's mother, Mrs. O. L. Ray.

Mrs. Estell Morris of Birmingham is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. F. Pool.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Julius Mullins is not improving any. His father, mother and wife will accompany him to a Birmingham hospital Tuesday where he will remain a few days. We hope and pray for him a speedy recovery. His cousin, Mr. Greely Powell, of Clanton, will also go with him end expects to remain with him for company.

Mr. J. D. Mullins visited his father, Mr. G. W. Mullins, of Mt. Pisgah, Sunday afternoon

J. E. and Douglas Ray of Enterprise were visiting relatives in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nelson are the proud parents of a ten-pound baby boy.

The party given at Mr. B. M. Deason's Saturday night was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Who is who around Shiloh: Prettiest girl, Lonnie Ruth Ray; friendliest girl, Zula Nelson; most attractive girl, Truitt Mullins; biggest booster, Ethel Mullins; quietest girl, Mattie Lou Wilson; the neatest girl, Gatie Ray; the homliest girl, Emma Nelson; the best all around girl, Agnes Mullins; biggest flapper, Mable Nelson; the most intelligent girl, Etta Mullins; best pal, Lela Dobbs; most popular girl, Verlon Mullins. Handsomest boy, Cary Mullins; neatest boy, Morris Keen; most popular boy, Arnold Mullins; friendliest boy, Oscar Lee Deavers; biggest bum, Toy Mullins; wittiest boy, Lonnie Watts; biggest booster, Julius Mullins; kindest boy, Melton Coggins.

Don't forget next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Everybody come and worship with us. I will assure you will not regret coming and you will like to come again.

BOB CUSTER REAL ACTOR COWBOY IN "MARK OF THE SPUR"

Coming to the Wadesonian Theatre tomorrow is Bob Custer in "Mark of the Spur" and a keener surprise has never been in store for you! In it Bob Custer reveals himself as a very real actor, apart from his saddle histronics.

"Mark of the Spur" is a Western melodrama of the new school which offers plot development far beyond the old-time up-hill-and-down-dale chase variety! In it, too, are Lillian Rich, a piquant and capable actress herself—Franklin Farnum, Lafe McKee, George Chesebro and various other capable players.

It is a thrilling story of misrepresentation which nearly becomes accepted fate—of a heinous wolf masquerading in sheep's clothing, of stark tragedy just averted! There are fights, breath-taking rides, bull-dogging and all manner of action highlights which become wordlessly exciting developments.

"Mark of the Spur" is the high-sign of Western entertainment—don't fail to get your share!

After sending $280 in currency wrapped in a nightgown to an undertaker, Mrs. Flavah M. Bailey of Manchester, Mich., killed herself.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

The big mogul that was to pull the special was backed under the shed and coupled to the ten steel coaches. The engineer dropped to the ground with an oil can in his hands. In looking over that polished piece of machinery I started to asking myself the question: Which part of that engine you had rather be? There were the drive wheels the truck, the piston rods, the steam chest and many other important pieces that made up the mogul. As I pondered the wonders of what man had put together to pull that big train, I observed that the engineer started to oiling each part of that machine out of the same oil can. Where oil was needed the same can was used as the source of supply. Then I started to thinking of that finer piece of machinery—the church of the living God—and I knew that I had a place in that gospel mogul. My brother at my side had a place also. So did the men of high place and low, and I was delighted to know that all of us received oil out of the same can. When we fill our place the oil of grace is alike to all, and it comes alone from God.

I was standing at the depot on the trunk line of the L. & N. Division when one of those ponderous passenger trains rolled up. As it swung around the curve I noted that it was a double-header. Two tremendous engines moved in front with every cock bursting with steam. The train stopped like a toy under the power of those two engines. After the conductor signalled for the train to move on, both engines threw themselves into the harness and in the length of the train it was almost under full speed. It started off running from the very first. No sanding of rails, no slipping of wheels, no strain or struggle, the train moved on because it was a double header. Every home in this country should be a double-header. When the father and the mother are both steamed up with church spirit and are bubbling over with zeal for the kingdom of God, they will find no trouble in moving their families off to Sunday school and church. When the father, or the mother, is head-heading it in, the other mogul carrying the load must of necessity slip and slide, struggle and stagger under the weight of home life. Let our fathers and mothers steam up and get in front of their families and swing them over the road of eternal life. Shame on either parent when there is no religious zeal in the heart.

With a friend I was looking over his big saw mill plant. While standing near the saw that was ripping the logs into planks, I said to him, "I observe that the saw seems to be making the same speed when it is in the log as it is making when it is idling." My friend informed me that my observations were correct and then pointed to some little governors that were playing around over the steam chest. He explained that when the saw struck the log that those governors would let themselves down, and thus throw more steam against the piston rods and without changing rotation the saw would wade through. As soon as the log was thru the governors would lift and hold the saw at the same speed. The revolution of the saw was the same all the time. That engine had reserve power and when that power was needed, it was released to do the work required. How blessed is that church member whose loyalty is always the same. It may be hot, it may be cold, it may be sunshine, it may be shadows, it matters not what may be the thickness and the length of the log of opposition, when reserved power is needed, it can be called into action, and there is not a slowing up of the wheel of loyalty. The engine that carries no reserve power will stop when the saw strikes a log. The church member who has no reserve power will balk and fail when he meets with a difficulty. A church member who is the same all the time is a treasure in the kingdom of God.

I moved into a parsonage and on the back yard there was an old out house that had not been used in years. It had been filled with rubbish and no one seemed to care to dispose of it. The rains had washed trash and sand against the door and that had to be dug up and carted away before the door would open. After, that had been done the hinges on the door had to be oiled before they would let the door swing wide. This was done and finally the door opened and the rubbish was removed. Big Boy, listen to me: Hoy about that door to your soul? If I mistake not there are hearts that are filled with rubbish, the sands of a rolling world have piled themselves against the door, and the hinges, the will power of the soul, have rusted. At that door Jesus is standing and he is knocking for admittance. Better cart the rubbish of the world from the door of your soul and open it and let Jesus come in and make you clean.

I had a neighbor who was a great lover of dogs. He had as many as twenty-seven at one time. This sportsman had a unique way of finding out when his dogs were infected with fleas or had caught a disease of some kind. He had a rubbing post for them, and when he saw a dog fooling around that rubbing post, he knew to begin doctoring him at once. In like manner we can tell when church members are diseased, or infected with the devil's fleas. If you see them rubbing against the pool tables, the dance hall, Sunday picture shows, Sunday baseball, and the like, you may know that they are sin sick and need doctoring. Better stay away from the devil's rubbing posts, or folks will know what you carry in your soul.

Clanton Methodist Church

D. W. Haskew. Pastor

We have a full day for next Sunday. Sunday school at 9:45 A. M. At the beginning of the preaching service Sunday morning, we are going to celebrate the Lord's Supper. The morning sermon will be preached by the pastor. Subject: "I Am the Christ."

Sunday night Dr. N. B. McLeod, our presiding elder, will preach for us at 7:45. Following the service he will hold our 4th and last conference for the year. We want to urge our people to help the officials in making a good report.

Last Sunday Clanton people clearly proved that they can go to Sunday school when they make up their minds to that task. If Clanton could turn out last Sunday—one of the hottest days of the year—they can go every Sunday. If the Baptists can go to Sunday school, the Methodists can. God is not going to judge us by the spurts and flurries in our Christian life, but by the way we act every Sunday and every day of the year. Our church should average 250 in Sunday school every Sunday and we should have the same number in church services. If all were as faithful as a few we would have them. Why not be faithful?

Five Years Ago Today

Taken from the files of Sept. 1, 1927, of the Chilton County News:

Eddie Holcombe killed in accident at sawmill. Falls on saw at Vanzant mill near Collins Chapel.

Several new homes are being built in Clanton now, including the new houses built by J. Q. Wade, Fenn Jones, W. A. Reynolds, J. C. Burnett and W J. Elmore.

A new concrete walkway is being built at the Jemison High School by the vocational boys.

Alph Parrish, a resident of Thorsby, died at the home of J. M. Parrish last Tuesday. He was buried at Liberty Hill church Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Bill Cooper of Coopers died at the home of his sister, Miss Philli Cooper, here last Thursday. He was buried at Chestnut Creek cemetery Friday. Uncle Bill, as he was better known, was seventy-one years of age.

Miss Marie Driver, 14 years of age, died last Sunday after a long period of suffering. Interment was made in the Temple cemetery on Monday.

Clanton's newest store, the Clanton Model Shop, will open for business Saturday. Miss Grace Foshee will be in charge it is announced.

County Agent Stapp urges the planting of vetch and peas as soil builders. Many farmers have already placed in their orders.

Rather than disobey a "Keep Off the Grass" sign posted on the lawn in front of the home of Mabel Weaver at Springfield, Mass., thieves dug up the sign and took it, a fence and 50 yards of loam.

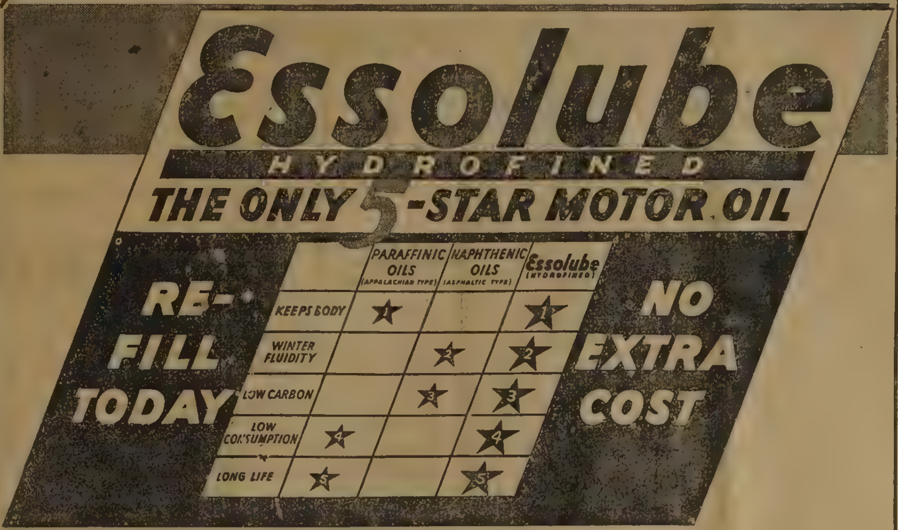
On his 100th birthday Joseph J. Ford of Robinson, Ill., gave the following advice to those who wish to attain old age: "Don't drink, rip, snort, holler, and yell."

A Laxative that costs only 1¢ or less a dose

NEXT TIME you need medicine to act on the bowels, try Thedford's Black-Draught. It brings quick relief and is priced within reach of all. Black-Draught is one of the least expensive laxatives that you can find. A 25-cent package contains 25 or more doses.

Black-Draught is made of approved laxative plants, firmly ground so you take the medicine into your system just as naturally as you get nourishment from the food you eat.

Refreshing relief from constipation troubles for only a cent or less a dose—that's why thousands of men and women prefer Thedford's Black-Draught.



The Five Requirements of a Modern Motor Oil:

- ★1 Least body change with extreme temperature changes. (Keeps Body)
- ★2 Free fluidity under low temperature conditions. (Winter Fluidity)
- ★3 Freedom from excessive or hard-to-remove carbon deposits in the cylinders. (Low Carbon)
- ★4 Resistance to evaporation losses at high temperatures. (Low Consumption)
- ★5 Stability of lubrication value over long periods of use. (Long Life)

IT makes no difference where an oil comes from—who makes it or sells it. If it does not meet every single one of the five requirements listed above it is not suited to modern high compression engines. Only Essolube meets all five requirements.

County High School Announcements

Recent legislative developments indicate that schools throughout the State will be relieved of the embarrassing situation in which they have been placed and that we will all be in fine shape another year.

The Chilton County Board of Education is doing everything in its power to run full terms this year. It will take the full cooperation of all patrons and others interested in education to help us out. With the above in view, our high school will open as usual with the expectation of running nine months We are beginning early enough to give each pupil an opportunity to earn his half unit's credit should we unfortunately have to close down at the end of the first four and one-half months.

With all the ol dteachers re-elected again with the exception of two, the future promises to be the best year we have had., Experience in the school room with the pupils and with everything in general is a great asset to any teacher when he begins his work. We feel that the patrons of C. C. H S. are doubly benefitted in this respect.

The personnel of the faculty is as follows:

T. H. Walker, University Alabama, Manual Arts and Athletics.

J.B. Varnell, Howard College, science.

L. E. Little, Howard College, history

Miss Bernice Williams, Woman's College, Mathematics.

Miss Bonnie Clyde Griffin, University, Home Economics.

Mrs. L. C. Warr, Peabody and Columbia, English.

Miss Margaret Kendrick, Woman's College, Social Studies.

Miss Josephine Martin, Birmingham Southern, Junior High Work.

School will open promptly at 8:00 a. m. Monday morning, September 12. Registration will begin Friday, September 9, and continue through Saturday. Every pupil must register during these two days and be ready for school work Monday morning. There will not be a long drawn out formal opening, but all patrons and friends are urged to be present at the regular assembly period 10:20 Monday morning, to enjoy a special program.

MRS. L. C. WARR ACCEPTS VACANCY IN ENGLISH DEPT.

Miss Nell Wells made an enviable record as an English teacher during the past four years she taught in Chilton County High School, but recently resigned her position to go into another field of activity. She will be in the Child Welfare Department at Jasper in Walker County. While we regret to lose Miss Wells, we feel we are fortunate in securing the wide range of educational advantages and training of Mrs. Warr. She was for eight years supervisor of the teacher-training department at State Teachers College at Troy In addition Ms Warr has taught everything from the first grade thru college. She is an authority in English

C. C. H. S. Incidental Fees Reduced To $5.00

The local Board of Trustees has decided to reduce the incidental fees another year to $5.00. This certainly is in reach of everybody. There is not anything worthwhile that doesn't cost money. If the schools could be run without expense, we certainly would be in favor of it. The most unpleasant thing connected with our school is the collection of incidental fees. Did you know that the average cost per pupil in most of the system is around $25.00 per year, and yet we have a few patrons who complain about paying less than one-third of that amount. If you will check closely you will likely be amazed that [illegible] spend that much on a week end trip.

We don't want to be embarrassed, neither do we want to embarrass you. We want the money. This is due the first day your child enters school. If it is not paid at the end of the first month, your name will be handed to an officer for collection. There are debts hanging over the schools that must be paid. These debts were made over a year ago with the faith in you that you would pay the small incidental fee asked of each student in school These debts are long past over due. The citizens of Clanton who are patrons of the schools owe for these debts just as they would to a merchant who extended him credit in a like manner. Let's be good soldiers and keep our schools out of the "red." After everything is said and done, your child is all you have. Give him a chance to fight tomorrow's battles. They will be greater than yours.

MR. LITTLE AND MISS COLLEY NEW MEMBERS H. S. FACULTY

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we announce the names of the two new members of our high school faculty for the school year 1932 and 1933. Mr. Luther E. Little of this county, and recently of Clanton, has for a number of years been one of the outstanding Junior High School Principals of the County and was honored with the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Howard College last June where he majored in history and economics It is a great opportunity for any pupil to get the advantage of the splendid training, experience and personality of Mr. Little. We feel our school will be greatly strengthened by the addition of this young man

Pletcher News

(Omitted Last Week)

An interesting feature of the Opportunity School was the spelling bee at Popwell school building Friday afternoon between Pilgrims Rest school and Popwell school.

There were fifteen from each school who participated in the spelling. The spelling bee continued for two hours. The first hour the words were given out by Smith, teacher of Pilgrims Rest school. These words included all the spelling words that have been used in the Opportunity schools. At the close of the hour there were seven left standing on each side. So we may say it was a tie between the schools on all the words that have been used in school.

Mrs. Apperson, teacher of Popwell school, took the old Blue Back Speller and gave out words for another hour. It is quite interesting to note that not a one of the Pilgrims Rest people had ever studied the old Blue Back Speller, although they held their line even with the Popwell line until the last few minutes, when Orville Williams, 17 years of age, was left standing, spelling against Messrs. Robert Billingsley and Johnnie Short. Finally Orville had to take his seat, leaving Messrs. Billingsley and Short standing. All three are excellent spellers, though it is striking to note, had a lad of seventeen kept his stand with these older men.

Orville's mother, Mrs. G. B. Williams, and his sister, Mrs. E. M. Ousley, need to be mentioned as they are noted spellers and the last standing in the Pilgrims Rest line. Mrs. Virginia Smith stood for quite a while in the Popwell line with Messrs. Billingsley and Shotr.

Mrs. Morris Rainwater returned home Sunday from Howard College, where she has been taking a summer course. Miss Vines, her sister, came with her to stay several days.

Miss Leila Belle Smith spent Saturday in Clanton with Mrs. Bud Jones, and her mother, Mrs. Dudley Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kendrick and family and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ratliff were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Williams Sunday.

Mrs. J. L. Abbott returned home Sunday, after a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Johnson, of Birmingham.

The social for the Opportunity school last week was an Apron Party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ratliff. There was a great deal of fun for the men hemming the aprons and the ladies tieing the men's ties. Ezra Turner won the prize for hemming the best apron and Mrs. Henry Ratliff won the prize for tieing the best tie. Cream was served as a refreshment to at least one hundred people.

Dr. V. J. Gragg visited the Opportunity School Tuesday and gave an interesting talk on "Progress."

Rev. I. N. Demy says:

"I have found nothing in the past 20 years that can take the place of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are a sure relief for my headache."

Sufferers from Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Backache, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, Muscular Pains, Periodic Pains, write that they have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with better results than they had even hoped for.

Countless American housewives would no more think of keeping house without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills than without flour or sugar. Keep a package in your medicine cabinet and save yourself needless suffering.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Evils of Intemperance
Lesson for September 4 — Isaiah 5:11-16, 22, 23
Golden Text: Leviticus 10:9
Rev. Charles E. Dunn

Isaiah's sharp denunciation of drunkenness, hurled like a thunderbolt long ago is thoroughly timely. The liquor problem has never been solved. Intemperance is still a serious challenge to the stability of society, and its peril is peculiarly intense in our machine age.

Unfortunately the clearly established facts concerning the menace of alcohol are obscured by the fierce controversy now raging over the merits and demerits of prohibition. Both sides are warring camps, and their psychology therefore tends to be that of military factions angrily circulating atrocity stories about one another.

What is needed is more light and less heat. The failures and successes of prohibition must be studied dispassionately. Above all, the place of alcohol in our modern, complex civilization must be scientifically approached.

Now we may cherish reasonable doubts as to the wisdom of the eighteenth amendment. But certain it is that the arguments against the liquor traffic are as strong now as ever.

Rigid tests have proven that alcohol is a food only in a very limited sense, that it is not a stimulant, but a narcotic such as ether and chloroform, and that it is a habit forming drug, a poison that lowers resistance to infection and physical injury, and may result in acute and chronic disease. Dr. Haven Emerson, of Columbia University sums up the case against it when he says, "Alcohol as commonly used by modern man here and abroad deteriorates the cells of the body; degrades the man; degenerates the race."

To be sure, there are eminent authorities who hold that the moderate drinking of alcoholic beverages is harmless. Yet the Life Extension Institute's handbook, "How to Live," declares that "the judgment of the majority of scientific men is against even the moderate use of alcohol."

The liquor issue is now entering a new phase We have overstressed the power of the law. While still employing the strong arm of legal coercion, our main reliance henceforth must be upon education and public opinion.

Hoover's "Fact Finding"

In the matter of the ev[illegible]n of the bonus army from Washington President Hoover seems to have been as un[illegible] "facts" as he was in his [illegible] the extent and [illegible] the [illegible] impression, which he said was only "a temporary halt in the prosperity of a great people," during the first two years of the Hoover panic. His statements and prediction in that period were all disproved by succeeding events. Now his most important "facts" bearing upon his reasons fo rthe military eviction of the ex-service men from government property in the District of Columbia are flatly denied in information obtained from official agencies of the Federal government.

In justification for his order in calling out the Federal troops President Hoover stated that "These buildings are on sites where government construction is in progress and their demolition was necessary to extend employment in the District and to carry forward the government's construction program."

A press inquiry at the Office of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury brought the reply that there were no plans for the construction of any buildings on the area from which the bonus marchers were evicted. It was explained that the area would be cleared of debris and seeded grass.

So much for President Hoover's "fact" concerning the immediate purpose for which the ground was required.

An "impression" concerning the status of the evicted men, which President Hoover impliedly, at least, accepted as a "fact" was transmitted by him in a telegram to an American Legion Post at Boston. It reads:

"It is the impression of our government services that less than half of them (the bonus veterans in Washington) ever served under the American flag."

This challenge of the patriotic services of the evicted men was shown to have been wrongfully made when General Frank T. Hines, Adiministrator of Veterans' Affairs, revealed that out of 8,000 names of bonus marchers submitted to his agency, service records were found for all but 500. This information was easily available to President Hoover before he wired the "impression" that less than half of them had ever served under the flag.

The charge voiced by Secretary of War Hurley and other administration leaders that the men were under the influence of Communists likewise proved to be equally without foundation. Of the 47 "suspects" arrested all were discharged for lack of proof.

Last of the administration spokesmen to make statements completely controverted by facts was Representative Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota who charged that dynamite had been found in the camps with caps to explode it. This was officially denied at the office of Superintendent of Police Glassford and at the War Department.

So far as the panicky statements of the administration and its spokesmen relating to the eviction are concerned, they have proved no more trustworthy than were the Pollyanna outgivings from the same source during the first two years of the Hoover panic. On both occasions they all had the effect of misleading the public as to the facts. And this is an average illustration of the kind of "fact finding administration" that is now in power.

LAKE THOMPSON DIED AT HIS HOME LAST SUNDAY

Emmitt Lake Thompson, age 37, died at his home near Jemison last Sunday afternoon after a brief illness. He is widely known over Chilton county, coming from a prominent family of the county.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday morning, conducted by the Rev. Walton, of Notasulga, who rendered a most impressive ceremony. Interment followed in the Clanton cemetery. Ex-soldiers and World War buddies acted as pallbearers, being C. E. Stapp, E. W. Klinner, G. T. Tippett, Z. A. Tippett, Jesse Teel, and Mr. Bass of Birmingham. Martin & Sons were in charge.

The deceased is the son of the late J. J. Thompson, outstanding citizen of the county many years ago. He is survived by his widow, Ollie Mae Cox Thompson, four children, his mother, two sisters, Mrs. Katie Eiland of Clanton and Mrs. Glennie Mims of Florida. Five brothers, Arthur and John, of Clanton, Hugh of Thorsby, Lenzy and Daniel of Birmingham.

W. T. HAND GETTING RESORT IN FINE CONDITION NOW

W. T. Hand, of Jemison, one of the county's widely known citizens, was in Clanton last Monday. Mr. Hand has been expending quite a sum of money at Mineral Springs, near Jemison, developing that fine spring of water.

A large and attractive hotel has been built and nicely furnished. Considerable concrete work has been done, and now, Mr. Hand states, they are erecting bath houses for the treatment and convenience of patients who come to Mineral Springs, seeking relief from Bright's disease.

The Associational B. Y. P. U. picnic which was held Friday at Swift Ceek near Billingsley was in every way a success—six churches were represented. A model program was staged at two-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, and praises were heard from all for the perfect ease in which each one rendered their parts. Credit was due Miss Thelma Martin of Centerville for this program.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fleck of Birmingham spent the week end with Mrs. Fleck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Smedley.

Mrs. T. W. Willis of Jones is visiting Dr. and Mrs. [illegible] Marlar this week.

Mrs. C. D. Golson of Prattville visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baxter, the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter of Montgomery were the guests of Mrs. Minnie Carter Sunday.

Mrs. Hattie Dickinson is visiting relatives and friends in Tuscaloosa.

Mr. E. E. Overstreet is at the Veterans Hospital in Tuscaloosa for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patrick of Montgomery were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Patrick Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. L. A. Marlar is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Gibson, near Clanton this week.

Prof. Griffin and sons of Isabella, were pleasant visitors here Saturday.

Mrs. J. F. King is spending the week with relatives and friends at Jones.

Mrs. C. H. Thompson of Montgomery was the guest of her brother, H. A. Askins, the past week. Mrs. Harmon Davis, and Miss Frances Davis of Clanton and Mrs. Gertie Mae Smith of Wetumpka spent Friday here with Mr. Askins and Mrs. Thompson.

An interesting game of ball was played here Saturday afternoon between Jones and Billingsley. The score was 2 and 1 in favor of the local team.

Pletcher News

Sunday was the day set aside for the old time singing at Pilgrims Rest, but on account of the all-day singing in Selma we think most old time singers went down there, but we had Sunday School and sang a few songs before lunch. Then everyone ate lunch and sang all the afternoon. We had lots of visitors to help sing, and had a very good singing. We want to invite them back again. We have arranged to have choir practice there every Tuesday night. Mr. Henry Ratliff will give rudimentary lessons also.

Our Opportunity School here closed last Friday. Miss Leila Belle Smith, our teacher, returned to her home in Clanton Saturday afternoon, but will be back in a short while. While away she will visit her sister in Anniston.

The school gave a chicken barbecue last Thursday night. Everyone had a real good time playing a number of games before we served the barbecue and tea.

The singing school taught by Mr. Henry Ratliff at his father's home closed last Friday night. They had a real good singing with a large crowd present.

Mr. Earl Williams from Liberty Hill community spent Friday night with Mr. G. B. Williams and attended the singing at Mr. Ratliff's.

Mr. Alonza Askins attended the chicken barbecue Thursday night.

Miss Ruth Kate Smith spent the week end with her sister, Leila Belle, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Payton and children from Elmore spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Dave Deavers.

Mr. Clyde Foshee spent Saturday night with Mr. Orville Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Langston spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Smith, near Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Keener spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson.

Misses Thelma and Lois Ousley spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ousley.

The Spelling Bee between Popwell and Pilgrims Rest at Pletcher last Wednesday afternoon was very interesting, using the old Blue Back Speller. Pilgrims Rest won the match.

Listen- Everybody! Come! Help us out with our B. Y. P. U. every Sunday night and choir practice every Tuesday night. We need your help.

Activities of Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association

The Association at their last meeting Saturday afternoon voted a change of by-laws which set the time for the annual meeting to the second Saturday of October of each year instead of the second Saturday in January. This change was agreeable to all growers present as setting this date forward would be beneficial and will enable the association to line up with its new officers at the close of its business for this year, thereby enabling the [illegible] to get everything in shape for the new season.

150 MOST GORGEOUS BEAUTIES CAST IN "WINNER TAKES ALL"

"What's become of all the beauties in Hollywood?"

Rufus LeMaire, head of the casting department for the Warner Bros. studios in Burbank, wished to know. He was picking players for "Winner Takes All," the Warner Bros. picture starring James Cagney, which comes to the Wadesonian Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, September 7 and 8. They had to be beautiful, they had to be refined-looking; for they were society girls going to a fashionable night club.

LeMaire consulted Bill Mayberry, assistant casting director and the owner of a photographic mind which carries a picture of every pretty face that has appeared in pictures for ten years.

"Bill" said LeMaire, "we've got to have a hundred and fifty 'Knockouts' —the most luscious beauts in Hollywood, for this night club sequence in the Cagney picture.

"O. K.," replied Mayberry, and dug into his desk for a memorandum book marked "special."

He devoted the next few hours to calling telephone numbers, each of which terminated in a gorgeous beauty.

The result of his labors was apparent next day as Roy Del Ruth, Cagney's director, arranged his bouquet of loveliness at tables in the club set.

"Hollywood," said LeMaire,, "has probably attracted more beautiful girls to its gates than any other city in history, but what happens to them is a mystery. Of course, lots of the most beautiful among them marry and quit the studios.

JOE E. TELLS 'EM HOW HE CAME BY HIS BIG MOUTH

Joe E. Brown, coming to the Wadesonian Theatre, in "Local Boy Makes Good," his latest First National starring vehicle, is noted for the quickness of his repartee. One of the stories which illustrates this rare gift has to do with a long argument in which he engaged with certain producers, as to the salary to which he felt himself entitled. His rather hot retorts to his antagonist, caused the latter to say jocosely, "By the way, how did it happen that you got such a big mouth?" Said Joe E., without a second's hesitation, "I got it arguing with producers about salary, and I don't want to stretch it any further!" It might be said that Joe won for he is now known to be well satisfied with his present contract. "Local Boy Makes Good" is Joe's funniest comedy, though the fun is not slapstick, as in earlier films.

Jackson Questions Truth of Statement

Dear Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you give me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the political situation in Chilton County?

Why shouldn't Democracy win in Chilton County this fall, since the Republicans have nothing to offer to the dear people, only to take care of the Party.

I read with much surprise from the editorials of The Union-Banner of recent date, which said in part: "The highly favorable position of the Chilton county treasury was described by Judge L. H. Reynolds at the convention of county commissioners and Probate Judges in Birmingham. The county does not owe a cent he told the convention delegates, and has $75,000 in the treasury. Is there another county in the state of Alabama that can make such a statement."

And is the statement true? It is not. Yet some Democratic papers in Alabama complimented the statement, and praised the Republican administration of Chilton County for its economic efficiency. How can the Democrats Party of Chilton County let such blank statements pass by unchallenged? Is it possible that our Democracy of Chilton county is satisfied with what crumbs that might fall from the Republican pie counter of Chilton county? Since it appears that the records show that the Democrats of Chilton furnish about 80% of the funds that go to supply the pie counter of Chilton county.

Is it possible that the Democrats will let the best opportunity go by that they have had in twenty-five years to put their ticket over the top in Chilton county?

Twenty-five years ago a few Republicans of Chilton county swallowed the Populite Party and became a mighty political monster. The Populite Party came from the Democratic Party, and has been dormant in the belly of the Republican Party for twenty-five years.

Jonah was three days and nights in the whale's belly and while there learned some good things. So it was with us Populite Democrats, who were in the belly of the Republican Party for twenty-five years. We surely know something about this Republican monster of Chilton County.

The Democrats of Chilton have the remedy if they will only pour it down the Republicans. It will make them belch up every good Populite Democrat they have swallowed in the past twenty-five years and thereby cause instant death to the Republican Party of Chilton county, and in November its carcass will be buried so deep the buzzards will never know what became of it.

Democrats, don't fail to give the dose. It will work.

Yours truly,
A. A. JACKSON.

J. T. HEADLEY

Clanton, Ala., Aug.. 29, 1932.

Chilton County News:

Will you plase allow me space in your paper to say a few words in memory of Mr. J. T. Headley?

The death angel visited our home August the 15th, about three o'clock, and carried away the spirit of our beloved father. We miss him, yes, we miss him, but God saw fit to take him home out of his suffering. He had been in ill health for a good while, but he bore his sufferings with patience until God called him. He was sixty-three years old. He leaves to mourn his loss five children and five brothers and one sister. We hated to give him up, but God knew best and took him home. He said he was ready and willing to go when God got ready to call him home.

It was our loss, but heaven's gain. He was laid to rest at Sardis on Tuesday, August 16th, with Rev. T. J. Deason in charge of funeral services.

A precious one from us hath gone.
A voice we loved is stilled.
A chair is vacant in our home which never can be filled.

We thank everybody for their kindness shown us during the illness and death of our dear father. We know he is at rest and we can live in a way that we will meet him again some day in that sweet and happy home where no pain or sorrow ever enters there.

—G. A. Headley and Family.

Nagging Pains are WARNING SIGNALS

TEMPORARY pain relief remedies may save you much suffering at the moment, but putting a mask over a warning signal does not clear up the condition it was telling you to avoid.

When periodic pains, due to a weak, run-down condition, distress you, treatment for the cause of the trouble should be started without delay.

Take Cardui to build up against the nagging symptoms of ordinary womanly ailments. It has been in use for over 50 years. So many women praise CARDUI, it must be good to have the widespread use that it has today. Sold at drug stores.

Searching Alabama For Pink Boll Worms

The United States Department of Agriculture will cooperate with the Alabama Department of Agriculture in keeping Alabama free of pink boll worm, reports Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture and industries.

At present a search is being carried into every county of Alabama to determine whether or not there are pink boll worms in the state. The survey is under the directions of B. P. Livingston, Montgomery, and F. I. Jeffrey, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

The federal agent is visiting gins all over the state with a trash machine which separates all kinds of worms from trash removed from the cotton at gins. The various kinds of worms identified by Mr. Jeffrey or his representatives.

In addition 2,400,000 green cotton bolls will be gathered from every county in the state to be sent to laboratories at San Antonio, Texas, for tests for worms.

The survey is being made in Alabama as a result of a discovery of the pink boll worm in southern Florida

Mulberry News

Our singing school closed last Saturday week, which was conducted by Mr. W. M. DeVaughn of Verbena. The school was carried out wonderfully and was a great success. At the close of the school a singing society was organized, electing Mr. O. F. Davenport, president; Mr. Gwyn Williams, vice-president, and Miss Mary Turner, secretary and treasurer and reporter.

The society meets twice a month—every second and fourth Sunday afternoon, at the church. Beginning at two o'clock. Everyone that is interested in singing, we urge you to be with us. We especially invite all good singers to join us.

BASIC SLAG IS Often the difference between Success and Failure with Winter Legumes

This is the kind of corn that grows after winter legumes and basic slag. This grew on the farm of J. W. Ziglar, Ariton, Dale County, Ala. He gathered 78 bushels per acre.

PHOSPHATE FOR WINTER LEGUMES

"For best results hairy vetch or Austrian winter peas should have a liberal application of phosphate at planting time. If the previous crops have been heavily fertilized with phosphate, the planting application may be omitted in the southern part of the State. But in North Alabama where there is more danger from cold, the phosphate should not be left off at planting time. Apply superphosphate at the rate of 400 pounds per acre or the equivalent in basic slag. Basic slag is very desirable source of phosphate to use. Basic slag has the advantage that it can be mixed with the seed and inoculating dirt and put thru a fertilizer distributor without injury to the inoculation. Superphosphate should not be used in this manner because of the injury to inoculation."— Quoted from circular 115 "Growing Hairy Vetch and Austrian Winter Peas for Soil Improvement" by M. J. Funchess, Director of Experiment Station, and J. C. Lowery, Extension Agronomist, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala.

A STATEMENT FROM
J. B. ATKINSON

To The Citizens Of The Town Of Clanton, Ala.

It has come to my attention that J. Lee Smith and the members of the present Town Council are propounding through the papers of this week six questions to me, and by inuendo and implication therein charge me with violating the law and my duty as Mayor, as well as acts which would be highly prejudicial to me in this campaign. I have not stooped to throwing of mud in this campaign nor cast any aspersions at Mr. Smith nor any candidate for the Council. I entertained the hope when I entered this campaign that it would be conducted on a high plane, and that the election would be conducted honestly and fairly, and that I would have representation on the Board of Inspectors and Clerks.

The people of Clanton are entitled to an answer and an explanation to each of said maledicent questions. I shall answer them in the order they are put.

1. The Town of Clanton paid $1500.00 for the warehouse and lot near the Methodist Church. Mrs. Emmett M. Garner received $1500.00 for same. That sum was the price that she placed upon this property. Neither my wife, nor myself, received one penny as a profit from the sale and purchase of said lot by the Town of Clanton, and the insinuation that I received a $500.00 profit in the purchase of said lot by the Town of Clanton is absolutely false. I did not conceal from any one any fact connected with the purchase of said lot by the Town. The Town of Clanton at the time I assumed office as Mayor owed the First National Bank a note for $7.334.45 and on or about December 18th, 1926, a temporary loan for the sum of $1266.67 was obtained from the First National Bank, and a mortgage given on the lote and same was due on February 1st, 1927. On February 1st, 1927, a payment was made on said loan, of $266.67. On February 16th, 1927, a payment was made on the old indebtedness to said Bank in the sum of $1334.45, which reduced same to $6000.00, and on June 24th, 1927, a payment was made to said Bank in the sum of $1000.00; and was to be applied on the mortgage. On March 22nd, 1928, a payment was made on the old indebtedness for $1000.00. During my two years as Mayor, and during all the time when I was member of the Council, the books of the Town of Clanton were audited annually by a certified Public Accountant. The audit bearing date of September 30th, 1928 shows that on March 22nd, 1928, a note was executed to the First National Bank in the sum of $5400.00 and was payable February 20th, 1929, which included ALL INDEBTEDNESS then due the Bank by the Town of Clanton. Said audit further discloses that when I went out of office as Mayor, the Town owed the following:

Water works bonds	$25,000.00
Street and sidewalk bonds	35,000.00
Balance on fire truck	6,750.00
Note at First National Bank due February 20th, 1929	5,400.00

AND the following accounts:

U. S. C. I. P. Co.	W. W. Equip.	809.86
Total Accounts		$ 7,658.92
Entire Indebtedness		$79,808.92

Said audit discloses that there was on hand in cash the following amounts:

Balance in Peoples Savings Bank	$3,100.53
Balance in First National Bank	2,250.19
Balance of School Fund in P. S. B.	14.62
Total Cash on Hand	$5,365.34

Said audit further discloses that there was due the town:

Street and sidewalk assessments	$22,754.57
Taxes	895.75
Miscellaneous accounts	191.50
Current water bills	1,000.00
Total	$24,841.82

Deducting the amount of cash on hand and bills due the Town from said indebtedness would leave a balance due of $49,601.76. The records of the Town will disclose that during my two years as Mayor the Town donated to the Schools the sum of $2,025.67.

Answer No. 2—

The second question has been answered in the foregoing and there was no mortgage for $1500.00.

Answer No. 3—

It is true that during my term of office as Councilman that the paving was done in Clanton. The cost of the paving was considerably less than what other municipalities paid for similar paving at that time. Dr. N. S. Johnson, J. Watts Moore, M. L. White, J. P. Lawrence, and myself, together with Dr. V. J. Gragg voted for and on each ordinance for paving. At the direction of the Council I prepared the ordinances and did not charge the Town one cent of money for doing so. We extended the water mains for 27 blocks, constructed cement culverts and purchased and had installed underground culverts. If Mr. Smith and his Council desire to give me credit for the improvements made, then I am glad to have credit for same.

Answer No. 4—

During my term as Mayor the charge for water was $1.25 for the first 1000 gallons less 10%, or $1.13 per 1000 gallons, or $.56½ for 500 gallons and the water supplied was regularly inspected and tested by the State Board of Health and was at all times wholesome for human consumption.

Answer No. 5—

It was the custom up until June 12th, 1931, from the time that Lee Smith went in as Mayor, for Mr. Gore, or some employee of the Town, to call at my office and collect the water bills. On June 12th, 1931, the Town cut off my water and I went to the office of the Clerk and asked him what I owed the Town for water and he stated it was $6.02. I gave him a check for that amount and which check was paid and I have the same in my possession. On June 13th, 1931, Mr. Walter Poole approached me in the Post Office and stated that I owed the Town $1.00 more on water and I went to the office and gave him a check for said sum, which check was payable to the Town of Clanton and I have said check in my possession and it was paid by the bank. And I did not thereafter use the city water, but used my private well. I have never received any bill for $3.52 water account. If I am due that amount I would like to know what it is for and have a bill of it.

Answer No. 6—

It is not a fact that I refused to pay any incidental fees to the Grammar School. I did not withdraw my children and send them to a private school. My children, during the last year attended the Seventh Day Adventist School, which is located one-half block from my home and due to the fact that they have a good school and same being convenient and to save the expense of carrying my children to the Grammar School, and to prevent them being exposed to the inclemency of the weather they attended same at a cost to me of $2.50 per month. I paid my State, County and City taxes, which include School Tax, and have always supported every cause in behalf of our Schools. The fact of the business is, I prepared the ordinance, without cost to the Town, calling the election to issue School Bonds to aid in the construction of our present Grammar School building. I believe that the Town should contribute a reasonable amount each year towards our Schools.

And now having fully answered said questions, I desire to propound a few to Mr. J. Lee Smith:

Question No. 1 Did you refuse to issue a warrant at the request of John Boockholdt, the Chief of Police, for the arrest of Mr. W. L. Popwell for keeping within the corporate limits a hog or hogs?

Question No. 2 State what amount has been contributed during your administration as Mayor to the Grammar and High Schools.

As stated at the outset, it was not my purpose to bring up any unpleasant happenings and I shall let the foregoing suffice for the present time, but if Mr. Smith and his Council desire to open the floodgates I will be compelled to call the people's attention to certain past events so that the public may be well informed as to the attributes of those who would like to cast aspersions, insinuations and dirty innuendos at me. If they wish to persist in this kind of campaigning, then I shall reply with facts of like tenor. As stated to the public heretofore, I will appreciate your vote and if elected will strive to make you a good Mayor.

Yours very truly,
J. B. ATKINSON.

To The Citizens Of The Town Of Clanton, Alabama

In the announcement of Mr. J. B. Atkinson, as a candidate for Mayor of the Town of Clanton, in the local papers on Aug. 11, 1932, certain statements were made with reference to the handling of the Town's affairs during his administration from Oct. 1, 1926 to Oct. 1, 1928.

The undersigned are interested in arriving at the truth with reference to certain statements made, and in order that the citizens of the Town may be informed, we will ask Mr. Atkinson the following questions:

1. You state in your announcement that, "The Town purchased and paid for the warehouse and lot near the Methodist Church." Will you please state if it is not a fact that this property was deeded to your wife, Ada M. Atkinson, on Dec. 11, 1926, and on Dec. 14, 1926, you put through the council a resolution whereby the Town purchased the property from your wife, and did you conceal the fact from the council at the time this resolution was passed that this property had been deeded to your wife, and that you were making a profit of more than $500.00 in the deal?

2. Is it not a fact that on Dec. 14, 1926, the town council, by resolution, authorized you and the clerk to borrow $1500.00 from the First National Bank, to pay the owner for this property, and this loan was secured by a mortgage on the property, and said mortgage is now due and unpaid?

3. You state that no paving was done during your administration, but is it not a fact that you were a member of the Town Council and actually maneuvered the proceedings to pave the streets and side walks of the Town of Clanton, even though this was not done during your incumbency as mayor?

4. You state that, "The water rates during the time I was mayor was not raised and if elected mayor I will use my influence and vote to reduce the water rate."

Is it not a fact that during your term as mayor the Town of Clanton had no filtering plant and the water furnished at that time was of very poor quality, being red and muddy at times, and is it not a fact that you maintained during your entire administration a minimum charge of $1.25 for 1000 gallons of unfiltered water, where as the minimum charge for water is $1.50, at present, for 1500 gallons or $1.00 per thousand gallons?

5. Is it not a fact that on or about the 1st day of July 1931 that you discontinued using city water and refused to pay the town of Clanton a water bill of $3.52, and installed a private water system on your premises, and advised some of your friends to do like wise? Would it not be impossible for the Town of Clanton to operate a water works, or fire department if all other water customers should follow your example?

6. You speak of public donations for schools and your willingness if elected to assist the school authorities in running nine month schools, but is it not a fact that you failed and refused to pay the incidental fees due the Clanton Grammar School and withdrew your children from the city school and sent them to a private school.

J. LEE SMITH, Mayor.

CHILD WELFARE WORKER IS TO SPEAK HERE SAT.

Propose To Organize Relief Committees For Each County Precinct

Information given the News this week stated that Miss Loula Dunn, of the State Child Welfare Department, Montgomery, would be in Clanton next Saturday, September 10th, and will speak at the courthouse at two o'clock that afternoon, on relief for the women and children of our county in the coming winter.

It is hoped the good ladies of Chilton County will take time to come to this meeting to help organize relief committees for every precinct in Chilton County. We have no child welfare worker at present.

Remember that winter time is coming on and it is hoped we can organize and get ahead of the depression and that we will be able to keep everybody from suffering this winter.

A good representation of both men and women from every precinct in the county is wanted, and every preacher in the county, and every church organization in the county will be represented.

If we all would do our duty this work would not be a burden to anybody but if left to a few they will not be able to aid an dassist the distressed this winter as they should be.

Remember the date, Saturday, September 10, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the Court House.

Two More Are Out For Councilmen

The city election to be held this month is taking on considerable interest, and the citizens of the town are putting forth candidates of splendid standing for these offices.

Two more have announced as candidates for members of the city council. These are J. Watts Moore and J. Q. Wade.

Both these men are well known, not only because they have been in business in Clanton for a number of years, but also because of their interest in the affairs of the town. They are both well qualified for these offices and are progressive, thinking citizens. Their names will appear on the city election ballot.

ALL-DAY SINGING TO BE HELD AT PLEASANT GROVE

There will be an all-day singing at Pleasant Grove the first Sunday in October. This church is located eight miles west of Clanton.

All singers are invited to come and spend the day, and bring lunch. Several well known singers are expected to be present and add greatly to the enjoyment of this occasion.

SINGERS WILL MEET SOON IN MAPLESVILE

1932 Session Of Singing Convention To Meet On September 18th

The 1932 session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the high school building in Maplesville on Sunday, September 18th. Singing will begin at ten o'clock. All singers of the county are invited to take notice and try an darrange to attend. This is a county-wide affair, and it is hoped that the singers from all over the county will feel that it is their own. We hope to make it the best ever held in the county. Quartets from this and adjoining counties are expected.

An invitation has been extended to all of the large publishing houses to have representatives and quartets present. A number of singers from the Birmingham district are expected, as well as those from Coosa, Autauga, Elmore and Shelby counties.

Julian Evans, after spending a year with his mother, Mrs. Glennie Evans, left Saturday for the home of his brother, Leon. Julian hopes to slip into a good job, vacated by some college student.

Grand Jury Called To Convene Soon

An order from Judge F. Loyd Tate this week stated that a Grand Jury for Chilton county will be called to convene on Monday, September 26th, at which time a term of Circuit Court will be held.

A regular term of Circuit Court is also called to convene here Monday, September 31st.

SIXTEEN ARE CARRIED TO KILBY PRISON

Eight Bids Received On Lay Dam Road Work

The Commissioners Court of Chilton county was in session Monday and Tuesday of this week, to consider bids received on the asphalting of the two miles of the Lay Dam Road.

Eight bids were received from contractors. McCalla & Kenan, of Montgomery and Carey Reed Co., of Birmingham submitted the two lowest bids on two classes of work. All others were eliminated. Just which of these is to be accepted by the court will not be known until the court meets again.

Due to heavy rains on the road, it is impossible to determine at this time which of these two types of work will be best, it was stated.

V. J. ELMORE RETURNS FROM MARKETS WITH GOOD REPORTS

V. J. Elmore, proprietor of the widely known V. J. Elmore 5c, 10c & $1.00 Stores over the state, returned to Clanton Saturday from an extensive trip to St. Louis markets, and other points, in the interest of his stores.

Mr. Elmore brings back some fine reports of the business outlook, stating that judging from indications, business is on the upgrade, and buying was showing up heavy at the markets he visited.

He also stated that he was able to make purchases at low prices, before the rise in prices started and was giving his customers the benefits of these bargains.

ICE CREAM SUPPER AT NEW SALEM CHURCH SATURDAY

The News has been requested to announce that there will be an ice cream supper at the New Salem church on Saturday night of this week.

Everyone is invited to come and enjoy this affair. Proceeds are for the benefit of the New Salem church.

One of Clanton's promising young men, Herman Harris, left Monday for Auburn where he has entered the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for this session of school.

This is Herman's first year off at school. He graduated with honors at the Chilton County High School last year, and made the highest grades of his class during his four years here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Harris of Clanton.

MOTOR FREIGHT LINES AND RAILROAD TAXES

It has been the hope of sober thinking people of this State that a bill would be introduced at the extra session of the Legislature compelling the motor freight carriers to pay their fair share of the taxes as the railroads are compelled to do.

At the last session of the Legislature a bill was introduced regulating this situation, but it seems that nothing much is being done about it.

The editor of this paper thinks that the motor freight lines in this state are escaping a fair tax, by using the public highways for a roadbed which are built and maintained by the taxpayers' money. Shall we furnish these motor carriers a roadway to transport their goods over and compel the railroads to build theirs? Talk over this proposition with your representative in the Legislature—Let's see what can be done about it.

THE RISING COST OF GOVERNMENT

Regardless of what statesmen and pseudo-statesmen may say, the taxpayer knows how ridiculous it is to suppose that he can support a four billion dollar government. He knows that costly and useless bureaus and commissions must be abolished.

The American people must become aroused to what is going on in Washington. It is unfortunately true that the ever mounting cost of the Federal government has escaped the attention of the people because, except in war and panics, Federal taxes have been more or less indirect taxes. Now that we are in the midst of a great depression, Congress has imposed taxes which it takes real money to satisfy.

Instead of a bureaucracy we must have a democracy. — Memphis Commercial Appeal.

BUREAUCRACY vs. PEOPLES' RIGHTS

Government by commission and the growth of bureaucracy has been part and parcel of Republican government for the past twelve years. It has been brought to its highest development by the Hoover administration. The increase in Federal bureaucracy in the last decade has been greater than at any time in the history of the country.

Washington is beginning to blossom with monuments to bureaucracy. The $17,500,000 Department of Commerce building is one. The enlarged Agricultural Department edifice is another. From the capital these great hives of bureaucrats send out emissaries into every part of the country. The agents appointed by the government interfere with all sorts of business. They attempt to insinuate themselves into the private lives of the citizens of the United States. There is almost no activity now which has not been invaded in some fashion by the government.

It was recently stated in press dispatches that the United States government today is a participant in more forms of business than any other government, excepting only Soviet Russia.

Nothing that Congress has been able to do or offered to do has stemmed this wave of government expansion. At the suggestion of the Administration the President was given wide powers to co-ordinate and consolidate the agencies of the government in order to reduce personnel and expenses. The bureaucrats in the Cabinet have, however, resisted vigorously the carrying out of any policy designed to lessen the number of minor bureaucrats. Commissions, conferences, committees and agents increase daily. The interference and meddling of the government into matters which concern the states and individuals has not been reduced.

Resentment of this policy is not confined to the Democratic party. Republicans in all sections of the United Sttaes are weary of so much government in business that there is no business left. The farmer is disgusted with such help as he has obtained from the Farm Board, which only resulted in depressing the price of wheat to a level lower than any reached in twenty years. The merchant is tired of filling out questionnaires as to his business, which has gone together with the Republican pledge of prosperity. The citizen resents the governmental encroachments into his daily life and the conduct of his family.

The Chicago Tribune, a Republican paper that has crusaded vigorously against bureaucratic and commission government, sees a parallel between present conditions in our Federal Government and those that exist under socialism and communism. It says:

"There is now a form of government which is more nearly akin to the Russian Soviets than it is to the system provided in the Constitution. . . . Its commissars are now conducting the business of the American people. A triumvirate board of officers, acting as a judicial commission, recently ordered the Chicago Board of Trade closed. . . . A commission is in the banking business. . . . The Farm Board is trying to communize the farms. . . The government has gone into the building and loan business. . . . Commissars want to control public education. . . . They conduct markets in competition with taxed citizens. . . . They dig weeds, raid homes, tap wires, padlock places of business and take property without just process. They have boosted the cost of government to five billions and they have so ruined the people that now the States are sending mendicants to Washington to get money to feed their destitute."

And this is only a partial view that paper takes of the government now administered by the Hoover administration.

NOW IT IS THE POOR PRINTERS

Not content with already heavy burdens on country newspapers and printing plants, in the way of taxes and increased postage rates under this new form of government we have, now comes a Bill in the Legislature of Alabama that, undoubtedly is primarily aimed at country newspapers and job printing plants.

It is a Bill 'To provide for the employment and instruction of inmates confined in the State Prisons of Alabama. To establish and operate manufacturing enterprises under the control and management of the governing authority of State Prisons. To further regulate the purchase of all commodities to be used by all offices, institutions, departments, commissions and bureaus of the State of Alabama, and all political subdivisions thereof.'

In other words, and in a nut shell, it is a Bill to allow the State of Alabama to go into business, manufacture its own needs, which if passed as it stands, will cripple many smaller newspaper and job printing plants, and even forcing some out of business.

Printers are not such bad fellows. Printers are doing as much as anyone to bring back normal times. It is the printer who urges the people to "stand by" and pull together. It is the printer who stands up for his community, draws his salary in his home town and spends it there.

And yet, some fellow has conceived of this uncanny idea of throwing many printers out of work through this Bill.

But, if passed as it stands, this Bill does not affect printers only. There are a lot of things the State uses and is sold by dealers.

Dr. V. J. Gragg Moves His Office Down Town

In order that he may be found easier by patients and those wishing to settle accounts with him, Dr. V. J. Gragg, prominent physician and surgeon, of the Central Alabama Hospital here, has established an office down town.

Dr. Gragg's office is located next door to the office of Dr. J. P. Hayes, on the highway, across the street from the News office.

BIG CROWDS AT BAPTISTCHURCH DURING REVIVAL

Services To Continue Thru Sunday At Baptist Church Here

The revival meeting which opened at the Baptist church in Clanton last Sunday morning has been increasing in interest and power each day and night this week.

The church was filled Sunday morning to greet Dr. John A. Sampey, widely known preacher, who is here doing the preaching for this splendid revival, and whose daily sermons are drawing crowds, almost always the same persons, with many new faces seen at each service.

Another attractive feature of the meeting is the songs. The singing is being directed, and ably so, by Charles O. Miller, a singer of note, who takes a great interest in carrying out his part of the revival.

The meeting will run through next Sunday, according to an announcement by Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor. Services each morning at ten o'clock, and at night. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Collins Chapel Evening School Is Progressing

The evening school at Collins Chapel School House has started off with a good attendance. There are twenty-three men enrolled.

At the last meeting Mr. Montgomery had on hand a number of the most damaging insects to truck crops. He discussed their control.

At the next meeting Mr. Wilbur Bean will give his experience in using spray materials on truck crops and in the control of poultry lice and mites.

The meetings are held every Tuesday and Friday nights.

HOME COMING CONCORD CHURCH OCTOBER 15TH

A home coming day will be observed at Concord M. P. Church 2½ miles north of Billingsley October 15th. If you are a member of this church, you are urged and expected to be present. Several of our former pastors have promised to be present, since it will be on Saturday. Part of the program will be given over to you. It will begin at 10:00 o'clock. Lunch will be served. We are expecting you to be present and help us revise our church register. Come and be surprised.

FINE STALK OF SORGHUM IS BROUGHT TO NEWS OFFICE

One of the finest stalks of sorghum seen in some time was brought to the News office last week by Robert Ward and L. V. Dennis. This stalk measured thirteen and one-half feet, well formed.

They stated they had about an acre of this, which is the Texas seeded sorghum. It was raised on the Primm place near Clanton.

BOTH VERBENA SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY MORN, SEPT. 12

Prof. W. C. DuBose announces that both the elementary and high schools at Verbena will open on next Monday morning, September 12th, at eight o'clock. All children are asked to be on time and ready to start work.

"TOM THUMB WEDDING" WILL BE STAGED AT MAPLESVILLE

A "Tom Thumb Wedding" will be staged at the high school auditorium in Maplesville Saturday night, September 10th, at eight o'clock.

Admission will be ten and fifteen cents. Everyone is invited to see this presentation of this well known play.

PRICE UPTURN WILL SOON BE ON WAY HERE

Markets Show Steady Climb On Articles Affecting All Business

Merchants of Clanton are showing some real business sense these days by buying, and buying heavy, the goods they will need in their stores during the coming months, especially for this winter.

This is because markets on practically every commodity, are showing sharp upturns. Several merchants of Clanton have recently visited markets in larger cities, where they purchase their stocks. They return, reporting that prices are advancing rapidly and they also state that they took advantage of the present low prices

Those merchants who have done that are doing the people of this section a great favor. By buying goods at low prices, before the advance, these merchants will be able to sell at low prices, much lower than they would have been able to, if they had waited to purchase their Fall and Winter goods.

Clanton merchants are to be commended on this. Of course, it is much to their benefit as it is to the customers, but these merchants can rightfully be accused of looking after their customers. The merchants who have made these exceptional purchases in goods, will tell the people about it thru advertising. Watch the ads in the papers for this good news.

Methodists Elect New Trustees, Stewards Etc.

At the 4th Quarterly conference of the Clanton Methodist church Sunday night, Prof. L. C. Warr was re-elected as Sunday school superintendent for another year. Mrs. O. R. Mullins was elected as Stewardship director, and J. B. Atkinson was elected as Golden Cross director.

The Trustees of Church Property are W. M. Polk, J. Q. Wade, P. D. Wilson, W. A. Reynolds, C. R. Mullins, F. J. Callen, W. D. Spigener, J. B. Atkinson and Eric Hart.

The stewards for the coming year were elected as follows: J. D. Armstrong, J. B. Atkinson, F. J. Callen, V. J. Elmore, Otto Jones, T. C. McSwain, Percy M. Pitts, I. C. Page, Omar Reynolds, L. H. Reynolds, C. E. Stapp, J. Q. Wade and M. L. White

The presiding elder looked carefully into the financial condition of the church, and urged the membership to get in behind the deficit and if possible have a full report when the Annual conference meets in Troy on November the 17th

MAN DROWNS WHEN SMALL BOAT SINKS

Labor Day Outing Ends In Tragedy At Higgins Camp On Coosa

Clanton, Alabama, September 6.—A Labor Day outing ended in tragedy Monday afternoon about three o'clock, when Prvt. Timothy Busse, of the 51st Aviation Squadron, Maxwell Field, Montgomery, was drowned at Higgins Camp on Coosa river.

Reports state that Busse was with a party composed of Sgt. Benjamin Hoffman, Sgt. B. F. Jablonsky, and Miss Frances Berry, all of Montgomery. They were said to have been riding in a small boat, which capsized.

Miss Berry, who is said to be an expert swimmer, went to the aid of Busse. He told her he could make it to the bank of the river, but failed, while Miss Berry was aiding another of the party.

Searching for the body of Busse was started immediately, and Tuesday morning shortly after ten o'clock, the body came to the top, about ten feet from where it went under the water. An ambulance from Martin & Sons, of Clanton was on hand, and brought the body to Clanton Tuesday morning. Busse's home is in Philadelphia, Pa.

Samuel Martin of Martin & Sons, Clanton, stayed with the searching party all night, looking for the body of the drowned man. The body of Busse was sent to Montgomery from Clanton.

Maplesville School Is Making Rapid Stride

Will Open Monday, Sept. 12; Patrons Show Splendid Cooperation

The Elementary and the High School at Maplesville will open Monday, September 12th. Parents and students are requested to assemble in the auditorium at 8:30 o'clock for a short program, after which registration of students will begin.

The people at Maplesville have built their high school during one of the worst financial panics. They gave their money unselfishly to the cause of education, thus helping boys and girls to better prepare themselves for life.

Last year every department of the high school with the exception of one was raised to meet State standards. This cost the community and the State approximately $2,000.

The Elementary School was not forgotten last year. The following additions were made, namely:

1. With the help of the County Board of Education, and the State, a new standard size class room was added at a cost of around $1,650.

2. The P.-T. A. purchased the Volume Library for use in the elementary school, the cost being about $10.

3. A new sixteen volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedias were purchased for use in the elementary school at a cost of $69.50.

4. Maps were purchased for use in the elementary school at a cost of $41.75.

5. New tables were constructed by the high school woodworking classes to meet the needs of the elementary school.

The money has been raised and the order has been placed for the Physics equipment. This order added to the inventory of Physics equipment already on hand raises this department up to State standard, or around $500.00 worth. This was the last department to be raised, and now, since the additions have been made, parents and students may now rest assured that the accreditment of the Maplesville High School is of a permanent nature.

We do not have in our possession, a list of the names of the parents and friends of the school who so willingly gave of their money last year. If we had that list, it would be our desire to have their names appear in this article. We do have the names of those who made it possible to purchase the Physics equipment this summer. Their names follow:

Dr. F. G. DuBose, Dr. C. N. Parnell, Mr. J. E. Wallace, Mr. John Maples, Mr. G. E. Keyser, Mr. W. M. Oden, Mr. W. M. Lawley, Mr. Crof Shoults, Mr. F. D. Nix, Mr. H. H. Middlebrooks, Mr. Cal Foshee, Mr. J. V. Mount, Mr. A. D. Latham, Mr. C. R. Raybon, Mr. E. H. Davis, Mr. A. B. Jones, Mr. J. R. Walker, Mr. J. T. Walker, Mr. G. W. Walker, Mr. Reedie Taylor,, Mr. Roy Ealem, Mr. Stanley Hays, Mr. Byron Harris, Mr. A. T. Dawson, Mr. Rube Bearden, Mr. E. N. Shanks, Dr. H. M. Nix, Mr. J. J. Hayes, Mr. P. W. Boykin, Mr. Hill Foshee, Mr. T. R. Williams, Mr. Hampton.

Time and space prevent the outlining of the future needs of the school in great detail. Only those most pressing needs will be given here.

High School Needs

1. A separate building to house the Home Economics Laboratories, the woodworking shop, the biology, chemistry and the physics laboratories. This building will cost approximately $3,500, with an additional $500 worth of furniture.

2. Additions to all types of equipment to meet the needs of increased enrollment.

3. A better heating system. A steam heating plant would be the ideal system since the school has running water in the building.

4. At least $100.00 worth of books should be added each year to the high school library.

5. Approximately $1,000 worth of equipment should be added to the auditorium within the next few years.

Elementary School Needs

The first objective to be reached, of course, is to meet "C" standard. We hope to meet this standard this year. After this standard is reached, the next standard in order is the "B" standard. Then, finally, the "A" rating. A description of these standards and the cost of each would require too much space here, however, we might list the outstanding features of the "A" standard, namely:

1. Not less than a nine months term each year.

2. One grade to the teacher, and not over forty students in average daily attendance per teacher.
per teacher. a2,wit f

3. No teacher with less than two years College work. (Special).

4. Permanent system of records.

5. Adjustment of curriculum to meet student needs.

6. Elementary School Library as required catalogued according to a modified system of the Dewey Decimal system.

7. A Helping Teacher with not less than a Masters Degree or its equivalent.

8. Entire school to score not less than 900 points.

It is with pleasure that we look forward to the opening of school. Parents and friends have the most cordial invitation to be present at the opening. It will be our pleasure to have you visit the school at any time throughout the year.

Cordially submitted,
J. E. DANIEL.

Isabella Is Looking Forward To Opening

The Isabella High School will open its regular session September 12, at 9 o'clock. Dr. S. J. Ezell will be the speaker of the morning.

It is hoped that many of our patrons will attend and demonstrate the proper interest in the school and in the work that is to be done by their children. We feel sure that a splendid school spirit will characterize the opening of school.

G. G. WILLIAMS, Principal.

Superintendent Urges Cooperation Of All

To the Patrons of the Schools of Chilton County:

As the first school openings are near at hand, I wish to urge you to do everything that you can to make this school year the most profitable one possible or your child.

In this week's school page, you see how enthusiastic the principals are to begin school. They are willing and eager to take up their work of leading the youth to higher knowledge and powers even when confronted with financial handicaps. When we see the interest of these teachers to begin their duties even in the face of the fact that they have had no money paid to them for their services since last January, then, I say, I feel that it is time for us, as parents, to offer to them every bit of co-operation possible. Let us work together for the best school year for our boys and girls—the future men and women of Chilton County.

Respectfully yours,
B. LAWRENCE, Supt.

Verbena High School Announces Opening

The Verbena High School will open September 12. Monday will be classification day, and on Tuesday the regular classroom work will begin. There will be no formal opening.

All of last year's faculty will be back except Miss Clemmie Jane Heald. Miss Jettie Ward, a former teacher, will take Miss Heald's place as teacher of domestic science.

Last year the enrollment increased over the year before. We enrolled 147 and had 9 pupils who were perfect in attendance.

Members of the faculty appreciate the perfect co-operation given them by the parents and student body last year, and will apprecite that co-operation again this year. Parents are urged to enter their children the first day of school, because the length of term is so very uncertain, the child needs to put in every available day.

W. C. DuBOSE, Principal.

Thorsby Junior High Makes Announcement

The Thorsby Public School will open on Monday, September 12. Dr. D. W. Haskew, pastor of the Methodist church of Clanton, will give an educational address at 9 o'clock. All pupils who will attend this school this year are urged to be present on this date. All parents are urged to be present at the opening.

The 9th grade will be taught in the public school this year of the class is large enough to justify it. All of the public school teachers for Thorsby are requested to meet at the school building on Friday, September 9th, for a faculty meeting.

W. T. BEAN, Principal.

Power Co. Schools Will Open Monday

Announcement is beeing made by Supt. Powers of Lay Dam and Supt. Hollis of Mitchell Dam that their respective schools will open Monday, September 12. These people feel fortunate in securing the services of the teachers who have been teaching for them before:

Lay Dam: Miss Ethel Mize, Prin., Miss Frances O'Neal.

Mitchell Dam: Mrs. J. S. Ogletree.

These schools are well equipped with materials for better teaching and the Power Company supplements the school term so that they have a term of nine months each year.

Jemison High School Is Optimistic Over Session

Opening Date Announced For Sept. 12

The Jemison High School begins its eleventh session of accreditment, September 12, at 9 A.M. It faces the future with confidence—assured of the soundness of its ideals and the quality of its training by the records of its graduates.

In spite of financial difficulties—which it is hoped that the legislature will remove—the Jemison High School is preparing for a big year on the belief that the parents realize that education is an asset and that the gruelling economic race will be won by those who go into it best qualified by continued schooling.

The instructors are specialists in their lines of work. Thty were chosen for their powers of constructive leadership, their cultural and social backgrounds an dtheir scholastic achievements.

The ideal of the faculty for those who enroll is that they do serious work as students and possess high character as, boys and girls. The intellectual equipment which they acquire as a foundation will fit them without fail for positions of service and leadership in society.

There has been a continued growth in the enrollment of the Jemison High School since its accreditment until it has become one of the largest rural high schools in the State. The enrollment for the year 1931-32 was 625 students. An increase in enrollment is anticipated this year.

The school extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend the opening exericses. The program will consist largely of music, local and out-of-town speakers, and the awarding of certificates to those twenty-five (25) students who were perfect in attendance last term.

Fine Report Made on Opportunity Schools

666 Whites And Negroes Enrolled With Outstanding School Records

We have just closed our fourth summer of Opportunity schools for whites and the second summer for negr The work this summer has been very successful, but not so far reaching as we had expected. We did not enroll as many of those who cannot read and write as we had hoped to enroll. People are very much disturbed over the depressing conditions, not knowing how or where they will get food and clothes, and are therefore hard to interest in going to school.

The attendance has been somewhat irregular—but the accomplishments of those who did enroll has been wond ful. We enrolled 263 whites in ten schools and 65 of those enrolled could not read or write; 51 of this number learned to read and write.

403 Negroes were enrolled in twelve schools, 139 of these were illiterate 113 learned to read and write. T work has been so interesting among those who did attend that all communities where schools were located have already petitioned for schools next summer.

The oldest white person who learned to read and write was Mr. J. T. Retherford of the Mt. Pisgah School. The oldest negro who learned to read and write was a pupil in the Chilton Belle school. She was 93 years old and ha a brother, 88, who went to the same school and also learned to read d write.

Many other things were taught outside the teaching of reading and writing in all schools. Home Economics courses were taught at Mt. Pisgah and Cooper by Miss Dennis. The women and girls not only learned cooking and sewing but learned better methods of doing the things that are their d tasks to do. More sanitation around the home was among the important things taught in these courses. A quilt was made by the ladies who attended the school at Chestnut Grove. While they were learning to make a new sort of quilt, they did not forget that the children need better materials an equipment in order to get the n from their school work this win Therefore the ladies made one quilt be sold for $4, the money to go for l ing a blackboard for the school room. This quilt may now be seen in the window of The Leader in Clanton.

As a whole, I consider the work very successful and worthwhile.

J. L. Davis Writes To The Voters Of Chilton County On Items of Interest

Stanton, Ala., Sept. 3, 1932.

Editor, Chilton County News:

I would like to express, through the columns of your fine newspaper, to the people of Chilton County, some of my views regarding the administration of affairs of our county government, in behalf of my candidacy for office of member of the Commissioners Court of this county.

What I have to say is not intended to be detrimental toward any member of the present Commissioners Court, nor do I intend to criticise them. It occurs to me that with the large amount of money spent annually on our roads, much more work, that would be much more beneficial to the people, could be done.

The road work in Chilton county should be placed in the hands of a competent engineer, a man who knows how to build and maintain roads at a minimum cost to the people. It has also occured to me that there is a tremendous amount of the people's money spent uselessly for road machinery. You, nor no one else would think of buying a $10,000 piece of machinery and turning it over to unexperienced men to operate, and repair. That is inefficiency, and costs much more than it should. I am in favor of hiring only experienced road men to take care of such responsible jobs, and let the less experienced workers handle the lesser jobs, which would mean a great saving to the county.

Another item that should be of much more interest to the thinking people of Chilton county, is our almshouse. Everyone knows that our almshouse has been something of a political football, used to further political causes of one or another.

In my opinion, an almshouse should be given high respect, and those who have been so unfortunate as to have to be inmates, should be given the best possible during their last years of life on earth. The people of Chilton county owe it to their poor, to see that they are taken care of properly, instead of being "let out" to the lowest bidder.

It is no doubt apparent that the Board of Education of Chilton county does not receive any too great cooperation from Commissioners Court. There is another item that sooner or later will face the people of Chilton county, unless it is already facing them. It seems to me that with proper cooperation between the board of education and the commissioners court, our school system would not be undergoing such suffering as is now apparent.

These are just a few views I have in regard to matters of interest to every citizen of this county. As stated above, I am a candidate for a member of the Commissioners Court, on the Democratic ticket, and if elected, will take care of my part of the county's business in an open-minded manner, with the interest of the people in mind, rather than any political interest. I will appreciate your vote and influence in the coming general election.

Yours very truly,
J. L. DAVIS.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson Entertains For Charming Visitor.

One of the many social events of the past week was the lovely dance at which Miss Elizabeth Johnson was the charming hostess to a number of her friends at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson, complimenting her attractive visitor, Miss Aline Campbell, of Birmingham, Ala. Dancing was enjoyed by the delighted guests thruout the evening. Music was furnished by a local ten-piece orchestra. An attractive punch bowl placed on a beautifully decorated table offered a refreshing drink of punch to the guests. Among those fortunate in sharing this gracious hospitality of such a charming hostess were Misses Janice Danforth, Myra Johnson, Elizabeth Browder, Dixie Johnson, Sunset Bradford, and the craming guest of honor, Miss Aline Campbell, and Edwin Mullins, Charles Moore, Arthur Johnson, Jr., Hoyt Reynolds, Rufus Brown, Aubrey Taylor, Moses Simpson, "Chick" Fiquette, William Arthur Willis, Tom Frank Teel, Leon Mullins, Raymond Smith, Howard Mahaffey, William Simpson. The evening was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. L. F. Gerald and daughter, Celia, returned from Russellville Sunday where they spent several days as the guests of Mrs. Jack Wade.

Football training at the local high school started last Monday and quite a number of boys checked in for the season. The local high school has a bright prospect of a good team this year. Let's boost our team.

Miss Helen Diefenderfer left today for Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga., where she will resume her studies for the coming winter. She attended this college during the summer months, and after her short vacation she returns to carry on.

L. A. Calloway, of Miami, Fla., arrived in Clanton recently and has been spending several days with his brothers, Joe and Claude Calloway.

Mrs. Lula E. Calloway, and daughters, Loris and Leola, of Birmingham, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Aldridge, near Clanton.

Raymond Mims and Buster Foshee, of two of Chilton's fine and promising young men, left Monday to attend the University of Alabama.

M. A. Pinson of Cooper, Ala., was in Clanton Monday and attended the ball games between the fine Coopers team and the Clanton team.

Clanton will have in a few days a first class dance orchestra composed of local talent. For the past several months these boys have been practicing on orchestration music and they have reached the point where they are able to play for dances. The members of this orchestra are Miss Edith Johnson of Thorsby, Dick Arnold, Grady Carter, C. L. McCutcheon, Lester Carter, Dan Smith, Joe Moore, and Curtis Carter.

Mrs. Annie Cannon and daughter, Mrs. Bill Caffee, nee Conradine Lane, and son, Bill, left last week for their home in Vance after spending a few days in Clanton as the guests of Mrs. Mamie C. Smith and family. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Flem Higgins and son, Flem, Jr., who will return to Clanton sometime next week.

Miss Aline Campbell of Birmingham has returned to her home after spending last week in Clanton as the guest of Miss Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

The revival at the local Baptist church, which has been in session all this week and will continue on till Sunday, has been attended by a large crowd. Dr. Sampey is delivering some fine sermons and with Mr. Miller leading the singing no one should miss the opportunity to attend this wonderful meeting. The morning services begin at ten o'clock and the evening services begin promptly at 7:30. All those that can are urged to attend and hear the inspiring sermons by Dr. Sampey.

Mr. and Mrs. John Newell and children of Birmingham were the week end guests of Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds last week.

On Monday of this week Clanton's ball team, noted for their fearless playing, tackled the strong Cooper team for a double-header, winning both. The first game was played in the morning, ending with the score 5 to 4 in favor of Clanton and the afternoon game ended in Clanton's favor, 6 to 3. Both games were played on the ball diamond at the local high school.

Mrs. Julius Burnett Entertains.

Last Wednesday afternoon at her attractive home Mrs. Julius Burnett was the charming hostess to the members of the Wednesday afternoon Bridge Club. The receiving apartments were attractively decorated with pretty fall flowers and other Autumn decorations. Several enjoyable games of bridge were played by the guests and in the late afternoon a delicious salad plate with refreshing ice tea was served to the guests. Those present at this lovely social event were Mesdames John Armstrong, Grady Reynolds, J. Watts Moore, Hugh Simpson, John Deramus, Hance Alred, Frank Callen and N. S. Johnson.

Misses Mildred and Edna Durbin of the Fairview community were the guests of Miss Agnes Askins, popular young member of the society set of Bethsalem community over the past week end.

Young Matrons Sewing Club Met With Mrs. Reedie Taylor.

Last Thursday afternoon at her home on third avenue Mrs. Reedie Taylor was the hostess to the members of the Young Matrons Sewing Club and several invited guests. The afternoon was delightfully spent in sewing and other entertainment. Following this a delicious ice course was served to the following members: Mesdames Grady Heflin, Horsley White, John Durwood Mullins, Bill Inzer, Spurgeon Calloway, Dewey Rockett, Milton Smith and the visitors were Mrs. E. J. Brand, Mrs. Marcus Polk and Miss Mary Nell Bachelor of Wetumpka. The meeting today will be held at Mrs. Horsley White's.

Earl Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T Ellis, left Monday for Auburn where he will enter school.

Nelson Parrish, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parrish, left Monday for Auburn where he will enter school.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Foshee motored to Maplesville Tuesday. They were accompanied by William Arthur Willis who continued on to Tuscaloosa where he will resume his studies at the University of Alabama.

George Popwell, popular young man of Clanton, left Tuesday for Gulfport, Miss., where he will enter the Gulfport Military Academy.

Miss Ellen Stanley of Birmingham is visiting her brother, Mr. Wilbert Stanley, near Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Farley and son Leonard, Jr., of Birmingham were callers in Clanton last Sunday. While here they visited relatives and friends.

Mrs. M. L. White and Mrs. A. S. Prince are in Birmingham today as the spend-the-day guests of Mrs. Prince's sister, Mrs. W. M. Mauck.

Miss Erin Danforth, student nurse at the Baptist Hospital in Birmingham, was in Clanton last Thursday visiting her mother, Mrs. E. W. Danforth.

The many friends of J. A. Hester will be sorry to learn that he has been unwell for some time and that it became necessary that he take treatment at the Central Alabama Hospital.

Miss Jane Roberts leaves next Monday for the beginning of her college course at the Woman's College in Montgomery. Janes was one of the best pupils in the local high school, and it is predicted that she will make good in her college work.

Dr. Raymond Calloway and Miss Martha Bell Hilton of Birmingham were the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Calloway, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Arant, who took their friends by surprise in their marriage recently, have moved into the house on 7th avenue formerly occupied by Loren Smith.

Rev. N. B. McLeod, presiding elder of the Selma district, preached at the Methodist church Sunday night, and held the 4th Quarterly Conference following the service.

Lamar Calloway of Durham, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Calloway, was a visitor in Clanton last week end. He is a student in medicine at Duke University and will finish in three months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Smith and son, J. Lee, Jr., left today for Gulfport, Miss. where J. Lee Jr., will attend the Gulfport Military Academy. They were accompanied by Alec Hayes and George Popwell, who will also attend this school.

Mrs. John Deramus Hostess To Card Club.

A delightful social event of the past week was the lovely bridge party at which Mrs. John Deramus was the charming hostess to the members of the Thursday Contract Club and invited guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Mullins, last Thursday afternoon. After a short series of interesting games of bridge a tempting salad course was served to the following: Mesdames Hugh Jones, Omar Reynolds, Grady Reynolds, J. Lee Smith, J. P. Hayes, Grady Broadhead, and the invited guests, Miss Beverly Hester and Mrs. Joe Venable. Beautiful dahlias and other pretty flowers adorned the apartments open to the guests.

Rev. E. C. Evans and family passed through Clanton Sunday afternoon on their way to Bainbridge, Georgia, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Evan's mother who died Saturday in Mayfield, Ky. Rev. E. C. Evans moved from Clanton about the middle of last year, and since that time has been State W. O. W. Director in Kentucky. Their mother lived with them in Clanton and was still in their home at the time of her death. The body was shipped back to her old home where the funeral took place on Tuesday.

HASKEW HONORED WITH SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

The congregation of the Methodist church honored their pastor, Dr. D. W. Haskew, with a surprise birthday party on last Thursday night in the basement of the church. The room was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and ferns, while the punch bowl was buried in green. Mesdames Sherrod, Evans Stapp, C. R. and O. R. Mullins, Gore and Reynolds were among those promoting and directing the entertainment. Many games were enjoyed and contests entered.

Judge Leon McCord was an honored guest and spoke most interestingly of the contribution being made to American life by the ministry, and in glowing terms he paid his tribute to the one who was being honored by his congregation. In reply Dr. Haskew expressed his gratitude for the kind words of Judge McCord, and his sincere appreciation to the good ladies of his congregation who had made possible this surprise party, and also to those who had remembered him on his birthday. The pastor, however, failed to tell his age, and the cake presented by Mrs. M. A. Gore failed to carry candles.

Relieves Women's Pains

Here is an example of how Cardui has helped thousands of women:

"I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unnerved me, and I did not feel like doing my work. I did not care to go places, and felt worn, tired, day after day.

"My mother had taken Cardui, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and it built me up. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I am stronger than I had been in some time."

Cardui, the purely vegetable medicine which so many women take and recommend, is sold by local druggists.

When Your Head Aches and Throbs..

When Neuralgia, Neuritis, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, send their knife-like pains thru your quivering nerves...when Muscular Pains torture you. .when Periodic Pains lay you low ...these are the times you need Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

Why suffer needlessly? Why let ordinary aches and pains rob you of enjoyment, success, prosperity?

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve quickly—safely.

Ask any druggist what their users say about them.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will stop a simple Headache in ten to twenty minutes less than the time needed by most similar preparations. They are not laxative, do not upset the stomach, do not cause Constipation.

The Government Printing Racket

The United States Government scatters approximately 300,000 pamphlets, documents and bound books over the country every working day.

In the 1931 fiscal year the Printing Office issued almost 3,500,000,000 copies of printed matter. It is now doing still better. In the six months following July 1, 1931, the amount of type set was 129,000,000 [illegible] greater than in the same period the previous year.

This is at a time when taxes of all kinds have jumped, in the [illegible] of a lowered national income. The government printing department offers a fertile field for some real and needed economy.

Has Racketeering Reached Alabama?

The mysterious shooting to death of one Fountain L. Fletcher of Montgomery, reputed to be a gambler and bootlegger, which took place at Cobb's Ginhouse near Millbrook, makes many of the thinking, law-abiding people wonder if this section of Alabama is now infested with the racketeer band of the Chicago brand.

This murder has all the ear-marks of Chicago Gangland wars and the officers and citizens of this section and especially Montgomery, should do everything in their power to stamp out this debasing gang of hoodlums who it seems are now openly defying and disregarding Alabama laws and taking the lives of people, when necessary, to rob the people of their money and to cover up their crimes

This should be stopped before it is carried any further, and the law-abiding people in this section want Montgomery to clean up the underworld element now in their fair city, and believe they will.

Prices Are Going Up

The upward movement in commodity prices has begun. That is what all the economic authorities have been saying must happen before prosperity can come back. Cotton is up, wool is up, hogs are up, rayon is up, and silk went up so high and so rapidly on the Japanese Silk Exchange the other day that the authorities closed the exchange to prevent a riot.

With raw materials rising, it follows that the prices of goods manufactured from them must seedily rise, and that brings the matter right home to everybody in this town.

Now Is The Time To Buy!

Commodity prices are not going any lower. They have touched bottom. People who have been waiting to make their purchases until they were sure that the bottom had been reached had better dig into their purses now and buy while the merchants' shelves are still stocked with low priced goods. They are not going to remain on the shelves very long, and the next lots which our local dealers buy are going to cost them more and will have to sell for more.

We have a distinct feeling that we have turned the corner on hard times. We find that all over the country almost everybody shares the same feeling. We all want prosperity back, and we want it as quickly as we can get it. The quickest way to bring it back is for everybody who has an unfilled want and any money whatever with which to supply that want, to spend that money now. Dollars are going to get cheaper, as goods go higher in price. It has been many, many years since the dollar would buy as much in clothing or fabrics or groceries or hardware, in shoes or household goods or furniture, as it will today. It will be many, many years, we hope, before it will again be possible to buy such bargains as are available all around us today.

The people who have been wise enough to hang on to their money during the depression are setting the example for all the rest of us. They are buying in the stock market, they are buying in the grain market, they are buying in the wool market, they are buying in the cotton market, they are buying in the silk market. That means that "big money" has got over being afraid, and we think it is time for lesser people with little money to overcome their own timidity and begin to spend.

By buying now you speed the return of prosperity.

Billingsley Schools To Open September 12th

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 12

We are glad to have parents come with their children to the opening of school at 8:30 o'clock. We regret very much that we cannot have an auditorium in order that we may have speakers and other entertainment that would go in a formal opening of school. Children will go straight to the rooms where they will be given a list of books and will be instructed by the teacher in charge of the work to be done on Tuesday.

All preliminaries will be over in time for the parents to attend chapel exercises at the high school at 10:30 o'clock.

Fees are due the day that your child enters school. Mr. G. C. Armstrong, treasurer, will issue a receipt to your child when his fees are paid. The teachers will appreciate your child bringing his receipt with him the first day of school.

The lunch room will continue to be operated by Mrs. Browder. She has done much for our school in planning and preparing meals at a very small cost to the child. Lunches will be served as usual for 10 cents.

I. J. QUINN, Principal.

To The Citizens Of The Town Of Clanton, Ala.:

In the local papers of Thursday, September 1, 1932, there appeared six questions addressed to Mr. J. B. Atkinson by the present Mayor and Councilmen and in the Chilton County News of the same issue there was an article by Mr. Atkinson in reference to said questions and we feel that the questions asked were not correctly answered and the facts have not been correctly placed before the people and we would, therefore, like to place some records and facts before the voters of the Town in reference to these matters.

It will be noted that in a very lengthy article in the Chilton County News Mr. Atkinson attempted to dispose of all six questions in three ways. First, by ignoring some of the questions, second, by evading some in words and figures that have no relation to the question asked and third, some he brands as falsehoods.

It will be recalled that in Mr. Atkinson's announcement it was stated that "The Town purchased and paid for the warehouse and lot near the Methodist Church." When this statement was made, the Clerk of the Town wrote Mr. Atkinson a personal letter as follows:

"August 13, 1932.
Mr. J. B. Atkinson,
Clanton, Alabama.
Dear Sir:

The announcement of your candidacy for the office of Mayor appearing in the County papers of recent date, had a statement that during the period you was Mayor that you bought and paid for a piece of property known as the warehouse property.

The records at the Probate Office and at the First National Bank, Clanton, Alabama, show taht there is a mortgage of $1267.75 at the present time on the above property given as the purchase price and that only $250.00 has been paid on the above mortgage.

The Mayor and Town Council has instructed me to write you in regard to this matter and if you paid this mortgage in full during your term of office that you see the First National Bank and have the records marked satisfied.

Thanking you for an early reply in the matter, I am

Yours truly,
C. H. Pipes, City Clerk.
Copy First National Bank."

Mr. Atkinson replied to the Clerk as follows:

"Mr. C. H. Pipes,
Town Clerk,
Clanton, Alabama.
Dear Sir:

This acknowledge receipt of your letter of August 13, 1932 with reference to mortgage given by the Town of Clanton, Alabama to the First National Bank.

I will take this matter up with the Bank and ascertain the status of their records and will in the near future investigate the minutes of the Town of Clanton, and give you the information and explanation that your letter will need in the premises.

Yours truly,
J. B. Atkinson."

There having been some misunderstanding as to the purchase and payment of this warehouse and lot, which was purchased during Mr. Atkinson's administration as Mayor, we feel that the records should be given to the public regarding this transaction, which are as follows:

On December 11, 1926, this warehouse property, together with one acre of land on the Maplesville highway and adjoining the old Morgan home place, was sold to Ada M. Atkinson for a consideration expressed therein of $2,000.00 and other valuable consideration. The acknowledgment of this deed was made in Dale County, the County site being Ozark, Alabama, December 11, 1926. This deed was filed in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, on December 15, 1926, recorded in Volume No. 211, page 521. The records does not show when this deed reached Clanton, but on the 14th day of December, 1926, the Town Council was called into a special session by J. B. Atkinson, Mayor and the following Minutes appear on page 3 of the Minutes of the Town Council:

"State of Alabama.
Chilton County.
Town of Clanton.

Where as the Town of Clanton may at this time purchase the North fifty-five feet of lot six in Block Number Two of said Town the said opportunity to so purchase said property will not continue to exist until a regular meeting of the Town Council, as the property owner desires to make disposition of said property immediately, and deeming that the public interest requires it, now therefore,

I, J. B. Atkinson, Mayor, of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, do hereby call the Mayor and Council in special meeting to be held in the office of the town clerk of said Town at 1:30 P. M. on this the 14th day of December 1926, to consider whether said Town will purchase said property.

Witness my hand and dated this the 14th day of December, 1926.

J. B. Atkinson
Mayor."

In a deed which is dated December, 1926, (the exact date not being given) and which is recorded in Volume 211, page 208 in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, Ada M. Atkinson and J. B. Atkinson deeded the warehouse property to the Town of Clanton for a consideration expressed therein of $1500.00 and which deed was filed in the office of the Judge of Probate, December 17, 1926. Regarding the above transaction and the call meeting, it will be noted as follows:

1. Quick action emphasized.
2. They are desirous of disposing of property immediately.
3. Cannot wait for regular meeting.
4. The owner of the property not mentioned.
5. This property was deeded to Ada M. Atkinson, the wife of J. B. Atkinson, at that time, on December 11, 1926, just three days before the special call meeting on December 14, 1926, and it will be noted that this deed had to come from Dale County to Chilton County, and some of the Councilmen, who were serving at that time, have made statements that they were not informed that the wife of the Mayor had purchased this property at that time and they did not know they were purchasing this property from the wife of the Mayor of the Town.

On page four of the Minutes of the Town, there appears the following:

"A RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE TOWN COUNCIL OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALABAMA, AS FOLLOWS:

1. That the Mayor and Clerk of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, be and hereby are authorized and empowered to purchase the North fifty-five feet of lot number six, in block number two, according to the official map of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, and being lot known as warehouse lot at and for the sum of $1500.00.

2. That the Mayor and Clerk of the Town of Clanton, Alabama be and hereby are authorized, instructed and empowered to execute to First National Bank of Clanton, Alabama, a mortgage on the above described lot to secure a loan of $1500.00, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the purchase price for said lot, and said mortgage to be for sixty days and to draw interest at the rate of 8% per annum on said sum of $1500.00, or the amount so borrowed and the Mayor and Clerk are authorized after securing said loan to pay to the owner of said lot the said sum of $1500.00.

Read and finally adopted this the 14th day of December, 1926.

J. B. Atkinson
Mayor.

Attest:
J. H. Plier
Clerk."

You will observe that from the above the Mayor and the Clerk were authorized to execute a mortgage to the First National Bank for the purchase price of said property. Said mortgage is recorded in Volume 229 at page 524 in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County and in the face of the mortgage appears the following:

"This mortgage is given to secure the purchase price for said property, and in strict accordance with resolution adopted by the Mayor and Council of said Town of Clanton, Alabama, authorizing this loan."

The officials of the First National Bank informs us that the mortgage is not paid and has never been paid and that the amount now due upon said mortgage is $1,000.00, and we are unable to understand, if Mr. Atkinson has paid this mortgage, as stated in his announcement, why the mortgage was not taken up and the records marked "satisfied."

By again referring to the records of the Probate Office in Volume 211, page 206, you will see that the acre of land which was deeded to Ada M. Atkinson along with the warehouse lot was sold to B. F. Higgins, which deed was dated December ———, 1926 and was filed in the office of the Judge of Probate on December 15, 1926, and expressed a consideration of $500.00. Mr. B. F. Higgins has recently stated to some members of the Council and some other citizens of the Town that the amount actually paid by him to Ada M. Atkinson, for the purchase price of said property was $1025.00. Therefore, it will be observed from the records that $2,000.00 was paid for this property and the sum of $2525.00 was received for the same. We believe that Mr. Higgins, who is truthful and honest, will make the same statement to anyone who might be interested in knowing the facts in this matter.

Mr. Atkinson admitted that he had installed a private water system and was not using the Town's water, but claimed to have paid his water bill rendered. The books of the Town Clerk's show that a water bill was rendered to Mr. Atkinson for April 1931 on May 1, 1931 for $3.04 and one for May, 1931 was rendered June 1st, 1931, for $2.98, making a total for two months of $6.02 and this amount was unpaid on July 10, 1931 and the water was cut off for non-payment. This amount of $6.02 was then paid and also $1.00 which is the usual charge for giving water connection after the same has been cut off, and the water was cut back on, and on July 1, 1931 a bill was rendered to Mr. Atkinson for water used in June, for $3.52, which bill is unpaid at this time.

Mr. Atkinson, in his article of last week in the Chilton County News requested J. Lee Smith to answer two questions and Mr. Smith hereby asks permission to answer these questions as follows:

1. I have never refused to issue warrant for Mr. W. L. Popwell, for keeping within the corporate limits a hog or hogs, and I might state that Mr. John Boockholdt, the Chief of Police, has never requested or asked me to issue a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Popwell. I did appoint Mr. W. L. Popwell, chairman of a committee to investigate the official conduct of Mr. Boockholdt, the Chief of Police, in connection with the murder of one Miss Davis here in the Town of Clanton and as the result, Mr. Boockholdt was later released from the Town's services and became offended at Mr. Popwell, but he never requested a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Popwell.

2. The amount of $1218.33, $800.00 of which, was pledged by a former administration, was contributed to the Grammar and High school of the Town of Clanton during my administration as Mayor.

Respectfully submitted,
J. LEE SMITH, Mayor.
H. S. SHAW,
W. L. POPWELL.
GRADY D. BROADHEAD.
REEDIE TAYLOR.
H. G. HEFLIN.

News from Thorsby

Miss EDITH JOHNSON, Correspondent

A wedding of much interest to the people of Thorsby and surrounding communities was that of Miss Juanita Awa Connatser and Mr. William Each, both of Thorsby, took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Connatser, Saturday night, September 3, at nine o'clock. The home was beautifully decorated with pot and cut flowers, and the altar was formed with an embankment of ferns and cut flowers.

The bridal march was played by Miss Clara Vines.

The attendants of the bride and groom were Miss Alta Each, sister of the groom and Mr. Alton Connatser, brother of the bride.

A beautiful and very impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph E. Each, father of the groom, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. H. T. Scott of Birmingham, sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl.

The bride and groom left immediately for their home, which they had already furnished in Thorsby.

Their friends will find them cozily ensconsed in the little home just left of the Bir-Mont Cafe.

Those present at the wedding were the families of the contracting party, Miss Clara Vines, Dr. H. G. Franklin, and Miss Hazel Maddox.

The many friends of the families wish them a long and happy life together.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

In the back yard of the parsonage there is a cluster of asparagus plants. During the winter months these plants die, but in the spring they return in profusion. They grow about five feet into the air and make a delicate, flowing foliage that can be used in creating a back-ground for vases and decorations. The ladies of the church will bring their flowers for the sacred altar and then they go to this asparagus bed for filling and for a back-ground for their decorations. No flowers ever bloom on the asparagus stalks, but they are used to make the vases look beautiful. The asparagus is never used until something more beautiful is brought in, and then the foliage is used to make the flowers look more attractive. That is the way with many a person in a community and in a church. There are people who are never admired, but they are used as a "Filler-In". They do not make the beautiful vase of service, but they do the things that will add to the work done. Such people are never honored. They are always overlooked. After all they play an important part in the service rendered. Many of us feel that we are the "Filler-In" while other people get all the glory.

When I was a lad on the farm I did not have good eyes. The other boys in the home were blessed with good eyesight. We would go squirrel hunting and it was my job to shake the bushes and turn the squirrel, or pull the vines and make him move. The boys with good eyes and with the gun, would station themselves about the tree, and then with all my strength I would try to disturb the squirrel and make him move. Bang, would go the gun, and down would come the squirrel. The boy shooting would pick up his meat. When the day's hunt was over, each boy would come home with his string of squirrels, and would show great pride over his results. I had [illegible] no squirrels, and really had nothing to say. I always felt that I should have been given some credit for turning the squirrels. All my life I have been turning squirrels for other men to shoot. One man burns a sage patch, and while the thing is burning he exclaims, "What a man am I," but someone must come along and grub up the black stumps left by the fire before a crop can be made. I am wondering when the world will honor the man who turns the squirrels for the other man to shoot, and when the human race will appreciate the man who grubs the stumps from the soil where the other fellow burned the sage.

I spent the night at a farm home. The wind was blowing and all night long I could hear an old wind-mill as it rattled and rubbed and growled over its task. From the noise it made I decided that it was pumping up a stream that would run a grist mill. The next morning I dressed and went out to the old mill to see it bring up its sluice of water. Imagine my surprise when I saw the stream that was coming from the water pipe. All that rattle, groaning and noise and not a stream as large as a lead pencil pouring out. When you listen to the noise, the groans and the tongue rattle of some folks, you would think that they were turning the world upside down. If you will investigate one of those noisy kind of people in your church or community, you will find more noise than results. Blessed is the man who says little and does much.

In my flower yard I saw a beautiful butterfly and a busy little honey bee. The butterfly would spread its shinging wings and drift about to sip the honey from the blooming flowers. It stored nothing up and carried nothing away. It displayed itself on silver wings, and seemed very happy as it touched the flowers for itself alone. The honey bee was not so beautiful. It made no efforts at display. Hurriedly it visited flower after flower and soon I saw it as it lifted itself into the air and was gone to its home. The honey bee was not working for itself. It was gathering honey for the hive. It was a part of an organization where each lived and labored for all. The social butterfly that flits about in the garden of life, lives alone for herself. The real men and women who are worth while in this world are living and laboring to produce the honey that will gladden every heart.

I was crossing the bay on a small launch. The boat carried the mail and for good measure it would carry passengers. It was some times loaded to its capacity. Several docks jutted out into the bay, and the little launch would blow its whistle when it was nearing these passenger stations. I noticed that the pilot would always throw his machine out of gear when he would blow his whistle. I asked for an explanation and he informed me that he did not have power enough to run and blow the whistle at the same time. That was a boat that could not blow and run at the same time. There are a lot of church members who haven't the steam to blow and run at the same time. When you hear a fellow doing a lot of blowing, you can just put it down that he is not doing much running.

One day I saw a fly in a large bowl of honey. The fly was not enjoying itself at all. There was too much honey, and too little fly. When a little man gets lots of money, he is like the fly in the bowl of honey, he fails to enjoy the thing that he thought that he would enjoy. Money paralyzes, ruins and gums up a lot of folks.

Just to remind you one more time that we have our Sunday school every Sunday morning at 9:45. We have a class for all ages.

Preaching on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock by the pastor. There will be no preaching service Sunday night, as we are going to worship with the Baptists in their closing service of the revival.

We have a full program for every Sunday during the fall, and we are urging every member and all of our friends to join in with us and make the Lord's work a success.

NEW YORK FEDERATION OF LABOR ENDORSES ROOSEVELT

Washington, Sept. 5—By a viva voce vote (reported to be 188 to 12) the New York State Federation of Labor endorsed Franklin D. Roosevelt for President at its recent convention at Utica.

The resolution recited that Governor Roosevelt had given ample proof of his "sincere and consistent devotion to the well-being of the wage-earning hosts of his native State," sponsoring and actively supporting as legislator and as Governor remedial labor and social legislation, opposing with legislative vote and Executive veto all proposals and acts hostile to their industrial and civic rights and liberties, and "advancing at every offered opportunity the cause of human welfare."

CARD OF THANKS

Since we cannot see each of you, we take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation for the help and kindness shown us recently, by the people of Verbena, Poplar Springs and Maple Springs communities, during our misfortune in the loss of our home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Claude Downs.
Verbena, Ala., Route 1.

CARD OF THANKS

We express our profoundest appreciation for the wonderful words of kindness and comfort spoken to us, and for the beautiful floral offerings during our recent bereavement over the loss of our husband and father. These kind deeds from our friends made this burden easier to bear.

—Mrs. E. L. Thompson and Children.

Today Five Years Ago

Taken from the files of the issue of September 8th, 1927, of the Chilton County News:

John A. Bookholdt is appointed Chief of Police of Clanton to succeed W. W. Jones.

Mrs. Amanda Gulledge died in Birmingham Tuesday evening. Mrs. Gulledge is an aunt of Mrs. W. H. Sartor of Clanton.

The Clanton Grammer School opened last Monday, Sept. 5th with Miss Hobdy as principal with 198 enrolled.

Miss Eva Diefenderfer died Monday afternoon at the Central Hospital at the age of 66. Miss Diefenderfer was the aunt of Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer of Clanton.

Mrs. Monroe Benson died last Friday at her home at one o'clock.

Mary John Burke, daughter of Mr. J. A. Burke who resides a few miles from Clanton, died at the family home last Saturday morning about 4:30

The Unity B. Y. P. U. Association held its regular meeting at White City Baptist Church on August 28th. It was well attended.

East Chilton County was visited by a severe wind and hail storm last Monday afternoon which wrought much damage to the crops and property. The storm seemed to have centered around Providence community.

A modern bakery is to open in Clanton in the next few days. The other half of the building occupied by the Carter Electric Shop is being remodeled and the new bakery will occupy this space.

The many friends of Miss Margaret Robinson, former resident of Clanton but now living in Havana Florida, will be interested to know that she has been recently married to Mr. W. C. Lambert of Madison, Florida. The marriage took place on August 25th at Monticello, Florida.

WHAT EDITORS ARE SAYING

"GOVERNOR Franklin D. Roosevelt grows stronger with the people as every day passes. What he says carries conviction and the people know he means every word and has the courage of his convictions. His record as a public servant is above criticism and reproach. He has made good every place he served. He believes the people are the sovereigns and the last word. The people want him and have so recorded themselves in no uncertain manner. And the people always get what they want when they want it very seriously. This is one of the years when the people will come into their own."—Clearfield, Pa., Republican. (Dem.)

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT BY MASONIC CONFERENCE

Maplesville, Ala., July 14, 1932.

To the Officers and Members of the Chilton County Masonic Conference:

We, your committee, beg leave to submit this resolution in memorial of the following deceased Brothers:

E. J. Harrell, Century Lodge No. 567; Rev. W. J. Ruddick, Maplesville Lodge No. 706; J. R. Northrup, Maplesville Lodge No. 706; Rev. S. A. Adams, Thorsby Lodge No. 759; Rev. C. D. Messer, Verbena Lodge No. 754; S. H. Smith, Verbena Lodge No. 754; A. C. Smith, Clanton Lodge No. 423.

We are constantly reminded of the brevity of life, the changing seasons, the serf leaf, the fading flower, the departing friend; all remind us that life is but a span that leads from earth to glory, connecting the past and the future, the two great eternities.

Though our friends be dead, yet their influence lives on. Of such are those who build monuments which neither rust, corrode, nor time efface.

Therefore, be it resolved, that though we miss their genial presence, their sunny smiles, and their wise counsel, we can in humble submission bow to the will of God who gives and takes at His pleasure.

Be it further resolved, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to all the bereaved and point them to the Star of Hope, the resurrected Lord who gave this beautiful promise: "I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am, there you may be also."

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the county papers for publication, and one sent to each family of the deceased brothers, and one spread upon the Minutes of the Chilton County Masonic Conference.

Respectfully submitted,
—Dr. E. H. Downs, L. E. Diefenderfer, R. L. Duffey, Committee.

Recent Advance of Stocks and Commodities Justified, Says Economist

By Roger Babson

The sharp advance of stocks and commodities during the past thirty days is justified. Practically everything is worth at least what it is now selling for. The market had been severely over-contracted and over-deflated, and the rise merely cancels former extremes of deflation. There will be reactions of course, but prices are now more nearly in line with real values.

However, to maintain and continue the advance there must be an increase in earnings. That, in turn, depends on an increase in purchasing power, which in turn depends absolutely on a gain in employment.

Hence, people interested in the rise in stocks and commodities should get behind the movement to put men back to work. Increased employment is the chock that must be put under the wheels of this advance to prevent it from slipping back down hill, and to maintain further progress.

I have maintained right along that the depression had become 95% psychological; that the necessary liquidation was practically completed; and that prices would advance very sharply and extensively on a change in sentiment.

Basis For Prosperity

I now maintain that having got the initial rise we must sustain it by increasing public purchasing power. The way to do that is to take on more workers. There are noramlly from 2,000000 to 3,000,000 unemployed, or about 5% of the total workers. The abnormally unemployed, due to the depression, is about 15%. If every employer would add 1% a month to his force we would have full normal employment in fifteen months. That would be the strongest kind of basis for real prosperity.

Our whole industrial life is geared to mass production and mass distribution. It is the income of the masses and their buying power that determine our prosperity. While the rise in securing prices helps the buying power of the well-to-do, the big stimulus to trade will come as more wage-earners are employed and enter the buying group. I believe that better times are starting now, and that regardless of who wins the election, business should continue to get better thereafter, however, a mere rise in prices without a corresponding increase in employment would not mean prosperity.

Unquestionably the price rise does stimulate buying, but we need a conscious effort by everyone to increase employment in order that the gain in prices and the improvement in sentiment shall be translated into a solid increase in business.

Crop price advances of the past sixty days have added around a billion dollars to the prospective incomes of the farmers this season. This is a very strong reason for optimism. It directly affects about 28,000,000 people—nearly one-fifth of our total consumers. Moreover, the farmers this year have been holding their crops rather than sell them at ruinous low prices. Hence, they will get more of the benefit of the recent rise. Crops as a whole are good. Retail stores, mail-order houses, railroad traffic, farm machinery business and many other lines should benefit from this increase. While, despite the recent rise, the price of farm products is still low, compared to normal times, the recent gains add a much brighter touch to the agricultural picture.

The good crops and the better outlook are helping employment in the farming sections. There is not the same critical situation of idle labor that exists in the manufacturing centers. If industrial leaders will only do their part by taking on wage workers as rapidly as possible, even though the rate of wages has to be lowered to do it, the improvement which has so obviously begun in the agricultural West will rapidly be carried over into the industrial East.

After three years of severe depression, the whole business and financial structure is thoroughly deflate and under-produced. The strong and sustained rise of recent weeks emphasizes that the turn has been passed and that we are in the reconstruction period. To conserve gains already made and hasten reconstruction on a sound basis, let everyone cooperate to give or find employment for that unfortunate 15%, whose lack of buying power is holding in check the recovery of business. This is not only a matter of business welfare; it is a high Christian duty to our fellowmen.

Pates Chapel News

Too Late for Last Week

The singing school at Pates Chapel is progressing fine, only the gnats are awful worrisome. But we are fighting and singing in spite of them. Mr. C. N. Oden is our teacher. Everybody's cotton is opening now, and we're worked pretty hard. We have nineteen on roll. Their names will be published at the end of school, which is Sept. 10th.

Among those that attended the singing at Pleasant Hill from Pates Chapel were Mr. C. M. Oden, Mr. Tommie Maddox and children, Mr. Leo Spivey and Maude Wallis accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Tom Foshee in their car. Also Misses Lucile and Lorene Cleckler and Messrs. Erastus and Eugene Cleckler, Harvey Davenport, James Maddox and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maddox and two children and Miss Mildred Hayes; Messrs. Ervin Pate and Lee Hayes, Pink Hayes and Eve Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Blow and children.

We invite everybody who will not attend our singing school to come and visit us.

CLANTON MAN DISCUSSES QUESTION OF PROHIBITION

To The Editor,
Chilton County News,
Clanton, Ala.

"One of the predominant questions before our nation at the present time is Temperance and Prohibition. Many of those who advocate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment say that the burden of taxation will be lifted by a tax on beer. It takes no deep thought to see that the revenue from such tax must come from the pockets of the workingmen who drink beer; they—the people—will be paying the tax the same as now, only with it they will be getting what intoxicates and demoralizes men and women, and having less money to spend for the necessities of life. The wealthy men who are behind the "wet" propaganda in this country, have admitted before a committee of the U. S. Senate that their object is to escape paying income and corporation taxes, by substituting for such revenue the money received from a tax on beer. In other words, shifting their burden of taxation to the shoulders of the workingmen, making the poor poorer and the rich richer.

"The fact that Prohibition has not been able to prohibit 100 per cent is no reason for its repeal. If it is, then repeal the law against murder, banditry, and all other crimes.

"The high cost of prohibition enforcement ($12,000,000 a year, congressional appropriation) is one of the greatest arguments of the wets for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. If that argument is good for congress, it is good for New York City. Police expenditures there are $47,000,000 a year. Why not repeal all law in this metropolis and save that vast sum of money?

"Prohibition is not, as the "wets" claim, an interference with personal liberty. There is no such thing, and can not be, as an individual's right to do that which interferes with the rights of other people, as liquor drinking does.

"Now, if we do away with prohibition, as many today are advocating, we must have something to take its place. There are five possible substitutes. Which shall we adopt?

"The old-fashioned saloon as it existed in pre-Volstead days is one of the five possible substitutes. But strange as it may seem, we find the wets and drys together raising their voices to declaim the resurrection of the saloon —the saloon with its 5c beer, its 15c whisky, its back room for gamblers, its upstairs for prostitutes, its hangout for criminals, and its tills that got most of the workingman's money and then sent him penniless to his ragged and half starved family. Yes, we all join our voices in loud protest against any such program. Remember that it was not the saloon building that made the saloon so bad that even the wettest "wet" does not dare to defend it, but the drinking that went on inside the building. If drinking of liquor made the saloon so bad, it will make any other place bad where it is consumed.

"A second and much advocated substitute is the Canadian system of government control. Canada repealed its prohibition acts three or four years ago chiefly because of a desire to get rid of the bootlegging menace and that is exactly the reason most loudly proclaimed by the "wets" of this country for the repeal of prohibition. Let me call your attention to the fact that in the Province of Saskatchewan bootlegging increased 113% in one year's time after the government control system was introduced there. It must be admitted by all fair minded people that the acid test of any liquor control system is the amount of liquor consumed. If the amount is great, the system is to that extent bad; if the amount is minimized, it is comparatively a better system. Let us then apply this test to the Maple Leaf Dominion. For example, a liberal estimate by the "wets" themselves put the bootlegging business of the province of Ontario at $25,000,000 annually under prohibition. Today under so-called government control, the legitimate stores are selling $55,000,000 worth of liquor each year, and the bootleggers are still doing a big business, which must be added to this total. The inevitable conclusion is that for Ontario prohibition was about three times better than government control. Another item to consider under this system is that the liquor purchased will be drunk in the home, thus transferring to the home the disgusting and demoralizing scenes of maudlin intoxication witnessed in the saloon, with the added evil of parents setting the example of drinking before their children and putting booze into their hands.

"A third possible substitute for prohibition is to legalize the manufacture and sale of light wines and beers. We are told by some that if the people could get light wines and beers, the craving for gin and whisky would disappear. Carefully compiled figures however, prove the opposite, for in pre-prohibition days while Germany drank more wine and beer than the United States, she also drank more whisky and gin. The same was true of France. Therefore, light wines and beers are no cure for the whisky and gin habit, for the more wine and beer drunk, the more whisky and gin also drunk. This proposition is only a scheme to "cut off prohibition's tail a piece at a time so it won't hurt so much!"

"The fourth possible substitute for prohibition is state rights, but the states individually and collectively were expressing and exercising their rights when they decided for prohibition. Forty-six out of the forty-eight states voted the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment. Rhode Island and Connecticut being the only states failing to do so. And after all, why demand state right for booze only, and leave all its infamous neighbors such as the dope traffic, the smuggling traffic, and other vices of the same category out in the cold of federal jurisdiction?

"The fifth and last possible substitute for prohibition is nullification. We doubt that the American people will ever endorse or practice such an anarchistic policy. If annulment became the national program on this score it would soon influence the enforcement of other parts of our civil and criminal codes, and ere long all respect for law would vanish, and our long-cherished American government must perish.

"Having thus examined the five substitutes and finding them all worse than prohibition let us gladly and loyally stand by our constitution as a whole and by the Eighteenth Amendment in particular."

Eastview News

There will be an ice cream and cake supper at the home of Mr. Tom Traywick Saturday night. Proceeds to go to the church. Everybody invited. A slice of cake will be given with each sale of cream.

There will be preaching here Saturday, Sunday and Sunday night, by the pastor. He announces that he will speak from the following subjects: Saturday, "The Power of Prayer." Sunday, "How Some Have Entertained Angels." Sunday night, "Compromising with the Devil." You have a cordial invitation to attend. There will be a baptizing service Sunday at 3 P. M. at bridge at the foot of Eastview hill.

Miss Irene Griffin who underwent an operation for appendicitis is at home resting fine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Griffin had as their guests Thursday afternoon Rev. A. C. Nelson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Traywick and Mrs. Nolia Parker.

Mr. J. W. Brown of Wetumpka was visiting his daughter, Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Come to church here next Sunday. You will always find a welcome in our services, for we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord. 2 Cor. 4:5. The Lord's prayer, that we all may be one. John 17:21, are answered in our services. We invite you to be one with us in love, fellowship and communion. If you find a welcome at Eastview, tell others, if not, tell us.

Pletcher News

Sunday was our singing afternoon at Pilgrims Rest. There was a nice crowd out and we had a very good singing in the 1933 books.

Mr. George Dickinson of Billingsley visited our B. Y. P. U. Sunday night, and gave quite an interesting and helpful talk on B. Y. P. U.

Mrs. R. W. Kendrick spent last week end with her mother, Mrs. J.M. Browning.

Miss Leila Belle Smith is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Bud Jones, of Clanton, and is attending the revival at the Baptist church.

Mr. M. C. Thacker is at home with his father after spending nine years in foreign countries and different states of the union.

We regret that Mr. John Anderson is on the sick list this week, but hope for him a speedy recovery.

Remember that our revival meeting will begin Saturday at Pilgrims Rest. Let's all begin praying for a real revival.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. In "Love Is A Racket"

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., lately starred in "Union Depot" and "It's Tough To Be Famous," comes to the Wadesonian Theatre in "Love Is A Racket," a First National picture in which the young star appears as a wise Broadway columnst, Monday and Tuesday, September 12 and 13.

Doug., Jr., has rapdly come to the top of the 1st of popular stars for his portrayal of contemporary types of young heroes. As the columnist in "Love Is A Racket," Doug writes of the doings, love affairs and quarerls of Broadway's great and near great. He himself becomes involved in a love affair of the type he writes about, in spite of his supposed wisdom and knowledge of the gay white way.

The columnist's love affair, however, turns out differently for him. He becomes embroiled in a series of happenings which lead to an exciting climax.

The story is fast-paced and modern in plot, action and setting. The cast brings youth and charm to the story, as well as the definite talents which have brought the young players to screen heights. Playing leading roles with young Fairbanks, Jr., are Ann Dvorak, Lee Tracy, Frances Dee, Lysle Talbot, Warren Hymer and Andre Luguet. Miss Dvorak and Tracy are the two newcomers who scored such a great success in "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain." Miss Dee is best known for her performance in "American Tragedy."

William A. Wellman, who directed "Public Enemy" and "So Big," directed "Love Is A Racket," which was adapted from the novel by Rian James, famous New York columnist.

Mt. Pisgah News

Last Sunday afternoon, September 4th, at two o'clock, the singing society met here and was a real success. The president, Jake Henley, directed one song, then prayer by Rev. L. A. Brown. Mr. Henley appointed Mr. E. E. Aldridge and Elmer Hayes to arrange the program for the afternoon, while he directed another song.

Directors for the afternoon were J. Henley, Tom Wells, Alton Downs, E. J. Foshee, Audie Brown, L. A. Brown, Eugene Aldridge, Leonard Hand, E. C. (Elmer) Hayes; also a duet was rendered by Jake Henley and Tom Wells, and a quartet by Jake Henley, Gertie Wilson, Oliver Glenn, Tom Wells.

Organists for the afternoon were Mrs. Beulah Henley and Miss Gertie Wilson.

We invite all singers and lovers of music to come and help us every first Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. God gave you the talent, voice and ability to sing and I'm sure it is pleasing to Him to use our talents wherever needed. Let's everybody come back next first Sunday and sing praises to God.

Roosevelt for President

By Grady Jones, Lomax, Ala.

To my poor comrades, wherever they may be,
It is time for us to open our eyes and begin to see.
In 1928 for Hoover the people composed a song,
Now we want to swap him, we cannot go wrong.
For our poverty and distress we know he is not all to blame,
But if this is the best he can do, why should we want him to remain?
We have heard very much about farm relief,
It seems that every move that is made brings the farmer more sorrow and grief.
In the modern churches there must a little taint of sin be,
Or they would teach our rulers better than to let Beggars be made out of honest working men.
In due time to make our bread, the Lord always sends a seasoning shower.
In his precious word he has promised us a righteous ruling power.
He will judge the poor and save the children of the needy,
He will break the power of the ones that have been so greedy.
For our multitude of sins, out of the north he will send the mighty whirl winds.
The great cities he will lay them bare, there shall not be an inhabitants there.
I do not see why the Millionaire wants to store away all the silver and gold,
When they can see by the good book, that they are trading their own precious souls.
Many of our rulers are partial to the rich, to the poor they are unjust.
The reason I cannot see for each ones body must return to the dust.
Everything that is made by human hands is the fruit of some laborers toil.
The money kings that are ruling us, by manual labor their hands have never been soiled.
I believe that by the time this campaign money is spent,
The Lord will give us some rulers that will start a righteous government.
Here in a land of plenty, such distress no nation has ever felt.
The man to take the situation in charge I believe is our nominee, Mr. Roosebelt.
We need a man with a heart just as large as his chest will hold.
So he will mete out justice to the laborers the same as the ones with silver and gold.
Mr. Hoover in his office, he might have done his best.
Mr. Roosevelt will surely plan some way to give the welfare workers some of their much needed rest.
To the American voters all over this land,
I think this one time we should lay the party down and vote for the man.
For president, I believe Mr. Roosevelt will be just fine.
From all accounts he is a man that looks to the Lord to direct his mind.
Oh Lord, take charge, if it be thy will, give us a righteous ruling path.
We pray that you may save the nation, without pouring out your mighty wrath.

P. S.:—I have a wife and three children to be clothed and fed.
I am a poor renter. I do not even possess a shelter to go over their heads.

"FORGOTTEN COMMANDMENTS" HAS EPS. FROM De MILLE EPIC

"Forgotten Commandments" — the Paramount real life story of a modern Babel, comes to the Wadesonian Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, September 14 and 15.

The cast is headed by Sari Maritza, new blonde sensation from European films; Gene Raymond, handsome leading man who appeared with Sylvia Sidney in "Ladies of the Big House" and with Nancy Carroll in "Personal Maid" Marguerite Churchill, hit of "7 Faces" and others; and Irving Pichel, the character genius of "The Miracle Man," and "Murder by the Clock."

The story opens at a big city university, where Gene Raymond and his young bride, Marguerite Churchill, register for dourses in medicine and social service.

They meet Irving Pichel, famous surgeon, who has very ultra ideas.

Raymond is captivated by this bizarre philosophy of the man he idolizes, and soon finds himself practicing it. He begins to fall in love with Sari Maritza. One day while Sari, Raymond and Marguerite are doing social work, a preacher starts to describe the story of the Bible to a group of ragamuffin boys In the midst of his narrative, he is placed under arrest, by order of Pichel.

After this incident Raymond goes to Sari's home, to the great sorrow of Marguerite, who realizes she has lost the love of her husband. Pichel, jealous, sneak's to Sari's room and shoots her and Gene, leaving unseen. Sari dies at once, Gene is unconscious, but has a chance to recover. No one knows who did the shooting.

Pichel, the surgeon, is the only one who can save Gene. Marguerite pleads with him. At last he consents. It all leads to a happy climax.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts —imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health. Adv.

Marbury F. F. A. Has Annual Summer Camp

The Marbury F. F. A. held the second Annual summer camp at Log Cabin Beach August 22-23. This camp was considered by every boy present to be one of the most enjoyable events of the summer.

The boys enjoyed two days of real outdoor life, which included swimming, boating, fishing, etc. Some of the other activities of the camp were hiking, horse shoe pitching, and other games of interest to boys.

Emmett McKee who is a former Scout Master and B. L. Martin, teacher of vocational agriculture, were in charge of the camp. Members of the F. F. A. who attended were: Rudder Culver, Jack Price, Roy Cook, Melvin Manley, Herschell Dennis, Jake Graves, Mack Dennis and Arnold Stewart.

. The chapter wishes to thank Mr. Thomas, who owns Log Cabin Beach, for the donation of two cabins for the camp. This made it possible for more boys to attend camp than could have attended without this donation.

The Jemison High School Trustees Meet

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Jemison High School Thursday evening, W. R. Clements was elected chairman. Several matters of interest concerning the improvement of the school and grounds were discussed.

It was decided that an improved water supply was needed for the school more than anything else. This was selected as the major project for the year, and tentative plans were made to begin on this work at once.

The date set for getting the building and grounds in readiness for school opening was Friday, September ninth, at seven o'clock. Those people interested in the Jemison school are urged to assist in this work.

The fees for the high and elementary schools were reduced to $2.50 and $1.00 respectively per semester per pupil. These fees are due the first day of school, and if not paid by October 1st, the bills will be turned over to an officer for collection. Everyone is aware of the fact that it takes money to run schools, and especially one that has to meet the standards of accrediment. It is hoped that these fees will be paid on time and relieve the unpleasant and embarrassing situation to trustees, teachers, parents, and students in collecting them. Cooperation in this, is one of the many ways, you may help to bring about a most successful school year.

Report Of G. A. Camp At Log Cabin Beach

The G. A. girls of Unity Association gathered at the Clanton Baptist church Tuesday morning, August 16th, 1932, and went down to Log Cabin Beach on Coosa river and enjoyed three days of outing. The girls report a great time. We had two mission study classes for the different ages. We were not able to complete our studies sufficiently enough to take an examination and get seals and certificates, on account of the heavy rains while we were there.

We had representatives from six different churches of the Unity Association and one from Chilton Association. We appreciate the cooperation of the parents of the children in helping us to make the camp a success and wish more of the girls could have gone. We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Thomas for their kindness shown us while there.

Respectfully,

—Mrs. J. Z. MIMS, Young People's Leader, Mrs. DEWEY EUBANKS, Assistant.

A SUGGESTION TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Sometimes, and very often, a minor repair on your car will save many dollars. Maybe there is some little something that is wearing, needs tightening or adjusting, and if not attended to now, it may develop into serious trouble and expense.

HERE'S OUR SUGGESTION: Bring your car to us at regular intervals. We will look it over, paying particular attention to those parts subject to wear. There will be no charge for this inspection. We will advise you frankly and with your interest in mind, as to the care of your car.

EIGHT SCHOOLS OPEN DOORS ON MONDAY MORN

Full Enrollment Reported; Outlook Bright For Fine School Term

Eight schools in Chilton County opened their doors last Monday morning, and enrollment was rapid and full, according to reports coming into the office of the county superintendent.

With much interest being manifested at the first few days of school this week, the outlook is bright for a fine term this year, is the report from the principals of the schools that opened Monday.

There were five Senior High Schools opened. These are Chilton County High, Maplesville High, Verbena High, Isabella High and Jemison High school. The three grammar schools that opened Monday are Thorsby, Mitchell Dam and Lay Dam.

Many of these schools had speakers for their opening exercises. Those learned by the News this week were Thorsby, where Dr. D. W. Haskew made a splendid talk. Jemison, where the Rev. Theo Harris and B. Lawrence addressed the students. Isabella with County Agent Stapp, delivering a fine talk.

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW WILL BE HERE IN OCT.

Five Counties Expected To Compete In Show On October 6, 7 and 8

County Agent Stapp definitely announces that the District Jersey Cattle Show will be held in Clanton October 6, 7 and 8. Among the counties that will compete with Chilton in the show are Talladega, Lee, Elmore and Hale. It is expected that about sixty or seventy head of purebred Jerseys will be on exhibit in Clanton on the above dates. The members of the Chilton County Breeders Club are displaying considerable interest in getting their animals in show condition.

County Agent Stapp is visiting the Jersey breeders this week and next, helping them select animals to be shown and making suggestions on the preparation of these animals for the show. Mr. Stapp and members of the Breeders Club hope to make this the best cattle show ever held in this section. Owners of purebred Jersey cattle are requested to get in touch with Mr. Stapp at an early date and make plans to cooperate in making this a real Jersey show.

FOOTBALL GETS UNDERWAY AT CHILTON HIGH

Nine Games Are Already Scheduled For Local Gridiron Players

Football practice got underway in dead earnest last Monday at Chilton County High School with twenty-three aspirants answering the call. Limbering up exercise, passing, punting, line charging, and other preliminary workouts have been the principal items on the menu thus far. Only seven letter men are back on the scene around which to build a team for this year. Only four or five others have had as much as a years experience, and most of them are rather light, but the entire squad is extremely enthusiastic with several recruits making bids for berths.

The Tigers schedule is as follows:

Sept. 24 Ramsey Tech at Legion Field, Birmingham.

Sept. 30 Selma at Selma.

Oct. 7 Shelby Co. High at Clanton.

Oct. 14 Autauga Co. High at Prattville.

Oct. 21 Bibb Co. High at Centerville.

Oct. 28 Dallas Co. High at Clanton.

Nov. 4 Isabella High at Clanton.

Nov. 11 Montevallo High at Montevallo.

Nov. 18 Holtville at Clanton.

T. W. Bryan Asks For Support In Election

Following is a letter from T. W. Bryan, justice of the peace of Beat Four, who has been nominated to succeed himself, in the general election in Novembe:

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 12, 1932.

To the Voters of Precinct Four, Chilton County, Alabama:

In deference to the request of numerous citizens whose wishes command respect, I announce my candidacy to succeed myself for the office of Justice of the Peace, on the Democratic Ticket. The business of the office is being attended to and the dockets are in good shape. My experience should be of value in the conduct of the courts. Drawing from such experience, and with a sympathetic understanding of the frailties of man, I shall strive to administer with wisdom, justice and moderation. I will deeply appreciate the vote and influence of every citizen in the precinct.

Very respectfully,
T. W. BRYAN.

SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT MAPLESVILLE NEXT SUNDAY

Many Outstanding Soloists And Quartettes Are Expected To Be Present From Outside The County At Annual County Convention

The 1932 session of the Chilton County singing convention will be held at Maplesville, Sunday, September 18th. Singing will begin at ten o'clock at the Baptist church. Dinner will be spread under the shade trees around the church; and in the afternoon the singing will be held in the school building where there will be plenty of room. The reason for holding the morning session at the church is that a suitable place for spreading dinner will be available, there being plenty of nice shade trees around the church. All singers of the county are asked to take notice and try to arrange to attend. This is a county-wide affair, and it is hoped that the singers from all over the county will feel that it is their own. We hope to make it the best ever held in the county. Quartets from this and adjoining counties are expected.

An invitation has been extended to all of the large publishing houses to have representatives and quartets there. A number of singers from the Birmingham district are expected, as well as those from Coosa, Autauga, Elmore and Shelby counties.

Word has been received from Prof. J. M. Henson of Atlanta that he likely will attend the convention, and that if he cannot attend in person he will send a large supply of the Morris-Henson song books to be used in the singing. Prof. P. B. Shaw of Brookside, Birmingham, has consented to come, and he will bring a supply of the new Stamps-Baxter books. So, everybody bring your old and new Morris-Henson books and your new Stamps-Baxter books, as likely all three of these will be used during the day.—W. G. Culp, chairman; T. E. Wyatt, secretary.

EDITORIAL

ANYWAY, IT LOOKS GOOD

Roger Babson, reliable and widely known authority on business says that the present upturn in stocks and business is justified. He bases his opinion on past years and happenings. Some say the present increase in prices and business is political work being done by President Hoover and his workers, to help out in trying to re-elect Hoover, while others are of the opinion that it is due to the firm belief that Roosevelt will be elected and times will just naturally get better.

Which ever one it is, the present outlook looks good to us and we are enjoying it, hoping that it will continue. If it is caused by Hoover and his men, well, we are much obliged to them, and sorry (maybe) we can't vote for him and express our gratitude. But, even at that, if Hoover and his campaigners can make things look better during their campaign, why in the dickens didn't they start their campaign a long time ago.

Roger Babson may be right, and then maybe it is due to Roosevelt, but anyway, prices are no doubt going up, and we feel that we had better buy our Winter clothes, fuel, and other things now, before the prices get too high. Then if you have any building or repairing you plan to do, it might be advisable to do that now, too.

We suggest that you look over the ads in this issue of the News and see that merchants of Clanton are offering these low prices we speak of.

SCHOOL DAYS

Another school year has begun. More children than ever went to school at one time before, will spend the next eight or nine months laying the fundations for their independent and for their individual lives. Some of them will learn a good deal. Some of them will not learn very much. The one thing that most children learn in school, and the most important thing that any of them learn is, after all, not what is in the books but how to live.

It has always seemed to us that the real life of the child is his or her school life. During these formative years the child's principal interest centers about school. It is the one place where he can mingle on equal terms with all of those around him. For several hours a day he works and plays in the company of those of his own age. He learns, through the necessary discipline of the schoolroom, to restrain such natural impulses as tend to disorder, but he learns from the contacts with other boys not only the wisdom of non-interference with the rights of others, but the importance of standing up for his own rights. In other words, the most valuable function of the school is to socialize its pupils, to help them to learn how to live in the crowd.

In the old days of big families the children learned those things from their own brothers and sisters. Families of eight or ten or more youngsters are not so common in these days, and the discipline of the crowd is best enforced and learned in the school atmosphere. And it is becoming more and more essential that our young folks should go out into the world with a better understanding of their place in it.

We think the best schools are the ones in which the pupils are required to do most for themselves and have the least done for them by their teachers and others. All that any system of education can do for any child is to stimulate him to use his own native intelligence. But outside of the curriculum, beyond and above the formal routinne of the acquisition of knowledge, far more important is the socializing and civilizing influence of constant association with other young ones of his own age.

TELEPHONE IS VALUABLE

We should think that one of the last things a farmer would want to do without would be the telephone. It is said that a large number of farmers have had their telephones taken out the past six months, as a measure of economy. In most cases no doubt they can get along without them. They did in the early days. But in many families it will be found that the necessity for the telephone just once will more than pay its cost. In case of fire, or accident on the farm, the telephone is sometimes a lifesaver.

A doctor may be wanted badly in the middle of the night; a valuable animal may become suddenly ill; an accident may endanger the life of an individual—all or any of these make a telephone almost indispensable. Then there is the personal satisfaction in a telephone. Many farm women have little communication with their neighbors except through the telephone. The women use it ten times where a man uses it once. The farm women are entitled to all the luxuries—if we may designate a telephone as a luxury—that can be provided on a farm. They earn all they get in that line, and more. There may be instances where it is impossible just now to maintain a telephone; but the farmer should think twice and thrice before he orders it taken out.

Journal Comments On Clanton's Mayors Race

The mayors election for Clanton which takes place next Monday, seems to be attracting state-wide attention. Below will be found a comment taken from the Alabama Journal, Montgomery, editorial page, of recent date:

"CLANTON'S CONTEST"

"In Clanton there is in progress quite a spirited contest for mayor in which the former mayor and county Democratic chairman J. B. Atkinson is a candidate. Last week some members of the city council opposed to him made public a list of questions calculated to embarrass his candidacy. Mr. Atkinson not only turned the tables by giving satisfactory answers to each question but blasted their authors by referring to them as 'maledicent questioners.'

"Dr. Samuel Johnson once silenced an abusive Billinggate fishmonger by calling him a parallelepipedon. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Atkinson will achieve the same result by calling his opponents maledicent interrogators."

BUSINESS GETS IN HIGH GEAR LAST SATURDAY

Clanton Merchants Report A General Pick-Up In All Lines This Week

A business man does not try to fool himself these days into believing that business is good. He can't tell himself that he is enjoying good business, and that sales are increasing—trying to make himself feel good. It's the cash register and the books, whether on the red side or the blue side.

However, merchants in this section did not have to try to fool themselves at the close of business last Saturday, according to reports reaching this newspaper. Merchants in Clanton in all lines report that they had an exceptionally good day of business Saturday. And we don't believe they were trying to fool anyone else either.

It is the general opinion that business is slightly on the upgrade. By noticing carefully the stores, one can tell that the people are beginning to buy those things they have been doing without for a number of months. In other words the expected has happened.

And these people who are buying now are acting wisely. Necessities, and even luxuries are cheaper now than ever before in many years, and indications are that they are cheaper than they will be in months to come. It is wise to buy now. Buy those things one is going to need this winter. According to reliable reports, within the next few months, possibly weeks, prices are slated for a sharp upturn.

Look through this issue of the News, studying the advertisements of merchants who are sending their messages of low prices to you. Many merchants may say they are selling goods just as cheap as anyone else, but that is not like taking a little time and sending this message to the people they wish to serve.

The merchant who advertises is showing an interest in his customers as well as in his business and his town.

PEAS & VETCH RESULTS ARE BEING SHOWN

Farmers And Business Men Urged To Learn About Legume Values

County Agent Stapp states that representatives from Dallas County advise that that county will plant six hundred thousand pounds of peas and vetch this fall. Mr. John Blake, County Agent, is one of the pioneer advocators of peas and vetch and the acreage planted to these crops increases every year.

Mr. Stapp reports that indications are that the farmers of Chilton County will plant about twice the acreage to peas and vetch this fall as they did last year. There are many places in the county where farmers may see the result of peas and vetch as soil-building and fertilizing crops. Among those who are strong advocators of peas and vetch are the following:

Dr. P.M. Martin, Plantersville; Charlie Mitchell, Stanton; Dr. C. N. Parnell, Maplesville; H. R. Oden, Isabella Community; J. N. Childress, Pleasant Grove Community, west of Jemison; S. C. Sloan, North of Jemison; Mr. Morris, near Minooka; Cecil Baggett, Thorsby; J. N. Dennis, Clanton; W. L. Popwell, Clanton; J. W. Hamilton, Clanton; Mrs. Ola Edwards, Fairview Community; Walter Popwell, Kincheon Community; Tom Hilyer, near Cooper; Jasper Robinson, Verbena; and John Dutton, at the gap of the mountain, on the Lay Dam Road.

Visitors will be welcomed by any of the above farmers. We believe that every farmer in Chilton County who doesn't already know the value of peas and vetch should visit one of the above places and learn what they can about these wonderful crops. We further believe that farmers of the county should not only learn about these crops from seeing them on the other fellow's place but that there should be five acres per mule planted on every farm in the county this fall.

By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the General Election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next General Election after the said adjournment of the said Legislature is to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of November, 1932, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "That Section 138 of Article 5 of the Constitution of Alabama be amended so as to read as follows: Section 138 of Article 5.—A sheriff shall be elected in each County by the qualified electors thereof who shall hold office for a term of four years unless sooner removed, and he shall be eligible to such office as his own successor. Whenever any prisoner is taken from jail, or from the custody of any sheriff or his deputy, and put to death, or suffers grievous bodily harm, owing to the neglect, connivance, cowardice, or other grave fault of the sheriff, such sheriff may be impeached under Section 174 of this Constitution. If the sheriff be impeached, and thereupon convicted, he shall not be eligible to hold any office in this State during the time for which he had been elected or appointed to serve as sheriff."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 1st day of August, 1932.

HOWARD GAR'GE IS FIRM BELIEVER IN ADVERTISING

Located In Verbena, Shows Skill In Repairing Of Automobiles

—o—

One of the many places of business in this section, believing firmly that advertising pays, and attributing much of their business to advertising, is the Howard Garage in Verbena, Ala.

During the past several months, the Howard Garage has been using advertising space in this newspaper, having a certain amount to be expended each month for this advertising. In connection with their newspaper advertising, the Howard Garage has recently erected several road signs.

In a conversation with a representative of the News, John Howard stated that they believe that this advertising has aided them considerably in increasing their business, and that they intend to continue.

But, it occurred to the News representative that something must be used to hold this business after the advertising brings it in. However, that question was soon answered. The Howard Garage is wonderfully equipped to take care of all repair jobs on all makes of automobiles. They have in connection with this equipment, mechanics who are skilled in its use and trained to locate trouble, be it in the ignition, or elsewhere.

The Howard Garage in Verbena also handles the Goodyear tires and tubes and great believers in this product. They are also agents for the famous Majestic radios and electric refrigerators. And an item that is of interest is that they have a way of making low charges for their work.

> Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. Said bonds to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series and to mature at such times as may be provided by law, all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually; shall be a direct obligation of the State and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged for the prompt payment of the interest and principal thereof. They shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof and they shall be exempt from all State, county and municipal taxes. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on these bonds, there is pledged such portion of the income tax which may be collected in Alabama as will be necessary to pay the interest and principal as they mature, or any other tax paid to the State if an income tax is not levied or be insufficient. The Governor may borrow from time to time an amount not in excess of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to be used in the payment of the indebtedness due September 30, 1932, or such portion thereof as he may be able to pay with money so borrowed, and may pledge as collateral security for said money so borrowed the bonds herein provided for, or any of them, and may use the interest coupons in payment of interest on the money so borrowed. The Governor of Alabama is authorized to negotiate temporary loans from time to time never to exceed Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) to meet any deficiencies in the Treasury and to pay interest on the money so borrowed and until the same is paid no new loan shall be negotiated.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

> Article XXII. The Legislature shall have the power to levy and collect taxes for state purposes on net incomes from whatever source derived within this State, including the incomes derived from salaries, fees, and compensation paid by the State, County, Municipality and any agency or creature thereof, for the calendar year, 1932, and thereafter, and to designate and to define the incomes to be taxed and to fix the rates of taxes. Income shall not be deemed property for purposes of ad valorem taxes. From net income an exemption of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) shall be allowed to unmarried persons and an exemption of Three Thousand Dollars ($3000.00) shall be allowed to the head of a family, provided that only one exemption shall be allowed to husband and wife where they are living together and make separate returns for income tax. The Legislature shall reduce the ad valorem tax from time to time when and to such an amount as the revenue derived from the income tax will justify. In the event the Legislature levies an income tax such tax must be levied upon the salaries, incomes, fees, or other compensation of State, County and Municipal officers and employees on the same basis as such income taxes are levied upon other persons.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

Real College Life In "Age of Consent"

Contrary to widespread belief, genuine college life of today is not one round of exhuberant drinking, conspecuous "necking," roadster-fuls of pretty co-eds, slick college sheiks and a generous load of care-free students whose only reason for attending college is to waste time, spend money and acquire "prestige."

Although these elements are present in the higher institutions of learning, they are by far outnumbered by the earnest boy and girl who really seek adequate preparation for the future. These types are realistically portrayed by Dorothy Wilson and Richard Cromwell in "The Age of Consent," poignant drama of the modern campus, coming to the Wadesonian Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 19 and 20.

The film adaptation of Martin Flavin's Broadway play, "Crossroads," presents these co-featured players as a pair of college lovers who weigh the surrender of an education with the acquisition of a marriage certificate.

Miss Wilson makes her film debut in "The Age of Consent." Others in the cast are Eric Linden, Arline Judge, Aileen Pringle, John Halliday and Reginald Barlow.

CENTRAL SINGING SOCIETY

The society met at Providence last Sunday afternoon. The crowd was small but a very good singing was had. The new Stamps books were used exclusively, and everyone seemed to like the songs, although they are new and most of them are hard.

There will be no meeting of the society next Sunday afternoon on account of the county convention at Maplesville; as many members of the society as can are urged to attend the convention. The next regular session of the society will be at Friendship the fourth Sunday afternoon. Everybody practice up on the new songs and let's try and have a good singing at Friendship the fourth Sunday afternoon.

The interest in the society seems somewhat to be waning, which we regret to see. This is no doubt caused, to a great extent, by the fact that a big percentage of our leading singers of the section persist in going other places instead of supporting our society. We have stressed this point time and again, but still some of our best singers, on whose shoulders rest much of the responsibility for the success of the society, persist in going off to other counties to sing just because our society happens to meet at a church where these particular singers hold a grudge ten or fifteen years old. Nothing has ever been gained by harboring a disposition like this, and no good can possibly come from the practice of such. Rather, we should do as the good book says—forgive, and we will find that our influence in every good cause will be greater.

The purpose of this little spiel is not to make anyone sore but it is given with the hope that it might bring about a better spirit among our singers and that our society might be made better by it.

For the humiliation, pain, and embarrassment of being spanked by a comparative stranger, Agnes Trafzer of Los Angeles, was awarded damages of $1,235 in court.

Popular Actor Is Seen In Thriller

Following up his tremendous success as Dugan, the bootlegger, in the Monogram melodrama "Forgotten Women," Jack Carlyle was booked for the role of one of the leading villians in the thrilling Monogram "Bill and Andy" Western, "The Ghost City" which comes to the Wadesonian Theatre Friday for a run of two days.

Carlyle, who appears in many of the most thrilling scenes of "The Ghost City," is a veteran of 26 years on the stage and screen. He distinguished himself for his surpassing delineations of the roles of Sergeant Quirt and Witzel in the New York stage presentations of "What Price Glory" and "White Cargo," respectively, and has been seen in such pictures as "Alexander Hamilton," "The Public Enemy," "Suicide Fleet," "The Ruling Voice" and "Local Boy Makes Good."

Where the Tall Corn Grows

"Tall Corn" growing in Alabama following a good crop of vetch. Basic Slag is often the difference between success and failure with vetch or winter peas.

We usually think of Iowa as being the State "Where the Tall Corn Grows." But "Tall Corn" will grow in Alabama, too. In 1931 thousands of Alabama farmers grew "Tall Corn" by using hairy vetch and Austrian winter peas to build up their soils. On the average they increased their yield 20 bushels per acre by turning under a good crop of vetch or peas before planting corn. This brought their average yield up from about 15 bushels per acre to about 35 bushels per acre, which is near the Iowa average.

For best results hairy vetch or Austrian winter peas should have a liberal application of at planting time. Discussing phosphate for winter legumes, Director M. J. Funchess of the Auburn Experiment Station said: "We have found that basic slag is always as good as superphosphate and frequently better. The lime content of basic slag makes it superior to superphosphate for winter legumes. Furthermore, basic slag does not injure inoculation; and inoculation is absolutely essential to success."

BASIC SLAG

DON'T QUIT

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems all up hill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must—but don't you quit.

[illegible] twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about
When he might have won had he stuck it out;
Don't give up though the pace seems slow—
You may succeed with another blow.

Success is failure turned inside out—
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar.
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you must not quit.

Voters Must Control Taxation

In 1927 the major departments, commissions and bureaus of the Federal government cost the taxpayers $1,964,000,000.

In the 1932 fiscal year they cost $3,195,100,000—an increase of 63 per cent. The cost of one department increased 220 per cent in that time—another jumped 117 per cent—two others went up 113 per cent and 106 per cent, respectively.

The most amazing phase of this is that we were in a far better position to pay in 1927 than in 1932. Those were boom days, when extravagance was taken almost as a matter of course. In the last three years businesses and individuals have been forced to cut costs and adjust outgo to reduced income. Only the governmental departments and commissions and bureaus and whatnots have demanded that an unending stream of dollars be ready for them to spend.

The meaning of all this should be clear enough by now. We face the specter of tax bankruptcy. We are experiencing a tax policy that is forcing money into tax-free bonds, throttling business and creating unemployment and distress. Goverment extravagance and waste strike deeply into every pocketbook.

There is but one solution—drastic cuts in the cost of government There is but one instrument for achieving that—the demand of the people, who pay the taxes and cast the votes. Theirs is the final word. Until that word is spoken emphatically at the polls ,the economic future of America must remain clouded by doubt.

Railroads and the Unemployed

The public is always the loser when competition is unfair.

This modern industrial axiom is especially applicable in the case of the railroad. Eighty-five per cent of the nation's freight is carried by them—and no other agency could carry it as cheaply and as efficiently. Yet inequitably regulated land and water competition has forced railroad retrenchment, resulting in the passing of dividends by many lines, and contributing further to unemployment.

In the single state of New Jersey there are 16,000 fewer residents in railroad employ than there were four years ago, and railroad payrolls to residents of the state have been reduced $27,000,000 annually. It must be remembered that the earnings of railroads cannot be compared to those of other businesses, inasmuch as during years of prosperity stringent regulation prevents them from making even as much as six per cent on their investment.

We are all interested in the railroads, whether we know it or not. They occupy a position of the first importance in the industrial scheme and their prosperity is directly related to the prosperity, or lack of it, of banks, insurance companies and a multitude of manufacturing and producing industries. What happens to the railroads will, directly or indirectly, affect us all.

"ROUND TOWN"
---by Doug

Doug:

Well, here we are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller Bull where the poker games scheduled for last week but postponed on account of Mrs. Bull havin the tummyache, will be played. Two tables have been arranged, and the players are seated, eager to begin. Let's watch the game in which Mr. and Mrs. Bull are playin'.

"Cut the cards," ordered Mike Robe as he placed the deck in front of Mrs. Bull, to his left.

"Aint you playin' the first hand, Mrs. Bull," inquired Mike Robe, holdin' the deck in his left hand ready to deal to her.

"Sure I am,—deal 'em out," replied Mrs. Bull.

"No ante, no papers," said Mike Robe, smilin' as he hesitated while Mrs. Bull put in her ante. Then he dealt to Benny Fitts, Mollie Cule, Fuller Bull, Ruby Yott and hisself in the order named.

"All right there Mrs. Bull," hollered Fuller Bull as the deal was finished, "it's up to you. Do you pass or open? If possible, please keep your mind, if any, on the game."

"Shut up Fuller," answered Mrs. Bull. "I guess I can study my cards if I want to. Just for that I'm goin' to open," droppin' in a blue (25c).

"I'll stay," said Benny Fitts puttin' in his chip.

"I declare," declared Mollie Cule, "I do not know whether I wanter risk two bits on this here hand or not. Let me see," she continued, gazin' at the ceilin' as if she might find the answer there. "Wait just a minute." Excited she scooted over to the other table and showin' her hand to Jenny Rossity, ast her: "Jenny, if you were me would you risk two bits on this?" Jenny advised her to do so and Mollie trotted back and tossed in a blue chip, sayin' "I'll stay."

"I regret to do so ladies, but I've gotter give it a boost," announced Fuller Bull, tossin in two blues.

"Goodness gracious mercy me, does that mean it will cost me a half to stay?" ast Ruby Yott.

"Correct," answered Mike Robe, lightin' a cigarette.

"Well, I probably shouldn't do it but I'm goin' to stay once anyhow," decided Ruby.

"Papers?" inquired Mike Robe, the dealer, as he picked up the deck and, ready for the draw, turned towards Mrs. Bull.

"I just declare," declared Mrs. Bull, "I don't know whether to split my openers and draw one card to a flush or draw three cards to a pair."

"Why not trot over to the other table and ask Miss Rossity," sarcastically inquired Fuller Bull.

"Give me one ticket," demanded Mrs. Bull as she gave Fuller a dirty look and kicked him under the table.

"Two cards," called out Benny Fitts.

"One," said Mollie Cule discardin' before time.

"I'll play these," declared Fuller Bull, shufflin' the cards in his hand.

"Mr. Bull, is you standin' pat?" inquired Ruby Yott whose question was ignored. "Even if I filled," she continued, "you'd probably have me beat, 'cause I wouldn't have nothin' but a little flush. But since lots of times bad mean old men tries to bluff, especially when they's wimmin in the game, I guess I'll stick around. Give me one card Mr. Dealer."

"Two to the dealer," announced Mike Robe as he dealt to hisself, completin' the draw.

"We are waintin' on you again, Mrs. Bull," hollered Fuller Bull, knockin' the ashes offen his cigarette.

"Shut up Fuller; I've bettered my hand but I don't know if I want to check or bet" she replied.

"Why not ask Miss Rossity at the other table?" suggested Fuller, drawin' another kick from his wife.

"Why Mrs. Bull, your hand is dead; you're holdin' six cards," declared Mike Robe.

"I just forgot to discard," she replied, tossin' away one card. "I'll check," she continued.

"Too late now," said Fuller Bull, "your hand is dead."

"Two bits," said Benny Fitts, tossin' in a blue.

"All right, I'll stay once," announced Mollie Cule without movin' her hands.

"If that's the case. Miss Cule, will you please be good enough to decorate the mahogany?" said Mike Robe.

"Excuse me," she apologized, droppin' in a chip.

"And two bits," added Fuller Bull, tossin' in two blues.

"Say, what the doos does you men think this here game is anyhow, a benefit or somethin'?" demanded Ruby Yott. Turnin' to Mrs. Bull she continued: "If you doesn't mind my sayin' damn in you house just one time, Mrs. Bull, I'm gointer put these here men on notice right now that they can't freeze me out, 'cause I'm going to keep stayin' if it takes every damned chip I've got."

"Hooray for Ruby," hollered Jenny Rossity from the other table, "don't let 'em make no monkey outen' you."

Mike Robe stayed as did everybody else and Ruby Yot won the pot with her flush.

"Hooray for the wimmin," hollered Jennie Rossity and rushin' over to Ruby whispered in her ear. "If you intend to do any bluffin' now is the psychological time to do it, 'cause everybody is scairt of you."

(Durin the followin' two hours, the wimmin with wimmin's luck—beginner's luck multiplied by 3.1416, won most of the pots. After the intermission for lemonade, Mrs. Bull dealt and the pot was opened and raised several times and as she deat the last card of the draw to herself, Fuller Bull ast her):

"Mrs. Bull, what in the world do you mean by drawin' four cards? What do you think I'm made outer anyhow, money? Haven't you got no sense a tall?"

"Look ahere Fuller Bull, you old devil," she replied before lookin' at the cards she had drawn, "what's eatin' on you anyhow? I'm drawin' four cards to a straight open at both ends."

"Omigod," groaned Fuller, risin and walkin back and forth across the room, wringin' his hands.

(It was plain that nobody believed that Mrs. Bull had any chance of winnin' the pot on a four-card draw. However as she looked at the drawn cards for the first time, everybody could tell from the expression on her face that she had bettered considerably, but nobody suspected she now held a full house).

"Let's hurry and finish this hand," urged Ruby Yott excitedly after lookin' at her draw. "I've got about two bucks in that pot and I figger I've got a good chance to win it."

"You must of filled, Miss Yott," said Benny Fitts.

"I did" was her answer.

"How many cards did you draw, Ruby?" ast Mollie Cule.

"One," replied Ruby.

"What was you drawin' to Ruby, a flush, a straight or two pairs?" inquired Mrs. Bull.

"Look ahere," interrupted Fuller Bull, "don't give 'em no more free information,—make it cost 'em to find out what you've got."

"Oh, I don't know Mr. Smarty," replied Mollie Cule, "if I want to I can lay my hand down now and after it's all over Ruby won't mind my takin' a look at hern." And the wimmin at both tables sniggered at what seemed to them a verbal victory.

On the next hand Mrs. Bull drew to two pair and filled. Fuller Bull stood pat and raised the pot severa times, freezin' out everybody finally, includin' Mrs. Bull with her full house.

"Hold on there," yelled Mrs. Bull as Fuller moved to draw in the pot. Frantically searchin' for the hand she'd laid down, she found it. Grabbin' Fuler's cards outen his hand she saw he had only a pair of nines. "I'm entitled to that pot 'cause I had the best hand, but" she continued "just because I'm a woman you mean old men bluffed me outen it."

(But Fuller drew the pot to him and began stackin' the chips and Mrs. Bull cried like her heart if any would break or somethin').

"Well," chuckled Fuller Bull, proudly eyein' the big haul, "this is an example of brains winnin' over luck."

(Mrs. Bull, infuriated by his remark. reached for her pocketbook and dammit she got it).

Bang! Bang! (Pistol).

Clang! Clang! (Ambulance).

Tum, tum, tum, tum-tum, tum-tum, tum-tum. (funeral march).

And they laid poor Fuller Bull away by the side of his wife's first husband.

MORAL ECHOES
D. W. Haskew

One day I was walking along with a friend. We were passing a plank wall and over the wall we saw the head of a cow lifted high enough to see us as we strolled along. I remarked to my companion, "Do you see that cow looking at us over the fence?" He glanced in that direction and being mostly of Irish blood he ventured to ask, "Do you know why she looks at us over the fence?" I confessed my ignorance and after listening to his reply, "Why, sir, that cow is looking at us over the fence because she cannot see through it," I felt my ignorance more than ever. That was a sensible cow. She could not see through a plank fence and she lifted her head and looked over it. If we would learn that much about our problems and difficulties in life we would be much better off. It is a good policy, when you can not see through a mystery, and there are things that God never intended that we should see thru them, for you to lift your head and look over them.

I was standing by watching the construction of a large bridge. Span after span was being linked together. Timbers and steels of all forms and sizes were being placed in position. The contractor held in his hand his blue print and he knew the place and position of everything that was being worked into the bridge. He made this remark to me, "That bridge is being so constructed as to divide the weight that is on the bridge. Each beam and support will have an equal share in the holding up of the burden that passes over the bridge." Since hearing the statement of that contractor I saw where a bridge had fallen and many lives were lost, and the cause was in that the bridge was so constructed as to place too much strain at one point. The burden was not equally divided. In the building of God's church He has so constructed it as to divide the burdens equally among its membership. When one member refuses, or fails to carry his part of the load, that puts more strain on some other member. There have been many crashes in church life because some members failed to carry their part of the load. Church loads are equally divided, and why let your part of the load be placed on shoulders already loaded to the lim it?

I had a little dog and I won his love. He would romp with me, would trust me and would smile into my face. "Little doggie, why did you love me?" He could not use language, but deep down in his eyes I could read this answer, "Because you are so good to me." I had a fine horse. I won her love. She would call for me to come to the lot where she was. Many a time did she meet me at the gate when I would be coming with the bridle in my hand. In her language she would beg me to put the harness on her that she might carry me out to ride. I gave her bundles of hay and lumps of sugar and she loved me. "You fine, beautiful animal, why did you love me?" It was all because I had been good to her. God has been good to all of us. You may be as mean as old Satan himself, still God has been good to you. If being good to a dog and a horse will win their affection, tell me why you refuse to be won to God when he is so good to you. The more God does for some folks the meaner they become.

An Irishman was passing a farm house with a pitch-fork on his shoulder. A big Bull dog made for him, and Pat used his strong arms to jam the steel forks through the body of the dog and pin him to the ground. The owner of the dog came dashing up with words of anger. After much profanity he stormed at the Irishman, "And why sir did you not strike my dog with the other end of your pitchfork?" Pat replied, "And why sir, did your dog not come at me with his other end?" When the whiskey business comes at us with its teeth end, and we nail it through and pin it to the mud, the whiskey forces howl much about what we are doing. They tell us that the whiskey traffic has a harmless end. When the whiskey business comes at us with its harmless end, we will then be ready to deal with it through mercy. However, if the whiskey business has a harmless end I have never seen it. Every time it comes at the guilty or the innocent, it comes with the teeth end. Nail it down every time it comes near.

Before the depression we ventured to have a servant. One was hired who was slouchy, lazy and ignorant. The parsonage lady put up with her as long as she could be endured. She was called into consulation and was told that she was not needed any longer. I could see the girl from my study door, and observed that the tears came into her eyes as she said, "Miss, please do not fire me. I know dat I am a no good nigger, but I don't want to be fired." She confessed her shortcomings and promised that if she would be given another trial that she would make good, and she did. Many of you are just as trifling in your place in the church as was that negro girl. You are lazy and indifferent. Suppose that Jesus should say to you, "I have put up with your triflingness as long as I can stand it, and you may go. I have no further use for you." If he should say that to me I would set up a howl like that negro girl. I would tell him, "Master I do not want to be fired. Keep me and I will show you that I can do my duty so as to please." What kind of a servant are you? Do you need firing because you are so lazy and trifling?

Sheriff's Forces Get Still During Week

Only three arrests were reported by the sheriff's office during the past week. Two for manufacturing whiskey and possession of a still and one for violating the prohibition law.

The still was located in the northwestern part of the county, it was stated, and was a steel drum outfit. The officers surprised the two operators of the still while the outfit was in operation, A small quanitity of liquor was also found.

Timely Dairy Hints

By C. M. Ling
Extension Dairy Specialist, Auburn

Starting the cows on the winter ration early, before pastures become lean, will help prevent the slump in production that usually occurs in the fall. It is much more economical to maintain production than it is to build it back after there has been a decrease.

For winter feeding a balanced ration should be fed at the rate of 1 pound for each 3 pounds of milk produced. Cows should have all the hay they will eat. Silage should be limited to about 25 to 30 pounds per day for Jersey cows.

Proper feeding will lessen troubles with cows that freshen in the fall. At least two weeks before freshening the cows should be fed a light laxative ration. The same ration may be continued after freshening for about 10 days. A fresh cow should be put on full feed gradually, as heavy feeding after freshening may cause serious udder trouble.

Chilton Group Visits R. E. Lambert Farm

On Thursday of last week a group composed of H. S. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Parnell and their son Charles, Dr. P. T. Hinkle, Dr. W. L. Parrish, J. N. Dennis, J. Z. Mims, B. Lawrence, R. M. Foshee, W. L. Popwell and C. E. Stapp, motored to the farm of R. E. Lambert in Wilcox County where they attended a meeting in interest of beef cattle production. Mr. Lambert is widely known because of his interest in Hereford cattle, pasture grasses and soil building crops. More than one hundred people attended the meeting and saw the splendid work Mr. Lamber is doing in the way of pasture building and the production of beef cattle.

Mr. Stapp states that interest in beef cattle is growing in Chilton County Among those who have some good beef cattle in the county are Dr. C. N. Parnell, H. S. Shaw, Arthur Martin and J. N. Dennis. Several others are planning to purchase bulls of the beef breeds and breed their grade cows to them, thereby increasing the value of their calves for beef purposes.

County Agent Stapp thinks that people who are not interested in improving their dairy cattle but merely want to breed their cows in order to have them freshen, should by all means breed them to a good, purebred beef type bull. Mr. Stapp further states that there is lots of land in Chilton County that should be cleared off this winter and seeded to permanent pastures for beef cattle.

HOME-COMING DAY AT CONCORD CHURCH SATURDAY

There will be a Home-Coming Day at Concord M. P. Church on Saturday October 15. We urge all who are members of this church to be present. You are to have part in the program for the day. We are giving it on Saturday so that the ministers and all will have an opportunity to come. Dr. T. C Cassady of Montgomery will speak at the eleven o'clock hour. Plan to be with us on that day.

News of interest this week is that the local Nehi Bottling Plant has discontinued bottling drinks, but from now on Mr. Horslev White will haul the drinks from Montgomery.

Miss Esther Johnson returned to Birmingham Monday from a six week's visit in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. In Gary she visited her brother, Maynard Johnson and family, and her sister, Mrs. Emil Peterson and family. In Rockford, Illinois, she visited Miss Pearl Carlson, Mr. John Carlson, and Pearl's aunts, Mrs. Hilda Danilson and Mrs. Emma Lindstrom; and in Chicago Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carlson and son and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Berlin. She brings greetings from all of them and also of the Andrew Johnsons. She was in Rockford for Mr. Carlson's seventy-fourth birthday anniversary party and says that Mr. Carlson is fatter than he has ever been, and that Mr. and Mrs. Berlin look as young as ever, but that Mr. Andrew Johnson is not well. Esther called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carlson in Rockford, not knowing that they were in Thorsby at the time. She says that Miss Carlson is as attractive as ever and that she along with four other girls enjoyed a week at several lakes in Wisconsin, and at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. After three days at Teachers Institute, Esther came to Thorsby and spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Johnson, and her sister, Edith.

Miss Lillian Fitzpatrick and Miss Clara Moore of Birmingham spent last Friday as the guests of Mrs. G. F. Harper.

You Won't Make A Mistake If You Buy A WESTINGHOUSE

YOU'LL never wonder why you bought it, but how you ever got along without it!

It's so easy to cook delicious meals with a Westinghouse Electric Range. Foods are cooked to perfection with minimum attention from you—pots and pans stay bright and free from soot. And it's economical, too. Roasts and other meats shrink less when they are cooked in the Flavor-Zone Oven. Disappointing results and expensive failures simply do not happen when a Westinghouse is doing the cooking!

Get your Westinghouse this month, during the sale. You'll find it's one of the best investments you ever made!

By shortening the hours of labor in the factory, on the farm, and in the home electricity has, in effect, added hours to every day thus increasing immeasurably the joy of living.

Pates Chapel News

The singing school came to a close Saturday and of course all of the pupils were sorry to see it close. I am sure we all wish and hope Mr. C. N. Oden good luck. I think we all enjoyed the singing school very much

And, too, we were very glad to have our visitors Friday and Saturday and cordially invite them all back to the evening singings and Sunday school, and every first Saturday night and Sunday we have preaching services, conducted by Rev. M. Lockhart of Refuge community.

Mr. A. Maddox spent the day with his brother Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Oather Maddox, of Pleasant Grove.

The people, especially the ladies, were glad to have Miss Thomasson of Montgomery with us last Wednesday. She made a real interesting talk on Missions and the ladies have organized a small W. M. U. at Pates Chapel. The meeting will be the second and fourth Saturday evenings, 3:30 o'clock. Every woman and girl is invited.

Miss Hazel Maddox was elected president, and Mrs. E. J. Hayes, vice president, and Miss Maude Wallis, secretary and treasurer.

Amon gthose who attended the singing at Liberty Hill were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Maddox, Mr. C. N. Oden, Mr. Tommie Maddox and Misses Lorene and Lucile Cleckler and Maude Wallis. It was very much enjoyed by everyone and we want them to visit our church some time, especially the third Sunday evening in every month, to help us build our singing up.

Stop! Look! And Listen!

Next Sunday, September 18th, there will be an evening singing at Pates Chapel church, and we invite every community to come and help us out. Everybody come and bring someone with you. We are striving to build our singing society up. We have the 1933 song books "Songs of Praise," also the "Crowning Hymns." We invite you all to come and be with us if you won't sing. The singing will start about two o'clock.

R. L. Sumner of Birmingham has recently purchased twenty acres of land from J. W. Powers a mile above Thorsby, and will erect a home this month, and move his family about the first of October. His home will be located a short distance south of the Powers home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bruner of Montgomery were visitors in the Parsonage Sunday afternoon. They were close friends of Rev. and Mrs. Haskew while they were in charge of the Forest Avenue Church in Montgomery.

DEATSVILLE PASTOR DIED IN MONTGOMERY SUNDAY

A sad death occured in a Montgomery Hospital early Sunday morning when Rev. B. E. Meigs of Deatsville passed away. On Thursday afternoon a small boil made its appearance on his nose. It was treated by the physician Saturday and by noon Saturday his case was becoming serious. He was rushed to the hospital in Montgomery, where it was found that blood poison had set up. Physicians could no nothing to stop the poison and he passed away early Sunday morning.

Rev. Meigs was serving his third year as pastor of the Deatsville circuit, and had a wide range of friends. He was every inch a Christian gentleman, and the Methodist people of his charge were devoted to him. To know him was to love him.

His body passed through Clanton Monday afternoon and was carried to Centerville, the home of his childhood—for burial. Dr. N. B. McLeod, Dr. D. W. Haskew, and Rev. J. M. Metcalf accompanied the family and friends.

The Carter brothers rendered a special number with their instruments at the Methodist Church Sunday morning for the Men's Bible Class. The boys are developing real talent and will become valuable assets in community and church circles.

Rev. Homer Carroll left Monday morning to matriculate for work in the Howard College in Birmingham. He will return the latter part of the week and will carry Mrs. Carroll with him. For the past two months they have occupied rooms at the Curry home in Clanton.

Among the worshipers at the Baptist church Sunday night was Prof. Sampey of the Howard College, son of Dr. John A. Sampey, who was doing the preaching. Prof. Sampey was introduced to the audience by Dr. Ezell. We must say that the appearance of the teachers from our Grammar and High schools, in the church services last Sunday added much to the general average. Clanton is glad to have the return of these splendid men and women into our midst. We feel that we have as fine Christian teachers as any county in the state.

o

Monday morning Rev. D. W. Haskew addressed the Thorsby Grammar school at nine o'clock. We are glad to know that the school opened with a large attendance of pupils and patrons. Dr. Haskew hurried back to Clanton and then spoke before the Chilton County High School at 10:30 A. M.

DALLAS COMPRESS COMPANY SERVES BUSINESS ABLY

Editor Of News Enjoys Trip Through Plant And Large Warehouses Of Widely Known Cotton Buyers And Shippers

Did you ever see a machine that could squeeze a bale of cotton into about half its size when ginned? Well the Dallas Compress Company, at Selma has a machine that can do that We say 'squeeze' because that is exactly what happens to a bale of cotton when it is placed in that gigantic steam press.

The editor of the News, while visiting in Selma recently, was carried to the Dallas Compress Company's plant and warehouses, and shown through by the manager, Mr. T. J. Jackson, who seemed delighted to have us visit his business.

Throughout the large number of huge cotton warehouses, they have installed a modern sprinkler system, which is an assurance that if fire breaks out anywhere, it will soon be extinguished by this automatic sprinkler system, which concentrates its efforts right where the flames are.

Mr. Jackson explained that by having this sprinkler system, they are given a much lower insurance rate. The editor noticed the splendid system this company has in handling its cotton and taking care of its customers, and was impressed with the attitude of responsibility shown by all the employees of the company, in the warehouses, in the compress and in the office.

The license of this company allows its capacity to be 87,500 bales of cotton, and a thorough inspection is given often by government inspectors. Due to its location in Selma, the Dallas Compress Company is one of the finest interior cotton markets in the country. Located on main line railroads and on water, gives them cheapest of freight rates, both by water and rail.

While the editor was there, employees were loading cotton to be shipped by rail and water. Mr. Jackson stated that ninety per-cent of the cotton shipped by them was export, meaning that it went to foreign countries. He also stated that they make no charge for selling cotton for the cotton merchant or the farmer.

While sitting in the office of this company, the editor asks some questions about the Dallas Compress Company, about how long it had been established, etc. Mr. Jackson stated that the original Dallas Compress Company was organized in the '60's, while the charter of the present company was granted in 1882. This makes the company quite an old established business.

It was a pleasure to the editor to make this visit to this large cotton concern, and see for himself how a bale of cotton was squeezed into half its size before it is shipped.

This Woman Lost 45 Pounds of Fat

"Dear Sirs: For 3 months I've been using your salts and am very much pleased with results. I've lost 45 lbs., 6 inches in hips and bust measure. I've taken 3 bottles—one lasting 5 weeks. I had often tried to reduce by dieting but never could keep it up, but by cutting down and taking Kruschen I've had splendid results. I highly recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. Carl Wilson, Manton, Mich.

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — don't miss a morning. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—a bottle that lasts four weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at—any durgstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Clanton Methodist Church

D. W. Haskew, Pastor

Next Sunday is "Sunday School Day" at our church, and we want every one present. Bring a friend. There is no reason why we should not have the largest school of the year. Let all the family be present.

Preaching at 11 A. M. and at 7:30 P. M. by the pastor. We never fail to have good services, just the kind that you will enjoy. Come thou with us and we will do thee good.

The revival in our church will begin on October the 9th. We want all the people in Clanton to make your plans to attend this meeting. We are not planning anything sensational, but we are planing to do some real constructive Christian work.

"Everybody in His Place," is our motto. We need you and you need the church.

Insanity is decreasing, according to an alienist. But not among people who do murder.

Both in the Same Boat

Swift & Company has more than one hundred produce plants, where poultry, eggs and dairy products are bought, prepared and shipped to far-off markets. In each plant is an ambitious, hard-working local resident—the manager. In his community that man is "Swift & Company".

He has the producer viewpoint. He rejoices when prices are satisfactory to his patrons. In this his interest is selfish. He is in the same boat with the farm producer. His advancement in business, in his own organization, depends on how much produce he purchases and how well he handles it.

Your Swift produce plant manager strives for steady operation at full capacity; only under such conditions is his plant most efficient. He wants volume and full payrolls. Nothing pleases him better than to pay the cash price for more and more produce.

That price is governed by demand, by what consumers can and will pay. But when the local manager is ready to ship his prepared products, demand is not awaited; is not left to chance. Swift & Company enhances demand for produce by advertising brands of high quality: Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chickens, Golden West Fowl, Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs, Cheese and many other products.

An army of Swift & Company salesmen, working from 400 branch houses and along hundreds of car routes, searches daily for bigger and hungrier markets. The local manager buys to supply those markets. Thus continually expanding outlets are opened up for the producer. The same army of salesmen sells both meat and produce. The same railroad cars transport both. Thus, costs of marketing are reduced for both livestock men and produce men.

Swift & Company has developed a national sales force and a national buying organization—striving to lower costs between the farm and the retail store. The personal welfare of each man depends on how well he does that job. That's why the charges for the service are low. Profits have averaged, over a period of years, less than a half cent a pound for all products sold.

Here's Smiling Relief...

Most of your suffering from common every-day aches and pains is unnecessary and unwise. Unnecessary, because Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve quickly and without unpleasant after effects; unwise, because pain makes your physical condition worse instead of better. One pill usually brings relief in a few minutes.

If you suffer from any of the disorders listed above, take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. If they do not give you greater relief in less time than anything else you have used, go to your druggist and get your money back.

A package of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills in your medicine cabinet, pocket, or hand-bag means fewer aches and pains.

To The Citizens of The Town Of Clanton, Alabama:

I want to call your attention to some facts which I think are pertinent to the present Mayor's election.

When I went out of office as Mayor on the first Monday in October, 1928, the total indebtedness of the Town was $79,808.92 and this included bonds and every kind of debts. Mr. Lee Smith was a member of the council that succeeded me. Since I went out of the office the Town's indebtedness jumped from $79,808.92 to .$105,000.00 when Mr. Smith became mayor, according to a statement given out by him.

Let Mr. Smith tell you what the debts were that caused the enormous jump from $79,808.92 to $105,000.00 and ask him if it is not as prudent for me to send my children to a private school as it is for him to send his son out of the state to a private school. Ask Mr. Smith, if John Boockholdt, lied when he states that he asked him for a warrant to arrest Mr. W. L. Popwell for violating the ordinance against keeping hogs in the corporate limits and ask him if Mr. Popwell, did not have a private water works plant at his home up to the time he went on the council and then abandoned it because he would receive the city water free and ask him to tell you how many members of the present council have sent their children to private schools. Ask Mr. Smith, why the town does not make the check for the Town's Attorney, Mr. Omar Reynolds, payable to said Mr. Reynolds, instead of to him as mayor, that is, if he says that he pays the city attorney out of his salary.

If you elect me as your Mayor I will have the books audited each year, just as I did when I was Mayor. I will have a statement published once each year showing the total amount collected by the town, and will show the name, amount and purpose for which the money was spent. I submit to the people of Clanton that you can not tell very much about the affairs of the town from the statement published by the present administration. Ask yourself this question was the debts that have been paid by the present Mayor and council created under the administration when Mr. Lee Smith was a member of the council or created by my administration or that previous to me. In other words why not give the administration who created the debts credit for them and for what purpose the debts were created.

When I was Mayor I did not advocate any paving of any kind and refused to do any. There was a petition signed by a majority of the property owners on eighth street which sought to have that street paved from Wilson Hotel north to Water tank and we refused to pave said street because there were some widow women who owned property on that street and to have paved said street it would have burdened them. I will not let any paving be done in the Town unless Judge Reynolds, and the Commissioner's Court want to pave the street from Gore's bridge up to the court house and from the Wilson Hotel on eighth street towards the cotton mill, and then they will have to do the work free of charge to the town and property owners.

The taxpayers of Clanton and every where are burdened with governmental expenses and I will do everything in my power to reduce the water rates, licenses and taxes and reduce the expenses so that this burden may be reduced. I believe this can be done and the Town run efficiently. The Town's affairs were operated honestly while I was connected with it and that will be done in the future, if I am elected Mayor.

Again thanking the Citizens for their support, I am

Yours very truly,
J. B. ATKINSON.

BOOCKHOLDT GIVES AFFIDAVIT ON QUESTION IN CITY ELECTION

Statement From Former Chief Of Police Of Clanton Throws New Light On Issue Brought Up In City Election Campaign

To The Editor of the
Chilton County News:

My attention has been called to the recent statements in your paper by J. Lee Smith, that "He had never refused to issue a warrant for Mr. W. L. Popwell for keeping in the incorporate limits, a hog or hogs, and that Mr. John A. Boockholdt the Chief of Police had never requested or asked him to issue a warrant for the arrest of said W. L. Popwell."

Believing that the citizens of Clanton are entitled to the truth and facts about this matter, the following is a copy of the affidavit which I have today made, setting forth such facts, and I am asking both of the Clanton papers to publish this letter in this weeks issue and am offering to pay them therefor, if they require it.

AFFIDAVIT

The State of Alabama
Chilton County.

Personally appeared before me the undersigned authority, in and for said County and State, John A. Boockholdt, who having been by me first duly sworn, deposes and says:

That on April 4, 1931, the killing of Miss Davis occured in the Town of Clanton. That there was some charge that I was negligent in preventing this tragedy. I was not guilty thereof. Shortly thereafter, the present Town Council held a full, complete and public investigation and until this day, I have never heard any judgment of theirs pronounced upon the matter. Thereafter, from that time until September 1931, I continued to serve as Chief of Police for the Town of Clanton.

In about August of 1931, complaint was made to me, that W. L. Popwell, a member of the Council of the Town of Clanton, was keeping hogs within the City limits, in violation of law. I went out to Mr. Popwells' home and found a hog penned up within the City limits and I asked him "If it was his hog," and he stated "That it was." I thereupon stated to him, in substance, "That I had had complaints against him for keeping a hog or hogs within the City limits," and stated to him further "That you know that it is against the law." Thereupon, Mr. Popwell became very mad and angry and stated, in substance, "What are you going to do about it." "Are you going to arrest me," and I stated to him, "that I did not have a warrant, but that I always showed a person in such a position the courtesy of giving them a chance to move the hog out of the City," and he stated in reply, "Well! I am a bigger Tax payer than old man Barrett or all that are complaining and I am not going to move my hog out of the City limits," and I said to him, "Well, that winds me up today, with you." Thereupon, I went back to the Town of Clanton and saw Mr. J. Lee Smith, the Mayor, and stated to him, in substance, "that I had been out to see Mr. W. L. Popwell, and found that he was keeping hogs within the City limits of Clanton, and had asked him to move them, but that he had said that he would not do it." Thereupon, Mr. Smith said to me, "that he had had some complaints about Mr. Popwell keeping hogs in the City limits," and stated further that "I am not going to give you a warrant for him, as he is one of my best friends, and would do anything for me, as I would do for him," and furthermore, Mr. Smith stated to me, "You stay away from out there."

Within a very short time, within Thirty days in my best judgment, I was notified by the Town Council that I was discharged as Chief of Police of the Town of Clanton.

J. A. BOOCKHOLDT.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this the 12th day of September, 1932.

E. C. PARRISH,
Notary Public.

The above are the facts about my dismissal, as Chief of Police of Clanton. Let the voters of the Town judge the merit of the controversy for themselves.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. BOOCKHOLDT.

(Pd. Adv. by J. A. Boockholdt.)

Dr. D. W. Haskew was called to Birmingham Tuesday for a conference with other ministers of the Alabama and North Alabama conferences on the question of a state-wide revival. The representative ministers from the two conferences met at the First Methodist church and were addressed by Bishop Ainsworth and Dr. Bob Jones.

Financial Statement of The Town of Clanton

FROM OCTOBER 1, 1931 TO JULY 18, 1932

Total Cash Receipts	$22,525.76
Total Amounts paid on old accounts for former administrations, including interest	10,178.95
Total amount paid on current operating expenses of present administration	12,346.81

The present administration has been in office almost two years and a financial statement of the first year of this administration has already been rendered in both county papers.

The outstanding indebtedness at the time the present officials took office was	$105,000.00
Total amounts, including interest, paid on this outstanding indebtedness by present administration	25,000.00

The regular annual audit will be made September 30, 1932 and the same will be printed in the county papers, as has been heretofore done.

We stand opposed to any assessments, such as sidewalks, streets or water works, against the taxpayers.

We will reduce the water rates, taxes and licenses whenever the financial condition of the Town will permit.

If elected we will apply business principles, strict economy and honesty in administering the Town's affairs.

We stand on our record. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

WHAT is the ? value of TELEPHONE SERVICE

"We wish to express our appreciation for the super-service rendered us Wednesday when we burdened your exchange with the task of calling every telephone in the city . ." writes a business man.

"Please accept our thanks for the prompt service during the illness of our little boy," says a parent.

JUST WHAT is the value of telephone service? Does it consist of making it easy to settle emergency problems, or is it in the day-after-day succession of important details common to every business and household?

Probably the answer is that both in emergencies and in the daily routine the telephone plays an essential part, saving time—getting business—arranging for the family's social affairs—rendering service.

Undoubtedly that is why so many folks agree that the value of telephone service so greatly outweighs the cost that it really doesn't pay to try to do without it.

CITY ELECTION GETS ONE CHANGE

Young Democratic League May Be Formed

MAINE TURNS DEMOCRATIC IN ELECTION

Rock - Ribbed Republican State Has A Real House-Cleaning

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Joyful Democrats digested the results of Monday's election today and found that in addition to electing a governor and two repealist congressmen they had made enough inroads in the state legislaturt to demand a prominent voice in affairs there.

Democrats gained five seats with another one in doubt in the state senate, where two years ago they were without representation. In the 151 seat house, they cut down the 1930 Republican strength of 120 to 98. Two seats were yet to be reported upon.

In choosing Lewis J. Brann for governor, the state elected its first Democratic chief executive in 18 years and the fourth since the civil war. With the voting strength of 13 unreported precincts insufficient to change the results, Brann's majority over Burleigh Martin stood at 1,265. The vote was 118,958 to 117,693.

Edward C. Moran, Jr., twice Democratic nominee for governor, displaced U. S. Rep. John E. Nelson, while John E. Utterback, Bangor business man, quashed the third congressional aspirations of former Gov. Ralph O. Brewster (Republican).

Only one major Republican candidate was successful. U. S. Rep. Carroll L. Beedy, in the first district, defeated his Democratic opponent, Joseph E. F. Connolly.

JOHN WILSON INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT LAST MONDAY

John Wilson of near Clanton was rushed to the Central Alabama Hospital last Monday afternoon, following an auto accident which happened south of Clanton.

Wilson received several cuts on the head and face, from flying glass of the windshield of the car. Friends rushed him to the hospital. He is resting very well, and returned to his home.

Hugh Comer To Speak To Men's S. S. Class

The men's and young men's Sunday School Class of the Clanton Baptist church are slated for a real treat next Sunday morning when they will hear Hon. Hugh Comer, of Sylacauga, son of Gov. Comer.

Mr. Comer is one of the state's outstanding citizens and Clanton is honored on having him visit the town, and even more so to have him speak to these two fine Sunday School classes Sunday morning.

A large crowd is expected at Sunday School at the Baptist church Sunday to hear this distinguished man.

BOY SCOUTS TO BRING PICTURE "SO BIG" HERE

Epic of American Womanhood To Be Shown at Local Theatre Sept. 21-22

Announcement has been made by the Boy Scouts here that they are sponsoring the famous motion picture "So Big" at the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton on next Wednesday and Thursday, September 21 and 22.

This picture, taken from the story by Edna Ferber is called the epic of American womanhood, and has continually grown in popularity.

Barbara Stanwyck, movie star known as The Hit Girl, stars in this picture. The picture has a mighty cast of 27 well known stars, and the story was a Pulitzer Prize winner.

It is one of the most elaborate and expensive productions ever turned out by a Hollywood studio, and Barbara Stanwyck is supported by a cast that can really be honestly described, for once, as practically all-star. Barbara's leading man is George Brent, that handsome young Irishman who is making such a sensation just now on the American screen.

SINGERS ENJOY CONVENTION IN MAPLES VILLE

Plan To Hold Two Conventions In County For Coming Year

The county singing convention held at Maplesville last Sunday was one of the best that has ever been held in the County, both as to the quality of the singing, interest and attendance. The large audditorium of the Baptist church was filled to capacity, all the seating and standing room being occupied from the very beginning of the service.

The meeting was called to order about 10:30 o'clock by Mr. J. E. Wallace, postmaster at Maplesville, with a few very chosen remarks in the way of a welcome to the singers to his town. W. G. Culp, the county chairman, then sang the opening song and prayer was offered by Mr. W. E. Northrup of Maplesville. The voice of the gathering was taken as to how the program for the day should be arrived at, and the result was that the chairman should take the whole thing in hand and, with-

DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVES TO MEET SAT.

To Complete Plans For An Aggressive Campaign In This County

The Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County will meet in Clanton next Saturday morning at ten o'clock, according to P. D. Wilson, chairman of the committee. The meeting will be held at the New Wilson Hotel.

Tying in with plans over the entire state for an aggressive campaign in behalf of the Democratic party, arrangements are to be completed at this meeting for the campaign in this county.

At present interest is wide awake in the Democratic party and members of the executive committee are being mailed notices of the meeting Saturday.

With a full ticket, and with Democratic victories sweeping the entire country, Chilton county is slated for a real Democratic victory in the coming election in November. All members of the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County are urged to be present at the meeting Saturday morning at ten o'clock at the Wilson Hotel.

VAN SMITH OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS

Down at South Clanton, Van Smith, one of the well known merchants there, appears very optimistic over the business outlook for coming months.

Mr. Smith, who is in the grocery and dry goods business states that he has lowered his prices on all goods, and that his cash prices on groceries are extremely low. He has recently added a new line of groceries. Mr. Smith has been in business in South Clanton for sometime.

Garner Freed On One Charge; Nabbed Again

The charge against Ernest Garner for the murder of William Anderson Franklin on July 2nd of this year was recently nol prossed at a hearing before Justice of The Peace J. L. Wilson, on motion of the solicitor.

Immediately on the nol pross, another warrant was served on Garner for the same charge, and he was placed in jail in Clanton to await another hearing. He has been held in jail since the murder took place last July at Franklin's home east of Clanton.

PLANS FOR AIDING OF NEEDY IN COUNTY DURING WINTER

Meetings In Eight Communities in Chilton County Are Called For Friday Afternoon Of This Week To Consider Cases

The question of the welfare of needy families in Chilton county during the coming winter months, is creating considerable interest. Since Chilton county has no regular officer or committee to look after this condition, a committee has been named to investigate the conditions and prepare for the work now.

A meeting was held in Clanton Tuesday, attended by Mrs. F. C. Shanks of Maplesville; J. E. Cobb, W. L. Sanders, Mrs. W. H. Adrey, Sid Gibson, L. H. Reynolds, C. E. Stapp, E. R. Piper, Carl Peterson, both of Thorsby; and Miss Benton, State Child Welfare Worker.

It was decided to call meetings at various places in the county. These places are Providence, Minooka, Union Grove, Blow Graveyard church. Thorsby town hall, Collins Chapel, Jackson Chapel and Fairview. These meetings are to be held Friday afternoon of this week at three-thirty o'clock.

It is the purpose of these meetings to locate the distressed families and consider all cases, and try to make some preparation for them as soon as possible. Also to consider all persons who are in need of work and able to work. Anyone that either of these cases apply to, are asked to be present at their nearest meeting place at the time given, that they may be given proper attention and consideration.

EDITORIAL

PEOPLE OF MAINE SEE THE LIGHT

The huge Democratic victory in Maine—the election of a Democratic Governor and two Democratic Congressmen—was only possible because thousands of men and women in the Pine Tree State who have heretofore voted the Republican ticket joined with Democrats in repudiation of the Hoover Administration.

For the first time the unseasoned Warwicks in charge of Mr. Hoover's campaign seem to realize the extent of the revolt within the Republican party against the Hoover Administration and the Republican ladership, but without any apparent realization of the causes that led to the revolt. They have assumed that the disaffection was brought about solely by the depression, when as a matter of fact, there were many contributory causes, such as the repeated failures of the Hoover Administration to meet the problems that have arisen out of the depression; its reckless extravagance, expending five billion dollars a year for the first two years of its existence; they recall the infamous Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, enacted after the Wall Street crash had given warning of the cataclysm, and which has almost destroyed the export market of the United States.

They remember the false hopes held out to agriculture, and how the attempt to stabilize agricultural prices by gambling in the wheat pit cost the taxpayers nearly a half billion dollars; also the effort to misled the public on the volume of unemployment, and they recall the many absurd alibis that have marked the failure of these devices.

Following the many attempts to deceive the electorate concerning the facts, the untrained and unpracticed leaders of the Hoover campaign attempted a further deception through propaganda to the effect that Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance had turned the tide in his favor.

The Maine election put a quietus upon this claim, because it showed that the antagonism to the Hoover Administration had not decreased but, based on the election claims of both parties, and on the final result, had actually increased.

Democratic leadership from the first has realized the extent of the Republican revolt and has understood the reasons therefor—the failure of Republican leadership. Governor Roosevelt, in his speech of acceptance made this plain when he said: "I shall not use the words 'Republican party,' but instead, day in and day out, 'Republican leadership'." He realized that the enlightened rank and file of the Republican party is in harmony with the rank and file of the Democratic party in efforts to salvage the country.

Doubtless, Republican leaders, from now on, will undertake to win back the members of their party in revolt, but it ought to be apparent that they have no real chance of success. Practically every major spokesman for the Administration so far is discredited by his own acts or utterances; the candidate is discredited by his record. Millions of Republicans, victims of previous deceptions, are in no mood to be again deceived by glittering promises or misrepresentation of facts. They have determined to rid themselves and the country of an administration that has brought only disaster and suffering to the masses of the people.

The overwhelming Democratic victory now in sight this year will not be merely a partizan victory but a victory of, for and by the people.

WATCH YOUR COTTON TO BE GINNED

We feel that at this time a timely warning to the farmers would be to warn them about their cotton to be carried to the gin.

Already, even at this stage of the ginning season, there have been two fires in gins in Clanton, started by something metal, or a match in the cotton as it goes through the gin. A small piece of metal can easily cause a spark, and a spark in the cotton as it goes through the gin is briskly fanned into a flame, which can do serious damage unless discovered in time.

Those carrying cotton to gins might take heed to this and be careful about the cotton as it is being picked and loaded for the gin. We are sure the ginners would appreciate this.

THAT GOOD OLD CHILTON COUNTY SPIRIT

Citizens of Chilton County may get into squabbles in political circles, and push, pull and fight there, but we must say that we admire the spirit being shown at this time over the school outlook in our county.

We have talked to many of the principals and teachers of schools in the county, and not one time have we heard any remark that sounded pessimistic. From the smallest child up to the principal, including parents, everyone appears to be bright and happy about the schools, industriously planning for work during the coming term, and pushing on. Just that good old Chilton County spirit.

PLANS BEING MADE TOWARD LEAGUE HERE

Tentative Date For First Meeting Is Set For September 30th

It is understood that plans are being formulated in Clanton at present for the organizing of a unit of the Alabama State League of Young Democrats in Chilton County.

At present there are over thirty of organizations functioning throughout the state and more are being organized. A representative of the league was in Clanton recently making plans for this work, and a meeting has been called to be held Friday night, September 30th.

Just who will head this organization in this county is not known yet.

BUSINESS FIRM HERE CHANGES IN PERSONNEL

B. Lawrence And Curtis Billingsley Are New Owners Of Business

An announcement is made elsewhere in this issue of the News to the effect that the International Harvester farm machinery agency in Clanton is now under the management of Mr. Buford Lawrence and W. C. (Curtis) Billingsley, of Clanton. The business was formerly owned by Mr. James O. Turner, who was the first manager of the firm when it established in Clanton sometime ago.

This change took place last Thursday. The new reorganized firm will be known as the Clanton Tractor and Implement Co., agents for International Harvester and McCormick-Deering farm machinery and equipment.

The large storage and display place is now located in the Maddox warehouse, across from the Billingsley service Station on the Birmingham highway.

The new management announces that they will have associated with them Mr. Leon "Shorty" Mullins, who will act as demonstrator and salesman. Also Mr. Jimmy LeCroy as mechanic. Mr. Mullins is well known throughout this and adjoining counties. He has been connected with the International Harvester Company before, and his experience in this line is far reaching.

Mr. LeCroy has a wide reputation as a mechanic of excellence, and has a wide scope of friends throughout this section. He will have charge of the assembling of the machinery and the repair work. The new management should consider themselves fortunate in having these two men connected with them.

Chilton Grand Jury Will Convene Mon.

According to an order from Judge F. Loyd Tate, judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit, a grand jury for Chilton county will convene here beginning Monday, Sept. 26th.

There are approximately 35 or 40 cases to come before this body for investigation and it is expected there will be that many more during the investigations.

The many friends of Rev. Homer Carroll will be glad to know that he has secured rooms near the Howard College at a very reasonable rate, and that he and Mrs. Carroll are now keeping house and attending college.

SMITH CHOSEN MAYOR AGAIN POLLS SHOW

Heflin, Shaw, Taylor, Moore And Broadhead Run Up High Vote Count

Only one change was made in the city government of Clanton as the result of the election held Monday. J. Watts Moore went in as a member of the city council, replacing Fate Popwell by a majority of fifty votes. Mr. Moore has served as a councilman here a few years back. Popwell received 218 votes with Moore 268.

As the count of the ballots was being brought to a close, J. Lee Smith was seen winner as mayor over his opponent, J. B. Atkinson. Smith polled 326 with Atkinson even 200, while during the early stages of the count there appeared a small majority for Smith, who will serve his second term as mayor of Clanton, according to the polls

Grady Broadhead, H. S. Shaw, Grady Heflin, and Reedie Taylor were reelected as councilmen.

Voting was very heavy even during the early part of the morning, indicating much interest in the election as compared with past city elections here. Following is the count as received by the News:

J. B. Atkinson	200
J. Lee Smith	326
Councilmen
G. C. Armstrong	191
Grady Broadhead	260
Grady Heflin	343
T. J. Marcus	199
T. C. McSwain	210
J. Watts Moore	268
Fate Popwell	218
W. H. Sartor	155
H. S. Shaw	[illegible]
Raymond Smith	57
Reedie Taylor	283
J. Q. Wade	124

Pleasant Grove News

Mr. Sam Edwards of this community is in a serious condition, having lost control of himself entirely. Bless his soul, for he is really suffering, and now I am going to take the privilege to ask every praying human to pray for him. If his suffering touches your heart like it does mine, why then you won't forget him in prayer.

Mrs. Monroe (Lodemia) Nix is in a serious condition and does not show any improvement, and may everyone remember her in prayer.

Mr. Emmett Miskelley is suffering from a bruised eye he received when cutting stove wood and a chip flew up and hit him.

Lance Franklin spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Waldrop up until Friday, and the remainder of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Andre Hatcher and family, Guy and Henry.

Mrs. J. B. Franklin spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Waldrop, and Sunday and Sunday night with her mother, Mrs. S. E. (Emma) Waldrop.

Mr. Allen Waldrop is now suffering from a strain.

Mr. J. B. Franklin sat up at Mr. Sam Edward's Saturday night.

Mrs. Laura Franklin spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wright.

Those of the community who attended the singing at Maplesville last Sunday were Mr. James Rasco, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Franklin, and two children, Billy and Ruth Robinson, Mr. Guy, Henry and Andre Hatcher, Misses Mattie and Grace Wells, Misses Velma, Myrtle and Beulah Lee Price, Misses Laura Foshee, Miss Mattie Childress, Mrs. R. C. Dawson, Mr. Fonzie Hilyer, Lance Franklin, Mr. Albert and Bascomb Morgan, Misses Laura and Lucile Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Adair, little Billie Gene and Margaret Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Major Foshee, Mr. Albert and Earl Foshee, Mrs. Eva Clements, Misses Willie C. and Gwendolyn Clements, Mr. Wilson and Pat Clements, Mr. and Mrs. G. Those known to have attended from Macedonia: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ward, Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Ward, Mr. Jimmie Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Waldrop, and two children, Raymond and Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Pratt Crumpton, and children, Louise and J. N., Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gibson, Miss Bronzell Gibson, Misses Hazel and V. L. Cofer, Mr. Clint Veazey, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCarty, Mr. Danton and Austin "Dink" McCarty, Miss Estelle McCarty and the rest of the children, Mr. and Mrs. John Wright, Miss Inez Wright, Mr. Elmoine Bornhill, Mr. Hollis and Fred Merchant, Miss Odis Merchant, Mr. Lloyd Bean and Miss Lera Bean of Collins Chapel. A nice time was enjoyed by all. We were dismissed by Rev. Paul Oden.

Our new members in our B. Y. P. U. class are Mr. Henry Hatcher and Mr. Bascomb Morgan. They have helped us out lots but just now recognized members and Willard Franklin.

The following are our new B. Y. P. U. officers, elected with Lance Franklin and Miss Ada Rasco acting as a committee: Mrs. Lula Miskelley, President; Miss Emma Rene Dawson, vice-president; Miss Bertha Lee Price, secretary; Miss Ruby Wright, corresponding secretary; Miss Laurine Spivey, treasurer; Mr. Emmett Miskelley, chorister; Mr. Maurice Hodgens, group captain of group No. 1; Miss Gwendolyn Clements, group captain of group No. 2; Mrs. Nora Zuber, pianist; Mr. Guy Hatcher, quizz leader.

Announcements

Our prayer service will meet next Thursday night at the church at 7:30 o'clock and women have their place to fill now. Therefore, a cordial invitation is extended to all to come from everywhere.

I want to further state that there will not be a prayer service next Saturday night, September 24, but a "depression" party at the home of Mr. Sam Woodley's. Admission 10c. Bring a few extra cents or you are out of luck. The money raised will go for the church. Please come and help us out.

Listen, we will have Rev. J. C. Miller with us to preach for us next Sunday morning and evening. Come and bring someone.

Mr. Vernon Miskelley is suffering with the end of his thumb cut off while pealing sugar cane.

Miss Leacy Newell, home economics teacher of Jemison high school, spent Monday night of this week with Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clements.

Miss Katholeen Lenoir spent Saturday night with Miss Alice Clements. Miss Clements returned home with her and spent the day, Sunday.

Miss Alice Clements spent Tuesday of this week with Miss Edith Champion.

Miss Lorene Clackler of Pates Chapel is in a serious condition from diptheria.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By The
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the general election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next general election is to be held on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, and the session at which the said amendment is proposed will have finally adjourned prior to that date, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

The Legislature of Alabama may hereafter, from time to time, by general or local laws, fix, regulate and alter the fees, commissions, allowance to be charged or received by any County Office of the following named counties in Alabama: Calhoun, Chilton, Colbert, Covington, Houston, Henry, Jackson, Lawrence, Limestone, Shelby, Tallapoosa, Tuscaloosa and Walker, including the sheriff, Judge of Probate, Tax Assessor, Tax Collector; Clerk of the Circuit Court and Register of the Chancery Court and including the right to place any one or all of said officers on a salary and provide for the fees charged by said officer to be paid into the treasury from which his salary is paid, and provide the method and basis of their compensation or consolidate any of said offices in each of said counties.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 2nd day of September, 1932.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

In the midst of the depression of 1932 a certain merchant had charged on his books the sum of four thousand dollars. He was aware that the most of the customers due this amount of money were not able to pay it, and out of the goodness of his heart he checked off all of those accounts and published the fact so that all who were owing him would know that the old accounts were settled. Five months after this fact became known to those who owed the honest debt, I ventured to ask this merchant, "How many of those people who were benefitted by your liberality havt come to you and expressed a word of gratitude?" The merchant hung his head and in a low tone replied, "Not one, sir." On the Ledger of that merchant there must have been as many as two hundred customers, and out of that number not one man came to say, "Thank You" when the debt that he owed was marked paid. I heard a man say one day, "The more I know about folks, the more respect I have for my little dog." Kindness to a dog is rewarded with gratitude. How sad to witness the lack of gratitude on the part of human beings.

A prominent doctor decided to play a prank on his six year old daughter. He had a skeleton all hooked together in a closet in his office, and on hearing the child coming up the stairway he slipped into another room, leaving the door to the closet open. In the room where the doctor was there was a pull rope that was attached to the skeleton, and when the child reached the doctor's office, he started to jerking the pull rope and the skeleton started to snapping its jaws, shaking its bones and dangling its legs. The child saw that unusual sight and screamed. She ran down the stairway, screaming at the top of her voice. The doctor realizing what he had done, ran out of his hiding place and came down the steps after his child, calling to her, "Come back my darling, I was only fooling you." The child glancing back saw the long gangling strides of her scrawny father cried the louder, "Go back, go back; you are the same old devil, only now you have on clothes." In these modern times we have had a vision of the whiskey business. We have seen him snap his teeth, rattle his bones and shake his legs. At Washington they are trying to clothe this old skeleton with the garments of an official robe. If the wet forces of America succeed in clothing the whiskey business with official robes, he will be the same old devil dressed up. Governmental rags will not make a saint out of the whiskey business.

I was standing in a country store. The merchant had just informed me that he was giving twelve cents a dozen for eggs. In came a negro girl. She took from her pocket one egg. I wondered what she was going to buy. As she handed her property to the merchant she said, "Giv' me an all-day sucker." When the exchange was made the girl in black rammed the all-day sucker deep between her jaws, and left the store as happy as a lark in the sunshine. Surely it takes a mighty little to satisfy some folks.

Not many months ago there was a terrific explosion on an oil barge near the Hathaway bridge at St. Andrews Bay, Florida. Two men were on board the barge, and when the explosion occurred and one of them was badly burned. When he regained consciousness the flames were leaping and licking to and fro over the water. He was in great danger still, but he did not think of himself, he thought of his comrade in danger. He braved the burning oil that he might find his comrade, but it was too late. The explosion had silenced the voice of the other man, and there was no answer to the calls that were made. After all this is not such a bad world. When everything is going well with us, we are inclined to show but little heart, but when our fellowman is in need, we think of him and not of ourselves. When we learn to look upon the unselfish sacrifices made for the needy, we will see that the human race is not altogether selfish.

An old Jewish father came home one day with a Bible, a ten dollar bill and a bottle of good whiskey. He called to his wife, "And vife ve vill see vat Ikey is going to be. We vill put de Bible on ve table, and if Ikey comes in and take it, he will be vons priest; we vill put the ten dollar bill by its side, if Ikey takes ve money he vill be vons business man like he Daddy; we will put the whiskey by the money, and if Ikey takes ve bottle he will be vone vagabond." The Bible the money and the whiskey were all placed on the table to await the coming of Ikey, and the parents hid to see what would take place. In came Ikey and seeing the things on the table he took the Bible and put it in his pocket, he grabbed the ten dollar bill and rammed it deep into his Jeans and then he took the bottle of whiskey, held it long to his lips and hugging it tight walked out of the room. The old father observing the actions of the boy came out rubbing his hands and in an excited way said to his wife, "Vell, vife, Ikey is going to be one politician." It seems that the politicians of today are the people who can carry the Bible, the bottle and the greenback under their shirts.

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. Said bonds to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series and to mature at such times as may be provided by law, all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually; shall be a direct obligation of the State and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged for the prompt payment of the interest and principal thereof. They shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof and they shall be exempt from all State, county and municipal taxes. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on these bonds, there is pledged such portion of the income tax which may be collected in Alabama as will be necessary to pay the interest and principal as they mature, or any other tax paid to the State if an income tax is not levied or be insufficient. The Governor may borrow from time to time an amount not in excess of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to be used in the payment of the indebtedness due September 30, 1932, or such portion thereof as he may be able to pay with money so borrowed, and may pledge as collateral security for said money so borrowed the bonds herein provided for, or any of them, and may use the interest coupons in payment of interest on the money so borrowed. The Governor of Alabama is authorized to negotiate temporary loans from time to time never to exceed Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) to meet any deficiencies in the Treasury and to pay interest on the money so borrowed and until the same is paid no new loan shall be negotiated.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 2nd day of September, 1932.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, the said day being more than three months after the adjournment of the session of the Legislature at which the amendment was proposed, and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, is Tuesday, November 8, 1932, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby given notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

"(a) All cities, towns, villages, and other municipal corporations having a population of not less than one nor more than six thousand are hereby authorized to become indebted in an amount, including present indebtedness, not exceeding eight per centum of the assessed valuation of the property therein, as the same is assessed for State taxation. There shall not be included in the above limitation of indebtedness the following classes of indebtedness, to-wit: (a) temporary debts or loans for current expenses to be paid within one year, made in anticipation of the collection of taxes for the current year, and not exceeding one-fourth of the general revenue for the preceding year: (b) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for purchasing, acquiring, providing, constructing, enlarging or improving water works, electric light and gas and sewage disposal plants either within or without the City Limits; (c) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for sewer, street, sidewalk, and other improvements whether of a like or of any different kind, to the extent that the cost thereof has been or is proposed to be assessed against the property benefitted thereby; nothing contained in this amendment shall prevent the funding or refunding of existing indebtedness. Provided that this amendment shall not apply to municipalities located in Jackson, Marshall, Etowah and St. Clair Counties."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 1st day of August, 1932.

Article XXII. The Legislature shall have the power to levy and collect taxes for state purposes on net incomes from whatever source derived within this State, including the incomes derived from salaries, fees, and compensation paid by the State, County, Municipality and any agency or creature thereof, for the calendar year, 1932, and thereafter, and to designate and to define the incomes to be taxed and to fix the rates of taxes. Income shall not be deemed property for purposes of ad valorem taxes. From net income an exemption of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) shall be allowed to unmarried persons and an exemption of Three Thousand Dollars ($3000.00) shall be allowed to the head of a family, provided that only one exemption shall be allowed to husband and wife where they are living together and make separate returns for income tax. The Legislature shall reduce the ad valorem tax from time to time when and to such an amount as the revenue derived from the income tax will justify. In the event the Legislature levies an income tax such tax must be levied upon the salaries, incomes, fees, or other compensation of State, County and Municipal officers and employees on the same basis as such income taxes are levied upon other persons.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

News In Brief

W. A. Ellis, Cleveland, Ala., says that his increase in corn following vetch was 22 1-5 bushels per acre.

Creep feeding of beef calves is gaining in favor in Lowndes County, Ala., as a result of demonstrations conducted by N. R. Norman and Frank Golson of Fort Deposit. County Agent R. S. Parker is advising other farmers to feed this way.

The Institution of Meat Packers announced recently that Americans ate 152,000,000 pounds more of pork and 13,000,000 more of lamb during the first six months of 1932 than they did in the same period last year. Use of beef dropped off slightly. The figures were for meat inspected by the Government.

Montgomery is to have a branch of the District Agricultural Credit Bank which is being established at Jackson, Miss., under a recent act of Congress. The branch bank at Montgomery will have the same functions as the main bank at Jackson, and will make production loans and other loans for agricultural and livestock purposes. The two banks will serve Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana

Approximately one million American farmers are now served by electricity, according to the U S. Bureau of Agricultural Engineering The year 1931 showed a gain over 1930 in number of farms having electricity of 90,800. This is the largest gain ever recorded for any one year.

In Fifty Years

On Monday, September 4, 1882, the first commercial electric plant in the world started operation. It was located on Pearl Street, New York, and served an area a mile square in lower Manhattan.

Today that original square mile has been broadened until it includes the 743 square miles that compose greater New York. The electric industry has circled the globe. Every American community of more than 1,000 population now has electric service, as have 50 per cent of all communities of 250 to 1,000 and 25 per cent of all hamlets with less than 250.

That little Pearl Street station had approximately 750 horsepower. Today the four unified companies serving New York have 3,180,000, and the utilities of the nation control 46,000,000.

The capitalization of the original utility in 1882 was $1,000,000. Today the value of the power industry's plant and equipment is around $13,000,000,000.

All that has taken place in less than a lifetime. Living persons have seen electricity develop from an element still in the experimental stage, so far as practical usage was concerned, to the most vital influence in domestic and industrial life. And what that first little utility meant to the world was best expressed by the late Thomas Edison when he said: "The operation of Pearl Street meant the end of one epoch in civilized life and the beginning of another."

During the first six months of 1932 net railway operating income was $112,000,000—more than 53 per cent below the corresponding period last year.

At this time railroad taxes are, in relation to receipts, at the highest point in history. Railroad companies are among the foremost contributors to the cost of government. In addition, many lines are paying the government-owned Reconstruction Finance Corporation six per cent on money borrowed to pay fixed charges.

The most striking part of this is that the government itself has done much to put the railroads in their present financial plight. Government-owned barge lines parallel railroad tracks in many parts of the country—and, because they are supported by the taxpayers, are able to offer rates the railroads cannot meet. They have taken millions of dollars that would otherwise have gone to the railroads, and they cannot take the place of the railroads in service to the public—th[illegible] cripple them.

This, then, is the situation The railroads are a basic and vital industry, which affect us all, and are a distinct financial asset to the government. Yet we, through the government, are rapidly putting them out of business.

Let The People Think

"The government's functions are executive, legislative, judicial," said the Chilton, Wisconsin, Times, recently. "Its part in private business should be that of the watchful, impartial, inexorable referee."

This thought is always worthy of repetition. It should come home forcefully to us now. We have seen what government ventures in the realm of private business, either as competitor or regulator have produced—a long list of expensive departments, bureaus and commissions, hundreds of thousands of new employees for taxpayers to support, a constantly increasing tax bill, making necessary advances in old taxes and creation of new ones—all of which has done much to bring on Treasury deficits.

There is no end to bureaucratic ambition, no end to Paternalism. Once politics gets its grasp on one field of endeavor, it is only a matter of time before it reaches for others. There is a lesson in this for those short-sighted, and sometimes hypocritical business men who have urged government participation in businesses other than their own. Their business may be next.

Progress demands that government retrench, not only in the cost of maintaining it, but in its activities. An overload of paternalism which has brought economic stagnation to so many other countries can do the same here, unless it is checked.

Let the people think. They express their decision at the polls.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

When a columnist makes himself, or herself absent for a week or so, it is customary for them to ask, when they reappear, if the readers have missed them. Frankly, I don't believe anyone has missed this column, or that is, have missed my usual wise cracks, and the times I put my foot in my mouth, or something.

* * *

The Great Dooker Pooker was kind enough to come to my rescue lately and give you all a little change. I figured that with such a warm city election on hand, the people in Clanton wouldn't miss my writings, and my friends in the country could make out without me for awhile. But the election is over now, and I've gathered my crop, sold my cotton, fed the hogs, watered the guineas, and back again in town.

* * *

Now that the election is over, I hope that those who have been so wrapped up in the campaign will quiet down a bit before they put their foot in their mouth, or something, like I do sometimes. There have been a lot of unnecessary reports circulated, some very unfounded and unjust, and are going to be rather hard to forget in years to come. Personally, I'm sorry that it had to happen, but with me out gathering my crop, there was nothing I could do about it, before it was too late.

* * *

When I drove the old horse into town I began to hear about these things, and was surprised. I checked up on some of them, and learned more about some of our business men I've been knowing almost all my life. I found that I liked some better than I used to, and then I was surprised and disappointed at some of these men. Found out they did some things I wouldn't have thought of them doing. Kind of thought them a little broader minded and straighter. But I guess that's the way things are run sometimes, and every time I usually learn something new about some of the folks living round about these parts. Sometimes it's good, and again it looks mighty bad for men to be doing those things.

I got mighty hot the other day. Not from politics, but the weather. These sudden changes in the weather make dandruff in my hair, or something, I believe. I been laying off the last few days to go see a good picture show so guess I'll help out the Boy Scouts and see that picture "So Big" at the Wadesonian next week. I see by the News this week that it's coming. Sounds like a funny name for a picture, but I hear it's mighty good.

* * *

Went to church last Sunday morning at the Baptist church in Clanton. I got to commend Dr. Ezell on that sermon he preached. It was good. Guess I'll try to go again next Sunday, too.

* * *

Hear that the singing convention over at Maplesville last Sunday was a dandy. I didn't know until now that Gene Wyatt was such a singer. Why, he's a regular song bird, and sure takes an interest in these conventions. See by the News this week that they are going to try to hold two conventions next year. Maybe I will get to go to one of them. I can't sing much, but I do like to hear and watch the others.

* * *

If I can get everything all fixed so I can get away from home Saturday, I want to go to Birmingham to see our boys of Clanton play football on Legion Field. I'm betting a sack o' shorts on them to win, too. Heard the ed say that he wanted to go also. If he goes, maybe I had better stick around, because Birmingham won't hardly be big enough for both of us at the same time. Coach Walker ought to be careful how he takes these boys off to a great big football field like that. But maybe it's the best that they get accustomed to it while young.

* * *

Walked in the News office the other day, and the place is all brightened up a bit. Was pleasantly greeted by a rather charming young lady, and for awhile thought maybe I was in the wrong place. If I hadn't seen a big hat on one of the desks, I would have believed I was in the wrong place. When I saw that hat, I knew it was the ed's, and I was in the right place.

* * *

Hunted up the ed immediately to find out what had happened to him. Found him back in the shop all interested in some printing they were doing. He seemed all pepped up, and talking about how optimistic he was. Kind of made me feel better.

* * *

I've kind of lost track of how things are running round town or the past few weeks, since I been A. W. O. L., or something. Haven't had a decent look at my old favorites, the school teachers, yet. Hear there is a couple of new ones down at the Clanton high school. Must keep my weather eye open, and see if they are gonna be like I want them to be—able to take a joke.

* * *

You know, since I been writing this column, way back when I started it, a couple of years ago, I've learned that very few people can't take a joke. I've pulled several in this column, and nine times out of ten, I got in trouble about it. Or rather, the editor got in trouble first, and then I caught the devil from him. He has decided that he has been trusting me too much, anyhow, I think.

* * *

I see by the News this week that it looks like Selma is trying to get familiar with our county, or something. Maybe trying to create a little goodwill. I've never seen so much advertising all at once. Asked the ed how he did it. Said he just opened his eyes, and there it was. I'll bet it like to have scared him stiff. Maybe I'll get a little raise now, with that increase in business.

The Trouble With Politics

Writing in his column in the Baltimore Sun, Frank Kent, one of the wisest and most dispassionate of Washington newspaper correspondents, says: "The indications are that this (presidential) campaign will not be very enlightening to the thinking voters. . . . The policy on both sides is to attack and ignore, attack and ignore. That is the trouble with politics. Invariably it is an appeal to prejudice, never to reason. . . ."

Isabella High School News

—o—

Isabella High School opened its regular session September 12th, with a good attendance of children and parents. Mr. C. E. Stapp made the opening speech which was very inspiring and entertaining.

The first week or two is rather hard because of adjusting ourselves to new schedules, regulations, etc., but when this is over we can enjoy our work.

School days are the happiest days for boys and girls and we are glad to see them again. We have had a good time this summer doing "Nothing" but now tht school has started we all want to get down to real studying. We hope this will be one of the most successful school years at Isabella, and it will if students and faculty cooperate with this aim in view.

Isabella F. F. A. Held First Meeting Of Year

—o—

The Isabella Chapter of the F. F. A. held its first meeting of the year Tuesday, September 20. The meeting was called to order by the vice president and plans laid down as follows:

1. To improve campus.
2. To construct shower bath.
3. To sponsor Father and Son Banquet.
4. To help put tools in lockers in Agriculture Lockers.
5. To send delegate to State F. F. A. Convention.

These and several more items will be put before the chapter for consideration and adoption at a later date.

Pates Chapel News

—o—

Mr. C. N. Oden who has been in Pates Chapel community teaching singing school, returned to his home Friday a.m. in Birmingham. Mr. C. A. Maddox carried him in his car and Miss Hazel Maddox and Miss Myrtis Chasteen accompanied them.

We are sorry to say that Miss Lucile and Lorene Cleckler are ill with diptheria and her little sister, Leona, has just recovered from it. We all hope and wish her a speedy recovery.

Misses Maude Wallis and Rubye Maddox and Roscoe Maddox spent Friday night in Pleasant Grove community with Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Maddox.

I think Mr. Popwell has been busy this week in Pates Chapel. He has given nearly every man and boy work I believe, and the roads surely needed work. It wouldn't do if he worked all the time. Nobody would ge to gather their crops—"Tee! Hee!"

Listen, every community in Chilton County: I am a reader of Chilton County News and would like very much to hear from each and every community, especially Refuge and Liberty Hill, Oak Grove and Center Hill. Hope someone will print these places and others in the Chilton County News. Of course The Union-Banner is a good paper, nothing wrong with it, but I take the Chilton County News. I would thank you very much.

The singing at Pates Chapel Sunday evening was splendid. Our chairman, Mr. C. A. addox, and organist, Miss Hazel Maddox, and Miss Rubye Smith, directors, Messrs. C. A. Maddox, Roscoe Maddox, B. O. Blow, Eugene Cleckler, Marvin Smith, and Misses Emily Pate, Zelma Hayes, Rubye Maddox and Emma Robinson. The songs were taken from the New Morris-Henson "Songs of Praise." We enjoyed having all the visitors and singers. You are cordially invited back to Sunday school every Sunday. Preaching services every first Saturday night and Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock and especially every 3rd Sunday evening.

Misses Martha Hayes and Carrie Bolton were dinner guests of Miss Mildred Hayes Sunday.

Miss Smith of Thorsby visited Miss Emily Pate Sunday afternoon, also was present at the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hayes and little son, Virgil, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Maddox Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rile Hayes were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes Sunday.

We were indeed glad to have our teacher for this term to be with us Sunday. She and her family were present at our church Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Rainwater and three children. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Blow.

The school at Pates Chapel will start October 12th. We hope to have a big school.

Miss Minnie Childress took dinner with Miss Maude Wallis Sunday.

Mrs. Lum Hayes spent this week end with her youngest son, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hayes, and visited Mrs. Tommie Maddox.

Marbury Boys Visit Ton - Litter Show

—o—

One of the most interesting and helpful trips of the year was made last Friday by two agricultural classes of the Marbury High School. These two classes, which were composed of 19 boys enrolled in Vocational Agriculture were able to get first hand information about hog raising from the show which was held at the Union Stock Yards in Montgomery.

The ton-litter contest was started with the idea in mind to raise the maximum amount of pork at the lowest feed cost possible. These litters were exhibited at the age of six months and prizes were awarded for the best litters.

Sam Deramus of Booth, was winner of the first prize. His entry consisted of ten Duroc Jersey pigs weighing 2,710 pounds. The feed cost of producing the hogs was 2.7 cents per pound.

SUNLITE BAKERY HERE GROWING IN POPULARITY OF PRODUCTS

Clanton's Only Bakery Furnishes Countryside With Fresh Cakes, Bread, Rolls, Buns And Dainties Throughout Every Week

Clanton's new and only bakery, The Sunlite Bakery, is growing in popularity, and its delicious and wholesome products are becoming used more and more.

That is the opinion of many who have been watching the rapid strides of this business firm. The bakery, owned by Mr. J. W. Snow, has one of Clanton's well known bakery and market men connected with it, Mr. M. A. Marcus, who has charge of the front of the place.

The Sunlite Bakery is widening its scope of business in this section, and in its efforts to do this, is taking special pains to give to its customers the best possible. Fresh bread, buns, rolls, cakes of all kinds and dainties that please the palate of anyone.

Located in a busy place of town, the aroma of the freshly baked products tempt every passerby, whetting appetites. The people of Chilton county should take pride in their only bakery and have as their slogan "Use Clanton Baked Products."

ONE TELEPHONE LINE HAS EFFECTED GOOD PRINCIPLE

Word has reached the officials of the Peoples Telephone Company that the people on a line that runs from here up through the Mt. Pleasant and Liberty Hill communities have instituted a regulation that is intended to get everybody on their line to bear their part of the expense of the line and also to keep their central fees paid up. If their plan works successfully, and we see no reason why it should not work, this line will be setting an example that is well worth the emulation of other lines now coming into the central here.

When these people started to rebuild their line a few weeks ago, they got up a contract and went around and got everybody they could to sign it, agreeing to pay their part of the expense, and further agreeing to keep their central fees paid up. As a penalty for the breach of this contract, it gives the other members of the line, or their director or representative, a right to cut the phone of any such member loose from the line. The central operator is asked to keep the directors informed as to anyone on the line who tries to evade this contract.

The Board of Directors of the Peoples Telephone Company commends the action of the people on this line and recommends it to the other lines coming into the central. The greatest hinderance to the whole system is that individuals will not do their duty to their lines and to the central office. This is a matter that must be attended to by the groups of people on the individual lines and not by the company in general. Every line needs to be strictly organized, with officers elected with authority to act. It is no good for everybody to have equal authority and no one be vested with any executive rights; however, everyone should carry his share of the load. And failure to do so should be sufficient grounds for such phoneholder to be disconnected with the line. If this rule were passed and every one understood it, it would not be out of place for it to be rigidly enforced.

The Board of Directors urges other lines to take this or similar action. The annual meeting is not far off; and we hope to have the system in good working order by then. There has been lots of work done already this summer, and there is still more needed doing. Try and get your lines built up and organized by the time of the annual meeting about the first of November.

LAMAR CALLOWAY GOES TO PHILADELPHIA FOR COURSE

The News received a very kind letter this week from J. Lamar Callaway, of Clanton, stating that he was going to Philadelphia right away for a four months course in dermatology.

Lamar is a Clanton man who is making rapid strides toward the goal he will gain, that of one of the fine doctors of the state. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Calloway of Clanton. At present he is in Durham, N. C., where he has been attending school. Lamar is also having the News forwarded to his new address.

Mrs. J A. Hester spent several days in Mobile at the bedside of her husband the latter part of last week. She reports that Mr. Hester is improving, but that it will yet be quite a while before he will be able to be brought back to Clanton.

Jack Walsh of Milwaukee was arrested in connection with a bank robbery after he tried to buy an automobile with 600 half dollars.

CHILTON FARMERS SHOWING INTEREST IN BEEF CATTLE

County Agent Stapp announces that on Saturday, September 24th, Chilton County farmers who are interested in beef cattle are invited to meet at his office at 7:30 A.M. and visit Dr. C. N. Parnell's farm at Maplesville.

There they will meet a committee who will inspect Dr. Parnell's beef herd and select such animals as they can approve to be put in the feeder calf sale in Montgomery at a later date.

Mr. Stapp thinks this will be of interest and very educational to farmers who are interested in growing some beef cattle. Among those who will likely make this trip are: H. S. Shaw, Dr. W. L. Parrish, J. N. Dennis, Geo. McCain, Leonard Easterling, Lorenza Popwell, B. Lawrence, Arthur Martin, J. Z. Mims and C. E. Stapp.

Mr. Stapp urges any other farmers who are interested to either meet him at his office at 7:30, the 24th, or meet at Dr. Parnell's place at Maplesville by 8:00 o'clock.

MISS MARY SUE ROBINSON AND MR. SANDERS ARE MARRIED

Miss Mary Sue Robinson of Thorsby and Mr. Alphonso Sanders of Clanton were quietly married here last Tuesday, Judge L. H. Reynolds performing the ceremony in the presence of a few friends of this popular young couple.

The bride is the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson of Thorsby, and comes from one of the most prominent families in this section. She attended high school in Clanton for two years where she was one of the popular members of the younger social set.

Mr. Sanders has made his home in Clanton for the past year, and was a resident here before then, but became connected with a business firm in Birmingham. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sanders of Birmingham, and a popular young man who has scores of friends in Clanton. They plan to make their home in Clanton.

FIDELIS S. S. CLASS MET AT HOME OF MRS. MULLINS

The Fidelis Sunday School Class met at the home of the teacher, Mrs. J. R. Mullins, on Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to order by the President, Carrie Foshee, who also read the thirty-fourth Psalm. Sentence prayers were then ofefred by members of the class.

At this meeting turkeys were drawn by the members. This means that each member drew the name of another member and are to do at least one good deed for their "Turkey" each week.

After all business was attended to delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The following members were present: Vera Jones, Gladys Williams, Ruth Sessions, Frances Higgins, Charlsie Pyron, Maggie Rollins, Mary Frank Smith, Jennie Welch, Mary Sue Jones, Carrie Foshee, Bernice Williams, Mary Welch, Vivian Welch, Delene Williams, Frances Moore, and Lydia Williams.

Seed Production Would Save Money

Auburn, Ala., — Alabama farmers could prevent thousands of dollars from going out of the State annually for seeds by producing these seeds on their own farms, in the opinion of R. Y. Bailey, assistant agronomist of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn.

Other advantages of saving seed at home, as named by Mr. Bailey, are that in this way farmers may be assured of seeds that are true to variety and name and of an adequate supply of seed for planting. The acreage to many desirable crops is often limited because of lack of money to purchase seed, he said.

A seed production program begun in 1931 by farmers under the leadership of county agents has met with reasonable success, reports show.

As a part of the program production of pure seed corn was started by several farmers whose farms are isolated, and pure seed of Alabama bluestem wheat and abruzzi rye have been placed with reliable farmers for multiplication.

Reports show that last year Baldwin County farmers produced more than 2,000 bushels and Coosa County farmers one carload of Otootan soybean seed.

In addition, trial plots for production of Austrian winter pea seed were begun by farmers in all parts of the State. On the average farmers got a yield of nearly 600 pounds per acre. This work has been emphasized in Hale, Cullman, Etowah, and a number of other counties.

Expansion of the seed production program is expected for 1933.

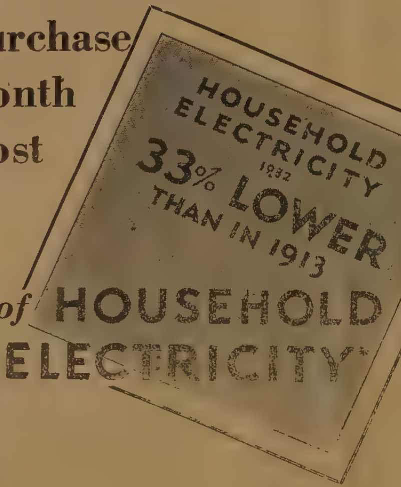
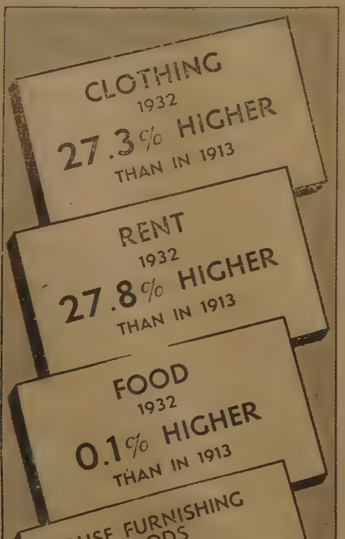
You Made Only One Purchase Of Necessities This Month That Was Lower In Cost Than In 1913....

That was your purchase of HOUSEHOLD ELECTRICITY





Above calculations based upon national figures of U. S. Bureau of Labor Bulletin, July 27, 1932, and National Electric Light Association.

PRACTICALLY every item in the cost of living is still far ABOVE 1913 pre-war levels except one. That is household electricity. The average rate paid for this indispensable service throughout the United States in 1932 was 33% BELOW the 1913 pre-war level.

The bills pictured on the left of this advertisement show how much MORE is actually paid by the average citizen in 1932 for clothing, rent, food, house furnishing goods and miscellaneous commodities, than was paid back in the pre-war days of 1913. The bill pictured in the upper right hand corner shows how much LESS average rate per Kilowatt hour the household user of electricity throughout the nation pays now than he paid for the same unit of service back in 1913. Household electricity is today's biggest bargain—and practically the only item of living costs for which the average rate is still below pre-war prices.

* The price of household electricity to customers of Alabama Power Company in 1932 is more than 16% below the average price of household electricity in the U. S. A. as a whole.

ALABAMA POWER CO.

ALABAMA COTTON CROP IS SMALLEST SINCE 1923

Alabama's cotton crop fell off 114,000 bales during the month of August from a prospect of 950,000 bales on August 1 to one of 836,000 bales on Sept. 1, reports F. W. Gist, statistician for the department of agriculture.

"Present conditions indicate a yield per acre this year of 132 pounds, which compared with 200 pounds harvested last year an dan average of 158 pounds for the last ten years," Gist said.

"The very marked falling off in the prospect is taken to be due to the small amount of fertilizer used this year, unfavorable weather during August, and to the extremely heavy weevil infestation at the present time. August, in Alabama, was a month of frequent scattered rains with no period dry long enough to hinder activity of the weevil. As a consequence in some sections of the state the weevil appeared to be more numerous than in many years. The small amount of fertilizer used has resulted in a small weed, a very light fruiting, and remarkably small bolls.

The prospects are especially low in that part of the state south of the Black Belt and in the western part of the Black Belt. In the northern half of the state, and in the Piedmont, the conditions are some more promising.

Present prospects of production in the state are the lowest since 1923, in which year less than 600,000 bales were gathered in Alabama.

Wheeler And Woolsey As Coddled Convicts

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey have taken the grim background of a penitentiary and turned it into a circus in RKO-Radio's "Hold 'Em Jail," coming to the Wadesonian Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 26 and 27.

In "Hold 'Em Jail," Wheeler and Woolsey poke some good-natured fun at the "convict-coddling" system in vogue in many prisons. In the the cells to which Bert and Bob are assigned are radios, feather beds, hot and cold running water and room service for caviar and cocktails.

Prison football teams, which will hold the sports spotlight this fall, also come in for some burlesque in this riotous comedy.

Rosco Ates, Edna May Oliver, Edgar Kennedy and Betty Grable, a newcomer to the films, are featured in the supporting cast. Norman Taurog directed.

IN MEMORY OF JULIUS MULLINS

The many friends of Julius Mullins were saddened last Thursday evening by his death. He had been ill for some time, so God called him out of his suffering into the mansion He has prepared for all who trust and believe on Him, and we believe Julius entered therein. He was always kind, even during his illness he never complained.

He was about the age of 21, and was married to one of the finest young ladies of this community, Miss Minnie Bice, on December the 24th, 1931.

Julius leaves to mourn his loss a wife, Mrs. Minnie Mullins, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mullins, three sisters, Agnes, Verlon, Mavis, and four brothers, James, Irby, Herman and Carrell.

He was laid to rest in Shiloh cemetery with undertaker Brand in charge. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

A Cousin, Essie Dobbs.

REPLIES TO ARTICLE REGARDING PROHIBITION

I read Mr. L. A. Butterfield's discussion on the question of Prohibition in the paper last week. I think Mr. Butterfield failed to prove that the Prohibition law has been a benefit to the people of the United States, or has any Bible authority for the law.

Mr. Butterfield said: "The fact that Prohibition has not been able to prohibit 100 per cent is no reason for its repeal. If it is, then repeal the law against murder, banditry and all other crimes."

I think such a statement is absurd. As all well informed people know that God said: "Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steal, and so on." Jesus said: "Are ye so without understanding also; do ye not perceive that whatsoever thing from without entereth into the man it cannot defile him: because it entereth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught."

Paul, one of God's servants, told Timothy to take a little wine for his stomach sake. We find in the Old Testament on several occasions where God required wine for a drink offering. Also in the New Testament wine was used at the Lord's Supper. The abuse of wine and drunkenness is condemned by the Bible and all other intemperance.

As I understand the Bible it gives no authority for prohibition. The Bible teaches that man must be temperant in all things. The Prohibition Law provides and permits wine for sacramental purposes today. How can men today commemorate the Lord's Supper by drinking wine in remembrance of his Dear Saviour, and then on any other occasion if a person is caught with it in his possession he is carried to jail and then is tried by men probably as guilty as he, and is condemned and has to serve a sentence, leaving a widow and orphans to suffer for want of food and clothing.

Paul says let no man therefore judge you in meat and drink. It is clear to my mind that the Bible does not teach prohibition. But does teach temperance, and that it is not God's purpose to remove temptations. But made us subject to temptations; and that His gospel plainly teaches that if we can't overcome temptations we are not worthy of His grace.

Just for a fair sample of what prohibition has done, just read the check-up at Kilby Prison, which says:

"Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 21, Special —Of 5,475 prisoners placed in Kilby Prison during the fiscal year ending September 30, almost half, 2,588, are under 25 years of age records show.

"Among other facts revealed by the records are that 2,232 of the inmates are Baptists, and 822 are Methodists. There is one Mormon and only four Jews. A total of 1,725 are serving for violation of the Prohibition law, while several hundred others are in prison for offenses related to dry law violations. Burglary claims 472."

The above was clipped from The Birmingham Post last year, 1931. It shows that the Baptists and Methodists are furnishing more prohibition criminals than all other churches combined, including the entire outside world. According to these records hasn't prohibition been a curse to the church? Yes, a curse to the church, and nation.

It costs more money to look after the Prohibition law than it does every other law on the statute books. I think it is the only law we have that has millions of dollars appropriated for its enforcement. Well do I remember when I was a young man I have heard the pleading of the preachers from the sacred stand preaching for prohibition, telling the people just give us prohibition and we will have no use for our jails and penitentiaries.

Every well informed person knows that the prisons have been enlarged, and we have more criminals today than ever before. Prohibition has increased the number of widows and orphans, and has made more grafters, liars, thieves, prostitutes and hypocrites than any other one thing under the sun.

I have never known a single reform that prohibition has brought. I have asked several people who quit drinking if the prohibition law caused them to quit. Te reply was: No.

I am a temperant man and just as hard against drunkenness as the Bible is. I am glad the Democratic Party has come out against the 18th Amendment, and hope to see better times when they take over the affairs of the United States.

Respectfully,
A. A. JACKSON.

TOM KEMP AND MRS. DIAL ARE MARRIED TUESDAY IN MONTG.

Surprising their scores of friends in Chilton county and Montgomery, Mr. Tom Kemp, prominent merchant of Clanton, and Mrs. Chloe Dial, of Montgomery were married last Tuesday afternoon.

The quiet ceremony took place at Mrs. Dial's home in Montgomery at four o'clock in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist church, performed the ceremony. Mr. Kemp is rated as one of the outstanding merchants and business men of Chilton County, and his name in the merchandise business is known widely.

Mrs. Kemp has many friends in Clanton, having at one time made her home here, and is popular in Montgomery where she has been residing with her parents for sometime after leaving Clanton. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp returned to Clanton shortly after the wedding.

Clanton Boys Will Play On Legion Field

The boys who are making up the football team of the Chilton County High School this year, will play their first game on a strange field. They go to Birmingham Saturday of this week where they will meet the team of the Ramsey Tech school at Legion Field.

While those making up the local team are youngsters, they have certainly been putting forth some effort to make a good showing. Those people of Clanton who can, should make this first trip with the boys to Birmingham.

Coming out for practice and those on the first and second teams are, Durwood Robinson, Emmanuel Cooper, Newburn Jones, Clyde Popwell, Joe Moore, Ted Littlejohn, James Arnold, Jesse Frank Foshee, James Tiffin, Jarrell Burdette, Dewey Williams, Louie Alford, Osmond Glenn, Carl Jones, Grady Reynolds, Morgan Reynolds, Willis Baker, Wilson Maddox, Sidney Reynolds, Lawrence Edwards and "Chick" Fiquette.

Singers Enjoy Convention In Maplesville

out a committee or a fixed program, proceed with the singing.

Among the notable composers and directors of sacred song who were present and took part on the program were: Prof. J. M. Henson, Prof. B. L. Whitworth and Miss Virginia Powell, all of Atlanta, Ga.; Prof. P. B. Shaw of Brookside, Jefefrson County; W. W. Bolin, Wilsonville; J. D. Stone of Shelby County; J. D. Deason of Bibb County; and Prof. J. B. Hammonds of Elmore County. Profs. Henson, Whitworth and Shaw were given unlimited time on the program, once in the forenoon and once in the afternoon. Three duets were sung by Prof. Henson and Miss Powell, and one duet was sung by Prof. Whitworth and Miss Powell. All were very feelingly rendered by these noted singers. In the afternoon a song was directed by the little seven-year-old girl of Prof. Shaw, which was one of the most applauded features of the day.

Local directors who were given a place on the program were: A. H. Glasscock, L. T. Grant, I. D. Huett, O. L. Devaughn, Marion Eatserling, H. W. Lowery and T. E. Wyatt. It was a regret of Mr. Culp and the convention as a whole that more local directors could not be used, but it was explained by the chairman that the convention felt obligated to give the visiting singers as much time as they would take, inasmuch as they had made a great sacrifice and had gone to considerable expense to attend the gathering. This, of course, made it necessary to cut the local people short on their directing, which it is hoped was understood by the great number of singers present who could not be used on the program.

Shortly after noon a few minutes were taken to elect officers for the coming year, the result being the reelection of all the former officers: Chairman, W. G. Culp; vice chairman, O. L. Devaughn; secretary, T. E. Wyatt.

Just preceding the close, a number of announcements were made, one of which was the State Convention which meets in Birmingham the second Sunday in November and Saturday before. Mr. Culp also announced that two sessions of the Chilton County singing Convention would be held next year, one in the Spring and one in the Fall.

The duet by Prof. Whitworth and Miss Powell was the closing song, and the benediction was invoked with a very fitting and touching prayer offered by Rev. Paul Oden.

T. E. WYATT, Secretary.

4 PLACES ARE BROKEN INTO MONDAY NIGHT

Burglars Pass Up Several Hundred Dollars And Cause Damage

Tuesday morning when business began to take on life, and business houses in Clanton began to open for the days work, the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company, Robinson Garage & Machine Shop, Clanton Motors and Frank Culpepper, found they had received some unexpected visitors Monday night in their places of business.

These four places had been broken into, entrance being gained by breaking glass windows and locks. At Clanton Motors, Ford dealers, the thieves broke a small window pane, unhooked the window lock, and made their way to the office where the safe is located. They apparently secured an electric drill from one of the mechanic's tool boxes, and using a heavy hammer, broke the lock on the large safe, and used the drill to a certain extent.

However, they apparently became discouraged or were frightened away, and failed to open the safe, although doing considerable damage to it. Just inside the safe doors there was approximately five hundred dollars in cash, according to T. J. Littlejohn, manager of the Ford place. Nothing was missed from this place. The burglars left the tools they were using, right at the scene of their activities.

A small window pane was also broken at the Robinson Garage & Machine Shop, and the window hook unfastened. A. L. Robinson and "Doc" Robinson state that the only thing they missed was a heavy hammer and a hack-saw. The hammer handle had been sawed off by the thieves, Mr. Robinson stated. A ladder was also found against the wall of the Ford building, which is next to the Robinson Garage & Machine Shop.

Outside of the Clanton Motors, the

ISABELLA PLANS TO HAVE A REAL SCHOOL PAPER

S. L. Broadhead, one of the active students of the fine Isabella High School, was in Clanton Monday and stopped at the News office for awhile. He tells us that the students at the Isabella School are planning on publishing a real school paper in the near future.

In this way it is hoped to foster considerable interest and school spirit. The News wishes the school much success in this undertaking.

TWO FARMS ARE VISITED LAST WEEK BY GROUP

Large Number Farmers See Fine Work Being Done In Pasturing

On last Saturday morning County Agent Stapp and a group of farmers visited Dr. C. N. Parnell's place near Maplesville in the morning and Mr. H. S. Shaw's farm in the afternoon. Among those who visited Dr. Parnell's were: A. B. Jones, Woodrow Jones, Mr. Walker, Mr. Cook, D. Martin, H. S. Shaw, Dr. W. L. Parrish and L. D. Popwell. This group inspected Dr. Parnell's pasture and Hereford cattle. In the afternoon part of the above crowd and others visited Mr. Shaw's farm across the river. Mr. Shaw has a splendid farm operated by W. N. White. They have several things of interest to show farmers who visit their farm. Among the things of interest seen Saturday were a fine field of corn following peas and vetch, a comparison of peas and nitrate of soda as fertilizer for corn, sweet potato curing house, trench silo and sorghum to fill same, and a fine new pasture being grazed by some good grade Hereford cattle. It was pointed out that Mr. Shaw is co-

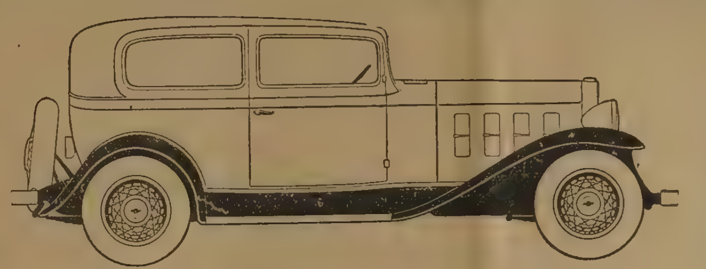
GRAND PRIZE IN BIG CIRCULATION CAMPAIGN



This latest 1932 Model Chevrolet Six Coach, fully equipped, purchased from Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc., of Clanton, will be awarded as the grand prize in the Chilton County News Big Subscription Campaign.

A Message To Our Correspondents

The News takes its hat off to the fine group of correspondents thruout the county, in thanking them for their splendid work and cooperation. The News is proud of these people who write the news from their communities each week and welcomes any new ones who wish to join this fine group.

When sending in the news next week, we want to ask our correspondents to please give us their name and address, and the name of the community in which they live. This is very important that we have this information with your news next week, so don't forget it. And when you are in Clanton, we want you to be sure to visit the News office and get acquainted. Many of you we know already.

CALLING FOR MASS MEETING ON SATURDAY

Regarding Question Of The Election Of A County Education Supt.

The attention of the News has been called to a meeting to be held on October 1st, at the courthouse, following several petitions circulated over the county, and signed by a large number of citizens of the county.

The petition reads as follows: "We, the undersigned citizens of Chilton County, Alabama, hereby petition the Chilton County Board of Education to meet with us in a mass meeting at the courthouse on the 1st day of October, 1932, at two p.m., for the purpose of discussing the question of giving the people a referendum on the election of County Superintendent of Education. We feel that every official who is paid out of the public treasury should be elected by the people."

It is reported that W. L. Sanders, a member of the county board of education, is sponsoring this petition. It seems to be the desire to give the people of the county an opportunity at this meeting to state their approval or disapproval of the election of county superintendents of education in this county.

WORK TO BE DONE AT COOPER SCHOOL OCT. 5TH

At the Cooper school building on Wednesday, October 5th, there will be a get-together of the parents and teachers for the purpose of cleaning the house and yards. We hope all who are interested will come. The trustees are expecting Mr. Carl Nelson to mow the yard.

JERSEY CATTLE SHOW WILL BE HERE OCT. 6, 7, 8

Show Will Be Held At The George McCain Barn In Clanton

County Agent Stapp again calls attention to the Jersey Cattle Show which wil lbe held at George McCain's barn at Clanton October 6, 7, and 9. Mr. Stapp states that the cattle will be assembled on Thursday, the 6th and on Friday, the 7th, at ten o'clock. Three boys from each county bringing cattle to the show will compete in the judging contest. Three boys representing each county will compose the teams. The total judging score of each team will be made and the team with the highest score will be declared winner.

The main day of the show will be Saturday. The official judging will be that day, beginning at nine o'clock. Following the judging will be a parade through town, and immediately following the parade will be an auction of purebred bulls. County Agent Stapp advises that this will be a splendid opportunity for those who want a good purebred bull.

THREE FROM CHILTON ARE SENTENCED IN U. S. COURT

The criminal docket of the United States District Court was closed following conviction of about six defendants in prohibition cases during the day. Sentences ranging from 13 to 18 months were meted by Judge Charles B. Kennamer.

Zeb Mims, of Chilton County, was convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law in collaboration with Henry, Fate and Leonard Cleckler. The Clecklers had pleaded guilty and took the stand in defense of Mims. Mims was given a sentence of 13 months in Chillicothe. Henry Cleckler was sentenced to 18 months in Atlanta and Fate Cleckler was sentenced to 18 months in Chillicothe. Leonard Cleckler was placed on probation for five years.

DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVES IN SESSION

Sees Only Hope For Better Conditions In Voting Democratic Ticket

Members of the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County were in session last Saturday morning at the New Wilson Hotel, with a good attendance from several of the Beats in the county, and visitors.

Considerable emphasis was placed on the importance of immediate work in behalf of the Democratic ticket in the election in November. Several new faces were also seen at this meeting and voices rose that have not been heard in a meeting of this kind in some time.

However, there was not the attendance that should have been from all the Beats in the county, while those that were represented, had a splendid showing.

Throughout the meeting, comments showed that those speaking see the greatest hope for the betterment of conditions in voting the Democratic ticket in the coming election in November.

Another meeting of the Executive Committee of Chilton county is scheduled to be held in the very near future and members were urged to see that proper attendance is shown at the next meeting.

PROF. GRIFFIN BRINGS GOOD NEWS OF HIS NEW SCHOOL

Prof. Griffin, head of the Billingsley High School, was in Clanton Monday afternoon, and stated that his school had opened with a thirty per cent increase over the record of a year ago. Prof. Griffin had just returned from Milton, Fla., where he had gone for Mrs. Griffin.

There were 2,799 bales of cotton ginned in Chilton county from the crop of 1932 prior to Sept. 16, 1932 as compared with 1,588 bales ginned to September 16, 1931.

PLANS FOR YOUNG DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE ARE MAKING HEADWAY

Temporary Chairman To Be Selected Right Away And First Meeting Will Be Held Next Week; Young Men Urged To Join

The plans for the organizing of the Chilton County Unit of the State League of Young Democrats are going forward and interest is apparently becoming keen throughout the county.

The first meeting which was expected to be held this week has been postponed until next week, due to the wish that the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County could become acquainted with the purpose of the proposed league and give its endorsement, which is expected the latter part of this week.

A temporary chairman of the league will be selected at a near future date, and invitations will be given several of the younger Democrats in Clanton and nearby communities. Anyone who is a Democrat and between the ages of twenty-one years and thirty-six years is eligible for membership. Anyone wishing information concerning the league may get in touch with P. D. Wilson, chairman of the local Democratic Executive Committee, or the Chilton County News.

News Enters On Eleventh Year

Ten years of service to Clanton and Chilton County was ended with last week's issue of the Chilton County News, and this issue starts the News off on its eleventh year with renewed determination to give its best effort toward the progress of our county, and its people.

During these past few years the News has built up a record of service to the people, won several honors, and is now proud of its large number of readers, enjoying the confidence of the people of the county, through its fair editorial policies. The News extends thanks to the people of Chilton County for their wonderful support and cooperation. We start on our eleventh year with renewed interest.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive" Is Coming Here Soon

Theatre goers of this section will soon have the opportunity of seeing that famous picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive" at the Wadesonian Theatre. This picture comes to the local theatre on Friday and Saturday, October 21st and 22nd.

Theatres in larger cities are showing this picture now, but Clanton and Chilton county people can soon see it at the local theatre. This dynamic film of wild animal life, and a man, Frank Buck, catching wild animals of all kinds right out of the jungle, is interesting to all ages. Wait and see this big picture when it comes to Clanton.

J. J. STANLEY BACK IN CLANTON BUYING COTTON

The News office received a pleasant visit last Monday from Mr. J. J. Stanley, who is known throughout this section as a cotton buyer.

Mr. Stanley informed the News that he was back in Clanton now ready to buy cotton, and his headquarters will be at Wingard Brothers Store, on main street.

After the service at the Methodist church last Sunday Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler were guests for dinner at the Diel's Cafe.

CONTESTANTS EXPECTED TO SWEEP COUNTY

Prizes Include Furniture, Diamond Ring, Stove And Gold And Silver

The Chilton County News this week announces one of the most liberal and worthwhile circulation building drives ever inaugurated by a weekly newspaper in this section of the state. In this issue appears a comprehensive description of this great subscription drive, with rules, regulations and full information. When it was decided by the publisher to launch a circulation drive it was felt that rather than employ a corps of hired solicitors to cover the county, the opportunity to earn the money that would be paid out to the circulation force would be given the home folks.

That determined, the next matter was to find a man to take charge of the drive. Knowing that if he could be secured, Mr. Sam J. Feaster of the National Service Syndicate, Quincy, Ill., would be able to handle the drive effectively. Arrangements were made for Mr. Feaster to come to Clanton as soon as possible to take charge. He arrived a few days ago to effect his organization. Mr. Feaster has conducted a number of very successful circulation drivers for Southern Publishers, having just finished a similar drive on the Shelby County Reporter at Columbiana. Mr. Feaster comes to the Chilton County News highly praised by the publishers whom he has served

FEDERATED MUSIC CLUBS TO MEET IN CLANTON

The Music Club of Clanton is to be host to the Federated Music Clubs of the central Alabama district on October the 18th. There will be many delegates from other clubs out of Chilton county, and the day will be spent at the Methodist church where a pipe organ can be had for their special numbers. The ladies of the church will serve the club members with a lunch at the noon hour. A fuller announcement will be made at a later date.

GIVES IDEAS ON CUTTING GOV'T COSTS

H. B. Oliver Scores Legislators On Small Salary Cuts And Items

Following is a letter from H. B. Oliver, prominent citizen of Verbena, who gives his ideas regarding present work being done in the Legislature of Alabama:

Editor, Chilton County News:

Thru "The Man in the Moon," of The Union-Banner this week, Mr. Percy Pitts invites the people to advise as to the Truck and Bus Bill now before the Legislature.

The heavy trucks are damaging the roads and of course weight should be materially reduced—most trucks of all sizes are dangerous to the ordinary traveler along the highway and we all know the many wrecks resulting in the loss of life and property just because no lights to protect or downright "hogging" the road—so a vote for this law would be a step, at least, to save life, property and roads.

While on the subject of legislation, if Mr. Pitts had at the beginning of the session, introduced a bill to cut the salaries of the Legislators 25 to 50 per > Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. Said bonds to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series and to mature at such times as may be provided by law, all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually; shall be a direct obligation of the State and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged for the prompt payment of the interest and principal thereof. They shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof and they shall be exempt from all State, county and municipal taxes. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on these bonds, there is pledged such portion of the income [illegible] may be collected in [illegible] to pay the [illegible] principal as they mature, or any other tax paid to the State if an income tax is not levied or be insufficient. The Governor may borrow from time to time an amount not in excess of Twenty Million Dollars ($[illegible]) to be used in the payment of the indebtedness due September 30, 1932, or such portion thereof as he may be able to pay with money so borrowed, and may pledge as collateral security for said money so borrowed the bonds herein provided for, or any of them, and may use the interest coupons in payment of interest on the money so borrowed. The Governor of Alabama is authorized to negotiate temporary loans from time to time never to exceed Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) to meet any deficiencies in the Treasury and to pay interest on the money so borrowed and until the same is paid no new loan shall be negotiated.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the general election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next general election is to be held on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, and the session at which the said amendment is proposed will have finally adjourned prior to that date, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law, to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> Article XXII. The Legislature shall have the power to levy and collect taxes for state purposes on net incomes from whatever source derived within this State, including the incomes derived from salaries, fees, and compensation paid by the State, County, Municipality and any agency or creature thereof, for the calendar year, 1932, and thereafter, and to designate and to define the incomes to be [illegible] and to fix the rates of tax. Income shall not be [illegible] for purposes of [illegible] From net incomes [illegible] exemption of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) shall be allowed to unmarried persons and an exemption of Three Thousand Dollars ($3000.00) shall be allowed to the head of a family, provided that only one exemption shall be allowed to husband and wife where they are living together and make separate returns for income tax. The Legislature shall reduce the ad valorem tax from time to time when and to such an amount as the revenue derived from the income tax will justify. In the event the Legislature levies an income tax such tax must be levied upon the salaries, incomes, fees, or other compensation of State, County and Municipal officers and employees on the same basis as such income taxes are levied upon other persons.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 31st day of August, 1932.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, the said day being more than three months after the adjournment of the session of the Legislature at which the amendment was proposed, and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, is Tuesday, November 8, 1932, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby given notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "(a) All cities, towns, villages, and other municipal corporations having a population of not less than one nor more than six thousand are hereby authorized to become indebted in an amount, including present indebtedness, not exceeding eight per centum of the assessed valuation of the property therein, as the same is assessed for State taxation. There shall not be included in the above limitation of indebtedness the following classes of indebtedness, to-wit: (a) temporary debts or loans for current expenses to be paid within one year, made in anticipation of the collection of taxes for the current year, and not exceeding one-fourth of the general revenue for the preceding year. (b) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for purchasing, acquiring, providing, constructing, enlarging or improving water [illegible] electric light and gas and sewage disposal plants either within or without the City Limits; (c) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for sewer, street, sidewalk, and other improvements whether of a like or of any different kind, to the extent that the cost thereof has been or is proposed to be assessed against the property benefitted thereby; nothing contained in this amendment shall prevent the funding or refunding of existing indebtedness. Provided that this amendment shall not apply to municipalities located in Jackson, Marshall, Etowah and St. Clair Counties."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

The good ladies of the Missionary Society bought a nice oak table for our dining room. It was supposed to be solid oak and was a thing of beauty. The table held its own until the heat of summer and then it started to blistering and bucking up around the edges. On close examination it was found to be a veneered table. It looked fine but it proved not to be a solid oak table at all. and the one who sold it was asked to come and make it good. Since that time I have met many people who looked to be finest made, but like that table, they proved themselves to be veneered in the time of testing. A true man, like a real oak table, will be the same in the heat and the cold, the sunshine and the shade and in the darkness and the light. If your moral life is veneered, that deception will soon be revealed.

Billy Sunday tells of a mother in Pennsylvania who rebuked her two sons for wanting to become missionaries after hearing a bishop preach on God's call to evangelize the world. This mother informed her sons that they must give up this idea, as she had no sons to give to mission fields. A few days after this the two boys went swimming. They were caught in a whirlpool and both were drowned. Their comrades fished the bodies out of the water, and put them into a wagon and carried them home to their mother. She fainted with her grief. Billy Sunday says. "God wanted those two boys to preach his gospel in heathen lands, but that mother said, 'You shan't have them!' God knew that the mother was not fit to have those two boys, so He said to her, 'You shan't have them either' and so he took them to heaven." God has a program for every human life, and parents should be very careful not to interfere with His plans. Train your children so that God can use them where they are needed most.

I heard a prominent Judge say a few days ago, "We have sentenced men in our courts to the penitentiary until all the prisons of the state are overflowing. Our jails are now filled with men who are waiting for trial and sentence, and I do not know what to do unless the judges of the State will start to sentencing men to church and Sunday school." That judge was a man with a keen vision. It is a fact that when our churches are empty our jails and penitentiaries are crowded. If the parents of the children in our country would sentence their own flesh and blood to twenty-one years of church attendance; if parents would lead their children to Sunday school every Sunday for twenty-one years, then our jails would be empty and but few would ever find their way to the penitentiary. When a Spartan boy went wrong, the mother of that boy was punished with him. The problem of today is not a young people's problem, it is a parental problem. When you hear of crowded jails and congested penitentiaries, when you hear of empty pews at church, just know that parents are failing in their duty to their children. "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." Fill our churches and empty our jails and prison camps.

When George Stewart was a young minister he held a prayer service for many months in a little church at the foot of a mountain. Every Wednesday night a man from high up on the mountain side would attend the service, and every time he would beg the young minister to go home with him. One night he accepted the invitation, and together they climbed the mountain side, the man going on before holding high his torch light. The blaze was burning low on the fat lightwood splinters, and the man stopped by a rock and snuffed his splinters and made them to take on new light and fire. As he did this he remarked to doctor Stewart, "What the snuffing of my splinters on that rock meant to the flames, your prayer services for these months have meant to my soul. During the travel of a week the fire of my soul burns low, but you snuff off the dead embers every Wednesday night and I burn more brightly for days to follow." Yet some folks say that going to church does not matter. The member who wants to carry a light that shines must of necessity keep his soul snuffed of all dead embers by attending Divine worship.

A young bull was put into a three acre pasture to graze. A boy of sixteen decided that he would cross the pasture, but fearing the bull he secured a hickory sprout and carried it in his hand. When he was about the middle of the plot of ground, the bull saw him and made a wild dash for the boy. A persimmon tree was near and the lad thought to climb it, but the bull did not give him time. He ran around the persimmon tree with the bull right in behind him. The tree being small the boy was in reach of the bull's tail, while the horns of the bull were almost in reach of the boy's rear end. The lad grabbed the tail of the bull and lit in on him with his hickory sprout. Around and around the bull and the boy ran. All the time the boy was beating the bull. Finally the bull started to bellowing. The boy stormed at him, "Shut your mouth, who started this racket?" The wet forces of America have decided to gore the civilization and the Christianity of this age and they seem to have the church running circles, but we have the old hickory on our side. Prohibitionists want to know who started this racket.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By The
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the general election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next general election is to be held on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, and the session at which the said amendment is proposed will have finally adjourned prior to that date, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "The Legislature of Alabama may, from time to time, by general or local laws, fix, regulate and alter the costs, fees, commissions, allowances or salaries, including the method and basis of their compensation, to be charged or received by tax assessors and tax collectors for assessing and collecting taxes levied for public school purposes in Mobile County; provided, however, that no cost or expense of the publication of the Governor's proclamation giving notice of such election together with the proposed amendment, shall accrue to or fall upon the State of Alabama, and the Board of School Commissioners of Mobile County is hereby empowered and authorized to incur and pay the said costs and expenses of the publication of the Governor's proclamation. All Acts of the Legislature heretofore passed and applicable, or purporting to be applicable, to Mobile County, and fixing, or purporting to fix, the compensation of tax assessors and tax collectors, for assessing and collecting special taxes for public school purposes, on a salary basis, are hereby validated and confirmed.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affived at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this the 7th day of September, 1932.

Another "Noble Experiment"

Mr. Hoover's white elephant, the Farm Board, which has eaten up almost a half billion dollars of taxpayers' money, has another new economic policy. It will sell no more wheat until January and no more cotton until July, with certain reservations. It is enabled to take this action by reason of a loan of $50,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with which it and its subsidiaries can pay up bank loans and storage charges and thus hold its surplus for which there is no no market except at a heavy loss. This policy is in line with an apparent movement for higher prices, coincident with the activities of a pre-election period.

The New York Times is authority for the statement that the Board has been under increasing pressure for some weeks to withhold both its wheat and its cotton for higher prices, even though the surplus stocks which it controls will continue to act as a disturbing influence in the markets until they are disposed of. It is estimated that the Board now has about 500,000 bales of cotton and about 3,000,000 bushels of wheat. In the opinion of the Times the small stock of wheat remaining offers no great problem for the future aside from the large loss of public funds involved in a highly unsuccessful speculation. But with the cotton it is different or will be when the Board gets ready to dump such a large amount on the market.

There is a way out, however, if the Board should follow the suggestion of the Times and turn its cotton into imperishable rag paper and print thereon a history of this experiment in governmental "price-stabilization" for the benefit of future generations.

There are, however, two undisclosed matters regarding the Board's new policy which the Chicago Tribune thinks "deserve the careful attention of a Congressional Committee." The first is, as stated by that paper, "why the Board, despite the enormous sums placed at its disposal, had to turn to another government agency for more money. Was the Board insolvent, and, if so, is it proper for the government as banker to rescue the government as a gambler from the consequences of its folly?"

The other question put by the Tribune is why the liquidation of the Farm Board's holdings has been postponed until next year. "Why bolster prices now," it asks, "is it for the temporary benefit of those who have cotton and grain to sell? If the temporary gain is to be achieved at the expense of the people who will have cotton and grain to sell next year? One explanation of this extraordinary policy," the Tribune continues, "will be offered by Mr. Hoover's opponents. He will be charged with using government funds to maintain prices until after election. The [illegible] awaited with more than ordinary interest."

Whether the Tribune's explanation proves to be correct or not, it now seems certain that next year will witness the end of this particular Hoover experiment in "price-stabilization"—however "noble in purpose" it also may have been—and the final entry written, as that Republican paper suggests, [illegible]

-o-o-o-o-

The Utilities As Taxpayers

A good many officeholders have had a pleasant time damning the utilities of the country. By rights, they should really feel somewhat obliged to them, inasmuch as the utility industry, as a taxpayer, is one of the largest and most stable contributors to the cost of running the government.

In 1929, according to an article in Public Utilities Fortnightly, 3,772 utility companies submitting balance sheets to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue earned a net of $793,2'1,185. Out of this they paid an income tax of $85,064,517. Other taxes amounted to $219,608,517, or a total of almost $305,000,000. Furthermore, 1,460 utility companies which went in the red during the year were forced to pay taxes aggregating $15,434,218. As a consequence, total taxes for the reporting companies were more than $320,000,000—close to half of the total net income reported to the Revenue Bureau.

What may such a tax policy as this do to the utility industry? Now, as in the past, it is one of the most progressive of industries. It has maintained its employment and wage standards at an extraordinarily high level during depression. Even so, there can be no question that the fear of more exorbitant taxation deters executives and stockholders from authorizing developments and expansions that would otherwise be made. No industry can do its best when it is wondering how long it will be before it is taxed out of existence.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

"As Maine Goes, so Goes the Nation."

And the State of Maine, rock-ribbed Republican for years and years went Democratic. Heard a good joke about that the other day. Now that Maine has gone Democratic, the Republicans say, "Pooh, nothing to it." And when it was going Republican, the Democrats said, "Pooh, nothing to it."

* * *

This is certainly some pre-winter weather we been having the first part of this week. Made me think about my old trunk, wondering if I had any long 'uns stuck away, or would,I have to buy some new ones. Won't be long before these short 'uns I got on will be too short, or something.

* * *

Over in some town, I've forgotten just where, but they have a league formed, and if anyone is heard talking hard times, they are fined. Not only that, but the town is going to put on a harvest festival right away, and the men in the town are not shaving. Instead they are giving money usually spent for shaves, to the harvest festival fund. And you should see some of their pictures with the different styled beards. Looks like fifty-year-ago stuff.

* * *

That would make a lot of fun for Clanton if something should be done like that. I can just imagine how Hance Alred would look with a beard, grown in the harvest moon style, or Tom Kemp with a goatee, or Lawrence Gerald with the handle-bar style of mustache, or Samuel Martin with a "curlecue" style of beard, or Earle Parrish with a full-crop style, or maybe Otto Jones with a goatee. Then maybe Maurice Lande would be becoming with a "young goatee" style, with side-whiskers. Joe Calloway might become handsome with some side-burns, and the "full moon" style. One of the most handsome men could be created with Mr. Dief, if he would grow a well-groomed goatee. What a distinguished group of citizens we would have in Clanton, if beards and mustaches were in style.

With all this relief work going on so industriously in the county, it occurs to me that Chilton ought to have a Welfare Worker with an all-time office. Since the county doesn't owe any money (?) and has fifty thousand dollars in the bank, maybe we could help these people some way, or something.

* * *

Those windows down in the old Broadhead stand have been causing quite a bit of comment, since the V. J. Elmore Store has occupied them with very attractive displays. Nothing like getting out and getting the business, and V. J. Elmore is that kind of a fellow, and believes in advertising.

* * *

The name Broadhead, makes me bring to mind our old friend, Mack Broadhead, who has gone over in Maplesville, where he has opened his store. I hope the people of that section are welcoming Mack with a lot of business. Mack is a good merchant, and I was sorry to see him move away from Clanton, but anyway he is still in the county.

* * *

"Look at Your Ten Dollar Bills" is no doubt to become the slogan of Mr. M. Lande and Reedie Taylor. The story goes on that somebody pulled a slick one Saturday by steaming a one dollar bill and a ten dollar bill, taking half of each, pasting them together, making two ten dollar bills—nine dollars profit. I hear that Mr. Lande got one and Reedie got the other. Now figure out how they can get together to keep from losing so much.

* * *

Phew, some folks are sure ready to believe any gossip they hear these days. If there is anything I detest, it is someone who gets all het up over some rumor and goes to spreading it, without taking the trouble to ask the right person, whether it is so. But I guess that is one way a lot of people have of living.

* * *

I've been thinking a lot lately about Verbena. You see since I been away for so long, a week or two or three, I've kind got out of practice about writin' about the interesting things in general, and nothing in particular. I just must get off down to Verbena right away and see what I can see interesting, or something.

* * *

Also got to get in touch with Dooker Pooker about a little matter that concerns some of our young men, who I'm afraid are being taken advantage of by some of these ruthless young women, with all their feminine wiles, or something. I've noticed some of our young fellows round here lately, who look kind of goofy or something, and I'm afraid there is a woman, or some women, behind the trouble. Maybe after a consultation, or something, with the famous Dooker Pooker, Interantional Authority on the Subject of Wimmin, I can help these fellows out, or in, or something.

There's one specially, I been worrying about. You know I got a little piece of ground down south of town, and every now and then, real often, too, I see that red automobile go scooting down the road, and the driver is all dressed up, like he was a going somewheres, or something.

Then there is another one. I was over toward Maplesville, not so long ago, and something went by me like I was a patch of weeds or something. I managed to get a glimpse of what it was. Figured that automobile wasn't going to get very far. At least it was not going to Maplesville, but would no doubt stop between Clanton and Maplesville, or somewheres. I spect I better look into that right away.

I extend my deepest sympathy to the W. W. Jones family up at Lomax, in the death of Mrs. Jones last Monday morning.

Now if you people think I was going to bust loose about what the Democrats are going to do, you are all wrong. I'd like to know myself. They had a meeting last Saturday morning, and I saw about twenty fellows coming out about dinner time. They all looked like they was fighting mad, or something, but I couldn't get in on what it was all about. I understand they have another meeting coming in the very near future.

These Democrats—you can't tell much about them.

I heard one fellow say that he was getting tired of being bum-foozled by some of these supposed-to-be Democrats and didn't intend to let them pull anything over his eyes no more. And I believe he meant that thing too.

NEWS FROM FLORENCE STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Florence, Ala., Sept. 18.—Miss Katie M. Glenn of Mountain Creek, is among those registered at Florence State Teachers College this year. Miss Glenn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Glenn and is a graduate of the Verbena High School.

The Freshman enrollment shows a considerable increase over that of last year, according to an announcement made today by Dean C. B. Collier. This continued interest in college work is particularly gratifying and is a forceful evidence of Alabama's interest in things educational.

The freshman Orientation program at the college was concluded and advanced students registered on Wednesday. Actual class work was begun on Thursday.

In commenting on the results of the testing program which was one feature of the Orientation session, Dr. Egan, mentioned the improved quality of work being done in the high schools of the state and the keen interest being shown by High School principals in getting their best students into college. This means much to the teaching profession, she stated.

Outstanding among the social features of the opening week were the informal parties tendered the freshmen by the College Y. W. C. A. and the student council.

Twenty-nine Alabama counties and five states are represented in the Fall enrollment.

BRIDGE FIEND TEST

Considering the spread of the bridge-playing industry, it is strange that none of our legislators has had laws passed for its regulation. Now comes a suggestion that players be compelled to pass an examination before being licensed to indulge in the game.

The suggestion comes, not from a United States Senator, but from an editor, whose zeal for the public welfare has been aroused by a report from Kansas City, where a wife shot her husband. The victim was also the lady's bridge partner, it appears, and when he bid one spade and another player plunged on a different suit the wife raised to four spades. The husband was set, blaming his wife for reckless bidding, and as a result of the argument she shot him.

Now, the aforesaid editor asserts, all persons who aspire to play bridge should be caused to pass a rigid test, not with reference to their skill, but to determine their mental poise. If the applicant is unable to be set or have an ace trumped without showing undue emotion a license should be denied.

The trouble is that such a law, if enforced, would practically eliminate all who take the game seriously.

Firecrackers which were 69 years old were shot off at a party in Cottonwood Falls, Kans., recently and exploded with louder reports than the modern firecrackers make.

ABOUT THE RESIGNATION OF J. F. ANDERSON

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the people of Chilton County in regard to Mr. J. F. Anderson's letter of last week, as he stated in his letter that he had resigned as road overseer. I have a letter that Judge L. H. Reynolds wrote Arthur Carter saying that the commissioners court had instructed Mr. J. L. Burnett to appoint a new overseer in Beat 15 as he thought it would be best for the county and for the working of the public roads in Beat 15 to change overseers. So you can call that resigned if you want to.

Thanking you,

S. B. RAINWATER,
Pletcher, Ala.

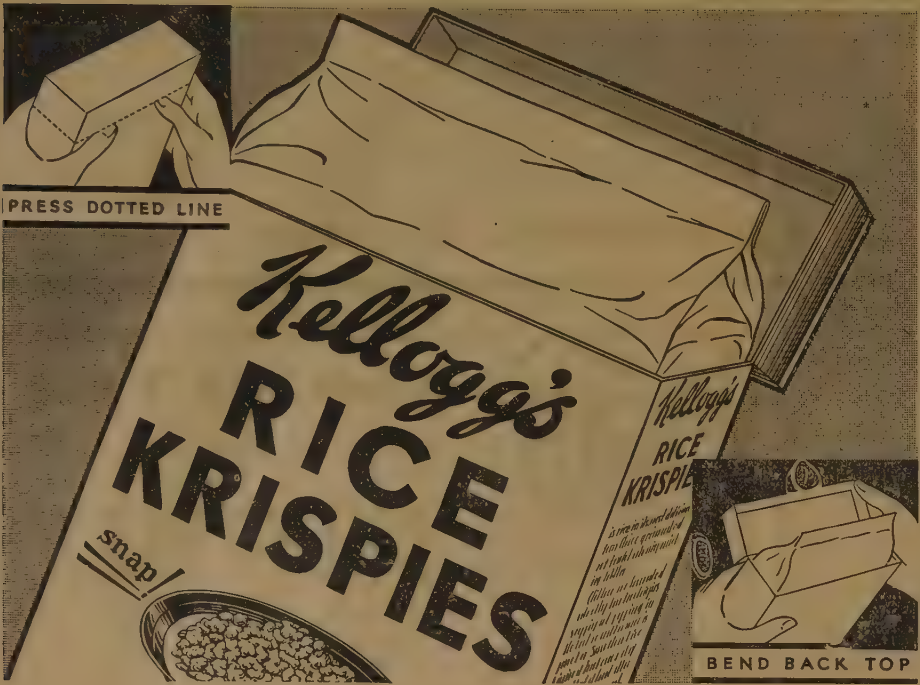
Cereal Manufacturers Introduces New Convenience Feature



Another Kellogg Improvement

The "Easy-Open" Top

Kellogg's Rice Krispies now come in a new-style package. It has a special "Easy-Open" Top designed for your greater convenience.

You don't have to cut or tear to open. Simply run your thumbs along the dotted, scored line and presto!—bend back the hinged top.

Inside the package you'll notice the famous Kellogg's sealed WAXTITE Bag. It's a patented feature—an added guarantee of delicious freshness.

You'll also notice an improvement in Kellogg's Rice Krispies themselves. Delicious and crunchy as they've always been, these toasted rice bubbles are now even more crisp and tasty. Listen to them snap, crackle and pop in the milk or cream!

Ask your grocer for Kellogg's Rice Krispies and enjoy a real treat for breakfast. Fine for lunch or children's suppers.

The better flavor and crispness, the convenient new package, are simply the result of Kellogg's policy of always giving the finest possible value in cereals. Quality guaranteed. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Mt. Nebo News

Last Sunday being the end of the Sunday school year, Mr. J. D. Culp, Sunday school superintendent, appointed new officers as follows: To the young peoples class, Miss Jewell Foshee; to the junior class, Miss Mildred Durbin; and to the primaries or beginners class, Miss Loyd Culp. Mr. J. M. Culp was retained as teacher of the adult class. Miss Mary Lois Culp was appointed secretary. The superintendent asked that the Sunday school as a whole cooperate together in an effort to make next year the best year in the history of Mt. Nebo Sunday School. There are many more in the community whom we feel should attend Sunday school, and we would be very glad to have you begin next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ola Edwards and children of Fairview were the dinner guests of Mrs. J. D. Culp Sunday.

Mr. R. G. Culp and family had as their guests Saturday night, Mr. Herbert Traywick of Clanton and Mr. Wallace Mims of New Salem community.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Deason of Birmingham spent Saturday night with the latter's mother, Mrs. W. W. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Deason, Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams and little daughter, Betty Joe, spent Sunday with Mr. O. Y. Sims and family of near Billingsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Broadhead were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. C. Culp Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hannon Owen and two children, Carlos and Evelyn, of Popwell community were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Culp and family Sunday.

Miss Candell Chapman of Sardis community was the attractive week end guest of Miss Mary Lois Culp.

Miss Marietta Foshee spent Sunday with Miss Letha Bonnett of Fairview community.

Misses Loyd and Mattie Lee Culp spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Culp.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Culp and three children spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Culp and family.

"Easy-Open" Top Is A Great Forward Step In Packaging Of Cereals

The Kellogg Company, world's largest manufacturer of ready-to-eat cereals, again pioneers with an entirely new package, featuring the "Easy-Open" Top. This perforated top offers greater convenience for the housewife. Just press the fingers along the dotted lines, and bend back the hinged top. No cutting or tearing is necessary. Inside, the waxtite bag keeps the cereal fresh to the last bowlful.

The Kellogg "Easp-Open" Top is being introduced with Kellogg's Rice Krispies. Later, all Kellogg Cereals will carry this convenient new feature.

You will want to try the new Rice Krispies package yourself. Note the convenience of the "Easy-Open" Top. It will save you time and trouble in the kitchen.

During the week, the grocers of this community are featuring Kellogg's Krispies with fresh and canned fruits at a special combination price. Take advantage of the opportunity, and see for yourself the superiorities of this new improvement.

Pleasant Grove News

Rev. Miller with Mrs. Miller and daughter, Elizabeth, and also Rev. Macon were down to fill his regular appointment. Rev. Miller preached Sunday morning. His lesson was taken from St. Matthews Gospel, 25th chapter, beginning with the 14th verse and finishing the chapter. Rev. Macon preached Sunday night. His message was taken from the 3rd chapter of St. John, beginning at the 1st verse and reading through the 16th verse. A real interesting and sweet sermon it was. He showed how many times the Cross had been revealed, from Genesis thru Revelations.

Mr. Sam Edwards is improving a small bit for the time being, but as it has been it won't last. However, he is very weak.

Mr. Arey was gassed in a well of Mr. W. W. Miskelley's at about forty feet deep and stated that he liked to have not been able to hold on to his rope to be drawn out. It affected his breathing to a great extent and weakened him.

Mrs. J. B. Franklin suffered a severe headache last Sunday.

We want to thank all who took part in our "Depression" or "Hard Time" party last Saturday night. It was reported that about ten dollars were taken in. The crowd numbered about 100 persons.

Rev. Miller and family, with Rev. Macon were among the thirty-two who took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Andre Hatcher.

Mr. Guy Hatcher has been suffering greatly with appendicitis this last week. He stated that "something must be done or else!"

Mr. Allen Waldrop is still confined to his bed.

Mr. Vernon Miskelley spent Tuesday night with Lance Franklin.

Our regular Thursday night prayer service will meet at Mr. and Mrs. Adair's at seven o'clock, better known to some as the Cost Place.

Mr. Arey Miskelley spent Thursday night with Lance Franklin.

Miss Myrtle Willis spent the week end with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Willis.

Mr. Charlie Childress is ill and has been for about three weeks.

PENSION WARRANTS CAN NOT BE PAID BY STATE

On account of the fact that the general fund of the State has not $305,000 (amount of the October pensions) to advance to the pension fund, and the fact that collection of pension or soldier tax for the new fiscal year has not yet begun, announcement was made at the State capitol today that pension warrants to Confederate soldiers and their widows to be delivered October 1st, cannot be paid for several weeks.

The soldier tax is one mill, or ten cents on each hundred dollars of ad-valorem tax. This is collected from October 1st to September 30th, each year.

Pensions are paid in advance, for instance the October 1st, payment being for the months of October, November and December. The January payment is for January, February and March, etc. However, on the first day of the fiscal year, and before any soldier tax is collected, the first quarterly payment of pensions falls due. The general fund of the State usually advances the money for the pensions, and is repaid gradually as the soldier tax is collected. At the end of the year (or the July quarter) the general fund pays any deficit in the pension fund, the soldier tax not being sufficient to pay pensions in full.

Pension warrants will be delivered by the Probate judges as usual, but these warrants cannot be paid at the State Treasury until money is secured for same. Notice will be given through the press when the pension warrants may be presented at the Treasury for payment.

The Chilton County News

Announces A MAMMOTH $2,000.00 PRIZE CAMPAIGN

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

The Chilton County News takes pleasure in announcing this, the most fair and unique profit-sharing circulation building campaign ever offered in this section of the State. Friends and readers of this newspaper are to decide the winners of these wonderful prizes which cost hundreds of dollars. When we purchased these elegant and valuable gifts we had you in mind. We knew you would want an automobile, almost everyone does. We selected the $629.00 Chevrolet Coach because of its popularity in giving service, durability and satisfaction.

In selecting the six prizes and deciding on the guaranteed prize feature of 20 per cent commissions we were governed by one thought: Fair play to all participants whether living in town or the country. Working conditions are equalized in both territories and all taking part will be compensated according to their efforts. We have no "favorites" to play. Each and every candidate will be given a fair, square and impartial opportunity to win the coveted prizes.

The Chilton County News, with its already large list of subscribers and its ten years of conscientious service to this community, desires to further increase its circulation all through this section. For this purpose hundreds, even thousands of dollars worth of valuable awards are to be lavished upon the live, wide awake, red-blooded men, women, boys and girls who will exert a little effort during their spare time to obtain subscriptions for this newspaper.

Let this be a personal message and heed its call! ! !

Those who enter early will have the best chance to succeed. Express your willingness to try and we will do the rest. It may be hard to believe that such prizes as these won't cost you a cent of money, but it is true, and winning will be easy—just decide you will at least try before you say it can't be done.

The merry pastime of gathering subscriptions and votes begins when you enter.

EVERYBODY MUST WIN!

HOW TO ENTER

The first step in order to become a candidate and compete for a prize is to clip the nomination coupon below; fill in your name and address, and mail or deliver to the Campaign Manager of the Chilton County News, Clanton, Ala. This coupon entitles you, or the person you might nominate, to 5,000 FREE VOTES. These Votes are given you as a starter and help to speed you on to victory. Only one such nomination coupon will be accepted for each candidate nominated.

The next step is to call or write the Campaign Department for Free Working Outfit, consisting of a receipt book, list of subscribers in your locality, sample copies of the paper, etc.

WHAT TO DO

After you have filled out and mailed in the Nomination Blank, which makes you a candidate, and have received your supplies to work with, the next step is to see your friends and neighbors, relatives and acquaintances, and have them clip the free coupons from the papers and pay up their subscription for a year or more through you.

That's all there is to it! However, you will never get anywhere unless you make the start, and while it will not be a very difficult matter to win the grand prize automobile, at the same time it will be no child's game. You must plan out your work, the same as any successful business man plans out his work for the season, and above everything else, DO NOT LET ANYONE DISCOURAGE YOU. Anything worth having is worth working for. Seven short weeks and you may be riding in your own automobile.

HOW TO WIN

It takes votes to win, and votes are secured in two ways: First by clipping the Free Coupons from the paper. There is no limit to the number you may secure. Begin gathering them now while they are worth 100 votes each. The only restriction placed on voting these Coupons is that they must be deposited at the Campaign Department on or before the expiration date printed thereon. Get your friends to save the Coupons for you—they all count.

The second and quickest way to get votes is by securing new and renewal subscriptions to the Chilton County News. On each subscription turned in a certain number of votes are issued, the amount varying according to the amount paid. (See schedule of votes and prices of subscription below.) So, you see, the more subscriptions you secure the more votes you get and the better will be your chances of winning the classy motor car or one of the other valuable prizes.

EARLY START MEANS EASY FINISH

The advantages of an early start are manifest. Not only do you have the full SEVEN WEEKS in which to secure the winning votes, but during the early stages of the campaign the most votes will be given. Then, too, the first in the field will undoubtedly get the "cream" of votes and subscriptions, while those who put off entering until a later date will have to take what is left.

Don't lose valuable time "waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do," but pitch right in and show the "other fellow how to do it."

It is the sincere aim of this newspaper to conduct this Campaign from start to finish in a fair, honorable, and impartial manner. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interests of participants and absolute honesty in all dealings is guaranteed.

Let it be understood at the very outset that this is not a "beauty", nor "popularity" campaign, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition and one in which no element of chance enters.

One feature of this competition is the fact that there will be no losers in the race. Each and every one will be compensated according to the work they do.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Any reputable man, woman or child residing in this territory is eligible to enter this Campaign and compete for a prize.

No salaried employee of the Chilton County News is eligible to enter the campaign and compete for a prize. Nominations may be made now and at any time during the Campaign.

The winners of the prizes will be decided by their accredited Votes, said Votes being represented by ballots issued on subscriptions and coupons clipped from the papers.

Candidates are not confined to their own particular community in which to secure votes and subscriptions, but may take orders anywhere in Chilton or adjoining counties.

Cash must accompany all orders where votes are desired. Candidates will be allowed to collect back subscriptions and renewals, as well as entirely new subscriptions, and votes will be issued on all alike.

Votes are free. It costs the subscriber nothing extra to vote for their favorite. Votes will not be issued on receipts covering past payments, said payments being made before Campaign opened.

Votes cannot be purchased. Every cent accepted through the Campaign Department must represent a subscription.

Votes are not transferable. Candidates cannot withdraw in favor of another candidate. Should a candidate withdraw from the race, his or her Votes will be cancelled. Neither will it be permissable for candidates to give or transfer subscriptions to another candidate. Votes on such transferred subscriptions will be subject to disqualification at the direction of the management.

Any collusion on the part of the candidates to nullify competition or any combination formed to the detriment of candidates or this newspaper will not be tolerated. Any candidate entering this or taking part in such combination will forfeit all rights to a prize or a commission.

All ballots issued on subscriptions may be held in reserve and voted on discretion of the contestant; except that at the direction of the Campaign Manager, no candidate may poll more votes in any one twenty-four hours than 5,000 votes above the leader in the previous standing.

In the event of a tie for any one prize, a prize identical in value will be given each tying contestant, but does not automatically advance the succeeding candidate in the prize winning class.

No statement or promise made by any solicitor, agent or candidate varying from the rules and statements published through the columns of this newspaper will be recognized by the publisher.

In case of typographical or other error, it is understood that neither the publisher nor campaign manager shall be held responsible except to make the necessary correction of the same.

Candidates in this Campaign are authorized agents of the Chilton County News and as such may collect arrears and advance payments from present subscribers as well as from new subscribers.

It is distinctly understood and agreed that candidates will be responsible for all money collected and that they will remit such amounts in full at frequent intervals or on demand, to the Campaign Department of the Chilton County News, Clanton, Ala.

There will be numerous prize awards, besides a 20 per cent commission to all active non-prize winners, but it is understood that in the event any candidate becomes inactive, failing to make two regular cash reports each week, he or she will, at the discretion of the management, become disqualified and thereby forfeit all rights to a prize or commission.

To insure absolute fairness in the awarding of prizes, the race will be brought to a close under a sealed ballot box. During the last three days of the campaign the box—locked and sealed—will repose in the vaults of a local bank where the candidates and their friends may deposit their final collections and reserve votes. And not until the campaign has been declared closed, will the seals be broken, the box unlocked and in the presence of the candidates, and other interested parties, will the four judges make the final count. In this way no one—not even the Campaign Manager—can possibly know the voting strength of the respective candidates, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.

Twenty-five Thousand extra credits will be given each worker for every $7.50 worth of subscriptions turned in during their first week of the campaign, and during the third week of the drive, half as many extra credits will be given on the same basis.

Ten Thousand extra credits will be given to each participant who makes a cash report each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, providing they turn in $7.50 or more at the time of reporting.

The publishers reserve the right to restrict nominations at any time.

The publisher reserves the right to amend the rules of this campaign if necessary for the protection of candidates or this newspaper.

The Chilton County News guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all candidates, but should any question arise, the decision of the management will be absolute and final.

Lady Took Cardui And Got Rid of Pain In Her Side

"Last summer, my health was bad, so I began taking Cardui," writes Mrs. H. E. Slaughter, of Norman, Okla. "My mother had given me Cardui in girlhood, so naturally I turned to it when I felt I needed it. I felt run-down and a general weakness. I had bad, dizzy headaches when everything would seem to dance before my eyes. My right side pained me so much, but since taking Cardui the pain has left me. I have taken several bottles of Cardui and have improved a great deal."

Cardui is sold at drug stores here.

IN MEMORY OF JULIUS MULLINS

The death angel visited the home of Mr. J. I. Bice Thursday night, September 15 and bore away the spirit of his son-in-law, Julius Mullins, age 21. He was laid to rest in Shiloh Cemetery Friday afternoon with Brand of Clanton in charge. Rev. W. P. Lowery and T. J. Deason conducted the service. The pall bearers were Greely Powell, Earl Johnson, Clint Billingsley, Morris Keen, Ocie Dee Deavers and Cary Mullins, Ethel and Etta Mullins, Lucile and Euna Powell, Odell and Gatie Ray. He was a faithful member of Shiloh Baptist church.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, father and mother, three sisters, four brothers, grandparents and a host of relatives and friends. He bore his sickness with never a word of complaint. He was always known to be kind and never to speak a harsh word. To know him was to love him. We will miss him so in our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. but we feel that earth's loss is Heaven's gain. Weep not, dear loved ones, for we feel that he is at rest now where he will never know any more sorrow. Let us pray that we may live such a life as he did and meet him some day.

A FRIEND, Elaine Deason.

SINISTER HOST HUNTED MEN ON ISLAND GAME PRESERVE

Weird Sport Lust Featured in "The Most Dangerous Game," Dramatic Adventure Spectacle

Are there any real hunters of men?

The idea of a blood lusting huntsman in dinner jacket, satiated with the ordinary thrills of big game killing, intrigued the fancy of Richard Connell and resulted in his famous prize-winning short story, "The Most Dangerous Game."

In this tale a young American, on his way to hunt on the Amazon, is shipwrecked on an island owned by a sinister Russian nobleman. The Russian, having exhausted the thrills of hunting, tries to revive his interest by sinking to the level of a savage, forsaking firearms to hunt man-killing beasts with a crude Tartar warbow.

But his superior skill in tracking makes even the most ferocious beast an easy prey. At last he decides that what he needs is not a new weapon, but a new animal to rejuvenate his single passion, the lust for hunting.

Men As Big Game

He turns his island into a hunting domain on which he sets shipwrecked and shanghaied sailors free with a hunting knife to defend themselves—and then tracks them down and kills them like animals.

On this fantastic island the young American is forced into an outdoor game of chess with death as the penalty for a false move and a glorious woman as the prize for success.

Duel to the Death

All his knowledge of woodcraft and the tricks of hunting are called upon to defend his life. The startling duel of the pair highlights this weird tale which fascinated thousands of magazine readers.

"The Most Dangerous Game," an RKO-Radio Picture, was produced by Merian C. Cooper and Ernest B. Schoedsack, makers of three of the screen's greatest adventure epics, "Grass", "Chang" and "Four Feathers."

Joel McCrea, Fay Wray, Leslie Banks, and Robert Armstrong head the cast of the unique film which will open at the Wadesonian Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, October 3 and 4.

Advance reports from metropolitan centers where the film has been shown, indicate that "The Most Dangerous Game" is not only one of the most unusual pictures of the decade, but also one of the most absorbing and nerve-tingling.

Pates Chapel News

The W. M. U. met Saturday evening and was enjoyed by a few members for the first meeting, but hope for it to be better next time. It is every 2nd Saturday and 4th Saturday evening at 2:30 o'clock. Everybody come and help us out, and be with us.

Mr. Leonard Pitchford is visiting his uncle and relatives this week in Pates Chapel.

We are glad to make the report that Misses Lorene and Lucile Cleckler have recovered from diptheria.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Maddox are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Phil Childress, Mrs. Maddox's father and mother, this week end.

Next Sunday, October 2, will be preaching Saturday night at 6:30 and Sunday it will start at 10:00 o'clock, with Rev. M. Lockhart in charge. Everybody who is interested come and be with us. We appreciate any help.

Miss Hazel Maddox accompanied Miss Margaret Davison of Thorsby to Mt. Springs Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hayes and little girl, Mary Evelyn, and Misses Lucile and Lorene Cleckler, and Miss Minnie Childress enjoyed a birthday dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayes Sunday.

Among those that attended the singing at Center Hill Sunday afternoon were Mr. Ervin Pate, Misses Emily Pate and Zemma Hayes, Mr. Harry Ray and Misses Minnie Childress and Lorene Cleckler, and Misses Lucile Cleckler and Mildred Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Maddox, all of Pates Chapel.

Mr. Alex Maddox took dinner with his sister and brother-in-law Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hayes.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Maddox and children spent Saturday night with Mrs Hesteranne Merchant of Thorsby.

Everybody remember the singing evening at Pates Chapel every third Sunday. It will be October 16th this time. Everybody come and bring someone with you. Bring your new and old song books if you wish. We mostly always use the new Morris-Henson "Songs of Praise."

"Old Mr. 'Coon"

By Morris Jones

'Twas dark and gloomy as could be,
And the air was foggy, too,
'Twas the thirteenth day of September
When duties were very few,
Mr. Broadhead and Jack Jones,
Who live across the way,
Had asked me to go hunting,
And of course, what could I say?

Now when it comes to hunting,
And especially at night—
We have dogs that have no equal—
Can put all dogs out of sight.
Old Red, the one that takes the prize,
He ranges far and wide.
He once defeated twenty dogs,
And had eleven tied.

A colder nose you never find.
He's true as true can be,
And when he goes to barking up,
You know "he's up that tree."
In water he's the same old boy—
He's there in every way.
He strikes a trail and puts his tail up
And there he'll surely stay.

And Ring, a noble boy is he,
A fighter from the start.
A dog that brings the bacon home
And he's proven that he's smart.
He holds a record that is fine.
He plays a lovely tune,
But he never hits a rapid pace
'Til he strikes "Old Mr. Coon."

BASIC SLAG

KNEE DEEP IN VETCH

Farm of Edw. A. O'Neal, Florence, Alabama; Treatment: 600 pounds basic slag, spring, soybeans cut for hay; 400 pounds basic slag, fall, disked in with vetch seed. Basic slag is often the difference between success and failure with winter legumes.

FARMERS USE BASIC SLAG

in preference to other forms of phosphate for winter legumes, because they have found that it gives better results. The analysis of basic slag is as follows: Total phosphoric acid, 8 to 10 per cent; iron oxide, 18.50 per cent; silica, 8.00 per cent; magnesium oxide (lime), 5.50 per cent; calcium oxide (lime), 45.85 per cent; manganese oxide, 3.00 per cent. It is the 6-in-1 soil builder. It has been found that the combination of phosphorus and lime as it exists in basic slag is much more effective in growing legumes than are the same elements obtained from other sources.

Discussing phosphate for winter legumes, Director M. J. Funchess of the Auburn Experiment Station said: "We have found that basic slag is always as good as superphosphate and frequently better. The lime contant of basic slag makes it superior to superphosphate for winter legumes. Furthermore, basic slag does not injure inoculation; and inoculation is absolutely essential to success."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all the people who have helped us to get our cotton picked. Last Wednesday there were thirty-six who picked that morning and twenty-two that evening. They picked 3700 pounds. Some had already come and picked before that time. Also we thank Mr. Edwards for giving us the [illegible] on one [illegible]. May God bless you all is our prayer.

Safe Pleasant Way TO LOSE FAT

How would you like to lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you will know the pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen have presented you with glorious health.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back. adv.

Four Places Broken Into Here Monday Night

Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company perhaps received the heaviest loss from this wholesale burglary in Clanton, while residents were asleep and the town quiet. Entrance was gained in a similar manner as at the other places, and according to Leo Thompson, manager of the laundry, the thieves took a suit of clothes, four pair of trousers, three dresses, two hats, one sweater, and one skirt. They overlooked about fifteen or twenty dollars in the cash register there, Mr. Thompson stated.

Frank Culpepper is becoming popular with the burglars, this being his second break-in in two weeks. They took a quantity of groceries, tobacco and other items from Mr. Culpepper's store, gaining entrance in a like manner as the other places.

It is believed that the same thieves pulled all four of these jobs Monday night, and it is believed officers have a few clues to work on, however, this was not official. Other business houses in Clanton began an immediate check-up of their stores, but no other robberies were reported at this writing. It seems to be the opinion about town that the jobs were done by a person or persons familiar with these concerns. No arrests had been made Tuesday afternoon.

operating with the experiment station at Auburn in growing pure Whatley corn for seed.

The crowd was very much impressed with the splendid pasture work Mr. Shaw and Mr. White are doing. They have 20 acres of pasture which was thickly covered with timber last year and which they cleared off last winter and seeded to pasture grass in February this year. Thirty-four head of cattle were grazing on this pasture when the crowd was there Saturday and had plenty of grass.

Among those who visited Mr. Shaw's place were D. Martin, Arthur Martin, Earle Thomas, Tug Willis, Geo. Willis, J. R. Owen, W. J. Easterling, Leonard Easterling, C. D. Easterling, R. M. Foshee, J. M. Kelly, Arthur Tippett, E. W. Miller, H. F. Downs, O. R. Mullins, H. B. Glenn, Joe Cox and Dr. R. S. Sugg. Dr. Sugg is a livestock specialist of Auburn and was in the county to select beef animals for the beef cattle sale in Montgomery October 27th and 28th.

THE DIXIE CAFE

Gives Ideas On Items Of Interest In State

cent and cut out 50 per cent or more of clerks the taxpayers of Chilton and throughout the State would have called him blessed.

He doubtless has no fear of the "office holder's blok" because only a short time ago—after many weeks—he actually voted for a dollar per day cut in his $56.00 per week salary.

I hope he was not one of the boys that Horace Wilkinson frightened with his injunction—by the way Judge Wilkinson will attend to that little matter so important to the State of Alabama later.

The tax payers who vote would gladly go to the polls in November and cast a ballot favorable for Income Tax and Bonds? Yes, why not many high salaried people of the State, some in the employ of the State and who have incomes aside from salary, should be willing to bear the burden with the rest of the people and in the final analysis reduce the advalorem with this fund—this should have been done long ago.

The Sales Tax? If necessary, yes, but as a last resort to raise funds to meet the budget.

The voters want to get the following:

A cut in all salaries, State and County, from Governor down beginning, of course with the Legislators.

Dispose of unnecessary employees—in each department in short "cut out all dead timber"—consolidate where it can be done.

Abolish the Court of Appeals and other needless offices.

Arrange to pay all debts and run the public schools nine months with provision to pay the teachers who have waited and continue to wait for their pay after salaries had been cut, while others in the Educational Department were paid promptly, and secure teachers who are competent to instruct without having Supervisors or whatever title they may "possess" come around to instruct the instructors how to instruct.

Then a law (the Fletcher bill should take care of that) to balance the budget.

And if they do not secure them they will defeat at the polls everything submitted.

They would probably not require each and every measure mentioned above, but in substance about what I have set forth.

This is about the recommendation of Gov. Miller and who will say he is not a safe, sane and honest official?

A great many of the boys sent to Montgomery to represent the people and who have been able to hang around the lobbies and sing "happy days are here again" will remain at home four years hence.

Yours truly,
H. B. OLIVER.

ed faithfully to serve the people of Chilton county for a period of years and during that time has spared no expense or effort to build this newspaper to one that will be a credit to the community. With that thought in mind we are today launching this circulation drive for the purpose of still further strengthening the reader interest and prestige of the Chilton County News all over Chilton County and surrounding territory.

The Major Awards

With this end in view the News has planned and today announces this big "EVERYBODY WINS" prize campaign and circulation building drive.

A $627.00 Chevrolet Coach, equipped with bumpers, wire wheels, spare tire and other equipment and finished in the latest Duco colors, will be given as the GRAND CAPITAL PRIZE in this campaign. This Chevrolet is the latest 1932 model with syncromesh transmission, simplified free wheeling and many other late and distinctive features which have made this new motor car the great American value for 1932. This wonderful automobile has been purchased from and can be seen on display in the show rooms of the Polk Brothers Motor Company, Inc., Clanton.

The second major award in this campaign will be $150.00 in cash. The $150.00 in cash will be on deposit in a Clanton Bank. Just imagine what you can do with this amount of money, especially at this particular time. And it can be yours for a little pleasant work in helping this newspaper build up its subscription list.

The Other Awards

The third award in this unique campaign will be either a $75.00 Bed Room Suite or Living Room Suite. This furniture must be seen to be appreciated and will be on display at Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Company, Clanton.

The fourth prize will be a new Washington Cook Stove. This is one of the very famous Washington stoves. It has been purchased from The Farmers Hardware Company, Clanton.

The fifth and sixth awards will be a beautiful diamond ring, and a ladies wrist watch respectively. These prizes have been purchased at Alred Drug Company, Clanton, and will be seen on display there.

In addition to all of the above prizes there will be a cash commission of twenty per cent to all those who fail to win one of the above awards, according to the rules of the campaign.

Everybody Wins

Our slogan, "Everybody Wins" is one of the big features to be considered in this campaign. There can be no losers in the race as the cash commission protects all those who take part. This is not a something for nothing scheme; in fact, it is no scheme at all; neither is it a charitable undertaking on the part of this newspaper. The object is to increase the already large subscription list of the News in the shortest possible time to secure arrearages and advance subscriptions, and to win for the News a welcome in every home in Chilton and adjoining counties.

Will It Pay?

Will it pay? That is the question that will naturally occur to all who read this announcement. YES, it will pay. Not so much perhaps in dollars and cents right at the moment, but all dividends earned by a newspaper are not figured on a financial basis.

During the campaign hundreds of subscribers will pay up their subscriptions which means an immediate enhancement to the potency of this newspaper as an advertising medium—the principal source of revenue. A large number of hustlers will be happier and richer in purse as a result and there will be great in all of that, because the general good engendered and prestige gained for the News will be of very great value. But perhaps the best result flowing from the campaign lies in the fact that many new subscribers will have an opportunity during the coming year to know just what a really good local newspaper the Chilton County News has become.

Short And Snappy Affair

This campaign will not be a long drawn out affair, but will extend over a period of seven weeks. Think of what you are able to secure in that length of time. Prizes that would ordinarily require weeks, even months or years of self denial to acquire, and here they are offered for only a few weeks of your spare time in helping this newspaper to extend its sphere of readers and usefulness for the benefit of the community.

Come in and see Mr. Feaster, the campaign manager, personally and secure first hand information about how to go about winning one of these splendid awards. Or, if you can't call clip the Nomination Blank appearing elsewhere and mail to the Chilton County News, Clanton, Alabama. The manager will be glad to see that you are fully informed of the entire plan. PHONE 147 Clanton.

Boost this whole community and the entire trading territory by nominating yourself, your daughter, your son, your wife or some friend as a candidate and start the ball rolling with your own subscription for one or more years. LETS GO!

Visit Night School At Collins Chapel

Prof. J. P. Montgomery and the farmers of the Collins Chapel night school were pleased to have a visit one night last week by County Agent Stapp, Mr. J. N. Dennis and Mr. W. C. Robinson.

Mr. Stapp gave a demonstration of inoculating vetch seed, and made a very interesting and helpful talk on methods of obtaining the best results from winter legumes. The farmers present manifested very keen interest in the subject. People of Collins Chapel, as well as other parts of the county have become interested in vetch and winter peas through the fine work Mr. Stapp has done since he came to our county.

At the night school Mr. Dennis made a talk about vetch. He spoke from experience. He was the first farmer in Chilton County to plant vetch. This was several years ago. He stated that he has planted it every year since, always with highly satisfactory results. He will plant 100 acres in vetch and peas this fall.

Mr. W. C. Robinson, who is also one of our county's largest farm-operators, stated that he has become interested in winter legumes, and will increase the use of same on his farms in the future.

Kiwanians Hear Fine Address Last Thurs.

Addressing the Clanton Kiwanis Club last Thursday, on "Kiwanis Knowledge Keeps Kiwanians Keyed," Mr. John K. Watkins, district governor of Kiwanis, held his audience to attention with his weighty statements.

Mr. Watkins was the guest of the club at their regular weekly luncheon, and his address was thoroughly enjoyed. Also on the program was Miss Mary Foshee, soloist, who rendered some popular vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Ed McGraw at the piano.

Members were urged to try to attend the State Convention in Gadsden next month.

Plant Peas or Vetch

County Agent Stapp again calls attention that we are now in the middle of the planting season of peas and vetch. During the past two months Mr. Stapp has called attention to fields in various sections of the county where farmers can see the results of peas and vetch turned under for soil building and fertilizing purposes.

Mr. Stapp states that a recent check-up shows a much larger planting of peas and vetch in Chilton County than ever before, but again stresses the fact that only a small percent of the farmers in the county seem to be really in earnest about planting peas and vetch this fall. Many of the leading farmers of the county join Mr. Stapp in his plea for every farmer to plant at least five acres in peas or vetch to the mule this fall.

Mr. Stapp points out that the recent rain makes the land in an ideal condition for planting now.

STOLEN GOODS ARE RECOVERED HERE RECENTLY

Two Arrests In Connection With Robberies Here Last Week

Addie Cottingham, negro woman, and Napoleon Stone, negro man, were arrested Sunday night by Constable Erby Popwell and City Officer J. R. Hardy, in connection with robberies committed in and near Clanton recently.

Last week, the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Co., the Clanton Motors, Robinson Garage & Machine Shop, and Frank Culpepper's store were broken into. Several articles of wearing apparel were taken from the laundry, and considerable damage done to the safe at Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers.

A quantity of the goods stolen from the laundry were recovered Sunday night by Constable Popwell, following an immediate investigation by him into the cases. Concealed in the home Addie Cottingham, near West End there were found three pairs of trousers, one suit of clothes, two dresses and one hat, all identified as having come from the laundry concern here.

The store of A. J. Culp, west of Clanton, was broken into Friday night of last week, and a large quantity of goods were taken. The Stone negro was arrested in connection with this robbery. Found at the home of Stone, were eight overall jumpers, 12 pairs of overalls, one tie, six pairs of shoes, and two caps, identified as having been taken from the Culp store.

The lot of goods stolen from Mr. Culps' store, according to Constable

Local Democrats To Meet Friday Morning

Following a meeting held last Saturday morning, the Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee, called another meeting for Friday morning, October 7th, at ten o'clock at the Wilson Hotel.

All Democrats of the county are invited to attend this meeting, and all members of the executive committee are urged to be present.

The committee usually meets on Saturday morning, but due to that day being inconvenient for several of the members of the committee to be present, it was decided to change the day and meet on Friday morning.

THORSBY FRUIT GROWERS WILL HOLD MEETING

To Elect Officers At Meeting Saturday At Auditorium Of Public School

The annual meeting of the Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association will be held on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 8th, at the Public School Building, the purpose of this meeting to be, the election of Officers, such as President, vice president, manager and Board of Directors, for the coming year, also any other business that may come before the organization.

This meeting has heretofore been held the second Saturday in January, but recent meetings of the Association have changed this until the second Saturday in October, believing this to be the best interests of the association, in that it will place the new officers in charge soon enough to enable them to work up everything in readiness for the coming year, thus giving any early meetings in January the full time to consider crop plans for the year.

It is hoped that every member of the association will attend so that full representation will be given to any actions taken.

Tragedy Tuesday Is Shock To Clanton

A tragedy that shocked Clanton and surroundings, saddening many hearts, happened Tuesday afternoon when Billy Gene, the two year old, and charming son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. (Dubb) Huddleston, was instantly killed when the Huddleston car overturned about two miles north of Clanton on the Birmingham highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston and the child were going north when the car suddenly left the highway, overturning in a ditch, and apparently throwing the child out one of the rear windows, breaking its neck. The parents were not injured, nor was the car badly damaged. Mrs. Huddleston is the former Miss Alma Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Robinson, of Clanton. The news of this tragedy will cause shocks in many places as Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston are prominently connected in social circles over the state.

CHARLIE COOPER GROWS FINE POTATOES ON FARM NEAR HERE

Charlie Cooper, who lives in the Mulberry Community, West of Clanton, has been showing some extra large sweet potatoes in Clanton lately. CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL HAS ENROLLED 341 PUPILS

The enrollment of pupils at the Clanton Grammar School is exceptionally fine this year, according to Prof. I. J. Quinn, principal. The total enrollment has reached 341, Prof. Quinn stated.

The school has done away with its Honor Roll and Special Mention list, combining them into the Honor Roll. To be placed on this roll, a pupil must not make below B on all studies, must not be tardy, and must give a good excuse if absent from school for any time.

FIRST MEETING OF YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO BE HELD

All Young Democrats Of Chilton County Are Invited To Attend Meeting To Be Held At The Courthouse On Friday Night

The first meeting of the Chilton County Unit of the Alabama State League of Young Democrats is scheduled to be held at the courthouse in Clanton on Friday night of this week, at seven-thirty o'clock.

Those eligible for membership in this organization must be between the ages of twenty-one years and thirty-two years of age. It is the purpose of this organization to further the interest and insure the continued growth of the Democratic party in Alabama, among the younger white Democrats.

All white Democrats between the ages stated above are invited and urged to attend this meeting tomorrow (Friday) night, at which a temporary chairman will be named, and plans for another meeting will be made.

The purpose of this organization is of a most interesting nature. It is most desirous that as many young white Democrats from the country and surroundings of Clanton, be present at the first meeting Friday night, so as to create as much interest in the rural communities as possible.

Superstition Provides Drama In Photoplay

Those who believe their destinies are guided by the sun, moon and stars, will have much to think about when "Thirteen Women" begins its run at the Wadesonian Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, October 10 and 11.

This RKO-Radio production, co-featuring Irene Dunne and Ricardo Cortez, is a mystery drama which is said to defy solution until the final fadeout. Mental suggestion, such as seers and necromancers have practised since the dark ages, is the basis of this unusual film based on the novel by Tiffany Thayer.

Others prominent in the supporting cast are Myrna Loy, Jill Esmond, Florence Eldredge, Mary Duncan, Kay Johnson, Peg Entwistle, Julie Haydon, and Harriet Hagman. George Archainbaud directed.

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED AT MEETING

Majority Wish Referendum On Election For County Superintendent

A large number of citizens of Chilton County met in a mass meeting at the courthouse last Saturday, and adopted the following resolution:

To the Chilton County Board of Education:

Whereas, we, the citizens and taxpayers of Chilton County believe that every official who is paid from the public treasury should be elected by the people; and whereas the citizens of Chilton County requested and expected the representative of this county to get a law passed giving the qualified electors the right to elect the superintendent of education for this county; and whereas the representative failed to get this law passed, therefore,

Be it resolved first that we the citizens of Chilton County assembled in mass meeting at Clanton, Ala., on this the first day of October, 1932, do hereby petition the Chilton County Board of Education to give us a referendum on the election of a County Superin-

C. R. FOSS GIVES OUT OPINIONS ABOUT SCHOOLS

Democratic Board Candidate Believes People Should Have Their Wishes

In an interview with a representative of the News, C. R. Foss, of Thorsby, and a candidate on the Democratic ticket for member of the Chilton County Board of Education, expressed some of his views and opinions of the educational question in Chilton County

When asked by the representative what he thought of giving the voters of the county a referendum on electing the county superintendent, Mr Foss stated that he believed if it is the wish of the people, then they should have it, adding that the people are capable of electing a county superintendent, as well as electing the board members. Mr. Foss stated that this being a democratic form of government, this is in accordance with such government.

He touched on the present board and spoke well of their efforts to handle the school situation in this county. When asked for his opinion about other counties closing their schools this term, Mr. Foss stated that much credit is due this county in their wonderful efforts to continue schools while finances are at such a low ebb

Throughout the interview, Mr. Foss appeared always to have the interest of the parents and children in his mind and little was said in regard to politicl party affiliations. Mr. Foss is widely known throughout the county. He is manager of the Thorsby Fruit & Truck Growers Association.

J. H. BROADHEAD INSTALLS LARGE FEED CRUSHER HERE

Another new feature of the thriving business district of West End Clanton, is the large, modern feed crushing machine at the store of J. H. Broadhead This is an addition to his grocery, meat market and grist mill.

Mr Broadhead has been very careful in making the purchase of this feed crusher and he believes the one he has is large enough and has the power to meet the satisfaction of all customers. He also states that he will crush for fifteen cents per hundred-weight, or if it is impossible for a customer to pay cash, he will take toll at the same rate.

See the advertisements from J. H. Broadhead Store, West End, elsewhere in this issue of the News.

LETTER OF THANKS FROM A. J. CULP, CLANTON, ALA.

On last Friday night, September 30, my store was broken open, and about $61.80 in merchandise, and $2.00 in cash was taken out. Up to this date $35.85 worth of the merchandise has been found and recovered, and some of the suspicious parties arrested and placed in jail.

I wish to thank every one who has helped me in the recovery of this merchandise and arrest of the suspicious parties, and especially do I thank Mr. Erby Popwell, J. R. Hardy and W. B. Giles for their efficient service in this case last Sunday night.

Jemison Boys Learning About Winter Legumes

Every effort has been made to teach the growing of hairy vetch and Austrian peas to the school boys of the Jemison High School.

The seed of both hairy vetch and Austrian peas was purchased by Mr. Montgomery and kept on hand for the convenience of the boys. Dirt from a vetch field was hauled into the school shop so that the boys would have dry dirt to use in giving the double inoculation. Three demonstrations in the inoculation of seed has been given to the classes and one demonstration in planting. Three methods of planting were demonstrated. They were: by barring off cotton rows with a turning plow; by running a middle buster thru the cotton middle; and by the use of the Cole drill.

The method of planting winter legumes by the use of the fertilizer distributor and using basic slag was not demonstrated, but has been thoroughly explained to the class.

A large per cent of school boys are planting peas and vetch this year than ever before in the history of the vocational classes.

L. D. Hicks Of Autauga Died Sunday, Oct. 2nd

Lewis Dixon Hicks, widely known merchant and planter of Autaugaville, and a member of one of the oldest families in Autauga County, died Sunday, at his home following a long illness.

Mr. Hicks was 66 years old. For two years he had been in failing health and had traveled in various climes in the hope of improving his condition. A short while ago he was confined to his home where he grew steadily weaker until his death Sunday.

Aside from his extensive farming activities with his two brothers, Jay G. and T. J. Hicks, as partners, Mr. Hicks was widely known for his philanthropic zeal in behalf of education and in the promotion of the public welfare in the section if the country in which he was born and reared.

Only last year through a gift of $5,000 by Hicks Brothers the erection of a high school in Autaugaville was made possible and the school is now known as the Hicks Memorial School.

Years ago, Mr. Hicks took the lead in educating the negro in Autauga County and contributed money that made possible erection of a negro school building in Autaugaville, which later became the Autauga Training School for Negroes. The building burned in 1924 and through the efforts of Mr. Hicks and his brothers was rebuilt and is now in operation.

In the early part of his career he was postmaster at Autaugaville and also served as president of the Citizens Bank of Autaugaville.

Mr. Hicks was born in 1866, the son of the late Daniel W. and Emily Deramus Hicks. His parents were both natives of Autauga County. His mother died in 1898 and his father in 1910. He was one of five sons, only two of whom now survive.

In 1897 Mr. Hicks and his two brothers formed the mercantile business as a partnership and also began extensive farming operations. As time passed they extended their farming operations, acquiring thousands of acres of fine farming land, which today totals approximately 22,000 acres.

Mr. Hicks remained actively in the mercantile business until 1919. He was married in 1912 to Miss Erline Roy, of Deatsville, and in recent years has traveled extensively throughout Canada, the United States and Cuba. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Surviving him are his widow and two brothers and a niece, Mrs. Gaston Powell, of Montgomery.

The funeral was held Monday at 3 p.m. from the home. The Rev. J. B. Trotter and Dr. T. C. Cassady, officiated. Burial was in Autaugaville cemetery. Leak's in charge.

Prop "D"

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By The
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the general election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next general election is to be held on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, and the session at which the said amendment is proposed will have finally adjourned prior to that date, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "The Legislature of Alabama may, from time to time, by general or local laws, fix, regulate and alter the costs, fees, commissions, allowances or salaries, including the method and basis of their compensation, to be charged or received by tax assessors and tax collectors for assessing and collecting taxes levied for public school purposes in Mobile County; provided, however, that no cost or expense of the publication of the Governor's proclamation giving notice of such election together with the proposed amendment, shall accrue to or fall upon the State of Alabama, and the Board of School Commissioners of Mobile County is hereby empowered and authorized to incur and pay the said costs and expenses of the publication of the Governor's proclamation. All Acts of the Legislature heretofore passed and applicable, or purporting to be applicable, to Mobile County, and fixing, or purporting to fix, the compensation of tax assessors and tax collectors, for assessing and collecting special taxes for public school purposes, on a salary basis, are hereby validated and confirmed.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affived at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this the 7th day of September, 1932.

B. M. MILLER,
Governor.

PETE B. JARMAN, JR.,
Secretary of State.

A SAINT GONE TO REST

The death of Mrs. Irene Jones, wife of W. W. Jones, at their home at Lomax last Monday morning, September 26th, has left an aching void in the hearts of her family and friends that cannot be eased. A sorrow and regret for her passing that cannot be quenched. For her beautiful life and character were beyond expression in mere words.

Mrs. Jones was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ira Campbell of Jemison, well known in Chilton county and Alabama, and remembered by the leading older citizens as writers and leaders in every worthy progressive movement whose political and religious convictions were strong and well accepted. No higher characters ever graced our beloved Alabama.

Our departed sister lived all of her married life at Lomax, where she reared a large family, seven sons and one daughter. Her husband, five of her sons, William, Grady, Robert, Dallas, Emmett, and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Hattmaker, survive her, also a sister, Mrs. F. W. Gist of Montgomery, and a brother, Kellett Campbell, of Clanton. She was a long sufferer, patient and enduring.

Mrs. Jones possessed the strongest convictions of upright character, purity of thought, and candid. Her exemplary life will be a guiding star and sweet remembrance to her loved ones left behind.

A sweet soul gone to rest—
Our father knows, we all Know, His ways are best."

MRS. F. W. GIST.

Thursday Contract Club Entertained By Mrs. Grady Reynolds.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent last Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Grady Reynolds entertained the Contract Bridge Club at her beautiful home on eighth street north. The rooms were attractively decorated in fall dahlias and roses, and a beautiful prize was given away of which Mrs. Lee Smith was the winner and guest prize was given to Mrs. Frank Callen. A delightful luncheon plate was served at the conclusion of the games, consisting of a salad course. Those included in this courtesy were Mesdames Lee Smith, John Deramus, Hugh Jones, Frank Callen, Hance Alred, John Page, Lawrence Gerald, Grady Broadhead.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

When you go to dress yourself in the morning, you stand before a mirror. In that mirror you can see when your hair is not combed, when your tie or dress is not hanging just right and when dandruff or lint has gathered on your garments. Before that mirror you stand and fix and brush until you are in a presentable condition. The Bible is God's mirror and we need to stand before it every morning of our lives. Dress yourself before the Bible. It will reveal to you the defects of your head, your character and your soul. Fix every garment of the soul before God's mirror, and you will be presentable before the world.

The phone rang. The lady of the house was invited to a party. I heard her say, "I am not certain just now, let me call you back in a few minutes." This lady did not want to attend the party and so she sat down and for several minutes she thought up an excuse. Finally she made the return call, and you never heard a more plausible excuse in your life. It had a sincere ring. but I knew that it was a hoax. It was a thought up excuse to meet a special occasion. How often is that same thing true when God asks you to do something. It may be that God wants you to give some money to a needy person, some food to a hungry man, do some work in the church, help in a special way in some community enterprise, give flowers to the church or to some sick person, and at once you sit down and study out an excuse. It is never any trouble to study out an excuse. We can make them sound plausible. The Bible is full of excuses that men thought out and tried to pander off on God. God knows when you render an excuse. His ax is at the root of the tree. Look out

The piano tuner came to our house. He was told that the piano did not seem to be out of tune, but that it had a harsh, irritable sound. It was noisy and would not send out notes that were soft and mellow. He went into the instrument and found that the felt on the hammers had become packed and hard. He took a keen piece of steel and pricked the hammers where they would strike the strings, and when he had completed the piano was soft and sweet in its tones. The hammers were made soft and the music was mellow. Listen to the tone of your voice in the home, in the office, in the store and see if you can not detect a harsh sound? It may be that you have become "Hard-Boiled" and you need toning down. If you find yourself about half mad with everybody, you have gotten on a high key and you need toning. Make your words soft and mellow, and the world will send back mellow music to you.

While driving along the highway I came to where some men were fixing to blast some rocks. They were drilling holes in a large boulder. One man would hold the drill against the rock, and another man would strike it with a sledge hammer. Each one had a distinct job. One man was to hold the drill, the other was to do the hammering. Together they were making it possible to blast that boulder. Man and God are working together in this world. Their purpose is to blast out all forms of sin. Each has a distinct task. All man has to do is to hold the drill of truth in position. God strikes that drill with the sledge hammer of His Spirit. Christian people have done much blasting, but there is yet much to be done. We should be firm holders of truth, and let God drive away with His sledge hammer.

Something went wrong with my car. I carried it to the garage and after examination I was told that I had let it get too hot and the block to the engine had bursted. It was a serious injury and the repair bill went beyond the limits of my purse. Somehow I had been negligent in protecting my car and the heat had ruined it. I know lots of folks running up and down the highway of life, who are very negligent about their tempers. They get hot and speak words that burst the block of friendship. They do not seem to think that the block of friendship amounts to much in the engine of life. When that block is bursted by hot words there is a damage that is hard to repair. Better watch your temper.

As little as you think about it—we have got to do some fighting in this world. Often we are forced into certain conditions when there is nothing left for us to do, but to put up a scrap. I saw a little dog that allowed other dogs to chew on his tail all the time, and he did nothing but yelp and run. About sundown one afternoon I saw two tom cats hitch up for a test of claws and teeth. One was much larger than the other and soon he had the other cat flat of his back. Talk about a fight, but that little tom cat served it out in good shape. He was the under cat and he was flat of his back, but there was nothing that a cat could serve that he did not hand out in full measure. He bit and chewed, clawed and squalled, and so terrific were his charges with his resistance tools, that the other cat gave up and made a race for the remainder of his tattered rags. Self respect is honorable. Christian people have got to do some scrapping on the whiskey question, and I for one am not ashamed of the fight. The big whiskey bully may throw us flat of our backs, but even then we are not going to give up the fight. I really believe that this is a good time to do some fighting.

MT. PLEASANT JR. HIGH SCHOOL OPENS TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11

On next Tuesday morning at 8:30 the Mt. Pleasant Junior High School will open for the 1932-33 term. All patrons and friends of the school are cordially requested to attend the opening exercise. The speaker for the occasion has not yet been selected. All children who plan to attend this school should plan now to be present the first day. The principal and teachers are going to co-operate in every way possible to assist all students in securing books, writing paper, and all necessary working equipment, at the very lowest cost.

The school opens this year at even a greater uncertainty than last, and this being true the faculty desires the heartiest co-operation from all parents that we may make the best possible use of the time alloted us. We trust, however, that our Governor and Legislature will make some provision for the common public schools and this year's work can be completed in the most gratifying and successful way.

The faculty this year consists of the following: R. B. Johnson, Principal and Jr. High Instructor, Jemison, Ala.; Mrs. M. A. Wright, Thorsby, Ala., Sixth Grade and Jr. High subjects; Miss Celia Baldwin, Mt. Creek, Ala., intermediate grades; Miss Lera Bean, Clanton, primary instructor.

Think Twice, Young People! ! !

In a recent radio address W. E. Mallalieu, General Manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, observed that the encroachment of government competition into industry was narrowing chances of young people to go into business for themselves.

Criticizing Mr. Mallalieu's viewpoint, a leading socialist newspaper said: "He might better have deplored the fact that the government is so little in business that it cannot guarantee employment to those worthy young people, but must turn them loose in a chaotic world of industry in which they cannot find jobs."

Here we have two schools of thought represented: The first upholds our American theory of individualism; the second, that of paternalism.

Our country reached world leadership through the freedom of individual initiative. So far our socialist friends have been unable to show the same advancement for the individual through their experiments. Under their theory that the government should guarantee employment to worthy young people, the government would have to take over all business, including land ownership. It could then, in theory at least, regulate production and income. Every citizen would virtually be a ward or an employe of the government and depend upon the public treasury for his "keep." As all government industries are tax-exempt, they would have to make a profit as does private industry, which, in turn, would be handed to the public treasury to be redistributed, with the citizens drawing their living from the public payrolls or charitable institutions.

The fundamental reason for all past failures of government in the field of business, is simply this: Government does not have to make a profit. It can always demand additional sums from the taxpayers to cover inefficiency, carelessness or mediocrity on the part of public servants who are in no way responsible for losses. This condition breeds lack of initiative in the rank and file of public employes for, in the vast majority of cases, they can reap no reward for superior ability. Once we eliminate individual incentive, we have gone a long way toward eliminating progress.

Private enterprise, on the other hand, must be self-supporting and make a profit in order to exist and pay taxes to maintain all functions of government. Each business and each individual must strive for efficiency. Every individual has an opportunity to progress according to his ability and latent genius is thereby developed. The record of this nation shows that the achievement of its citizens have benefited the world and given our own people more conveniences, more luxuries, higher wages, more leisure time and more independence than are enjoyed by the citizens of any other country.

Who will claim that if our young people had been "guaranteed employment by the government," we could have shown any such record of progress? We have proof that in other nations which have extended paternalism to the limit, there has been lack of advancement because of restriction of real opportunity and incentive for the individual.

We have been drifting away from the old principle of independence on which our government was founded. We have already allowed too much paternalism to creep in. We have allowed the bureaucrat to gain more and more power over our lives and our businesses. We have allowed our government to become adulterated with a thousand alien theories. In our own laziness about solving our individual problems, we have tried to clothe it with supernatural powers to do for us what we should be doing for ourselves.

We are today paying an exorbitant cost in taxation, for loading the government with hundreds of duties outside the legitimate function of governing. If we obligated our government to "guarantee employment to worthy young people when they leave school," we would assume a burden of paternalism and taxation that would make the cost of government simply staggering and our young people would be the ones who would eventually pay this cost either through destructive taxation, or destroyed opportunities, or loss in self respect which would result when government, unable to collect sufficient taxes to meet its exorbitant demands, would confiscate property in lieu thereof and redistribute it in the shape of jobs or doles to its "dependent," rather than "independent" people.

Yes, indeed, young people, think twice before you ask government to guarantee you a living and make you a ward. Once it does that, the age of individualism is over and the future will hold little hope for human progress.

Mr. Mallalieu is to be commended for setting forth some fundamental ideas which there is a tendency to lose sight of when political cure-alls for temporarily disturbed economic conditions, are being hurled at the people from every side.

Resolution Is Adopted At Mass Meeting Here

tendent of Education, whose term of office will begin on the first day of July, 1933.

Be it resolved second that we ask the said county board of education to arrange for such election to be so conducted that whoever is declared elected shall first receive a majority of all votes polled in said election, even should it be necessary that a second election be held to show such majority.

Be it resolved third that we request that said election be held by the use of the secret ballot so that every qualified elector may vote his or her conviction.

Be it resolved fourth that it is not expected that any of the expense of holding said election be defrayed by the said board of education, but that all expenses incurred shall be met by donation.

Be it resolved fifth that we ask and request that the said county board of education elect for County Superintendent of Education for the term beginning on July first, 1933 the person whom the qualified electors may elect in said election.

Be it resolved further that if our requests are granted, that we pledge our hearty support in every way to see that a fair and impartial election is held throughout the county.—Signed: R. J. Jackson, Chairman, D.S. Robinson, Secretary.

After the above resolutions were adopted a motion was carried that the County Board members and candidate for members of the County School Board state how they stood on this question.

Mr. S. M. Yates, present member of the Board stated that as he was elected by the people, and that the people knew that the law gave the Board, power to appoint the superintendent, that he was going to reserve that right.

Mr. W. L. Sanders, present member of the Board, stated that he did not believe in centralized nor appointive powers, but that it was right to have a government for the people and by the people.

He stated that the boards of education in only about 18 counties in the state have the right to appoint the county superintendent of education, but in the remaining counties the superintendent is elected by the people.

He also stated that in the legislative session of 1931 there were twenty or more local laws passed for different counties giving the people the right to elect the county superintendent of education; but somehow this law failed to be passed for Chilton County.

For the above reasons Mr. Sanders pointed out that it is right for the County Board of Education to give the people a referendum on the election of the county superintendent, and that he would pledge his support to the peoples' nominee.

Mr. C. L. Wilkins, nominee for member of the County Board of Education on the Republican ticket, stated that he was against the Board appointing the county superintendent for more than one reason. He stated through the press in the primary campaign that he was for a referendum on the election of county superintendent.

Mr. Wilkins also stated that if the peoples' rights were taken away, their interest in the schools would also be taken; and that if he is elected he would be a servant of the people.

A motion was carried that the chairman, R. J. Jackson, and the secretary, D. S. Robinson, see the candidates that were not present at the meeting Saturday, and find out how they stand on this question.

I, R. J. Jackson, as requested, secured the following information from C. R. Foss, nominee for member of the County Board of Education on the Democratic ticket:

That he is in favor of giving the people a referendum on the election of county superintendent; and that if elected, he would submit to the wishes of the people.

Mr. George W. Edwards, nominee on the Democratic ticket, stated that he is for the wishes of the people.

Mr. S. J. M. Webb, nominee on the Republican ticket, stated that he was against the resolution that was adopted at the meeting Saturday; and said he stood the same wy as Mr. Yates on the question of electing a county superintendent of education.

Mr. W. J. Billingsley, present member of the County Board of Education, stated that he is in favor of the people of the county having a referendum on the superintendent of education, if they want it.

Mr. C. C. Conway, present member and chairman of the County Board of Education, stated that the law gives the county board the right to appoint the superintendent of education, and that he still holds to that right. He further stated that he believes the county superintendent of education should be elected by the people, and if the people should go ahead and call an election, and then, if the people should choose the right man, he would submit to the voice of the people. But, if they did not make the proper choice, that he would not.

A motion was carried that the chairman and secretary furnish to both county papers a copy of the proceedings of the meeting and a copy of the resolutions, and that a copy of the resolution be presented to the County Board of Education.

R. J. JACKSON, Chairman.
D. S. ROBINSON, Secretary.

Dr. Ezell Visits School

Dr. Ezell visited our school at the chapel period on last Wednesday morning. He made a most inspiring and instructive talk on the subject of Daniel. He showed how Daniel put principle and character above everything else. We enjoyed his talk and the valuable lesson we got from it will long be remembered. We appreciate the nice things Dr. Ezell had to say about our teachers and our school as a whole. We trust that he may continue to have this good feeling for us. It is an inspiration to be appreciated.

Senior II's And Senior II's Contribute To Chapel Program

On last Wednesday morning at chapel period the senior II's competed with the senior III's in a singing contest. Previously the senior II boys had challenged the senior III boys to "out sing" them. The senior II's won this, but the senior III's were not to be so easily embarrassed. So they in turn challenged the entire senior II class to "out sing" them in quartette singing. The senior II quartette was composed of Maralyn Hardy, Pauline Plyler, Virgil Robinson, and Grady Minor. The senior III quartette was Pearl Vinson, Hilda Hart, Floy DeVaughn and Melvin Powell. The entire school joined in the spirit of this contest and it was hard to tell which class had really won. The judges rendered the decision in favor of the senior III's "Swing Low Sweet Chariot." The contest idea was originated by Miss Mary Ellis and has done much to improve our singing in chapel exercises.

Senior III Class Officers

On last Wednesday afternoon at the class meeting the senior III's elected their class officers for 1932-1933. They are as follows: President, Margaret Jones; vice president, Clyde Popwell; secretary-treasurer, Dewey Williams. They selected for their class motto, "Success awaits at labor's gate." For their flower, they selected the Sweet Pea, and for colors, red and white. We are very proud of the senior class, and we are expecting great things of them.

Last Year's Senior Class

The Chilton County High School is very proud of the large number of students of the class of 1932 who have e tered college. Thirty-one per cent of the class are now engaged in their Freshman college work. We consider this above the average.

Eloise Jones, Elizabeth Stanley, Rut Maddox, Sallie Mahan, and Mary Ne Jones are at Alabama College in Montevallo. We are proud of the reports from each of these girls, but we are particularly proud to learn that Elois Jones has been elected chairman of the Freshman class. This is an honor which we consider Eloise most worthy and an honor to her high school.

Herman Harris, Ottis Miller and Ea l Ellis are in the Alabama Polytechn Institute at Auburn. We have had excellent reports of them and are proud of the fact that they are reflecting credit upon Chilton County High School. Jane Roberts is in Womans College, Montgomery. She is specializing in music and we are expecting to hear greater and greater things of her.

C. C. H. S. Played Selma Last Friday Evening

The Chilton County High Scho played Selma High in a game of football last Friday afternoon in wihch t breaks were for Selma, but it was generally conceded that our boys played the best ball. The ball was on C. H. S. territory most of the time. Th two teams matched each other ver evenly until the first half. The Selm boys came back with surprisingly ne strength and pushed the ball over f the tally. Their try for extra poi failed. Late in the fourth period the local team started a rally which only t final whistle stopped. The score w 6-0 in Selma's favor.

Coach Walker was delighted to hear a most complimentary remark about our boys from Referee Crisp of t Selma Y. M. C. A. Referee Crisp ha been refereeing games between C. H. S. and Selma for the past thre years. He says he has yet to find on single unsportsmanship like movement or play among any team coming fro Chilton County High School. We fe that this is a direct compliment to ou coach, Mr. Walker, as well as to ou boys and the school which they repr sent. Mr. Walker stands for the right at all times and we see the effect o his training in the boys.

32 True Bills Are Returned By Grand Jury

with 32 true bills.

The Grand Jury was furnished a list by the Sheriff of all of the prisoners confined in the county jail and have investigated all cases of prisoners confined in the jail that should come before this Grand Jury and have returned true bills against all of said prisoners.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge and find it neatly kept and correct in so far as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and feel that they are ample for the protection of the public and on our examination of the sheriff's account with the state for feeding prisoners we find it being kept in accordance with the law. On our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education we find that his books, records and papers are being kept neatly and fully in accordance with the law in so far as we were able to ascertain.

We have made a personal inspection of the County Jail and find that the prisoners confined therein are being well fed and cared for with reasonable comfort; the Jail was very clean and in our judgment sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners confined therein. We suggest that the attention of the proper authorities be called to the fact that the jail is not screened and we recommend that as soon as conveniently can be done that the jail be screened.

The Grand Jury made an inspection of the alms house and found that the inmates consisted of fifteen males and nine females. We found all of the inmates contented and pleased with their surroundings and that all of them are being well fed and given the very best of attention. The premises of the alms house and the buildings are kept neat and clean and the Grand Jury wishes to commend those in charge for the manner in which the alms house is at present being handled.

The Grand Jury wishes to express our appreciation to your Honor for th clear and impressive charge given u when we were first empanelled. Th clearness in which you outlined our duties as Grand Jurors made us feel deeply our responsibility and has been o much help to us throughout all of ou investigations.

We wish to thank Sheriff W. H. Gillespie and his deputies and Mr. Calvi Jones, the bailiff for the Grand Jur for the prompt manner in which the secured witnesses we needed to complete our labors and for the aid and conveniences given us during our wor as Grand Jurors.

Now having complied to the best o our ability with your Honor's charg we respectfully ask that we be dismissed until such time as Your Hono may see fit and think proper to hav us again convene.

This September 29, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey L. Smith of Wetumpka visited in Clanton Sunday and on Sunday night they worshipped at the Methodist church. Mrs. Smit was received into the Methodist church by baptism Sunday night and will transfer her letter to the Methodist church in Wetumpka, where her husband is the Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school.

September has been one of the most delightful months of the year. The older citizens of Chilton county say that it has been many years since they have experienced as much cool weather in a September month. It may mean that we have a cold winter ahead.

The Missionary society of the Methodist church met in the ladies parlor of the church Monday afternoon. Mrs D. W. Haskew, president of the society, presided and received reports from the three circles. The work of September showed that the society had been very active. Programs were discussed for the month of October, and the ladies of the church enter with enthusiasm into the work outlined.

County Training School Opens October The 10th

The leading colored school of the county opens its doors for the 1932-33 school year, Monday, October 10th. Here is hoping that a large number of patrons will be out to hear our own Supt. B. Lawrence explain the school situation. The general assembly will be at 10:30.

The Rosenwald Fund has discontinued its aid for bus transportation, which means that we must maintain the bus lines ourselves. It is nothing more than our whole duty to show our appreciation toward the great Julius Rosenwald by keeping the bus lines in operation. Remember that "A helping hand is not help when it helps one to become helpless." Surely, this aid has disclosed to us the vital importance of self support.

News from Thorsby

Miss EDITH JOHNSON, Correspondent

The home of B. L. Popwell located about a mile south of Thorsby on the old Birmingham-Montgomery highway was destroyed by fire last Thursday night about seven o'clock. The origin of the fire was not known, the family not being home at the time. This house was one of the oldest around Thorsby having been built about fifty or sixty years ago and was known to many people as the Winslow place. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will meet this coming Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. N. Laurell.

B'HAM HOTEL IS MAKING MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Improvements, remodeling and renovating in the Tutwiler Hotel have been started which when completed will represent an expenditure of $18,500, according to R. Burt Orndorff, manager of the Tutwiler Hotel. The hotel will also house the new home of Radio Station WKBC which is moving into the ground floor.

Joy Postle, noted Chicago artist and one of the few women mural painters in America is decorating the foyer to the ballroom on the second floor and will redecorate the Tutwiler Coffee Shop which is being doubled in size. The coffee shop will offer twenty-four hour service when the improvements are made.

Miss Postle is doing the second floor of the hotel in the colonial design and will decorate the ballroom in an original manner, the bandstand is also to be rebuilt to prepare for the opening of the winter season of dances.

The Tutwiler Hotel is operated by the Dinkler Hotel Company and is the largest hotel in Birmingham. Carling L. Dinkler is presiednt of the company and the chain operates the Ansley in Atlanta, the Jefferson Davis in Montgomery, and the Andrew Jackson in Nashville.

Hospital Out-Patient Department

Radium And X-Ray Services To Be Among Best In The South

Authorities of Woodlawn Hospital state that in extending to the general public the services of Out-Patient Department, the Hospital is following the practice of many nationally known institutions in providing high type of clinical and professional services without cost, to that mass of people with limited means.

In addition to modern diagnostic X-Ray equipment and facilities for the various radium treatments, contract has been executed for the immediate installation of equipment of the latest type to administer deep therapy treatment which brings this department up to one of the most up-to-date in the South.

A dental department is also maintained in the Out-Patient Department, being available to all hospital and clinical patients.

The Woodlawn Hospital was founded by Dr. J. H. Stephens, and, under his supervision, its building program was completed. Later, through the cooperation of representative people in the territory served by the institution, title to the hospital and property was vested in several thousand families the management being placed in the hands of a governing board to the end that it might be perpetuated as a public or civic organization.

The Woodlawn Hospital is fully recognized by the American Medical Association and is rendering a wonderful service throughout the Northern part of the State, especially in its Out-Patient Department, which is worthy of the support of its many friends and patrons.

IN MEMORY OF COUSIN JULIUS

Thursday evening, September 15, 1932 the death angel visited the home of Mr. J. I. Bice and bore away the spirit of his son-in-law, Mr. Julius Mullins.

His place is now vacant and can never be filled. He was so good and kind we all loved him so. It is not yet understood why dear Julius had to go. He was just at the bloom of life, only 21 years old.

Weep not, dear ones, for we feel that our loss is Heaven's gain. He is at rest where there is no more sorrow, death nor pain.

Dear Jesus knew what was best and took dear Julius home to rest. He'll never be sick or have any more pain, but while he was sick he never complained. Julius had a bright smile for everyone. I never saw him mad. He loved everyone and all that me him learned to love him.

Julius united with the church several years ago at Shiloh. He was known as one of the best young men of that community. He leaves to mourn his going his loving wife, mother, father, three sisters, four brothers, grandparents, and a host of relatives and friends. He was laid to rest at Shiloh Church Friday afternoon, September 16, 1932. Rev. W. P. Lowery and Rev. T. J. Deason conducted the services. Brand of Clanton was in charge.

The pall bearers were Greeley Powell, Earl Johnson, Clint Billingsley, Morris Keen, Cary Mullins and Ocie Dee Deavers.

A COUSIN, Lucille Powell.

Livestock Reminders

By F. W. Burns, Auburn

A simple rule for feeding dairy cows is to give them all the roughage they will consume and three pounds of grain for each gallon of milk.

Check up on your dairy cows by weighing the milk and feed and testing the milk for butterfat. This is the only way to weed out the low producing cows.

Cow testing association records in Alabama show that fall freshening cows produced more milk and butter and returned more dollars above feed cost than did cows that freshened in the spring.

Equal parts by weight of corn and cob meal, velvet bean meal, wheat bran, and cottonseed meal makes a satisfactory and economical dairy ration. This should be fed with legume hay and silage for best results.

Plant three acres of oats for each brood sow on your farm. This will provide green feed for the sow at farrowing time and mature oats for the pigs to graze until early corn and soybeans are ready in July.

Milk production per cow during September was 12.59 lbs. compared with 13.10 lbs. last year for cows throughout the United States. This low production appears to be due chiefly to poor pastures and light grain feeding.

The 4-H dairy calf members are t future dairymen of the State. Encourage them by attending one or more the shows this year. Here is a partia list of the shows: Huntsville, Sept. 28 Clanton, Oct. 8; Gadsden, Oct. 14; M bile, Oct. 19; Columbus, Ga., Oct. 12.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the General Election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next General Election after the said adjournment of the said Legislature is to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of November, 1932, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "Article XXB. The Senate of Alabama shall be composed of one senator from each county, who shall be elected by the qualified electors at the general election in 1934, and in every fourth year thereafter."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 1st day of August, 1932.

> Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. Said bonds to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series and to mature at such times as may be provided by law, all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually; shall be a direct obligation of the State and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged for the prompt payment of the interest and principal thereof. They shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof and they shall be exempt from all State, county and municipal taxes. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on these bonds, there is pledged such portion of the income tax which may be collected in Alabama as will be necessary to pay the interest and principal as they mature, or any other tax paid to the State if an income tax is not levied or be insufficient. The Governor may borrow from time to time an amount not in excess of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to be used in the payment of the indebtedness due September 30, 1932, or such portion thereof as he may be able to pay with money so borrowed, and may pledge as collateral security for said money so borrowed the bonds herein provided for, or any of them, and may use the interest coupons in payment of interest on the money so borrowed. The Governor of Alabama is authorized to negotiate temporary loans from time to time never to exceed Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) to meet any deficiencies in the Treasury and to pay interest on the money so borrowed and until the same is paid no new loan shall be negotiated.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 2nd day of September, 1932.

IN MEMORY

On May 1, 1911 God planted a little rosebud in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mullins. They called this little flower Julius. As the years flew by he grew into a beautiful full bloomed flower. In 1931 he married Miss Minnie Bice. They lived happily together for nine months, then God saw fit to pluck this flower from her to Him.

He met all his troubles with a smile. He was always ready to share his part in any and all things. He was a faithful member of Shiloh church. Oh, how we miss him in Sunday school and church.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, father, mother, three sisters, four brothers and a host of relatives and friends.

It was only a few days ago—
We can never forget the day—
When came the silent reaper
And took our dear cousin away.

Although unable to speak to us
And could not even say good-bye
We know his thoughts were with us
When he was called to die.

We miss him, oh, we miss him
For our Saviour called him away
But we are praying to meet him
In a better world some day.

We know he is waiting
With our Saviour on high.
He's there ready to greet us
Where there is no good-bye.

No more on earth we'll see his face.
His voice we'll hear no more,
But let us live to meet him
On that bright and sunny shore.

We love our dear cousin—
No human tongue can tell.
We said good-bye for a little while,
But we didn't say farewell.

He has gone and left us desolate,
But he is so glad and free
All our tears would turn to smiles
If his rapture we could see.

Oh! How loving, good and jolly
He was every day by day.
All the sorrow that he gave us
Was because he went away.

He's not dead, just sweetly resting
From his trials and troubles here,
But if we live as he has taught us
We will meet him over there.

COUSIN AND FRIEND.

IN MEMORY OF OUR DEAR MOTHER, MRS. IRENE JONES

It was on September the twenty-sixth just before the break of day,
When the Lord called our dear mother away.
Her delicate body was laid to rest in the cold ground,
But from the life she lived, her precious soul was heaven bound.
Mother certainly lived a life that would surely stand the test.
There is not a doubt in my mind but what she went to rest.
To everybody she was good and kind, and just as harmless as a dove.
The chords around her heart were wrapped with a bountiful love.
She taught her children to do what was right and just,
And in the hands of Jesus we should always put our trust.
In her precious body here on earth she had to suffer an awful lot of pain—
It was for some noble purpose, we know it was not in vain.
Sickness and sorrow it seemed that mother had more than her share,
But now I believe she has won a home where everything is bright and fair.
Her smiling face here on earth no more we can see,
But if we could only meet her in heaven how happy we all would be.
Dear mother, to see you go we could not help but cry.
But there is a blessed hope that we may meet you in the sweet bye and bye.
A true mother's love,
Is one of the purest this side of heaven above.
The world may forsake you, even father, sister, and brother—
Yet you have a friend if you only have a living mother.
If any of you have flowers to give your mothers—give them while their sweet odor they can smell.
If you wait to put them on their grave an angel might steal your hand, you never can tell.

—By Her Son, Grady.

We wish to thank the dear friends that were so good and kind in the sickness and death of our dear mother. We pray that the Lord may give them their just reward.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, the said day being more than three months after the adjournment of the session of the Legislature at which the amendment was proposed, and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, is Tuesday, November 8, 1932, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby given notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "(a) All cities, towns, villages, and other municipal corporations having a population of not less than one nor more than six thousand are hereby authorized to become indebted in an amount, including present indebtedness, not exceeding eight per centum of the assessed valuation of the property therein, as the same is assessed for State taxation. There shall not be included in the above limitation of indebtedness the following classes of indebtedness, to-wit: (a) temporary debts or loans for current expenses to be paid within one year, made in anticipation of the collection of taxes for the current year, and not exceeding one-fourth of the general revenue for the preceding year: (b) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for purchasing, acquiring, providing, constructing, enlarging or improving water works, electric light and gas and sewage disposal plants either within or without the City Limits; (c) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for sewer, street, sidewalk, and other improvements whether of a like or of any different kind, to the extent that the cost thereof has been or is proposed to be assessed against the property benefitted thereby; nothing contained in this amendment shall prevent the funding or refunding of existing indebtedness. Provided that this amendment shall not apply to municipalities located in Jackson, Marshall, Etowah and St. Clair Counties."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 1st day of August, 1932.

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the general election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next general election is to be held on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, and the session at which the said amendment is proposed will have finally adjourned prior to that date, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law, to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> Article XXII. The Legislature shall have the power to levy and collect taxes for state purposes on net incomes from whatever source derived within this State, including the incomes derived from salaries, fees, and compensation paid by the State, County, Municipality and any agency or creature thereof, for the calendar year, 1932, and thereafter, and to designate and to define the incomes to be taxed and to fix the rates of taxes. Income shall not be deemed property for purposes of ad valorem taxes. From net income an exemption of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) shall be allowed to unmarried persons and an exemption of Three Thousand Dollars ($3000.00) shall be allowed to the head of a family, provided that only one exemption shall be allowed to husband and wife where they are living together and make separate returns for income tax. The Legislature shall reduce the ad valorem tax from time to time when and to such an amount as the revenue derived from the income tax will justify. In the event the Legislature levies an income tax such tax must be levied upon the salaries, incomes, fees, or other compensation of State, County and Municipal officers and employees on the same basis as such income taxes are levied upon other persons.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

How Cardui Helps Women

"Mal-nutrition" means that your body is not getting enough to keep it up, so that what it has to do is not done well. You may not be eating enough to keep up the work of the body, or there may be something wrong that keeps you from getting full value from the food you eat.

Because of mal-nutrition, some women have aches and pains every month. Such pains should not be neglected.

Take Cardui to give you a better appetite, to give you more strength from the food you eat — to build up and increase your feeling of well-being. Aches and pains go away as you build up with the help of Cardui.

News' Big Campaign Goes Into Second Week

Perhaps a considerable number of people will find to their surprise that they have been nominated by some friend. This should be strengthened by taking hold vigorously and carrying the campaign for votes to a successful conclusion with a magnificent prize as a reward.

IN TO WIN

For those who have entered, the next step is to immediately acquaint friends with the news that you are out to win one of the splendid prize and that you want their subscription or renewal for one or more years right away. Many of these friends, seeing that their favorite has been nominated, will probably communicate with the candidate and offer to save the free coupons, which appear in the paper each week, and also to pay up their subscription for a year or more right away.

During the past few days, with all the hustle and bustle of preparing for a rush, quite a number of candidates have already secured promises of subscriptions, realizing that it is the early bird that gets the worm, and who will also get the worthwhile prizes.

WORK IS EASY

A little effort on your part and you can have the Chevrolet Coach or one of the other awards. Perhaps there are some who have hesitated on entering the race. These should read how easy it is to win any of the wonderful prizes. Simply fill out the nomination blank appearing elsewhere in this issue. That blank starts you in the race with 5,000 votes. Then call up a friend or two and explain all about your ambition to win an automobile or one of the other valuable awards that this newspaper is going to give away. Your friends realizing that you are going to make the effort will certainly respond with their subscriptions

START RIGHT NOW

You do not have to be a subscriber to the Chilton County News in order to enter this campaign. All you are expected to do is get subscriptions, and you will find the work easy. Furthermore it is not a good plan to delay your entry. The campaign officially opens today and all candidates and prospective candidates should begin to canvass in earnest for the free votes, and ESPECIALLY FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS. Remember very little has been accomplished so far, but from now on, the race will begin to gain headway, and the public at large and the readers of this paper in general, are going to give their support to some deserving candidate. And the first candidate that approaches them will stand the best chance of securing the subscriptions.

Don't put off entering another day. You want to start in this campaign on an even basis with the other candidates, and the time to do this is right now. If you wish any further information about the campaign, communicate with S. J. Feaster, the Campaign manager, Phone 147, Chilton County News, Clanton, Ala.

The following is a list of the nominations. there are only a few of this list that have entered the campaign to date. ENTER NOW, IF YOU HAVE NOT.

Clanton, Alabama: Mrs. Thomas Sims, Miss Gertie Fiquette, Mrs. R. W. Lowe, Mr. J. H. Plier, Mrs. J. E. Edgar, Mrs. Curtis Billingsley, Miss Mary Ellis, Miss Charlsie Pyron, Mr. Jimmie Taylor, Mr. Bert Roper, Rt. 3, Miss Norine Headley, R. F. D., Miss Jewell Foshee, R. F. D., Mrs. C. E. The morning services will last just one hour, the night services about one hour and fifteen minutes. Dr. Haskew asks us to state that the church means business in this effort, and that if the people will come on time, that he will see to it that they leave on time.

The coming of Rev. W. O. Phillips wil ladd much to the interest of the meeting. At one time he was pastor of the Methodist church at Verbena. He spent six years as a missionary to Japan. While attending the Emory University he was choir director of the Wesley Memorial church in Atlanta. On Monday afternoon at three o'clock Mr. Phillips has consented to speak to the women of Clanton on his experiences as a Missionary in Japan, and all women—regardless of denominational affiliation, are invited and urged to attend A special invitation is given to the women of other sections of Chilton county. INFORMATION ON CATTLE SHOW TO BE HELD HERE THIS WEEK

The District Jersey Cattle Show will be held in Clanton Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Final details are being completed by County Agent, C. E. Stapp, who has been chiefly instrumental in bringing this annual event to our city and county.

Headquarters for the assembly and keeping of cattle entered in the show will be at McCain's Barn. Exhibits of cattle will come here from Talladega, Lee, and Chambers Counties. These, of course, will be in addition to the exhibits furnished by our own county of Chilton.

Thursday will be assembly day. All cattle to be entered in the show will arrive, and will be allotted their places in the barn. The boys who have charge of the animals will devote their time Thursday to dressing them up and getting in shape for the exhibits and contests to follow on the succeeding days.

The cattle to come here from Lee and Chambers Counties have already been showwn in events of similar character at West Point and Columbus, Ga. Hence, it is expected that these counties will make it a rather warm race for Chilton and Talladega.

Fridy at ten o'clock judging teams from the four counties will compete in a judging contest. Each boy in the contest will be scored on his judging, and medals will be awarded to the three highest scores.

Mr. Stapp says this judging contest may be followed by a showman's contest. This will be a hot number, if it is put on, according to Mr. Stapp. It will be a contest in which the boys compete upon their ability to put on a show of individual animals.

Saturday at ten o'clock judging of the cattle entered in the show will take place on the vacant lot between McCain's Stable and the Shell Filling Station, just across the highway from the Ford Place. Mr. Burns, dairy extension specialist of Auburn, and perhaps a dairyman from Mississippi will have charge of this part of the show. A list of prizes will be awarded to different classes of winners. This list of prizes has heretofore been published by Mr. Stapp.

Following the judging of cattle, all entires will be shown in a parade thru the business section of town. The parade, according to Mr. Stapp, will likely take place about 1:30 o'clock.

A special educational feature pertinent to the cattle business will be shown. A scrub cow with a Hereford calf from a pure-bred bull (from the farm of Mr. H. S. Shaw) will illustrate the advantages of breeding to pure-bred bulls even though the cow is not of high breeding.

All farmers in Chilton County who are inferested in cattle raising (and all of them should be) are urged to attend this show every day. It has required much effort, and no little expense to bring it to our county, and the real worth of the event can be attained only by the diligent study and attendance of our farmers.

Remember the dates are Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. It will be worth your trouble to come. It will be an encouragement to the club boys who are putting it on.

Isabella F. F. A. Holds Meeting

A meeting of the Isabella Chapter of the Future Farmers of America was held Wednesday, September 28, attending to the following business: The appointing, by the president, Mr. R. C. Veazey, of a program committee and a social committee; the setting of the dues at seventy-five cents, which is the same that they have been for the last several years for this chapter; and the adoption of a new plan for making the programs, which will give every member a part in making the programs. It is hoped that the year will continue with our F. F. A. work as it has started and that we will have a very prosperous and helpful year.

Editor, Chilton County News:

As there seems to be a great deal of agitation in regard to the election of the County Superintendent of Education, by the people, I desire to make a public statement in regard to this question.

I believe that the people should rule and I wish to state that I am in favor of all officers who are responsible to the people and who are paid out of the public funds, being elected by the people.

It will not be possible for me to see but few people before the election, as there is sickness in my family and has been for several months, so I am taking this opportunity of asking you for your votes and I assure you that if I am elected, I shall do my best to serve to the best of my ability.

'NEAR BEER' BAN REPEALED OVER GOVERNOR VETO

Edgar Bill Becomes Law; Cereal Beverage Again Permitted In Alabama

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 7—Alabama's lonely distinction of being the only State in the Union forbidding the manufacture and sale of cereal beverages, fancifully called near beer, was swept into limbo yesterday when the House, closely followed by the Senate, overrode Gov. Miller's veto of Representative Massey Edgar's bill lifting the ban on this type of beverage.

Action in the House was quick and decisive, the vote to override being 64 to 30, despite the hasty exit of 12 members. When the Governor's message containing the veto moved on to the Senate it found the senior body at the tag-end of the morning session with many friends of the measure out of the chamber. Consideration of the veto was thereupon postponed until the afternoon when a roll call showed 21 for the bill, the Governor's veto to the contrary notwithstanding, and 10 for acceptance.

The Edgar bibll is now law and the statutory ban on so-called near bear no longer exists. Companion measures imposing an excise tax on the beverage and license taxes on distributors and directing the accruing revenue to an educational trust fund are still pending passage on the Senate calendar.

Governor's Veto Message

Gov. Miller didn't surprise the State when he vetoed the cereal beverage bill The Anti-Saloon League did not make a fight on the bill when it came before the House and Senate committees because the Governor's platform when he ran for Governor announced opposition to any revision of the State's prohibition laws. When the veto message was delivered to the House it was stated informally that the Governor was merely carrying out his promise as a candidate and had no personal interest in the Legislature's action. Several members who had voted with the administration consistently voted to override the veto, while others did not vote.

REVIVAL HERE TO CONTINUE THRU SUNDAY

Pastor Gives Sermon Topics For Remainder Of Services

Large crowds are gathering daily at the Methodist church where Dr. Haskew is this week conducting a revival. He is being assisted by Rev. W. O. Philips of Grove Hill, Ala., who is leading the singing. Dr. Haskew states that the meeting will continue through Sunday night. The subject used for tonight will be "Father Time." Friday night, "Dangers of Middle Life." Saturday night, "What Must I Do to Be Saved." Sunday morning, "Tying The Hands of God" and Sunday night, "Reconciliation With God." For the remainder of this week the morning services will be held at ten o'clock, with a children's service being held Saturday morning at ten. A special invitation is issued for all to attend these services. Dr. Haskew states that he is highly pleased with the loyalty of the Methodist church and the town at large in the way they are receiving the efforts being made for the salvation of men and women.

COTTON REPORT

There were 6,213 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Chilton County, from the crop of 1932 prior to October 1, 1932, as compared with 7,874 bales ginned to October 1, 1931.

Young People's Rally Of Unity Association

The October Rally of the Young People's Organizations of Unity Association will meet at the Billingsley Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, October 16th, 1932, at 2:30 o'clock.

Counselors:—Please have your organizations well represented. We are having a fall Christmas tree, providing gifts for missionaries to use in their work. Asking each child to bring a small gift and place it on the tree. A suggested list of gifts as follows: Small dolls, pencils, drawing paper, water colors, tablets, crayons, wash dolls, toys of all sorts, handkerchiefs, construction paper and patterns, gingham dress material, stamped pieces embroidery and soap. It would also be nice to fold sufficient wrapping paper, ribbons, etc., and fasten to each gift ready for the missionary to use after she decides about the gifts best use. Everyone is urged to come.

Working Hard To Win In Campaign

MISS LEILA BELLE SMITH

Miss Smith, daughter of Mrs. J. D. Smith, living north of Clanton. Miss Smith is another very enthusiastic worker in the Chilton County News Big Campaign. Miss Smith is teaching school at Pletcher this fall. She has a wide acquaintance over Chilton county and is going to make a real race for the Grand Prize as can be seen from her standing. She is leading the field this week for the New Chevrolet Coach.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS

This is to remind those subscribers of the News who have allowed their subscriptions to get behind, that now is the best time to renew. There are several young ladies in the Big Prize Contest being put on by the News, and they will appreciate you giving them your renewal.

We have placed many new subscribers on our list, while many more are paying up. A few weeks notice will be given those whose subscriptions are behind before their names will be taken from the list. This is becoming necessary due to the large number of new ones being added.

CATTLE SHOW DECLARED A BIG SUCCESS

Chilton County Boys Won In The Jersey Cattle Judging Contest Here

An interesting part of the Jersey shows held each year is the Judging contest. Three boys from each county participating in the show make up a team for the judging contest.

In the contest held here Friday, four teams or 12 boys representing Chilton, Chambers, Talladega and Elmore counties, competed. The boys were given one class of four cows and one class of four heifers to place and give their reasons.

Each boy was scored on his placings and reasons. The highest individual score was made by Willie Harris of Chambers county; second high score was made by Clyde Popwell of Chilton and third high by James Dennis of Chilton. The total score of Clyde Popwell, James Dennis and Chester Messer of Chilton County was more than the total score of the boys from any other county, giving first place to Chilton boys.

URGE PEOPLE TO ENLIGHTEN THEMSELVES

Splendid Meeting Held Last Friday In Clanton At Wilson Hotel

One of the most interesting and inspiring meetings of local Democrats held here in sometime, took place at the New Wilson Hotel last Friday morning, with a good attendance. Harmony was noted throughout the meeting, and it was apparent that those present were seeking some means of enlightening the people of Chilton county of the grave responsibility facing the voters at the polls on November 8th, especially in regard to the presidential candidates.

Many who spoke, stated that if the people of the county whether Democrats or Republicans would give some thought to the serious condition of the country at present and the cause of this condition, they would see that with a Democratic administration, this could be changed.

Condemns High Tariff

The high tariff imposed on foreign trade by the Republican administration was condemned and blamed as a great cause of the country's present plight. The belief in low tariffs of the Democratic Party was praised and endorsed, bringing out that the high tariff imposed by the Republicans had cut off the trade of the United States and for-

Golf Tournament Opens This Week

Clanton golfers, members of the golf club, are off to "do things" again right away. The winter golf tournament began this week, and those golfers who have become a little rusty in past weeks are limbering up in the qualifying rounds.

The match plays will take place next week, to determine just who is going to play who, and why, etc. There is some speculation as to the champion this time, due to some having been busy practicing for this tournament. Dr. Joe Edgar was the first champion, and Claude Reynolds came out on top last time, while Lester Jones and R. J. Sumner may make someone sit up and take notice now.

A Hard Worker In News Big Campaign

MRS. EVELYN W. CHRIST

Mrs. Christ is another very popular contestant in the Chilton County News Big Prize Campaign. Mrs. Christ came to Chilton County a few years ago from Birmingham. She has made many friends in her community and is widely known over the northern part of the county. Mrs. Christ is one of the leading contestants in the campaign and is in to make someone hustle for the New 1932 Chevrolet Coach. Mrs. Christ is doing some very fine work and it is needless to say if she keeps it up she will be one of the big winners.

CAMPAIGN IS GETTING INTO ALL SECTIONS

First Published List Of The Standing Of Workers Here This Week

They're off with a rush! After a preliminary period, during which the candidates have been listed and furnished with supplies for conducting their drives for subscriptions and votes the voting in the GRAND PRIZE DISTRIBUTION OF THE CHILTON COUNTY NEWS starts with the publication of the second list today and with the start of voting, the race for the wonderful new 1932 Chevrolet coach, or one of the other valuable awards will be in earnest

The list today contains names of the new entrants, energetic men and women, girls and boys from all over this county, having been nominated or nominated themselves since the first publication. We have predicted this would be the case, for it was apparent in the first publication of names that there were a few communities which were without representation on the list.

The widespread interest in this campaign indicates that the vote totals will be very evenly divided, and also the great number of entrants makes certain that it is not going to be very difficult to win. Every community will rally to the support of their favorite sons or daughters, with the result that the winning of an automobile will be made fairly easy

TEACHERS HAVE FINE INSTITUTE HERE MONDAY

J. A. Peterson Is Elected As President Of County Association

With only one teacher being absent, the Teachers Institute held in Clanton for Chilton county teachers last Monday, was declared most interesting and instructive

The Institute was held at the county high school, opening at nine o'clock in the morning, with several musical numbers. Pupils of the first grade of the Clanton Grammar School and the Rhythm Band from the Lay Dam school took part in this.

This was followed by devotional by Dr. S. J. Ezell, who also made a very interesting talk, placing emphasis on the need for more effort in giving children an aim in life, while young and attending school. This was followed by a talk by Percy M. Pitts on "The Outlook for Our Schools." Another talk was made by County Agent Stapp.

In the afternoon session, the election of officers took place. Prof. J. A. Peterson, principal of the Jemison High School, was elected president, succeeding Prof. W. T. Bean. Prof. Luther E. Little of Clanton succeeds Prof. W. C. DuBose as vice-president, and Miss Leacy Newell of Jemison High School succeeds Prof. I. Q. Quinn of Clanton, as secretar

HOME PROJECTS IN VOC. HOME ECONOMICS

By Miss Leacy Newell
Jemison, Ala.

Is your girl using the knowledge that she has gained in school in her home? Does she understand what she learns at school? Does the teacher know whether she is teaching usable material?

Many of you have heard this criticism: "Mary has studied Home Economics for two years, and she can't cook biscuit." Is knowledge any good if it isn't put into practice? All of these questions may be answered, Yes or No, but what are we going to do about it?

The great objective of Vocational Home Economics is to help the girl, and we believe that we can solve these problems best in "Home Project" work.

The home project is not to be understood as meaning the doing of exactly the same things at home that are done at school; it is the application in the home of the things learned in school. Projects do not mean practice, but they mean practice plus new learning.

A girl sees a piece of work that needs to be done at home. She plans this work with the parents and teacher. She uses the knowledge gained in her home and at school. Also she uses new knowledge that she may gain by study in school and at home. She sees the job through to completion. This is a home project.

A project must not be a manufactured problem, but it must be one that meets a home need.

The project is valuable to the teacher and pupil. Through the project the pupil finds out whether she understands school instruction, and the teacher finds if she is teaching usable material. Also, the project work furnishes a means through which the teacher gets acquainted with the parent and the home. Likewise the parents know the teacher.

Before the girl begins her project there should be a thorough understanding between the parent and the teacher.

The best projects are not the expensive ones. In this time of depression the girl should help solve the financial problems of the home. And in no way could she do it better than through home work.

Don't hunt work for your girl to do just because she has to have a project in order to pass the Home Economics course, but let her assume some of the responsibilities of the home.

An illustration of a student home project work is given in the following material.

Home Projects and What They Mean To Me

By
Thomasine Dorminey

I find that home projects mean work that the girl can do herself or else supervise. She tries different plans for doing various things to see which gives the best results.

In my first year of Home Economics I took three projects: one consisted of Home Improvement, one of Clothing for myself, and the other one was in the phase of foods, which was canning.

On my Home Improvement project, I took my yard as a basic problem. My yard was rolling and washing away. There had been an old wooden wall around it, but it had decayed.

The first thing that I did was to start hauling small round rock to build a wall, as I intended building a rock wall around it. May I say right here that I, myself, hauled the rocks with a horse and wagon, as if I were a boy. It took me several days, as it was slow work loading and unloading those rocks.

In the meantime, with my Home Economics teacher helping me, I put out shrubbery around the house. All my shrubbery, or the greater part of it is of the native variety which I obtained from the woods without any cost. All of it is growing beautifully.

Finally, I got the rocks all hauled and ready to be put together with cement. We had to get sand next, however, and that was still more work. I obtained the help of a stone-mason in the actual building of the wall and, of course, he did most of the work, but I want to say, I am sure I did my part too. He taught me how to lay the stones in the right place and position. I helped him very willingly. We finished the wall and I wish all the Home Economics girls could see it because, naturally, I am very proud of it.

The next project was my Clothing. In this one I made over some old clothes, did my laundry work and mending, made my summer underwear and a few little summer dresses.

In June, July and August, while there was plenty of fruits and vegetables, I canned almost all summer, and I really enjoyed it. The different ways of canning, pickling, preserving, and jellying the foods were very interesting, as well as useful.

My second year project work was just as interesting as my first one. I continued my yard project which was to put out more shrubbery and to care for the old. I sodded the yard in Bermuda grass which I got from our pasture. Of course, this was not of any expense.

My next project, for the second year, was Personal Appearance. I cared for my hair, nails, teeth, body, and complexion, as well as my clothing. We had our health rules to follow each day. I enjoyed it, and it was, really, a pleasure to all of us girls.

Planning, preparing and packing my school lunch was the next list of home work. I learned to make various kinds of sandwiches, as well as to cook and prepare the different types of food for school lunches.

Besides all you learn from self experience, trying out things for yourself, and the training of future Home Makers of America, it is really a joy, and I have been greatly benefitted by my Home Projects.

Isabella High School News

(Too Late for Last Week)

Isabella High School has gone into its fourth week of work. Everything is straightening out in good shape. A satisfactory schedule of recitations has been completed.

The football team is getting down to hard work and had its first game of the season last Friday with Dallas High School at Plantersville. The score was a tie, neither team being able to score.

It seems that the school is making satisfactory progress under G. G. Williams, the principal.

BOYS AND THE FARM

Some writers lament the fact that boys are leaving the farms, as though the farm boy had not the same right to choose his vocation in life as other boys. There would be as much logic in asserting that the son of a coal miner, for instance, should not aspire to be anything but a coal miner.

Of course, if a farm boy has no ambition to enter business, or a profession, or is not willing to apply himself to learning a skilled trade, he had better stay on the farm. Without education he would be worse off in a town or city than in the country, probably remaining a common laborer.

But for the intelligent farm boy who can secure an education it can not be denied that the cities offer wider opportunities. In fact, many of the leaders in every field of endeavor came originally from the farm.

While most of the trades and professions appear to be crowded today, farming is also overdone, as may be seen by the unsatisfactory condition of agriculture. More farm products are raised than can be marketed at a profit over cost of production.

Whenever the demand equals the supply we shall see better prices for agricultural products, and we shall also see people going back to the farm. But until that time comes the farm boy should be encouraged to enter any vocation for which his talents and education are fitting.

It may be added that there are even now excellent opportunities right on the farm for boys who will study and apply modern agricultural methods, but the future holds little for the indolent and shiftless on the farm or anywhere else.

WANTED: Boy or girl in Senior High School to write an article for November School Page on the subject, "The Holding Power of Our Schools." (See your principal for details concerning the article.) The article must not exceed 500 words in length.

New York City has 110 public garden clubs this year on which it is anticipated the children will raise $10,000 worth of vegetables.

Thirty-two school books, ranging from spellers to arithmetics and histories, were stolen from the parked automobile of Miss Nona Quirk, Kansas City teacher.

IS THERE ANY NEED FOR LITTLE CHILDREN TO FAIL?

Statistics From Last Year's Records Show That A Great Percentage Of Children Failed To Be Promoted To Second Grade

According to tabulations from the school records last year, only 20 schools had 50 per cent or more or their first grade children to be promoted to the second grade. This is a serious problem, and a problem around which teachers are working this year. Among the schools reporting promotions to second grade, five schools had less than 20 percent promotions, while three schools had a hundred percent promotions to second grade. This is a serious matter to be considered by parent and teacher alike.

Six-year-old children, of course, are not in the compulsory attendance age and are not forced to go to school. However, when they are sent to school at the age of six, it is very important in the life of the child to give him every opportunity to grow normally into the school life of the average child. We have the feeling that if a first grade child is given the same opportunity in school as children in other grades, he should then deserve to be promoted to second grade just as a fourth grade child deserves to be promoted to fifth grade.

Quite a few factors are to be considered in giving reasons why so many first grade children stay in the first grade two years or more. The teachers of first grade were asked to give in writing what they considered the chief cause of failure in their schools. Thirty-one of the fifty first grade teachers of Chilton County said irregular attendance was the chief cause of failure. This being true, we are making this appeal to the parents: If you start your child to school at the age of six, please see that he is as regular in attendance as the child who is in the compulsory attendance age. If the child spends two years, or more, in first grade, he soon loses the interest to work hard every year to be promoted at the end of the year to the next grade. His classmates get ahead of him and that causes him to lose more interest. According to the State Course of Study, there is a regulation that a first grade child must read at least 2 primers and 2 first readers before he can be promoted to second grade. This is another reason why it is of such importance for children to attend school regularly. A little child will not be able to take up work with the class after he has been absent from school, because, in first grade work, every lesson is a teaching lesson. If he misses a single lesson, he is without doubt the loser in the work. With a crowded room already, the teacehr can not then have as much time to teach the child what was missed when he was out as she could have if he could have been there as the entire class studied the lessons under the guidance of the teacher.

Let us urge you to help keep the little children in school during the entire session of school and give them as much opportunity as the older children have.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION NOTES

Senior III Class News

(Editor's note: Beginning with this issue of the School Page, there will be an article from the Sr. III class of each of the Senior High Schools each month until all have reported. In next month's paper, the Jemison Sr. III's will have an article.)

Sr. II Class News County High School

Class Sponsor: Miss Bernice Williams

Class Officers: President, Margaret Jones; Vice-President, Jarrel Burdette; Secretary and Treasurer, Dewey Williams.

Class Motto: "Success awaits at Labor's gate."

Class Colors: Red and White.

Class Flower: American Beauty Rose.

The Sr. III class plans to leave beautiful brick entrances to the driveway as a memorial to their Alma Mater. The plans, as yet, are incomplete, but these gate posts will harmonize in color and structure with the gate posts at the entrance of the walk. We are planning to give a Hallowe'en Festival and at least two plays to raise funds for this memorial.

ATTENDANCE GOOD FOR FIRST MONTH OF SCHOOL

During the first month of school the attendance has been good, considering cotton picking and other tasks that are to be done at harvest time.

Some of the schools have begun early in order for the children to be able to get out at noon to pick cotton. It is commendable on the part of the principals and teachers to work in such harmony with the parents as to help plan for children to carry on their school work and help with the farm at the same time.

(Mitchell Dam Report Not In.)

On the last Friday of September, the Chilton County School Board met for the purpose of attending to routine matters concerning the schools. Several items were disposed of, among which were: The colored teachers of all county negro schools were elected. Insofar as was possible, the same teachers were elected to go back to teach in the schools where they taught last year.

The plan was made to open the schools as announced and to run as long as the money holds out. The Board still holds in high esteem the patriotism of the teachers in going on last year without pay but the members feel this year that it would not be at all practical to ask the teachers to make such sacrifices again when they are already so far behind with past due payments from the State.

Approximately a hundred people appealed to the Board for new school bus routes or for extension of routes. It was necessary, however, for those calls to be turned down on account of lack of funds.

CONTROL PEACH TREE BORER WITH PARADICHLOROBENZENE

The peach tree borer is quite a serious pest in Alabama peach orchards. Paradichlorobenzene has been found to be most effective as a means of control. Where applied propertly and at the right time ninety to one hundred per cent control may be expected.

Due to the very unfavorable weather conditions during the past winter and spring, resulting in a very light crop of fruit, some growers may be inclined to neglect their trees at this critical time. Such weather conditions weakened these trees and unless the borers are controlled the trees cannot be expected to return to their normal vigor and the mortality among them is likely to be relatively high. Peach growers are urged to use this material according to the following directions.

Age of Trees: Results of the Bureau of Entomology show that this material can be used with safety on healthy peach trees four years of age and older. It should not be used on one, two or three year old trees in the South, because under certain weather conditions severe tree injury is likly to result. On trees of this age, Alabama peach growers will have to continue to use the old method of worming.

Size of Dose: For peach trees four or five years old, use ¾ ounce of the chemical per tree. For trees six years of age and older of average size, use the full ounce dose. A dose of 1½ ounces should be used on very old trees if the trunks are unusually large.

When to Apply: In north Alabama paradichlorobenzene should be applied October 1st to 10th; in central Alabama October 5th to 15th; and, in south Alabama October 10th to 20th. The desired results cannot be expected unless the material is applied on or very close to the dates recommended and growers are cautioned to give careful attention to this point.

Preparing the Soil: No preparation of the soil is necessary except to smooth the surface about a foot from the tree trunk with the back of a shovel. Do not dig into the soil or remove any of it before applying the paradichlorobenzene and do not mound the trees before the chemical is applied unless borers are working in the tree trunk above the soil level. As the gas from this chemical is much heavier than air any borers working in the tree above the point where the ring of crystals is placed will not be affected by the gas. Should there be indications of borers working in the tree trunk above the soil level, sufficient soil should be placed around the tree to bring the level of the soil up to the gummy exudation before applying the chemical.

Mr. S. A. Daniel, Montgomery, of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was visiting the schools last week in the interest of the sewing classes in the various schools. Free booklets on sewing were distributed to be used by the girls in the sewing classes. Mr. Daniel has promised to bring other free materials later in the year.

STATE OF ALABAMA

A PROCLAMATION
By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the General Election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next General Election after the said adjournment of the said Legislature is to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of November, 1932, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

"That Section 138 of Article 5 of the Constitution of Alabama be amended so as to read as follows: Section 138 of Article 5,—A sheriff shall be elected in each County by the qualified electors thereof who shall hold office for a term of four years unless sooner removed, and he shall be eligible to such office as his own successor. Whenever any prisoner is taken from jail, or from the custody of any sheriff or his deputy, and put to death, or suffers grievous bodily harm, owing to the neglect, connivance, cowardice, or other grave fault of the sheriff, such sheriff may be impeached under Section 174 of this Constitution. If the sheriff be impeached, and thereupon convicted, he shall not be eligible to hold any office in this State during the time for which he had been elected or appointed to serve as sheriff."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 1st day of August, 1932.

Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. Said bonds to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series and to mature at such times as may be provided by law, all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually; shall be a direct obligation of the State and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged for the prompt payment of the interest and principal thereof. They shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof and they shall be exempt from all State, county and municipal taxes. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on these bonds, there is pledged such portion of the income tax which may be collected in Alabama as will be necessary to pay the interest and principal as they mature, or any other tax paid to the State if an income tax is not levied or be insufficient. The Governor may borrow from time to time an amount not in excess of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to be used in the payment of the indebtedness due September 30, 1932, or such portion thereof as he may be able to pay with money so borrowed, and may pledge as collateral security for said money so borrowed the bonds herein provided for, or any of them, and may use the interest coupons in payment of interest on the money so borrowed. The Governor of Alabama is authorized to negotiate temporary loans from time to time never to exceed Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) to meet any deficiencies in the Treasury and to pay interest on the money so borrowed and until the same is paid no new loan shall be negotiated.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 2nd day of September, 1932.

STATE OF ALABAMA

A PROCLAMATION
By the
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, the said day being more than three months after the adjournment of the session of the Legislature at which the amendment was proposed, and

WHEREAS, the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1932, is Tuesday, November 8, 1932, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby given notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

"(a) All cities, towns, villages, and other municipal corporations having a population of not less than one nor more than six thousand are hereby authorized to become indebted in an amount, including present indebtedness, not exceeding eight per centum of the assessed valuation of the property therein, as the same is assessed for State taxation. There shall not be included in the above limitation of indebtedness the following classes of indebtedness, to-wit: (a) temporary debts or loans for current expenses to be paid within one year, made in anticipation of the collection of taxes for the current year, and not exceeding one-fourth of the general revenue for the preceding year: (b) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for purchasing, acquiring, providing, constructing, enlarging or improving water works, electric light and gas and sewage disposal plants either within or without the City Limits; (c) indebtedness already or hereafter incurred for sewer, street, sidewalk, and other improvements whether of a like or of any different kind, to the extent that the cost thereof has been or is proposed to be assessed against the property benefitted thereby; nothing contained in this amendment shall prevent the funding or refunding of existing indebtedness. Provided that this amendment shall not apply to municipalities located in Jackson, Marshall, Etowah and St. Clair Counties."

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery, on this the 1st day of August, 1932.

Stapp At Auburn Last Week

Special Study In Demonstration of Curing Meat In Any Kind of Weather Conditions

How to save and cure meat in any kind of weather conditions is a very important question to the farmers of Chilton County. As we saw last winter, the old hit and miss method of waiting for cold of freezing weather to kill hogs may not always be reliable. It can happen that there will not be much cold weather in a winter. That was true last year.

County Agent Stapp, at a conference of County Agents, in Auburn last week, made a special study of how to keep and cure meat in any kind of weather. Demonstrations along this line were carried through. Some hogs were killed, and the agents in attendance were given practical experience in applying the method, which has already been proven by the extension service.

Mr. Stapp states that Auburn has been killing hogs all the past summer, and curing the meat by this process. It has worked entirely satisfactorily, he states, and he expects to conduct a number of these demonstrations in Chilton county.

It will be worth a very great deal to our farmers to learn how they may keep and cure their meat without regard to weather conditions.

Article XXII. The Legislature shall have the power to levy and collect taxes for state purposes on net incomes from whatever source derived within this State, including the incomes derived from salaries, fees, and compensation paid by the State, County, Municipality and any agency or creature thereof, for the calendar year, 1933 and thereafter, and to designate and to classify the incomes to be taxed and to fix the rates of tax. Income shall not be deemed property for purposes of ad valorem taxes. From net incomes an exemption of Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1500.00) shall be allowed to unmarried persons and an exemption of Three Thousand Dollars ($3000.00) shall be allowed to the head of a family, provided that only one exemption shall be allowed to husband and wife where they are living together and make separate returns for income tax. The Legislature shall reduce the ad valorem tax from time to time when and to such an amount as the revenue derived from the income tax will justify. In the event the Legislature levies an income tax such tax must be levied upon the salaries, incomes, fees, or other compensation of State, County and Municipal officers and employees on the same basis as such income taxes are levied upon other persons.

ROOSEVELT USING GOOD SENSE TALK

New York Newspaper Praises Speeches Of Governor Roosevelt

Washington, Oct. 10. —"Governor Roosevelt is talking good sense and good business," declares the New York Times in its editorial comment on the Democratic nominee's tariff speech, even in the face of that great doctrinaire of special privilege, Senator Reed Smoot of Utah.

"Has not Governor Roosevelt the fear of Senator Smoot before his eyes?" the Times asks. "When the Democratic candidate first began talking of his party's plank in favor of making with several countries agreements for reciprocal trade, the Utah Senators sternly rebuked him. Did not the Governor of New York know of our existing commercial treaties with several nations, by which we are bound to give to them any favors which we might accord to others? Doubtless Mr. Roosevelt did know of them. Doubtless he also knew that they could be terminated on due notice. What Senator Smoot had in mind was, of course, our new-fangled doctrine about 'most-favored-nation treatment.' But this is in the way of being abolished by the British government and by others, so that it ought to be soon possible for the United States to resume and act upon its old interpretations of that clause in the treaties.

"For a long time our Government did not admit it to be a bar to reciprocity arrangements. In fact, it sought and obtained several of them. When Mr. Blaine was Secretary of State, and in later years, reciprocity became a kind of emollient in the hands of the Republicans to abate the irritation caused by our high protective tariff. There is really no reason why this country should not go back to its historic view that special bargains can be made between two nations without having to extend the benefit to all others. Indeed, our present embarrassment in the matter of foreign commerce furnishes a new and powerful argument why we should go back to it.

"At any rate, Governor Roosevelt is talking good sense and good business. He fully realizes that we must do everything within our power to recover our lost position in foreign markets. If, without a general revision of our obstructive tariff, we can manage to grant a few reductions from it in return for particular concessions for the advantage of our export trade, it seems an obvious step to take. It cannot be that Americans have lost their flair for seizing opportunities and driving through good bargains. It is to that once recognized ability and reputation of his countrymen that Governor Roosevelt appealed in his speech at Seattle. Unless they have forgotten how to be good traders, his words will not be without effect during the campaign and after it."

Stopp Losses By Saving Sorghum Seed at Home

Many farmers growing Texas Seeded Ribbon cane for syrup making purposes and for filling trench silos who have had to buy their planting seed have been badly disappointed in that their sorghum on reaching maturity this fall turns out to be some undesirable low-growing, dwarf variety.

There is only one certain remedy for this trouble; namely, to save planting seed from your own sorghum or from that of a neighbor where you have seen the cane and know what it is.

Sorghum is sold by dealers who buy from some agency which likely bought the seed in some distant section without being able to see the plants in the field. It is well to field select sorghum. Pick seed heads from stalks typical of the variety and growing in the central part of the sorghum field and not near off type stalks or near other varieties of sorghum or near broom corn.

By careful field selections over a period of years the variety will become practically pure and will be far superior to ordinary mixed seed from an unknown source.

Save sorghum seed; remove the doubt about variety and save money.

Your very truly,
C. E. STAPP, County Agent.

IN MEMORY

In memory of Mrs. Irene Jones, wife of W. W. Jones, who departed this life on September the 26, 1932, at her home at Lomax. The writer has known Mrs. Jones about thirty years, and has lived a close neighbor to her a good portion of that time, and has never known a more model Christian than was Mrs. Jones. Her life was devoted to her God, husband, children and neighbors.

I have made the statement many times during her life time that she was one among the best women I ever saw. This good and noble woman has gone to that land where she will never grow old, where she will ever be with the Lord; and will never no more come in contact or be subject to sickness, pain or disappointments.

It should be a great consolation to her neighbors and friends to know that they have had the opportunity and privilege to be associated so many years with Mrs. Jones, whose life, if taken as a guide, will guide them along the narrow way which leads from each to heaven. May God bless her husband and children and help them to walk in the same way that the wife and mother did and by and by they will go where wife and mother is.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends of this community for their help and kindness towards us during the recent illness and death of our dear wife and mother. We pray God's richest blessings on each of you.

Respectfully,

Home-Coming At Concord Oct. 15th

Home-comings aren't so very prominent through this section of the country, that is in regard to the church, but I do not see any reason why, unless the people know so little about a church home-coming and its effect toward unity and progressiveness. People are acquainted with family home-comings, when the children come back home to spend a day with father and mother and each other. This is the kind of day we want to make out of our church home-coming. We want to learn who our fathers and mothers were in the church. We want to learn who our older brothers and sisters are in the church. We want to learn how old the oldest ones are and how young the youngest ones are. We want it to be a success; so we are depending upon the members wherever you may be and whoever you may be, to help make it such. If it's impossible for you to be there be sure to send your name and address to either of these; Miss Virginia Little, Mr. O. H. Lawrence or J. Hudson Williams, all of Billingsley, and they will be glad to register you. Those members who are present are asked to register some time during the day.

Dr. T. C. Cassidy of Montgomery, one of our former pastors, will deliver the eleven o'clock address. Others of our former pastors are to take part on the program. Special singing will be a feature of the program. Our Fourth Quarterly Conference will be the last item on program. Service will begin about 9:30. Lunch will be served.

Chilton High Noses Out Columbiana 6-0

Although outweighed and smaller to the man, the warriors of Chilton County High School fought their way to a wonderful victory over Shelby County High School here Friday afternoon, before the largest crowd of spectators to witness an athletic contest in years.

The wonderful charging of the smaller line was superb, while the backfield cashed in on the holes made by charging ferociously into the opening time after time, for the necessary yardage.

The decisive alertness of Jarrell Burdette, quarter back, and alternate captain, made possible the only score of the game when he intercepted a Shelby pass on Shelby's own 25-yard line and galloped 25 yards to goaldom and victory.

On defense James "Gabby" Tiffin, backed up the Chilton line like a veteran and on offense placed beautiful punts far into Shelby territory for decided advantage.

In the line Captain Popwell, Frank Foshee, Ted Littlejohn and Emmanuel Cooper stood out both on defense and offense.

Shelby County showed a wonderful passing attack that failed only because of the alert backs of Chilton County. The outstanding defense attack of Columbiana was flashed from the left tackle and left half back posts.

Jack Hayes of the Chicago White Sox and a local boy, officiated in what he termed one of the good high school games he has been privileged to witness.

New Administration Needed To Lift Depression

The Democratic Congress will do all that is humanly possible to pull America out of the slump into which it has been led. The vision of "prosperity just around the corner," may happily be fulfilled, although thus far the corner has steadily receded as we approach. But one thing is very certain: A new administration, new policies, new unfolding of political ideas and practices is imperatvely demanded. And we cannot have these with the same old guard politicians in the saddle, the same boards, the same non-progressive and useless commissions that have cluttered up the present administration.

—Clinton (Mo.) Democrat.

o-o-o-o

Unkept Campaign Promises

Since the Republican party came back into power in 1921, its administrators and spokesmen have been promising to reorganize and consolidate the Federal bureaus, boards and agencies with overlapping functions. The result up to date has been a consolidation of the agencies concerned with Veterans' affairs and the annexations of a couple of bureaus to Mr. Hoover's Department of Commerce.

Even prior to President Harding's inauguration there was a Joint Committee of Congress on the Reorganization of Government Departments, which made elaborate recommendations, all of which came to naught. The Republican administration then brought in an outside, not a Member of Congress, to be Chairman of a Congressional Committee charged with the reorganization and consolidation of these various bureaucratic agencies, but without results.

[illegible] an observer as Mr. Arthur [illegible] ngton correspondent of the Republi[illegible] there are about 200 Federal bu[illegible] numb[illegible] without any valid excuse for existence [illegible] now about 700,000 Fe[illegible] ly under rather than over the actual number.

In some instances, four or five or six of these agencies deal with different phases of the same governmental activity which obviously could be better administered by one at a great saving of cost. While these facts are obvious they have not been sufficiently so to bring about action by any Republican Congress.

Mr. Hoover was a cabinet member of the two previous Republican administrations which undertook to deal with this subject. His office as Secretary of Commerce was ornamented with his own handiwork in the form of various graphs, charts and other exhibits of the engineering profession, portraying his own plans for the proposed reorganization and consolidation of the bureaucratic government, which was so unctiously promised by the chiefs of those administrations. But even in the era of so-called "Coolidge Economy," economy in this respect was confined to words and not to action.

President Hoover has taken these organization promises out of the moth balls and is seeking to revive interest in them as a depression expedient. As was to be expected, he plans to annex some more bureaus to the Department of Commerce. But the question naturally arises if Mr. Hoover's party and Mr. Hoover himself were sincerely committed to this policy, having a succession of subservient Republican Congresses at their command, why has not this reorganization and consolidation been effected long ago? The failure to bring it about can best be explained by his party's devotion to the policy of centralized bureaucratic government. It has been too much to expect that a party so constituted would voluntarily reduce its official strength in the interest of efficiency and economy when it could avoid doing so by repeating its unkept promises.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

"The Moving Finger writes, and having writ, moves on."

* * *

And you possibly may ask, "What has that to do with the price of cotton?" Absolutely none, if you ask me. But it is known to be true that the Moving Finger writes, and having moved on, keeps moving and writing. Writing the chapters in the lives of men and women. Writing with such fluid and accuracy that none of it can be wiped out.

* * *

That would make a good beginning for a good sermon, or something if you ask me. But being that I ain't a preacher, or something, it possibly will not turn out to be a sermon, and really did not turn out to be anything, after all. That reminds me of the finishing remarks of some people "* * * and so on, and so on." There is little sense to that expression, so instead I suggest using "* * * and sew on and sew on." Seems to me that that has a little sense to it, because a person could be sewing on buttons or something sometimes.

* * *

And after all there is nothing better now with business so darned bad, as to have a rambling mind like mine is today. Just rambling from one thing to another or two or three. In fact I don't know one minute what I'll be thinking about the next minute. Some famous last words of auto drivers are "I think that is the left light burning."

* * *

And the preacher completes the story sometimes of those famous last words. Speaking of automobile lights, did you ever notice how most city folks will not dim their lights on the road at night when meeting another car. Seems like the city folks are awful stubborn, or something. They ought to be given a lesson in etiquette, or something sometimes.

* * *

Now about this circulation campaign C. G. N. has on now. Was talking to that young fellow Feaster, the manager, the other day, and I kind of like that fellow. He tells me, and the ed says he's right, that there are over twenty contestants in the campaign, and each one says she is going to get that automobile. I asked the ed how that campaign was operated, telling him that I've heard a lot of bad things about such campaigns. So he swells up and sets me straight about it, right now. This campaign is being conducted by the most responsible manager to be obtained and is going over already like a top.

* * *

There I go again, always rambling from one thing to to another when I'm writing this blasted column this week. Things in general are in a stir round town these days; We had a lot of robberies and it took Erby Popwell to find out who did some of it and recover some of the stolen property and make some arrests. I'll be almost willing to wager that Erby will pretty near solve the whole situation, or something. Then there's politics, which is beginning to take on shape as usual, with one fellow telling things about the other fellow, and then the latter saying it ain't so, and away we go, ending up with nothing after all, and somebody's feelings hurt, and maybe a busted nose, or something.

* * *

There seems to be no doubt that the Democratic ticket will be elected this November, while of course the Republicans are saying that their ticket is going to be elected. Then the Democrats ain't making no big fuss to attract attention, the aforesaid attention just naturally coming anyhow. Some folks always wanting to know what the Repubs are going to do this time. And seems they already know what the Repubs are going to do. I ain't in no position to say, cause I ain't no politician. But I can say one thing—I'm going to vote for Roosevelt and the other Democrats in November, if they will let me vote. I'm sorry for the people who will sell their vote, too, cause it shows they ain't got no respect for their rights in this country and will sell the only real privilege they have in regard to our governmental affairs. In my opinion, it is an insult for someone to offer to buy a person's vote, while I believe there is a lot of it being done. And then that shows that the fellow that is elected by bought votes ain't really entitled to hold the office, in my opinion, or something.

* * *

But people will sell their votes for a measly few dollars. After they sell, then they oughta just go and stick their heads in the sand like an ostrich does, cause they ain't really true American citizens, and personally I'd just rather not even be bothered with anyone who is so small and weak as to sell his or her vote.

* * *

Just been figuring round town about some of our men, and some politicians. Funny how they think they are getting by with some of the stunts they pull for personal gain. Sometimes I wonder if any of these tricks have been pulled on me, and if they have, I ain't gonna try to settle them. I'm just gonna turn that account over to the Almighty One, and let him settle it. And he'll do it, too. I've already had the opportunity to see several accounts settled like that.

* * *

More about the campaign. I was down at the News office the other day, and boy howdy, there was a whole flock (or covey) of good looking young ladies in there. I looked around for the editor, but unfortunately for him, he was out, so I tried to take care of the young ladies the best I could. Thought once or twice that I was going to have to use some of those Dooker's Pretty Pills on some of them, but managed to get them under control. Then about that time, this young Mr. Feaster comes in and relieves me. And what a relief. I ain't going to hang around that News office too much until that campaign is over. I'm afraid of al lthose good looking contestants. I see where all their names are being published in this week's issue. And there is a lot of them, and you folks just might as well get your money ready, because they are coming after you.

* * *

Somebody is going to get that new Chevrolet automobile, and somebody is going to get that $150 in cash, and in fact somebody is going to get a whole lot in that campaign. I've got my favorites picked out, at least I thought I had, but about that time, here comes some more, and they are awfully charming, so I don't know where I am—if anywhere.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

—o—

I went fishing down on the bay. On my hook I placed a large, live minnow and threw in for big game. At first the minnow was very active and I was sure that it was playing for a strike. Soon there was no action in the water and my line hung down with a dead still. On lifting my hook out of the water I discovered that my live minnow had been nibbled to death and all of the flesh had been chewed from the bones. I only had a skeleton on the hook. It must have been bad even for a minnow to be nibbled to death by other minnows. In the most of us there is something that rebelts against being nibbled to death by minnows. If a whale decides to swallow me, I will not feel so humiliated, but to be nibbled to death by fish so much smaller than I am, well, that is without a thrill. It sounds so simple to hear a spelling book critic trying to find fault with a college graduate about his grammar. To be chewed up by a bear is not so bad as to have our bones licked clean by mice.

* * *

I saw two men walking up the road. They were being followed by a large dog. To save me I could not tell to which man the dog belonged. He followed both men as they traveled on the highway, but they finally came to where a road turned to the right. One of the men left the other and then I could tell who owned the dog. He followed his master. The owner of the dog did not even have to whistle to his hound. He followed his master without any appeal. I often see two people during the week going in the same di- and some times it is rather difficult to rection. They live about the same way, tell who is a Christian. When these two people come to the place where right and wrong part, then it is no trouble to tell to whom the person belongs. Like a dog, a human being will follow his Master. If you belong to the devil, when he turns off to the left, you will follow him. If you belong to Christ, when He turns to the right, you will follow him. When Wednesday night comes, when Sunday morning comes, it is not hard then to tell to whom a man belongs. When you see a man going the ways of the flesh, it is not hard to tell to whom he belongs. You are following your master.

* * *

One day I saw a bunch of dogs all huddled together. They were snarling and growling and showed signs of a bad temper. I picked up a good sized rock and hurled it into the midst of the dogs. They scattered like a drove of quail, but only one of them went away yelping and limping. It was the hit dog that hollowed. When a preacher knows of the crowd who have collected to create trouble and he hurls the truth and the standards of right at that bunch they will scatter, and those who go away limping and yelping will be the ones who have been hit. Let us say again, "It is the hit dog that hollows."

* * *

I heard two soldiers talking to each other. One accused the other of doing nothing in the army but drawing his rations. One said to the other, "When we marched you carried no load, when we drilled you sat down in a chair, when we dug ditches you folded your hands, when we fought battles you were under cover. You ate more and rested more than any other man in the division." That kinder sounded like some folks in our churches. They are great when it comes to eating and resting, but when there are loads to be carried and battles to be fought, they are not there. A true soldier of Jesus Christ will carry his load and fight his share of the battles.

* * *

Suppose that a fellow should come to help you in the building of a barn on your premises, and should bring with him a mule, a goat, a skunk and a bumble bee, to assist in the job. With a kicker, a butter, a stinker and a stinger, you would not hope to build much with your help. And yet, that is the team that we find in many a church and community. We must build our schools, our homes, our churches and we must have help. Not much can be accomplished when "Kickers, butters, stinkers and stingers" are all about to hinder. It is hard to build when we are surrounded with a crew like that.

* * *

There was a terrible rail road accident. The wounded engineer lay by the side of the road as another engine whistle blew near by. The dying man opened his eyes and said, "Is that Van Bell's engine?" "Yes," replied the conductor who leaned over him. "Then stop him and tell Van Bell to come and pray with me" gasped the injured man. The coming train was stopped and a Christian engineer knelt by the side of his wounded comrade and prayed for his soul. Van Bell lost fifteen minutes with the dying man, and the conductor of his train became very angry and reported him to the Central office. The Superintendent of the road called Van Bell into his office and informed him that he had been notified of his delay with a dying engineer by the roadside. Van Bell expected a rebuke and a discharge, but the Superintendent was a Christian, and he took the engineer by the hand and said, "I commend you sir for holding up traffic while you helped a poor lost soul over the river of death." Van Bell, the best engineer who ever pulled a throttle was right. We can afford to stop every wheel of commerce if in doing so we can help a lost soul to find God.

YOUR COUNTY'S DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

(AN EDITORIAL)

For this newspaper to endeavor to impart to its readers in detail, articles on the Democratic candidates for offices in the county, would take considerable time and space. However, before the election in November we would like to do this in order that the voters of the county could see that those men who are seeking offices in Chilton County on the Democratic ticket are men of high standing in the communities in which they reside.

These men have suffered through the past years of the depression, and Republican administration. They know that the rest of you people have also felt the brunt of this administration, and that you are entitled to a better deal in governmental affairs.

The Democrtic nominees in Chilton county are not seeking these offices for personal nor political gain. They are not being backed by any individual, firm or corporation, and are not obligating themselves to any political pets, but if elected will carry out the duties of their respective offices in the interest of the people whose votes put them there.

They have no political fight to make against any individual. Their fight is based on their honesty, integrity and the urge to serve the people of Chilton county to the best of their ability.

The fight to be made by the Democratic Party in Chilton county this year, is a fight in the interest of the masses of mislead, hampered and harangued citizens of the county, those farmers, their wives and children in the country who have no control over the administration of governmental affairs other than through their votes.

The Democrats are not out to purchase votes, nor issue promises to any individual in their campaign. The Democrats are not out to criticise and find fault with the Republican administration and its inability to cope with present conditions and its tremendous waste of the money paid in as taxes. It is felt that the people have been shown this from time to time and have been fed up on such unkept campaign promises.

While the election is several weeks off, this newspaper feels that the voters of Chilton county should do some real thinking for themselves this time, and consider these following Democratic candidates: For County Treasurer, Louie Smith; for Commissioner District4, J. H. Jackson; for Commissioner, District 3, J. L. Davis of Stanton; for Member Board of Education, C. R. Foss of Thorsby, and George W. Edwards; for Justice of The Peace, Beat 4, T. W. Bryan; for Constable Beat Four, R. E. Popwell; for Coroner, J. Mell Martin.

THE GOVERNMENT COTTON REPORT

(AN EDITORIAL)

You farmers, business men and others who are interested in the Government Cotton Report, which has a way of lowering or raising the price of cotton should give this idea some thought.

Did it ever occur to you how many bales in the 13,000,000 bales were saleable, and spinnable cotton? Did it ever occur to you that the government report includes bales of cotton of all kinds, whether the cotton is worth a darn or not, whether it can be used or not?

Now you ask, "Why isn't something done about that?" We don't know the answer to that question, but we are of the same opinion, "Something ought to be done about it." If the truth was known and published by the Government of the United States about this cotton, we have an idea that you would find that we don't have quite so much cotton on our hands as the government says we do, and that the price should be far above where it is, and that many people would be put back to work, if the truth about cotton was known.

Thorsby Institute News

Miss Ruth Cosby of Montgomery enrolled at Thorsby Institute Monday. She is a Sophomore.

The Senior Class is selling candy in order to raise money for various purposes. They are hoping to do even better than last year's class.

The first open meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society of Thorsby Institute will be held Saturday night, October 15, at seven-thirty. A very interesting program is being prepared. Everyone is invited. Admission 10c.

The new officers of the society will preside at this program. Guy Higgins, as President, Elwyn Robinson as Secretary. Brady Billingsley is vice president.

Miss Phillips, music teacher at the Institute, conducted a very enjoyable musical program at chapel Tuesday morning. It was a Schubert program consisting of an interesting sketch of his life, an explanation of some of his compositions, and two of his songs: "Who Is Sylvia" sung by the Girls' Trio and "Serenade" sung by the Glee Club.

Miss Agnes Leary is helping at the Thorsby Institute. She is taking charge of two study halls during the day that were taken by Miss Lois Primm before this year.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR CASHING PENSION WARRANS

Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds announces that he has made arrangements with the banks in Clanton for cashing Confederate pension warrants on the State of Alabama, at the following discounts:

Class A warrants $150, discount $2.25; Class 1 warrants $75, discount $1.12; Class 2 warrants $45, discount 67 cents; class 3 warrants $30, discount 45 cents.

The total of pension warrants coming to this county is $4,185, and arrangements have been made for cashing all of them. There are yet a few persons who have not called for their warrants, perhaps because they were of the impression that they were not being issued.

Judge Reynolds wishes all pensioners to know of the arrangements to get the warrants cashed, and urges that those who have not yet gotten their warrants, come to his office and ask for them promptly.

MISS CARRIE FOSHEE IS WITH WATTS HAT & DRESS SHOPPE

The Watts Hat Shoppe, popular ladies ready-to-wear store of Clanton, announces that Miss Carrie Foshee has accepted a position with them.

Miss Foshee is well known in this section, and invites her friends to visit her at the Watts Hat Shoppe when in Clanton.

The Mulberry-Isabella B. Y. P. U.

The Mulberry B. Y. P. U. has started this quarter off fine. We have set up our program for the whole quarter (Oct., Nov., and Dec.) which is as follows:

October 2nd Group 1 was in charge, and they put on a splendid program. Their topic was "Every Man In His Place." October 9th, Group 2 was in charge, and they also put on a splendid program. Their topic was "What About Crime." Next Sunday night's topic will be "Jesus, The Only Saviour." Group 3 will be in charge. The topic for October 23rd will be "Our Supreme Obligation" with Group 4 in charge. October 30th will be a special program, a radio program, using topic of Oct. 23, "Christian Citizenship." Speakers will be selected from the whole B. Y. P. U. to put on this program, and we think it will be very good.

The topic for November 6 is "Be Still and Know That I Am God." Group 1 wil lbe in charge. November 13, is our visiting Sunday. We will put on a demonstration program at another B. Y. P. U. using topic "No Respecter of Persons—Race and Class." Group 2 will be in charge. Topic for November 20, "Christ, The One ord." Group 3 will be in charge. November 27 will be another special, a camp-fire program. Topic, "While They Wait," Group 4 in charge.

Topic for December 4th, "A New Missionary Spirit," Group 1 in charge. Topic for December 11th, "Peace Peace! War and International Relations." Topic for December 18, "Jesus, the Final Judge," and for December 24th, (Saturday) the Social Committee is planning a Christmas Social. And the last topic for December 25th, "Working Together Around the World," and this being the last aunday in the quarter, we will announce the winning group of a Group Contest, which we have been carrying on for the past quarter. Our B. Y. P. U. has started a few other things that we think will help to improve it. One is our B. Y. P. U. Church Library which we have started by the donation of books from different members, and a number of other things that we hope will improve it. We are always glad to have any suggestion from anyone, and we welcome visitors at any time. So come and bring a friend.

CLIFFORD MANNING, President.

Services At Maplesville Baptist Church Sunday

On next Sunday, October 16, the Maplesville Baptist church will conduct its regular services. You are needed in the Sunday school and the morning and evening services. All people living in and about Maplesville are cordially invited and urged to attend.

Some time ago the following unique notice was fixed to a church door in England: "Missing: Last Sunday, some families from church. Stolen: Several hours from the Lord's day, by a number of people of different ages, dressed in their Sunday clothes. Strayed: Half a score of lambs, believed to have gone in the direction of 'No Sunday School.' Mislaid: A quantity of silver and copper coins on the counter of a public house, the owner being in a state of great excitement at the time. Wanted: Several young people. When last seen were walking in pairs up Sabbath-Breaking Lane, which leads to the city of No Good. Lost: A lad, carefully reared; not long from home, and for a time very promising. Supposed to have gone with one or two older companions to Prodigal Town, Husk Lane. Any person assisting in the recovery of the above shall in no wise lose his reward."

In Good Times and Bad
—Your Service Improves

Some of our customers have commented favorably upon the fact that telephone service is better than ever, despite the depression, and that their telephone friends seem as anxious as ever to satisfy the individual needs of subscribers.

This is gratifying, but quite natural when one considers that service comes first with telephone people and that they regard it as a serious obligation to serve the needs of the public efficiently, twenty-four hours a day, in good times and bad times.

During the past ten years the number of telephones in practically every community has doubled, and in some instances trebled. With this growth the service has become more complex but there has been a constant improvement due to scientific inventions, new methods and practices and a more skilled and experienced personnel. The value of the service has grown to the extent that it is regarded by many as the cheapest form of service that can be bought.

That the increased quantity and quality of the service has not been accompanied by a greater cost to the user is because of economies effected by new inventions and practices which have been passed on to the telephone using public in the form of more and better service.

Although your telephone company has suffered a serious loss in telephones and an enormous loss in revenue, there are still many more telephones in service than there were five years ago and the cost, compared with the value, scope and quality of the service is much less than it ever has been.

Telephone people have faced the depression cheerfully. They have accepted shorter hours in order that the work might be spread among as many as possible and with a determination to fulfill their obligation to render the best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety.

Alabama Schools Would Receive Nothing From Proposed Income Tax!

All Income Tax Receipts Would Be Required For Interest And Retirement Of $20,000,000 Bond Issue

"THE Montgomery Advertiser of Oct. 4 quotes Gov. Miller as making this declaration before a meeting of county and city school superintendents summoned to the capitol last Monday:

"If you want the schools of Alabama to continue, vote for an income tax and the bond issue. If you want the schools to close, vote against the income tax and bond issue.

"We flatly challenge this assertion.

"The income tax and bond issue would not help keep the schools of Alabama open.

"Under the constitutional amendment, receipts of Gov. Miller's proposed income tax (the first revenue from which will not be available until March 15, 1933, when all the schools will be about ready to close) are to be pledged to pay the interest and help retire the principal of the proposed $20,000,000 bond issue. These tax receipts would not be available for any other purpose until this has been done. If the $20,000,000 bond issue is ratified and the rate of interest is fixed at 6 per cent and the rate of retirement at $1,000,000 yearly, it would require a minimum of about $2,200,000 yearly for this debt service.

"The first three-quarters of the year 1932 our federal government has collected income taxes in Alabama amounting to $1,280,449.64 on incomes earned in Alabama during 1931. Fourth quarter payments for 1932 are not due until Dec. 15. If these fourth quarter payments are the same as the third quarter, then the total income tax paid in Alabama this year would be $1,593,326.90.

"This amount, it must be remembered, is for tax on income earned during the year 1931. There can be no question that total income tax receipts in 1933 paid on incomes for 1932 will be much less.

"If Alabama should ratify an income tax with a statute fixing the rate as high as the federal government tax for 1931, which is inconceivable, then the state's income tax receipts in 1933 would still be far less than $1,593,326.90 because of reduced earnings this year as compared to last year.

"With $2,200,000 pledged to meet bond interest and retirement and not more than, and certainly much less than, $1,600,000 produced by the proposed income tax, whence will come the means to keep our schools open?

How will any teacher receive a dollar's salary in the present school term from a tax not payable until six months hence, which tax is already pledged to another purpose?"

Paid Political Adv. by Committee Against Miller Unlimited Income Tax Amendment, Harwell G. Davis, Chairman, Gadsden, Ala.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Democratic Presidential Nominee

The early life of Franklin Delano Roosevelt was ideal in its wholesome Americanism, in its opportunities to "learn by doing" and in the tern teaching of personal devotion to duty. Even those who know him best often wonder that one man can so perfectly understand the viewpoint of the dirt farmer and the city laborer, the man in the street and the one in high places—and can so quietly, impartially, firmly, uphold the rights of each and achieve a fair deal for all.

The clue lies in the background and training which fitted the boy exceptionally well for the responsibilities of the man. He was the only child of James Roosevelt, descendant of early Dutch settlers, and Sara Delano Roosevelt, of equally fine Colonial ancestry, and was born January 30, 1882, in a fine old home overlooking the Hudson River, surrounded by trees and looking across a field where the hay had been cut for over a hundred years. His godfather was Elliott Roosevelt, only brother of Theodore, who was at that time just beginning his political career.

The Boy "Learns by Doing"

As a boy, young Franklin roamed the woods, read in the well-stocked library, rode horseback and took a child's eager interest in all that pertained to the management of a large and prosperous farm. He thus laid the foundation of a self-reliance and of a fine, sturdy physique which was to carry him later thru the tension of war days and political campaigns, through serious disease to the successful fulfilling of the exacting duties of the Governorship of a great state. At the age of fourteen, he sailed his own 21-foot boat across the Bay of Fundy and learned navigation by experience as well as theory. He traveled abroad, cycling from country to country.

Breaking Athletic Records

At school, he broke athletic records, kept up his classwork without difficulty but without enthusiasm, and was prevented from running away to enlist in the Navy during the Spanish-American War only by coming down with measles the very day he planned to smuggle himself off the grounds in the "pieman's" traveling wagon. In 1900, he entered Harvard, meaning to study law thereafter. His active brain enabled him to complete the four-year course in three, at the same time keeping up with campus activities of all sorts. Early taught by his illustrious cousin Theodore that good citizenship demands both an interest in politics and an active share in its burdens, he used his position as editor of the college paper to preach this doctrine. He exposed the famous "fire escape" scandals and bucked his first "machine" by denouncing the control of class elections by select clubs.

Meanwhile, young Franklin Roosevelt did not neglect more personal interests, and soon after graduation he married Miss Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, [illegible] distant cousin and the favorite niece of the President. Theodore Roosevelt gave the bride away, dashing from a St. Patrick's day parade in New York to the ceremony. With typical Roosevelt enthusiasm, the young wife threw herself whole-heartedly into her husband's interests, and when after a brief period of law practice he was urged to run for state senator from his home community of Hyde Park, long ruled by Republican basses, her influence was thrown on the side of his public duty.

Even in this first campaign, Franklin D. Roosevelt broke traditions. He campaigned from an automobile, then a detested "contraption" hated by farmers—and yet was elected over his complacent opponent by a strong rural vote. Ignoring the common legislative practice of living at home and visiting the capital only on certain days, the Roosevelts, with their three small children, moved to Albany, installing themselves in a comfortable house which was to become famous as headquarters of a little group of Democratic insurgents.

A Young Senator Stands Firm

Few of the old-line politicians paid any attention to the election of the green young senator from Dutchess County, but Big Tim Sullivan of New York City fame had been seized with prophetic powers when he read the names of newly elected legislators. His exclamation, "If we've caught a Roosevelt, we'd better take him down and drop him off the dock!" foretold trouble which was only a few months coming. Then the smooth "machine" election of a United States Senator was rudely arrested. William H. Sheehan's confident progress to Washington was threatened and then blocked by an absurdly small group, held together by the courage and high spirits of young Franklin D. Roosevelt. To the dismay of seasoned politicians, including the famous Charlie Murphy of Tammany Hall, Sheehan was defeated. At twenty-nine Roosevelt had won his spurs as an aggressive liberal leader, with a definite program and the ability to carry it thru against experienced, organized opposition. And when, soon after, he publicly refused an appropriation which he said his home district did not need, his reputation was sealed—to old-time politicians at least—as a very dangerous man. However, his constituents expressed their approval of his qualities by their strong affirmative vote for his re-election.

Meanwhile in Jersey another progressive Democrat was fighting for truly representative government. Roosevelt met Woodrow Wilson—he went to the convention of 1912 a Wilson man. Wilson was elected, and Roosevelt, then a member of a senatorial committee to investigate vice conditions in New York City, was offered the assistant secretaryship of the Navy. Six weeks after his 31st birthday he took the oath of office, and from 1913 on he had under his immediate direction the civilian personnel, the navy yards and docks, and the purchasing of supplies. He inaugurated every sort of reform, from forcing the "middies" to learn to swim to breaking the organized system by which steel and other manufacturers sold materials to the Navy—at their own price. He turned the navy yards from white elephants into busy manufacturing plants within a few years, saving the country many million dollars. And when war broke out, it was found that the Navy had collected data on more than 18,000 industrial plants, had contracts for a year's supplies, and had actually placed orders for guns, ammunition and other equipment.

Helping To Win The War

It was Roosevelt who suggested the first government war labor board, who commandeered materials from private concerns, and who fought constantly to eliminate dead wood and to adopt such imaginative and effective war measures as the North Sea barrage—made possible by an invention he sponsored—and the building of American submarine chasers. He appealed to the uniformed force by his lack of official aloofness and for the spirit shown by such acts as his prompt descent in a submarine immediately after one had sunk on the Pacific Coast with all hands on board. In the Department, his harmonious relations with the laboring men under him were based on equally solid ground.

At a time when there was frequent and inevitable friction between employers and labor, Roosevelt had direct charge of 125,000 men, workers on Navy propects, and by virtue of his honest desire to give every man a square deal and his ability to grasp all sides of a question, he came triumphantly through a time when such relations were often seriously strained. He never expected to have labor trouble and he never had labor trouble—nor did the navy workmen have employer trouble. Between the two existed a mutual liking and respect that was more than skin-deep.

Under Fire in the War Zone

During these busy years, Franklin Roosevelt had refused to run for Governor of New York State and, again refusing the nomination in 1918, had suggested Alfred E. Smith, whom he regarded as having "not only an unsurpassed knowledge of the administration of state affairs, but a single minded purpose to carry on these affairs for the liberal and progressive good of the State as a whole." Roosevelt himself went abroad, expecting to resign and enlist, and started a study of the conduct of the war which was said to be more thorough than that of any visiting American authority.

Fitted for the Presidency

He was attacked by what the layman calls infantile paralysis ("poliomyelitis" to the physician), a disease which is attended by muscular atrophy. It almost killed him and apparently removed him while still a young man from the field of public endeavor.

Today, however, he is altogether fitted for the presidency. This is shown not only by the testimony of the most eminent physicians but by his actual record. In 1931 a committee of specialists selected by the Director of the New York Academy of Medicine and composed of Dr. Samuel W. Lambert (physician), Dr. Russell A. Hibbs (orthopedist), and Dr. Foster Kennedy (Neurologist), conducted a thorough examination and afterwards reported:

"We have today examined Franklin D. Roosevelt. We find that his organs and functions are sound in all respects. There is no anemia. The chest is exceptionally well developed, and the spinal column is absolutely normal; all its segments are in perfect alignment and free from disease. He has neither pain nor ache at anytime. Ten years ago Governor Roosevelt suffered an attack of infantile paralysis, the entire effect of which was expended on the muscles of his lower extremities. There has been progressive recovery of power in the legs since that date; this restoration continues and will continue."

In addition, over a half a million dollars worth of life insurance has been written on the Governor's life by a group of the largest insurance companies of the country at the lowest rates. Dr. E. W. Beckwith, medical director of one of the great companies, examined the Governor after the terrific strain of a state convention. "It has rarely been by privilege . . . to see such a splendid physical specimen as yourself," the Doctor reported, later stating that the examination "disclosed conditions comparable to a man of 30, and a little better than gilt-edged for a man of 48." The beneficiary of the insurance policies is the Warm Springs Foundation,—devoted to the study and treatment of infantile paralysis which affects large numbers of people in the United States every year.

A GRIM RECORD

Death came peacefully in sleep some time ago to William C. Patterson, "the world's oldest hangman and first electrocutioner," at his home in Hornell, N. Y., at the age of 84

Mr. Patterson was hangman at Auburn prison, New York, for years before the electric chair was substituted for the rope, and during his time as executioner had put 54 convicted criminals to death.

These included Kemmler, the wife slayer, the first man to meet death in the electric chair; Mary Farmer, first woman to be so executed; Leon Czologosz, assassin of President McKinley, and many others whose crimes attracted world-wide attention.

Shortly before his death, when asked whether he believed he had ever executed an innocent person, Mr. Patterson said: "It is a good rule of life to mind your own business. I was not employed at Auburn as a judge."

His was a grim record, but he seems to have taken his job philosophically, and from the ripe age he attained it appears that if he was ever haunted by memories of his victims his days were not materially shortened thereby

Liberty Hill Church Announcements

There will be a cemetery cleaning at this place next Thursday, October 20th. All who are interested, please come as early as possible in the morning so that we can finish by noon.

Due to the fact that our pastor has accepted another call our regular preaching day has been changed from the second Sunday in each month, and the Saturday before, to the first Sunday and the Saturday before.

Of especial interest to our church members will be the outcome of the business meeting held at our church last Sunday. Rev. J. S. Holland, who has been our able pastor for the past five years, had handed in his resignation, due to receiving other calls to preach. But at this meeting, by an almost unanimous vote it was decided to not accept Bro. Holland's resignation, and he will be our pastor for the coming year. Bro. Holland has served us faithfully and well during the past and it is with a real and sincere feeling of gratification to the membership to know that he is to be with us another year.

Let us not forget the change in preaching days as above mentioned, and let us all be present at every service.

Governor Roosevelt Says:

"Let us have the courage to stop borrowing to meet continuing deficits. Stop the deficits. Let us have equal courage to reverse the policy of the Republican leaders and insist on a sound currency."

"The only hope for improving present conditions, restoring employment, affording permanent relief to the people and bringing the nation back to its former proud position of domestic happiness and of financial, industrial, agricultural and commercial leadership in the world lies in a drastic change in economic and governmental policies."

* * *

"There will be many in this nation during the coming months who will implore you not to swap horses crossing a stream; there will be others who will laughingly tell you that the appeal should have been worded 'do not swap toboggans while you are sliding down hill.' But it seems to me that the more truthful, the more accurate plea to the people of the nation should be this: 'If the old car in spite of frequent emergency repairs has been bumping along downhill on only two cylinders for three long years, it is time to get another car that will uphill on all four.'"

* * *

"That a great fear has swept the country few can doubt. Normal times lull us into complacency, we become lazy and contented. Then with the coming of economic stress we feel the disturbing hand of fear. This fear spreads to the entire country and with more or less unity we turn to our common government at Washington."

How Cardui Helps Women

"Mal-nutrition" means that your body is not getting enough to keep it up, so that what it has to do is not done well. You may not be eating enough to keep up the work of the body, or there may be something wrong that keeps you from getting full value from the food you eat.

Because of mal-nutrition, some women have aches and pains every month. Such pains should not be neglected.

Take Cardui to give you a better appetite, to give you more strength from the food you eat — to build up and increase your feeling of well-being. Aches and pains go away as you build up with the help of Cardui.

A Fair Question
A Fair Answer

JUST recently we received a letter from one of our good customers which asked this question:

"Food, clothing, rent have all gone down these past few years. Why shouldn't rates for electricity in Alabama come down too?"

This is a fair question. It calls for a fair answer. The answer is: "THEY HAVE."

To give an exact answer to the customer who asked this question we looked up his bills for the first six months of 1932. Then we figured what he would have actually paid during these same six months for same amount of electricity under rates which prevailed in former years. And this was the record:

FOR HOUSEHOLD ELECTRICITY

What He Paid First Six Months of 1932	Same Bill at Rates in 1922	Same Bill at Rates in 1917	Same Bill at Rates in 1916	Same Bill at Rates in 1915
$31.77	$54.29	$63.81	$76.58	$89.34

FOR ELECTRICITY USED IN HIS BUSINESS

What He Paid First Six Months of 1932	Same Bill at Rates in 1922	Same Bill at Rates in 1917	Same Bill at Rates in 1916	Same Bill at Rates in 1915
$39.72	$40.91	$46.95	$56.60	$66.01

The case of this customer is fairly typical of that of other customers in towns throughout the state. Electricity is today's biggest bargain—especially in Alabama—where household rates are about 16% BELOW the national average.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLE JAMES DEE HAYES

James Dee Hayes, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hayes, of near Thorsby, after seven days of intense suffering from diptheria was released from pain and quietly fell asleep at 1:10 p.m. Saturday, October 8, 1932, leaving to mourn his departure the heartbroken parents and two little sisters, Dorothy Nell, six, and Betty Faye, two, besides other relatives and a host of friends who had learned to love his gentle disposition and winning ways.

All that human ministry could do having failed to give permanent relief, we could but bow in submisison to the Father above and say, "Thy will be done."

Our little boy has been with us since Jan. 5, 1929, and with Job we can say, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

He was laid to rest at Liberty Hill Sunday morning. Owing to the disease funeral services were held in the cemetery. Words of comfort were spoken by Rev. A. L. oshee, which strengthened in the hearts of the loved ones the hope of meeting their darling at the first resurrection. Little James' guardian angel which protected him in life and watches over the precious little mound in death, will then hasten to bear him clad in immortality to the arms of his now bereaved parents. What a glorious meeting that will be.

As we left the grave banked with floral tributes of carnations and ferns which James loved so dearly, by faith we look forward to the new earth and to see him roaming the fields or mountains with little wings plucking the never-fading flowers.

In conclusion we wish to thank the friends, doctors and nurses who were ever responsive to our needs and pray God's richest blessings on each and every one of them.

—Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hays & Family.

leisure moments can be spent in a most profitable and delightful manner.

All candidates who have not as yet started a campaign for subscriptions are urged to get going at once. The friends of the candidates are looking over the list to see whom they will support with their subscriptions and the only means of knowing the earnest workers from the rest is from the votes published and the number of clubs turned in.

If you are entered in the big campaign and really want one of the splendid prizes, get busy now and send one or more subscriptions to the office so that when the next list is published you will be easily distinguished as one of the real workers.

Those who enter the campaign at once have the best chance to win. The campaign is just getting under way and a wonderful opportunity is calling you to get a NEW AUTOMOBILE absolutely FREE. On another page in this issue is a Nomination blank, which when filled out and sent in will entitle the candidate to 5,000 votes. The first subscription coupon will also be found there and is good for 25,000 more votes when sent in as directed.

Democrats Are Pushing Onward To Victory

eign countries, crippling our country's business to such an extent that our products are almost worthless.

Democrats Urged To Stick

Considerable emphasis was placed on the importance of Democrats of this county falling in line and starting work immediately, in view of the fast approaching date of the election. Democrats who have the interest of their party at heart, should begin now to advising those persons who are unfamiliar with the unfair workings of the present Republican national administration, and their greedy actions in behalf of the "Bigger man and concern."

Reports Are Favorable

At the meeting last Friday, several reports were given from different sections of the county, and all were very favorable, and especially in regard to Gov. Roosevelt for president, and all showed that the voters generally are interested in, and considering the local Democratic candidates. It was also brought out by one that while Republicans in Chilton county who are going to vote for Hoover again this year, are casting a vote that will amount to nothing, due to the fact that the State of Alabama always goes Democratic in all elections.

Republican Tricks

One speaker boldly stated that it is well known now that in order to win, Republicans are prone to pull many political tricks on the people, while the people are ignorant of the trick that has been pulled on them, believing at the time that the Republicans are just naturally the party to have the office. It was also brought out that at this time, and in the interest of the entire country, the people should consider above all things, the right man for the jobb, regardless of whether he is a good politician or not, and that it is the 'big politician' who has placed the country in its deplorable condition.

Pussyfooting Democrats

Another Democrat at the meeting Friday morning stated that he wanted to warn the people of the county against some so-called or "pussy-footing" Democrats in the county. He stated that it was these "weak-kneed, pussyfooting Democrats" who are always betraying the Democratic party in Chilton county, and that he really didn't believe that Chilton county is normally a Republican party, and that the people have been "bumdoozled" by a bunch of greedy politicians. He also stated that those pussyfooting Democrats should declare themselves on one side of the fence or the other side, as their actions are being generally talked over the county.

Cattle Show Here Is Declare Fine Success

awarded gold, silver and bronze medals to the boys making the three highest individual scores. The gold medal went to Willie Harris of Chambers County, the silver medal to Clyde Popwell of Chilton and the bronze to James Dennis of Chilton. James Dennis won the gold medal in the showmanship contest at the show in Anniston last year. The showmanship contest was not held this year.

County Agent Stapp reports that the Jersey cattle show held at Clanton the 6, 7 and 8 of October was a success. Sixty-two head of purebred Jersey cattle were in the show. The Commissioners Court appropriated $228.00 as premium money and it was disbursed as follows:

Chambers County boys	$78.00
Chilton County boys	72.00
Talladega County boys	43.00
Elmore County boys	35.00

The above shows that the Chilton County boys have some good Jersey cattle. Chambers County boys have several times as many purebred Jerseys as do the boys of Chilton County, because they have been working on their Jersey cattle improvement longer than have the boys of Chilton.

The Chilton County bulls were very noticeable in the show. The little bull owned by Daniel Owens, son of J. R. Owens, was awarded ribbon as Junior Champion bull, and the club bull being kept by Mr. Stapp at George McCain's barn in Clanton was awarded the ribbon as Grand Champion bull of the show.

The class of bulls two years old and over was composed of the club bull that was awarded Grand Championship, the bull owned by Ralph Mims, the bull owned by C. M. Wilson and the old bull owned by Mr. Stapp. The club bull is out of a cow that was imported from the Island of Jersey. His grand sire, Exenia Sultan, sold six years ago for $35,000. The bull owned by Ralph Mims is also out of an imported cow and is the great grandson of Exenia Sultan. The bull in this class and owned by C. W. Wilson is out of a daughter of the state champion butter producer of Alabama. His grandmother held the record of 813 pounds of butter in one year. (That is a pile of butter-) Incidentally, this bull has more calves than any other bull in the county now.

The little bull owned by Daniel Owens that won Junior Championship is out of the cow owned by J. W. Mims and was sired by the bull owned by Ralph Mims. The little bull that pushed Daniel Owen's bull for first place in the Junior class, was owned by J. P. Culp. After the show he was sold to Earle Thomas and Howard Oden of Isabella community. Another young bull owned by C. W. Wilson was sold to W. A. Adams near Mountain Creek.

There are several good, purebred Jersey bulls scattered over the county and farmers who want to improve their dairy cattle should breed their cows to one of these good bulls.

The second place for get of sire went to Ralph Mims' bull. The second place in the herd show consisting of five head from any county was awarded to the Chilton county group. First place went to Chambers, third place to Talladega and fourth place to Elmore.

Another Big Picture Coming Here Soon

Regis Toomey was once a football player. He dons the uniform again as a captain of one of the grid teams whose play figures in the plot of "Touchdown" at the Wadesonian Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, October 19 and 20.

Toomey, an alumnus of the University of Pittsburgh, played football only in his freshman year, injuries sustained while a member of the first-year squad prohibiting his later participation in the gridiron sport. He starred in track, however, throughout his four years at Pitt, and was student football manager.

Richard Arlen, who heads the cast of "Touchdown!" was a first string quarterback at St. Thomas, and Charles Starrett, another of the principals, a Dartmouth graduate, played half on the "Big Green" team during 1924 and 1925.

Further assuring an authentic background for "Touchdown!" is the presence on the picture's technical staff of "Racehorse" Russ Saunders, University of Southern California quarterback, and named signal caller on the first All-American team in 1929. It was Saunders who raced ninety-five yards to a touchdown after the kick-off against Notre Dame when the "Trojans" met the "Fighting Irish" at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, in 1929.

Comedy is assured for "Touch down" through the presence in one of the chief roles of Jack Oakie.

Clanton Laundry Has Smallest Auto Here

Another outstanding distinction in this section falls to the ever progressive Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Co. They now have the smallest automobile, or truck in Chilton county.

The Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Co., recently added to its fleet of delivery trucks, one of the popular little Austin automobiles, said to be the smallest car on the American market. It is a regular little delivery truck, but so small that a young boy or girl can easily see over the top of it, yet has plenty of room.

As soon as it arrived in Clanton, it began to attract attention at all points.

H. S. SHAW HAD INTERESTING EXHIBIT, JERSEY CATTLE SHOW

Mr. Stapp has been calling farmers' attention to beef cattle where they are not interested in improving their dairy cattle. Mr. Stapp states that anyone who is not interested in raising dairy cattle should breed their cows to a good beef type bull and grow calves fit for beef.

This was demonstrated at the show last week by H. S. Shaw. Mr. Shaw brought in a scrub cow, weighing 540 pounds, with a six months old half-breed Hereford calf by her side that weighed 400 pounds.

Mr. Shaw has a good purebred Hereford bull that he is breeding his grade cows to and has some white face calves that will make good juicy meat. There are several good beef type bulls in the county now. Among those who own these bulls are H. S. Shaw, J. N. Dennis, Dr. C. N. Parnell, Arthur Martin and Mr. Gay.

Jemison F. F. A. Chapter News

The F. F. A. Chapter assembled last Tuesday morning, October 5th, at ten o'clock, and did not adjourn until about 12:15 o'clock. The meeting was a called affair. The purpose of the meeting was: (1) To elect new officers, (2) To appoint a committee to arrange a yearly work or "Procedure" program, (3) To set a day and the number of days which we would meet each month, (4) To get a committee to plan our entertainment.

Mr. Alton Cobb who acted as president last year, took charge of the meeting until we could elect a president for this year. Our president for this year wil be Mr. Maurice Hodgens. Immediately after Mr. Hodgens was elected the meeting was put in his charge. Other officers elected were, vice president, Mr. J. T. Cobb; secretary and treasurer, Mr. Joyce Howard; reporter, Lance Franklin.

Our next business was to appoint a committee to arrange a year's program of our work. Those on the committee are Charles Durbin, Prof. Montgomery, Mr. Frank Nelson, Mr. Abie Freeman, Mr. Maurice Hodgens and Lance Franklin.

Next on program was a day and the number of days we were to meet each month. This was settled by a decision to meet every other Tuesday, and with a called meeting at the president's wishes.

Our next business was to get an entertainment committee. This was brought about by a suggestion of Mr. Frank Nelson. His reason for this suggestion was that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Everyone was ready to take up his plan. Mr, Nelson further stated that it would make the boys more willing to invest their time and money in something that he was expecting something back from. The committeemen that were appointed are Mr. Charles Durbin, Mr. Joyce Howard and Mr. Abie Freeman. We also had a few brief discussions on this subject by Mr. Frank Nelson, Prof. Montgomery and Mr. Joyce Howard.

Mr. Maurice Hodgens and Mr. Montgomery gave us some valuable information concerning the use of our fees as a state and national organization, and the cost of the local chapter, etc.

SPEAKING AT COURTHOUSE SATURDAY

CONTESTANTS MUST WORK HARDEST FROM NOW TO END

VOTES CAN BE MOVED UPWARD NOW OR NEVER

Several New Contestants Are Working Hard Giving Added Interest

The Chilton County News big campaign is gaining headway and all candidates are working vigorously for subscriptions. Most important period of race at hand—MOST VOTES GIVEN NOW—SUBSCRIBE AT ONCE.

It's anybody's race! The bars are up—The track is clear. The Chilton County News Big $2,000.00 Auto and Prize Campaign is getting under way. The race for the big prizes headed by the New Chevrolet Coach and many other useful prizes is on in earnest. Only a few subscriptions separate the high and low contestants up to 8:00 P. M. Tuesday.

Some of those who took but little interest at the start of the race have at the repeated urge of friends, decided to stay in and make a fight for it.

Among the late starters are: Mrs. Claude Reynolds, Miss Cleo Broadhead, of Clanton. Mrs. Jack O'Brien of Mitchell Dam. Miss Deline Lawrence of Jemison. Miss Mable Dennis of Mt. Creek. Miss Evelyn Deramus of Billingsley and Mrs. Thomas Simms of Clanton. The above contestants have just started and are out to make the rest hustle. Miss Zella Mae Bell, R. F. D. Clanton, Miss Edna Howard, Verbena, Mrs. Marjornie Henley, Clanton, Miss Alma Schurter, Stanton, Miss Frances Brown of Maplesville, Miss Annie Cult, Rt. 2, Maplesville, are a few contestants who at this writing say they are going to hustle and are going to give the other contestants a real race. Let's see what they do.

Other contestants whose recent returns t this office more than indicate that they are out to win the Grand Prize are, Mrs. Evelyn W. Christ, of Thorsby, Miss Leila Belle Smith, of Pletcher, Miss Gertie Fiquette, Clanton.

QUESTION ON SUNDAY MOVIES MAY COME UP

Theatre Here Desires to Have Shows on Sunday If It Is Approved

Believing that the people of Clanton would endorse and attend the theatre on Sundays in Clanton, the Wadesonian Theatre here is planning to put the question before the people in the very near future, according to a statement to the News from the management of the theatre this week.

The manager of the theatre stated that if permitted to show on Sunday afternoons and nights, they would arrange their schedule of showing so that it would conflict in no way with any church services in Clanton. They plan to show in the afternoon early, and the night show will be opened after church services.

The theatre also stated that they would cooperate in any way possible with the churches, run notices urging the people to attend church first, etc. Just how the theatre will go about to determine the wishes of the people, was not stated, but it is believed that an election may be called.

This question has not been brought up in Clanton, and the theatre stated that due to so many people attending shows in the larger cities, from this county, they believed it would be beneficial to the town to have shows here.

Standing of contestants up to 8:00 P. M. Tuesday. There are some new names this week and they are getting off to a flying start. All right new contestants let's go.

CAMP'GN FUNDS ARE NEEDED TO PUSH VICTORY

National Democratic Headquarters Sends Appeal To Individual

The News received a telegram from James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National Campaign Committee, urging the Democrats of Chilton county to contribute as generously as possible toward the campaign funds.

The telegram stated that national Democratic headquarters are urgently in need of immediate funds to safeguard present Roosevelt advantage against the desperate efforts of his opponents in the presidential campaign.

A Victory Fund has been established by the Democrats throughout the nation, and response has been good. Democrats of Chilton county are asked and urged by the local Democratic Executive Committee, to give whatever they can toward aiding the victory fund.

Those wishing to contribute to this campaign, can send or bring their checks or cash to the office of the Chilton County News where they will be given an official receipt as a shareholder or give their contribution to Dr. Napoleon Johnson, Clanton, Ala.

As stated, an official receipt will be given, and if the contribution is one dollar or more, the giver will receive an attractive medallion, showing he or she is a Shareholder in the victory. The name and address of the giver will be forwarded immediately to National Headquarters for record.

Chilton Tigers Down Prattville Last Friday

The fighting Tigers of Chilton County High School defeated the speedy eleven of Prattville on the Prattville High School field last Friday 13 to 6. The game was a thriller from beginning to end, Chilton scoring in the first quarter and Prattville in the second quarter, leaving the score 6-6 at half. But Chilton came back determined to turn their feathers. By line plunges and end runs they were able to cross the white line to make the score 13-6.

There seemed to be no individual stars for Chilton as the whole team played heads up ball. Jones was the star for Prattville until removed from the game on injuries. Chilton plays Bibb County Friday at Centerville.

EDITORIAL

WHY MANY REPUBLICANS WILL VOTE DEMOCRATIC THIS YEAR

A recent speech by A. L. Kennan, long active in Republican politics of Audrian county, Missouri, whose father is a well-known lawyer of Laddonia, seems to answer the timely query. "What are the reasons of the great body of Republicans who are reported from all sections of the country as turning to the Democratic party in this campaign for changing their allegiance?" Mr. Kennan's reasons seem to be such a composite of the views of average intelligent Republicans who in mass numbers have decided to cast their votes against the Hoover Administration and the present leadership of their party in many State and county contests as to deserve more than local circulation.

Speaking at Laddonia, as published in part by the Missouri Democrat, Mr. Kennan said:

"We who have been Republicans will have to admit that we have been wrong.

"We cannot ignore the fact that after three Republican administrations this country is facing ruin. And this ruin was not caused by flood or fire or acts of God, but by misgovernment.

"If anyone had told me 20 years ago that I would ever speak at a Democratic meeting I would have thought he was crazy. But life plays strange pranks, and time brings about many necessary changes. And we would have to disregard the evidence of our own eyes to deny that changes in Government are very necessary at this time.

"When grain is hardly worth hauling to market and people are starving for bread, when cotton and wool are scarcely worth gathering and people are ragged, when millions walk the streets and highways of the land seeking work not to be had, something is wrong.

"There are many causes of these conditions which I haven't time to analyze, but every cause is the result of misgovernment. And so I say to you tonight, friends, that if we are to expect any relief from these intolerable conditions, we must look elsewhere than to the present administration. It is folly to expect that the vandal who wrecked your house will rebuild it, or he that stole your horse will restore it.

"At the Republican National convention, composed principally of Federal office holders, the convention endorsed every act of Herbert Hoover, renominated him and Charles Curtis, placed his Cabinet officers in charge of his campaign and in effect said to you and me—There it is; we have no apology to make. Take us just as we are, just as we have been and we'll give you the same treatment you have been getting the past four years.

"And so I ask you, folks, who like myself are trying to make a living from your farms, your small business enterprises, your professions, your labor; is this what you want?

"If it is, go ahead and vote the Republican ticket, just because you always have before, and in doing so you will endorse and approve what you have been getting and ask for more.

"But if you are sick and tired of special privilege, weary and disgusted with Government for the benefit of the few at the expense of the many, use this opportunity to come on into the Democratic primary and exercise your right of choice in the selection of the men who are to conduct your State and county government.

"And after the primary, stay right in there and let's try that new deal that Governor Roosevelt has promised us.

"Should any man ridicule you for leaving the Republican party, tell him he is mistaken, that the Republican party left you and there is no other place for a rational man to go."

ABOUT OUR CIRCULATION CAMPAIGN

The News is conducting a big circulation campaign, which opened recently. The campaign is confined to Chilton and adjoining counties. We have Mr. S. J. Feaster here as manager of the campaign, and he comes highly recommended, and praised by newspaper publishers for whom he has worked.

There are no strings attached to this campaign. It is simply a matter of who receives the largest number of votes by selling subscriptions to this newspaper, and so on.

Each contestant will be rewarded for his or her efforts.

During past years the News has strived to give to the people of this section a clean, upright and worthwhile newspaper. We believe we have done this, and will continue to do so. However, at the same time we realize there are many who should be receiving the News, but are not. Through this circulation campaign, it is hoped everyone in this section will be called on for a subscription. We assure all contestants and others interested that this campaign will be conducted open and on a high plane. There are no strings nor catches to it, and the News appreciates the fine spirit shown by everyone during the first part of the campaign and hopes this will continue.

Firemen Entertain City Officials At The Dixie

A very brilliant affair took place last Monday night when the Volunteer Firemen of Clanton entertained, honoring the city officials of Clanton at a supper, at The Dixie Cafe, one of Clanton's most popular eating places.

Long tables, arranged banquet style, were arrayed with flowers and food of many varieties, deliciously prepared by the experienced cooks of The Dixie Cafe, and efficiently served by the waitresses there, in regular Dixie Cafe style. A good time was had by all present.

A painful accident happened at the Grammar School Friday at the recess hour when Edwin Jackson had his left arm broken in a ball game. He was rushed to the Central Alabama hospital where X-ray examination was made and the bones set. He was then carried to his sister's home, Mrs. R. J. Alexander, on 10th street. He was sufficiently recovered for him to resume his studies Monday.

Midnight Showing Of "Bring 'Em Back Alive"

The Wadesonian Theatre announces that on Saturday night of this week, they will have a midnight show, beginning at eleven-thirty o'clock. The picture scheduled for this night is the famous Frank Buck's picture "Bring 'Em Back Alive," showing the capture of many wild animals in the jungle.

The regular show will go as usual at seven-thirty o'clock. The midnight show is being had so that those who work late on Saturday night may see this great picture.

FRUIT SUPPER AT HOME OF HENRY SCOTT, ROUTE 7

There will be a fruit supper at the home of Mr. Henry Scott near Pleasant Grove, M. P. Church Saturday night, October 22nd. The proceeds will go on the church piano fund. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. There will be a cake for the prettiest girl, a guess cake, and a clown who will eat fire. Lots of fun.

EXPRESS THANKS FOR BOOKS GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Some of the pupils in Miss Morris's room would like to express their appreciation for the books contributed. The Primer classes now have all their text books.

NOTICE

During the past few days of the News Big Circulation Campaign, contestants have been bothered about persons stating they can secure the News for only one dollar per year.

The price of the subscription to the News is $1.50 per year, seventy-five cents for six months, and this rate will not change after the campaign is over. The News has on no special offer to subscribers, but is expending a large sum of money in giving the valuable prizes to the workers in the contest which is now going on.

FAVOR GOODE BILL AGAINST OTHER BILLS

Citizens Discuss Bills At A Meeting Held Here On Last Monday

A meeting of citizens of Chilton county was held at the courthouse in Clanton last Monday for the purpose of discussing constructive legislation with the representative and Senator from this county.

Approximately 300 people attended the meeting, and the bill pending in the Legislature known as the Administration Bill and the Goode Bill were freely discussed.

The meeting was wholeheartedly in favor of the passing of the Goode Bill, giving it a wide preference over the Administration Bill, both devised to do something toward balancing the state's budget and aiding the school situation. Those present stated they wished to convey to their representative and Senator their desire for the support in every way of the Goode Bill in the Legislature.

The meeting was presided over by C. E. Stapp, as chairman, and C. Fenn Jones, who took the chair while Mr. Stapp rose to discuss the bills. A motion was made that the meeting be opposed to any increase in taxes. This motion was carried.

Another Arrest Made In Robbery Connection

Reports given the News this week stated that another arrest in connection with recent robberies in and near Clanton had been made. Constable R. F. Popwell and City Officer J. R. Hardy arrested a negro, J. C. Goodson, alias J. C. Gibson, alias John Curry, last Sunday in connection with the robbery of the store of A. J. Culp, and the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Co.

It was stated that the negro confessed to having a part in the robberies with another negro Napoleon Stone who was arrested sometime ago. Both negroes will be tried in Justice of The Peace Court this morning, before T. W. Bryan.

P. D. Wilson of the Wilson hotel, has a six and a half pound sweet potato on exhibit, saying that his potato crop was not so good this year, as the one on display was one of the smaller ones produced.

ENLIGHTENMENT ON POLITICAL CONDITIONS

Speaking To Begin Promptly At Two-Thirty O'clock; Public Invited

In order that the people of Chilton county may have the opportunity to hear from a well known man about the conditions now facing them in this country, there has been a speaking scheduled to take place at the courthouse in Clanton on Saturday afternoon of this week, October 22, at two-thirty o'clock.

The speaker who has been secured for this important engagement with the people of this county comes from the highest rank and file in political circles of the state, and will be in a position to tell those who hear him, many things of importance. He will come not only to impress on the people the increasing danger of the present financial condition of the country, but will also give advice as to the solution of these problems.

The Democratic Party of Chilton county has arranged to have this speaker to come to Clanton next Saturday. It is the desire of the Democratic Party to enlighten the people and the entire county population is invited and urged to hear this man next Saturday afternoon. Remember the time, two-thirty o'clock. For men, women and children. The announcement as who the speaker will be, is to be made later in the week, but by all means make your plans to be present, and bring your family.

FOURTH QUARTERLY CONFERENCE OF M. P. CHURCH MEETS

The fourth quarterly conference of Clanton Circuit, Methodist Protestant Church, will convene at Walnut Creek on Saturday, October 22, 1932. Rev. C. W. Walton, president of the Alabama Conference, is expected to be there to occupy the pulpit at eleven o'clock. The conference will be held immediately after lunch. All officials of the churches are requested to be present.

METHODISTS CONCLUDE A FINE REVIVAL

Local Pastor Did Preaching With W. O. Philips Directing Singing

What is said to have been one of the greatest revival meetings held at the Clanton Methodist church in years, came to a close last Sunday night. The series of services began Sunday morning October 10th. And while there were few additions to the church membership a great spiritual awakening was more and more manifest as the forceful messages were driven home twice a day by Dr. D. W. Haskew. From the beginning there was a constant increase in attendance until the climax on Friday night when the largest audience seen in some time was present to hear Dr. Haskew. All denominations and the citizenship in general of Clanton and surrounding territory cooperated splendidly to make this meeting a success.

Prior to the meeting, and due to financial conditions, it was decided not to bring an outside man here to do the preaching, but to use the local pastor. As the meeting swept on, with larger and larger audiences, it was plainly evident that aside from the financial viewpoint it had been a wise decision to use home talent. With much care Dr.

Seven Steps and a Thousand Miles

IT'S a long trip from the cream can on the farm to the butter on the consumer's table.

Always it's seven steps. Often it's more than a thousand miles. Seldom can long distances be avoided between the producer and the consumer.

These are the steps:

1. Financing — Producers are paid cash; company funds must be tied up until the butter is sold and collections made.
2. Assembly and Grading — This is done in about 100 Swift & Company plants.
3. Manufacture — There must be complete sanitation, manufacturing skill, modern machinery and efficient methods.
4. Transportation — A hundred miles or a thousand, the finished product rides the rails to good demand. The freight must be paid by Swift.
5. Refrigerating — Perishable foodstuffs, like butter and dressed poultry and eggs, must be kept constantly under refrigeration.
6. Assumption of Risk — Swift & Company does not know what it will receive next week for butter made today; that butter must be sold while still fresh at a price consumers — through their retailers — can and will pay.
7. Selling — Swift & Company salesmen, selling meats and produce at the same time, cut the costs of selling both.

Most of the Swift produce plants handle poultry and eggs as well as butterfat. With poultry all seven steps must be taken too. Only six are needed with eggs; the hens do all the manufacturing.

The Swift & Company national market was made by digging up demand wherever it exists in the United States, by advertising brands of high quality, Swift's Meats, Swift's Premium Milk Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl, Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs, Cheese and many other products.

To operate a national market means much more than mere buying today and selling tomorrow. It means performance of intricate services in the most economical way. Swift & Company in the past year has cut every expense over which it had control. Its service charges are low and profits are small—over a period of years they have averaged less than half a cent a pound of all products sold.

A Statement From S. J. M. Webb

[illegible]

As R. J. Jackson, D. S. Robinson and Thomas Littlefield failed to give the people through your paper the whole truth of my statement to them when they came to [illegible] education by the people, I desire to give my statement to them in full through your paper, and on the front page of same, please.

My statement began in this w[illegible] you all straight upright and [illegible] men? They answered "yes". [illegible] I stated to them that I had no authority what-ever to grant their request for an election of the County Superintendent of education. I told them I had no more authority in the matter than either of them or any other legal voter in the county. They insisted but I told them that it seemed to me that they were asking the board to make a new law as our representative failed to get this law made while at Montgomery. Again they insisted and I stated to them that I was not a member of a law making body and was not connected in any way with a law making body and referred them to the Alabama School Code, article 7; Sec. 138 on page 58. I thought surely this would convince them that I had no right to grant the request they were making of me. They were persistent and I suggested that they petition the board for the man they wanted as Superintendent of education and I would give it careful consideration. Mr. Littlefield said, "That is all right boys as that is about the same thing." They still insisted and I told them I was a law-abiding man in the strictest sense and favored the enactment of a law in the proper way to elect all the office holders, who are paid from our tax money, by popular vote. Then I will go with you all the way and when this is done I favor electing by popular vote, a clerk of the commissioner's court, County Attorney and Road supervisors. This will be treating all alike and showing special favors to none. I also stated that I believed in a majority rule and no minority rule. I further stated that I would write an article to the paper tell-[illegible] tion as I consider that my business and not the business of any committee. I am always glad to help on any question in which the interest of our boys and girls are at stake and not the interest of some d[illegible]ted and disgruntled politicians. This is the whole truth of the conversation which took place near my home between the gentlemen named above and myself as nearly verbatim as I can relate it.

When I assumed office I took the same oath of office that the commissioners of the County take. This oath requires us to carry out the laws of our State to the best of our ability. The commissioners regard this duty so high that they employ a County attorney at and for the sum of $50.00 per month, and his salary is paid out of our tax money. This Attorney's duty is to keep the Commissioners Court advised as to their legal duties. The Educational Board does not spend the Educational funds to pay an attorney to advise but we do know that the law requires us to appoint a County Superintendent of Education and I feel that every person should be a law abiding citizen.

Very sincerely,

S. J. M. WEBB.

The first regular meeting of the Marbury Chapter of Future Farmers of America was held Monday afternoon, October 3, 1932, at Marbury High School. Mr. B. L. Martin presided until a president was elected.

The following officers were elected: Mack Dennis, president; Louis McCullers, vice president; Charles Meroney, secretary and treasurer; Arnold Stewart, reporter; and B. L. Martin, advisor.

It was decided that the second and four Monday of each month should be the regular meeting day. A committee was appointed by the President to plan a yearly program of work since its organization.

Trees Are Needed To Protect Land

Auburn, Ala.—The soil, like farm tools, needs protection during the winter. Nature provided this protection by placing trees upon it but man has removed many of these trees. He has also caused burning of large areas of timber land, thereby leaving the soil bare and unprotected against winter rains.

"You cannot put the soil under a shed the same as you can store your machinery but you can put a cover over it," said Lyle Brown, extension forester at Auburn. "You can place a cover crop on the land in cultivation and trees on the land not in cultivation."

Mr. Brown referred then to an experiment in Mississippi to gather facts about losses caused by rains to soil having different covers upon them. It was found that between August and the first of December 15 rainstorms to-[illegible] 12.53 [illegible] an average runoff of .38 per cent and a loss of 73 pounds of eroded material per acre from plots with native grass cover; 6.98 per cent runoff and 36 pounds eroded material lost from Bermuda grass pasture; 4.88 per cent runoff and 109 pounds eroded material lost from a 20-year-old black locust and osage orange plantation; while an abandoned field showed a runoff of 44.39 per cent and 44,153 pounds of eroded material.

An Oklahoma experiment was conducted by taking an area of land burning the leafy covering on a portion of it and leaving the other as it was. In two years 30 times as much water and 15 times as much soil were lost from the burned plot as from the unburned.

"These facts reveal conclusively," said Mr. Brown, "that land should be covered in winter either by a cover crop or by timbers, and that timber lands should not be burned over because the material on the ground serves as a cover and protects it against rains."

Quinn Warns Against Fishing Below Dams

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 15.—I. T. Quinn, State Commissioner of Game and Fisheries, has issued a warning to Alabama sportsmen against boating or fishing in the vicinity of dams or power gates following the drowning of two fishermen recently near Verbena.

"The drowning of two fishermen recently just below the dam near Verbena brings forcefully to the attention of the public the danger which exists near such structures," Commissioner Quinn said.

"Not long ago, the department received information that a fisherman who got too close to a dam saved himself by clinging to an iron chain for over an hour, the boat being destroyed. Within the past two weeks two other men very nearly lost their lives when their boat was caught in the current.

"Few persons who have not been caught in a stream, realize how strong a force water creates. Once a boat is caught close to a dam, it requires almost a miracle to save it. Danger exists also below dams, because gates may be raised at any time and the boat capsized. Swimming is practically impossible in such cases and drowning is almost certain. An even greater danger in fishing below a dam is created when a gate is closed.

"Not even the pleasure of fishing is a sufficient return for the danger which exists in fishing near dams. Sportsmen everywhere are cautioned against this practice and are urged to help keep our state free from this and other fishing accidents."

Livestock Reminders

By F. W. Burns, Auburn

Dairy bulls can be no better than the men owning them. Are you still using a scrub bull in your herd?

Calves are most easily dehorned by the use of caustic potash. Use it as soon as the horns can be felt, when the calf is three to ten days old.

Packers want choice veal calves weighing 150-175 pounds. Feed some of your surplus milk to your dairy bull calves and help supply the demand.

Oats or vetch will furnish excellent feed for ewes and lambs during February, March, and April. You must provide green feed if you expect to have January lambs ready for the market in May.

At the recent 4-H district calf club show held at Clanton, Ala., the high team in judging dairy cattle was from Chilton County. The best county herd was awarded to Chambers County.

You do not have to wait until cold weather to kill hogs if you use the new method recently developed at Auburn. Your county agent will furnish you with the necessary information.

The essential points to keep in mind in raising dairy calves are: (1) Do not overfeed. (2) Feed warm milk. (3) Feed each animal individually. (4) Feed regularly. (5) Keep pails and calf quarters clean.

STATE OF ALABAMA
A PROCLAMATION
By The
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the general election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

WHEREAS, the next general election is to be held on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, and the session at which the said amendment is proposed will have finally adjourned prior to that date, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that on Tuesday the 8th day of November, 1932, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner and form as required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:—

> "The Legislature of Alabama may, from time to time, by general or local laws, fix, regulate and alter the costs, fees, commissions, allowances or salaries, including the method and basis of their compensation, to be charged or received by tax assessors and tax collectors for assessing and collecting taxes levied for public school purposes in Mobile County; provided, however, that no cost or expense of the publication of the Governor's proclamation giving notice of such election together with the proposed amendment, shall accrue to or fall upon the State of Alabama, and the Board of School Commissioners of Mobile County is hereby empowered and authorized to incur and pay the said costs and expenses of the publication of the Governor's proclamation. All Acts of the Legislature heretofore passed and applicable, or purporting to be applicable, to Mobile County, and fixing, or purporting to fix, the compensation of tax assessors and tax collectors, for assessing and collecting special taxes for public school purposes, on a salary basis, are hereby validated and confirmed.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be affived at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery on this the 7th day of September, 1932.

B. M. MILLER,
Governor.

We did not have our singing Sunday evening on account of the bad, rainy weather. We did not have any Sunday school either, but hope we will have a good one next Sunday. We invite everybody.

An accident occurred Thursday at the school house, little Roscoe Maddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Maddox, and little Zonie Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robinson, ran together. Roscoe fell down, breaking out a tooth and bruised his face up while little Zonie knocked a hole in her forehead, and neither have been able to return to school.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hayes spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Maddox and family. Parched peanuts and candy were enjoyed in the afternoon.

Mr. Leonard Pitchford, who has been visiting his uncle in Pates Chapel returned to his home Saturday in Birmingham to go to work. Mr. Lawrence Pitchford returned to spend a few days with uncle.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Walter Maddox is improving.

Saturday, October 22nd, will be our W. M. U. meeting again, at 2:30. Everybody will be invited.

Those attending the Association at Sardis church from Pates Chapel are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Maddox and baby, and Misses Alpha Robinson and Maude Wallis.

The people of Pates Chapel are sorry to report that Miss Janie Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hubbard, was operated on last week at Clanton Hospital, but is reported doing nicely.

ANOTHER STORM FREAK FOUND BY OLIVER DUKE

A few days ago Mr. Oliver Duke of the Liberty Hill Community made a trip across the river into Coosa County to look after some timber interests. While there, at a location about 8 miles northeast of Lay Dam, and approximately 2 miles from anyone's home, he found an extra large shingle. Upon close examination it was found to have a few indentations, but otherwise in good condition. It was of a size not generally used, and it is the belief of Mr. Duke, and seem the obvious conclusion, that the tornado of last March must have picked it up as it wrecked some house in Chilton county and dropped it out of the elements far across the river in this lonely spot where Mr. Duke discovered it.

Ala. College Has Many Chilton Girls

Montevallo, Ala.—From the roll of students making their annual trek collegeward this year from Chilton county, a fine representative group has come to Alabama College.

Among Freshmen entering for the 1932-33 session are: Misses Ella Howard, Thorsby; Mildred Bernice Jefferies, Jemison; Evelyn Eloyse Jones, Chairman of Freshman Class; Mary Nell Jones, Ruth Aylene Maddox, and Sallie Mullins Mahan, all of Clanton; Margaret Nix, Maplesville; Ruth Judson Parnell, Maplesville; and Elizabeth Stanley, Clanton.

Upper class students who have returned to continue work toward their graduation are: Misses Lucie Parnell, Maplesville, member of the Sophomore Class; Mary Lou Tiffin, Clanton, a Senior; Dody Wells, Jemison, also a member of the Senior Class; and Frances Wilson of Thorsby, a member of the Sophomore Class. Miss Wilson attended Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga., last year.

The Misses Lucie and Ruth Parnell are sisters of Miss Elizabeth Parnell who has the distinction of being the first daughter of an Alabama College Alumna to graduate.

In spite of the severe economic strain Alabama College has a total enrollment for 1932-33 of practically the same in number as that for the 1931-32 session.

Republicans Need Ammunition

Republican leaders about to enter upon the most intense month of the Presidential campaign find themselves in the pathetic plight of lacking ammunition either for offense or defense.

Heretofore they have had the issue of prosperity to dangle before the eyes of the voter. Whatever degree of prosperity existed they claimed the credit for producing it. They not only promised to maintain it, but to expand it. This year they can only deny, with conflicting explanations, responsibility for the lack of prosperity, but the evidence is nearly all against them. As the late lamented Senator and diplomat Dwight Morrow said, in effect, a party that claims to have produced the sunshine must also take responsibility for the rain.

In past campaigns Republican leadership has devoted much time to creating and exploiting a psychology of fear among wage earners, at the same time promising them a "full dinner pail" as a result of Republican success. They have told the wage earners that a Democratic victory would mean the loss of their jobs or a drastic reduction in their wages. Business men have often been victims of the same form of psychology with respect to their business.

These falsehoods and devices are not available to the Republican leaders in this campaign. At last reports more than 11,000,000 wage earners were idle, and the prediction of President Green of the American Federation of Labor is that the number of unemployed this coming winter will be approximately 13,000,000. The number of business failures during the Hoover administration has been appalling, and business of all kinds has suffered more in that time than within any similar period that can be recalled offhand.

Vague and feeble promises of a business revival are made by some of these leaders, who frantically grab at any straw of improvement due to the enormous expansion of credits by acts of Congress, or to seasonal changes as evidences that their promises are in process of fulfillment. They do not realize, however, that the confidence of the public which Mr. Hoover once possessed has been largely destroyed by his failure to keep his 1928 promises and by the acts of his own administration. The people know he has done nothing to relieve the depression beyond palliative measures which have added enormously to the burden of indebtedness.

A third reliance of Republican leaders in previous campaigns has been the hope and belief that the Democratic party or candidate would commit a fatal blunder. That hope and belief in this campaign has been shattered. Whatever mistakes the party may have made have been more than offset by the patriotic cooperation it has given a groping administration to find its way out of the depression morass.

Perhaps the highest hope of Republican leaders was that the Democratic nominee for President would say something to justify their propaganda to the effect that he was an irresponsible radical, or that he would fail to meet the issues of the campaign frankly and effectively.

Governor Roosevelt's Western trip has been more like a national procession of a popular victor or a great national hero than that of a candidate for office. He has discussed the agricultural question to the evident satisfaction of the farmers; he has stated his views on the railroad problem and has been commended by railroad executives and employees; he has favored the only practical solution of the tariff there is at this time, and he has given the clearest exposition of the water power problem and the most effective means of dealing with it in the interest of the people, as judged both by popular acclaim and the approval of those most conversant with the subject.

No wonder the Republican leadership is dejected; no wonder it is disarmed both for offensive and defense; no wonder President Hoover is to appear "in person," as they say in the movies, if only, as has been suggested, "to keep Pat Hurley company in his misery."

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

And 20,000 people certainly can't be wrong. But Dr. Edgar says there were about that many fools in Birmingham last Saturday who sat in driving rain for a couple of hours or so to see a football game. I've been listening to fellows telling about the crowds in the city at a football game, and it just occurred to me that maybe I could arrange to have some of these big teams to play in Clanton sometime. They tell me that with all the thousands of hotel rooms in the cities, that when there is a big football game, there ain't a room to be found that ain't occupied by somebody, or something.

* * *

Sure would be a big thing for Clanton to have about 20,000 people in town all at the same time. And it would be a good time for some of the candidates to get out and make some speeches to them people what come here to see the football game.

* * *

There was a meeting at the courthouse Monday afternoon "to talk with our Senator and Representative about some constructive legislation." I hear that some of these Senators and Representatives have done been told what the people here want and don't want, but one gets out and says, "Come to the meeting, I want to know your desires." Pshaw, he oughta know that us poor country folks here want a reduction in al lgovernment expenses, and don't want no more taxes put on us. I heard a youngster say one time that he didn't much believe this was a free country, after all. I near about agree with him, except he just don't know the half of it.

* * *

I was walking down the road the other day, thinking about my eyes, my hands, my feet, mouth, nose and other things. The more I thought about it, the funnier it got to be. Did you ever notice how you will bat your eyelids when you change your view? Try looking away off at something, and without thinking, change and look at something close by. Nine and a half times out of ten you will close your eyes for a moment. And your mouth, it lets you know when you got something in it that don't taste good, same as your stomach lets you know when you put something in it that won't work just right, and it seems your hands and feet know just exactly what to do when you want it done. When you start walking, you don't have to give your legs and feet a start. They just start anyway.

* * *

Nope that ain't got nothing to do with the weather nor politics, but weather and politics have something to do with that, cause I saw a lot of fellows last Monday who looked kind of blue over the situation, or something.

* * *

Earl Parrish has lost his dog again, and don't know where to find him. Leave him alone and he'll come home, dragging his tail behind him. How's that? I haven't forgot al lthose little rhymes I learned in school way back yonder. But Earl don't leave him alone. He does the only proper thing to do—put an ad in the paper and offer a reward. That's the modern way of finding things. Maybe if Little Boy Blue, who lost his sheep had put an ad in the paper, he would have found them, before they came home dragging their tails behind them or something.

* * *

I'm all pepped up over the big prize campaign the News is putting on nawadays. And some more good looking young ladies have filed their announcements in the News office and are out working. I've about decided I'll just be a campaign manager like that Mr. Feaster is. If I was as good looking as he is, I'd make it all right with all the contestants.

* * *

The Wadesonian Theatre has that big picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive" coming here this week, and take it from me, it's a dandy. If you like to see how they catch wild animals in the jungle, just see that picture.

* * *

It's a wonder the people round these parts know what to do. Here the Democratic newspaper says the Democrats are right and are made for the offices now. Then the Republican paper says that Republicans are right, and that they are the ones to handle the present condition, and bring the country out of this mess. Well, it seems to me that the people could easily see that one is wrong.

* * *

Now, I knew it was coming sooner or later. The question is, "Shall Clanton have picture shows on Sunday?" You might as well get to thinking about this, because the Wadesonian Theatre wants to open on Sunday afternoons and nights and show pictures. The management states that the hours of showing would not conflict with the hours of church services and that they will do all they can to cooperate with the churches here. Not only that, but if there were shows in Clanton on Sunday, I believe it would help the town out a bit, in a business way. Every Sunday there are a lot of people of Clanton who go to Montgomery to see a show. They miss church and spend money in Montgomery. Why not stop this, and at the same time bring a little more money into Clanton. I'm of the opinion that with the proper cooperation of the theatre here, churches and citizens, that Sunday motion pictures would be of a benefit to the town. Am I right ,or am I right?

Now the next question the Wadesonian wants answered, is how to find out whether the people want Sunday movies or not. I suggest that the city officials cooperate with the theatre and call an election to determine this.

Then Clanton would be getting along up in style with the larger cities, where they have a big campaign when an election like that comes off. I see by the papers that Birmingham is to have movies on Sunday. For a long time they did not, but the people said through their ballots that they wanted shows on Sunday.

I think it mighty fine of the Wadesonian Theatre to want to ask the people about this matter, and offer to cooperate as usual with the churches here. The theatre would propose to show after church services, and in the afternoons.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

His Party's Choice for Vice-President

In 1920, at the National Convention, occurred the historic Wilson demonstration, when, the New York delegation remaining silently seated, Roosevelt wrested the standard from the leader and triumphantly put his state into the marching ranks. Alfred E. Smith seconded his nomination for vice-president, a selection made quickly and with enthusiasm. The campaign with Cox was a stressful one; the vice-presidential candidate traveled by car, train and airplane, speaking from Oregon to New England, and went down to defeat with the good-humored reflection that now he could attend to his private affairs. He moved to New York with his family, now numbering five children, resumed the practice of law, and with only a half-dozen or so philanthropic interests was leading what for him might be called a selfish existence when again, and for a very different reason, public attention was sharply focussed upon him.

A year later Roosevelt was back in his office, on crutches, but apparently "as good as new." His incessant activity, during the National Convention of 1924 in New York City was a marvel to well men. His personal difficulties never interfered with his deep-seated belief in a Progressive Democratic party, national in scope, with an alert, working membership to keep its beliefs before the country and see them translated into action. Just before the convention, Roosevelt took over the Smith campaign—his appearance when he put Smith's name into nomination remains a historic incident of modern Democratic history.

A Real Governor

At the next convention, walking with a cane and leaning on his son's arm, he again nominated Smith and won a tremendous personal ovation. Differing with the nominee and the national chairman on certain details of the campaign, he yet stood shoulder to shoulder with them on the essential principles of democracy. At last, well on the way to physical recovery, he proved his friendship for Smith to the hilt by consenting to run for Governor of New York.

The story of his governorship is one of a man steadily growing in mental, physical and spiritual strength.

"A Glutton for Hard Work"

Governor Roosevelt's week in and week out program is even stronger witness to his physical fitness. Daily he dictates a heavy mail, conducts dozens of private conferences and formal ones, plans or makes radio speeches, analyzes with his keen legal mind suggestions for legislative action, taxation, reports and figures, and administers state affairs equably and promptly and effectively. His day starts at 8 with breakfast and his mail, it ends after midnight with a little light reading. Governor Roosevelt, after a brief spring visit to Warm Springs, has spent each July, August and September touring the state, by car, train and canal boat, traveling from 20,000 to 30,000 miles annually, inspecting state institutions, meeting local authorities, speaking, writing, carrying on state business as he travels. He exhausts those who go with him—but he seems never exhausted.

Governor Roosevelt, before his election, made 3, 4, 5 and so on up to 14 speeches daily, from cars, train platforms, street corners, auditoriums, hotel steps and other formal and informal surroundings, often in autumn drizzles which chilled his companions to the bone but seemed only to invigorate him. He runs his own car, swims daily, takes prescribed exercise and even rides horseback to regain the grip of his still weakened knees. The papers never carry items to the effect that "the Governor is home with a slight cold" nor tell of other normal human capitulations to minor illness or fatigue.

As to what he has done and how well he has done it, the most convincing answer is the unprecedented vote by which he was re-elected. The first election was in itself a triumph—Governor Roosevelt was the first Democrat to carry upstate rural counties, being elected by a 25,000 majority in a year when the Republican Party swept the country and even carried New York State itself. The re-election was one of the most dramatic in the history of the state—and it is safe to say, in the history of any state. Governor Roosevelt took the campaign straight to the people, especially to the upstate Republican strongholds, where his progressive and enlightened policies had done so much for the farmer-citizens. The result was the now famous "land-slide" —victory with the unprecedented and overwhelming plurality of 725,000 votes.

He Knows the Farmers' Needs

Mention has been made of the fact that Governor Roosevelt is particularly concerned with the problems of the farmer and the laborer. Brought up to know farm methods at first hand, he has sponsored the most intelligent and constructive program for helping the farmer that the state has ever known. It strikes at the heart of the situation by substantially lightening the tax load on agricultural communities, while at the same time providing better roads, better schools and more accessible markets. The now nationally-known $20,000,000 reforestation program provides for the systematic planting of unproductive an dabandoned farmlands for the future enrichment of the state and the increase of present employment.

Labor Approves His Record

To labor, both organized and unorganized, Governor Roosevelt has proved himself a firm friend. He has urged the passage of bills providing for an extension of the Workmen's Compensation Law, for the shortening of the working week in certain industries, for an advisory minimum wage board, and for the regulation of the issuance of injunctions in labor controversies. He has had the pleasure of signing bills of his own initiation which provided additional protection in various industries, including women in factories and mercantile establishments, and one authorizing a thorough study of unemployment. And upon the completion of his first term as Governor he received from William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, a letter warmly commending both the humanity and the practicality of his constructive program.

Acts, Not Words, for the Needy

Governor Roosevelt regards old age security as of equal importance with safe adult employment. In accordance with laws proposed by him, the state has adopted old age insurance provisions of a workable nature, which already have saved thousands of self-respecting old men and women from the tragedy of complete destitution. Yet even more serious than the need of labor for insurance is the need of man for a job. In the face of the worldwide depression, New York State stands as first in the Union to take constructive direct action to relieve the unemployment of its citizens. In August, 1931, long before any Federal plan had passed the stage of vague conjecture, Governor Roosevelt called an extraordinary session of the state legislature for the definite purpose of appropriating $20,000,000 for the "Temporary Employment Relief Administration," the officers of which serve without pay. Anticipating the exhaustion of this fund, the Governor has warned the legislature that it must recognize the need for continued, adequate action while critial economic conditions continue.

Wards of the state have never had a more sympathetic friend than the present Governor. He has the amazing record of having personally visited every state institution within the New York borders. He knows both hospital and prison capacity equipment and personnel; he has eaten institution food, talked with inmates as well as officials, and made many unexpected inspections as well as more formal ones. He has taken the prison, hospital and state institution program out of politics and put it in the hands of experts and business men, and he stands behind its constant improvement and expansion.

A Fair Deal for the Consumer

Roosevelt's stand on the rights of the consumer as against the special protection of private interests is well known. He is not an enemy of "Big Business" —the size of the business to him is no objection, so long as it is fair business. But the invasion of the rights of the individual citizen is an instant challenge to his Jeffersonian creed. He demands of public utilities "fair service at reasonable rates" and has managed to put teeth into New York state laws that really protect the poor man and the obscure man, whether he be farmer, small business owner or city apartment dweller.

Roosevelt is for fundamental measures which will prevent the recurrence of the present economic disaster. He is for a substantial lowering of the tariff—which will allow a flow of goods between countries; as well as for the building up of the home market by a reduction in the differential between the farmers an dthe industrial workers; and by giving the industrial workers security of wages through unemployment insurance.

His carefully worked out tax program puts sound business into Government.

Roosevelt's course as governor is a fundamentally simple one to devise and actively press the adoption of well-considered, progressive legislation; to appoint men of experience and high qualifications; to hold all public officials strictly accountable and to move without fear or favor should that trust be betrayed and to give the best administration within his power, holding himself equally responsible to every section, every class and every citizen.

Serious consideration of Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic nomination for President manifested itself among party leaders from Maine to California immediately after the election of 1928, when he was elected governor of New York despite a Republican landslide. When he was re-elected by more than 725,000 after two years of service at Albany he became the "logical nominee."

Even in most states where a majority of the leaders preferred some other candidate, almost invariably Roosevelt was second choice. So that when the hosts of Democracy gathered at Chicago in June, after the perfunctory Republican conclave had gone through the parliamentary motions of renominating candidates with hogtied delegations of federal officeholders, it was fore-ordained that Roosevelt would be nominated. He had been first in most of the primaries held. He had been second in the rest. He had been first choice of enthusiastic delegates to state conventions in most states. He had been second in the others. In fact he had the pre-convention approval of a vaster majority of his party than any other candidate not already occupying the White House in America's political history.

So it was not surprising that he had a clear majority of all the delegates on the first ballot, not counting any of his second choice strength, or that tied away from him under unit rules. Nor that his lead mounted on the second and third ballots, making his selection so sure that there was literally a stampede to him on the fourth, Texas and California merely beating other states to the announcement because of the more fortunate position of California on the alphabetical roll-call.

The moment word of his nomination flashed out Roosevelt electrified the convention and bewildered the whisperers who charged he was a sick man by his spectacular airplane flight from Albany to Chicago.

Radiant With Health

Radiant with health, forceful in manner, vigorous in speech, and with the same disregard for outworn political theories that he demonstrated by eliminating the farce of being officially informed of his nomination a month later, Roosevelt thrilled the great audience which tested the 35,000 capacity of the Chicago stadium.

"My friends," he said, "may this be the symbol of my intention to be honest and to avoid all hypocrisy and sham, to avoid all silly shutting of the eyes to the truth of this campaign. You have nominated me and I know it, and I am here to thank you for the honor!.

"Let it also be symbolic that in so doing I broke traditions. Let it be from now on the task of our Party to break foolish traditions. We will break foolish traditions and leave it to the Republican leadership, far more skilled in that art, to break promises.

"I pledge myself to a new deal for the American people."

Good Cotton Seed Pay Farmers Well

o

Auburn, Ala.—Having made remarkable progress in the eradication of inferior varieties of cotton, Alabama farmers are now in position to complete the job. They can do it (1) by saving seed of the good varieties and (2) by elimination of seed of all inferior varieties.

Official reports reveal that a very small percentage of the Alabama cotton crop of this year is of the untenderable grades, this being due to variety improvement work done the last three years. County agents, vocational teachers, the Extension Service at Auburn, Alabama Bankers Association, spinners, the Alabama Industrial Development Board, and others have cooperated in the work.

"We must push forward with this work until we complete the job," said J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn. "We need more gin days for keeping pure the seed of our good varieties; and we must also get rid of the seed of poor varieties."

If every farmer does this, Lowery explained, Alabama will become a preferred state for the purchase of better cotton. It will result in a higher price level because spinners are willing to pay more for better cotton. The net gain from this would be a crop worth several million dollars more.

Lowery advises each farmer to confer with his county agent in obtaining the best variety of cotton for his county. All the farmers of the county should select the variety, after which they should keep it pure and continue to improve it.

He declared that work of this kind costs very little but that it pays a liberal reward to those farmers who take part in it.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Most boys who are raised in the country are wise on the subject of bird life and bird habits. To the lad who knows, no bird is lower in the scale than the parasitic type. Instead of making a nest of his own the male bird will nudge his wife and whisper, "Just leave our eggs among those in our neighbor's nest." This suggestion seems to please the mother bird and by stealth she deposits her eggs in the nest of other birds while they are not at home. So when the innocent field sparrow has brooded and the hungry little birds emerge from the shell, there is an unsuspected boarder in the nest. This unknown orphan grows faster than the field sparrow and soon he is so large that he sets up a monopoly over the food supply. All the time the parasitic birds are sitting off in another tree watching their baby grow, doing nothing toward feeding and caring for it. That is just like some folks. They shift the responsibility of caring and training the children of their home, to other shoulders. Too many parents today are switching about in society while other hands feed and take care of the babes that should be under their own personal supervision. The lowest type of the human race is that class who will leave their own children for other people to raise and train.

* * *

A little wren built its nest near my window and deposited its eggs. The little bundle of beautiful feathers seemed so happy. Many times during the day it would come to the nest and look down upon its eggs. I could almost hear it saying, "Soon I will have a nest full of babies." One morning I heard a little bird crying out there in the plum bush by the side of the garage shed and I knew that something had gone wrong with the nest of my pet. While I sorrowed with the unhappy bird, I saw another bird dart into the plum bush. With care I looked to see what it all meant. There sat a big blue jay with his head cocked, eyeing the nest of the wren. I did not see this impudent thief as he robbed the nest of the innocent wren, but I knew what had taken place. He had been there before and had devoured all of the eggs and had come back to see if he could find another supply. The little wren tarried around her depleted home for a few days and seemed to be brokenhearted. One morning I failed to see the two parent birds and I knew they had gone elsewhere to try their luck in building a home. Cock sure, impudent, human blue jays, have broken up and ruined many a home.

* * *

A little sparrow had found a piece of bread in the back yard. Its find was too heavy for it to carry well, but it was laboriously trying to make its way to its brood with the food that it had found. Then I heard an unusual sound, and looking out, there came swooping down on the little sparrow a black bird. From an elm tree near by there was another cry "Awk, Hurrah" and three other black birds came down and joined in the chase. The titbit seized its piece of bread in its bill and flew this way and that way, but the larger birds were in hot pursuit. It would dash into and under the shrubbery, but the mob followed with much noise and glee. For a short time it seemed who shall and who shall not, but finally the sparrow was overpowered and his food was taken from him. What excuse have three or four big grackles for mobbing a helpless little English sparrow? We are called upon to witness the same tactics among men. Just let an honest, hard working man discover something that is valuable and worth while, and in less than twenty-four hours there will be a bunch of "Human Bullies" down upon him to make it hot for him, and if possible to snatch from him the results of his honest toil. Human grackles have no right to mob and take from the hard working man.

* * *

A pair of blue jays pitched their nest on the limb of an oak tree near the parsonage door. There they laid their eggs and hatched their young. The little jays ate much and grew with great speed. While sitting on the front porch of my parsonage home I noted that the parent birds were down near the ground, and I knew that something was wrong. On investigation I found a young jay in the shrubbery by the front steps. It was evident that this youngster thought himself to be quite a bird, much too large to be sitting in a nest all day, and so he proceeded to jump out of the nest before he was able to fly and take care of himself. He fell to the ground, and there he was. The house cats were roving around, and I knew that the bird had no chance on the ground. His parents were in great distress. I thought to help them in their trouble and so I caught the bird and set him on a limb in safety, but he would not stay there. I threw him on top of the house, but he would hop off. That unruly bird would stay no where but on the ground and there was great danger there. I guarded the little fellow as best I could for two or three days, but finally he made a meal for a hungry cat. There are boys and girls who think that they are too large for their homes. Like the little jay bird, they are not able to protect themselves, but they will not stay at home. Parents, keep your little ones in the home, or prepare to lose them.

M. L. WHITE HAS ENCOUNTER WITH RATTLESNAKE RECENTLY

The pleasure of squirrel hunters has been molested by the number of rattle snakes found in the woods The latter part of the week, M. L. White was strolling through the woods looking for game when he turned his eyes toward his feet and saw that he was just ready to step into a coiled rattler. He shot into the coiled snake and severed its head and also shooting the snake in two. He stated that the severed part of the reptile made a leap toward him after the firing of his gun.

Are You Saving Your Soil?

By C. E. Stapp

One of the first and most important pieces of work to be looked after on any rolling land farm is the terracing to prevent the good soil from washing away. You might plant all kind of soil building crops, but neglect your terracing and your efforts to build your land would not amount to much. The fall and winter months are the best months to terrace. So do not wait until spring of the year.

I have four good terrace levels provided by the Commissioners Court. The Commissioners bought these levels on my promise that I would try to keep them in use during season when farmers can terrace. There are more than one hundred farmers in the county who have learned how to operate the improved terrace level since I have been in the county. There were some who knew how before I came here. Most any one with good common sense and judgment can learn how to run terrace lines with one of the improved levels.

It will be impossible for me to help every man who may want to do terracing this fall and winter, but I will be glad to help all I can. At each place I will try to teach one or more men to operate the level, then leave the level in the community for several days so that those who want terracing done may swap work and get what terrace lines they need run. In this way I hope the farmers will be able to get more land properly terraced than we have ever been able to get terraced during any one season in the past.

Pensioners Urged To Call For Warrants

Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama
Dear Sir:

I wish you would please publish the following:

The State of Alabama was not able to pay the Confederate Pension warrants October 1st and realizing that the old soldiers and their widows would need the money I arranged with the First National Bank and the Peoples Savings Bank, Clanton, Alabama for them to cash their warrant at the rate of 6% per annum which at their discretion, they could get $150.00 warrants cashed by paying $2.25; $75.00 warrants cashed by paying $1.12; $45.00 warrants cashed by paying $0.67 and $30.00 warrants cashed by paying $0.45. This pays the interest on the warrants up to January 1, 1933.

I made this arrangements so that anyone could get their warrants cashed without an unreasonable discount. I still have some warrants on hand which I will have to return November 1st, unless they call for them.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

Mt. Pisgah Church Announcements

The fourth Quarterly Conference of Verbena charge, Methodist Protestant church, will convene with Mt. Pisgah church on Saturday, October the 22nd. If rained out it will be held on Sunday following. Every member is hereby requested to be present, as the delegate to the Annual Conference will be elected and instructed and this being the last appointment for this conference year reports from all officials of the churches will be expected. I would like to meet every member on that day, as it may be that I will be transferred to new fields of labor for another year, this being the fourth year as pastor.

Conference sermon at eleven o'clock. Lunch at 12:00. Conference at 1:00. All visitors invited.

N. H. CULP, Pastor.

SE LIVESTOCK ASSO. TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET, MONTG. 27 & 28

County Agent Stapp advises that he has received a letter from Mr. Jesse B. Hearin, Secretary of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, calling attention to the annual meeting of the Southeastern Livestock Association in Montgomery October 27th and 28th.

Special mention is made that there will be a fat stock show and feeder and stocker show held at the Union Stock Yards at the same time. Several thousand head of fat beef cattle are expected to be in the show.

Mr. Stapp points out the fact that farmers of Chilton county who are interested in beef cattle should attend the meeting and show in Montgomery October 27 and 28 as many problems of interest to them will be discussed.

The radio in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. in Canyon City, Colo., and the shower bath in the dormitory were the principal attractions for a 22-year-old farm youth who spent a few days there recently.

IN MEMORY

In memory of little Peggie Best, who departed this life on October 12, 1932.

Sleep thou little one, sleep.
The Lord thy dear spirit will keep.
Sleep thou darling one, sleep,
While father and mother must weep
And friends here must mourn,
Because their heartstrings are torn.
Thou shalt never know of the woes
here below—
Thy soul shall awake and true pleasure partake.
Rest thou precious one, Rest.

—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clack.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL WINS FROM VERBENA 20-7

LITTLE PEGGY BEST

From our home God has called a dear loved one away. In his presence to rest. The precious little one to our hearts was so dear, bringing gladness untold, giving out smiles of cheer.

But the Lord, looking down from His great throne above, called our little one to bloom in his Garden of Love.

Blessed Father of Heaven, shine forth as the sun dreary pathways to brighten till life's race is won.

Then in love bear us to that bright City of Gold, in our arms once again this sweet one to enfold, by the thr[illegible] of God.

—Mother and Father, Mr. and [illegible] W. J. Best.
